"DON'T ENCOURAGE HIM," said one fine lady to the other as they passed by Little St. Nul on the street Wednesday. Actually, sneakers and boxer shorts were the attire for the day on Tuesday and Wednesday this week as temperatures soared to the mid-70's, setting new records for the area on those dates. Our weather watchers say it hasn't been this warm on November 27 and 28 since 1964 when the temperature reached 44 degrees. The ladies were wise in not accepting candy from the bearded best bedecked in his brief breeches sitting upon his bench on such a balmy day.

Hunting Mishaps Reported By DNR Police

The Department of Natural Resources Police reported the injuries of two men in Garrett County, resulting from hunting accidents.

Donald Rolf, 49, Oakland, reportedly sustained powder burns and abrasions to his face when his .264 caliber rifle exploded as he attempted to shoot a deer. The accident occurred on a farm south of Red House, according to DNR Officer Walter May.

Rolf was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by private vehicle after the Saturday mishap, where he was treated and released.

Upon inspection of his gun, Officer May reported that the bullet remained in the barrel. A Lorburn man was also injured Saturday when he was accidentally shot by his hunting partner.

Scott Canning, 37, and Albert Walker, Upper Marlboro, were apparently hunting together on a private farm off of the Accident-Bittering Road. They separated in the early afternoon, and shortly thereafter Canning saw that Walker was pointing his rifle some distance away.

Canning then dropped to the ground, sustaining a bullet wound in his upper thigh. Officer May reported that Canning was transported by private vehicle to Garrett Memorial, where the bullet was removed. He remained at the hospital overnight for observation, and was released.

Walker was charged with negligent hunting by DNR police after the shooting mishap.

Fire Heavily Damages Crellin Double-Wide

A double-wide trailer located along the Crellin-Underwood Road in Crellin sustained major damage as a result of fire last Wednesday evening (Nov. 21). Oakland and Terra Alta fire departments were summoned to the Paul Graham residence at 8:15 p.m. and, upon their arrival, found the west end of the structure fully involved in flames. Fire fighters managed to bring the blaze under control in about 15 minutes, however, and save the majority of the double-wide mobile home.

According to a spokesman for the Oakland VFD, the fire was apparently caused by a youngster playing with a lighter. The fire broke out in the bedroom, which was destroyed along with a bathroom. Heat

A DANDELION? That's no lyin'. And this photo was taken this week in the yard of Norman and June Thomas just north of Oakland along U.S. Rt. 219. The unseasonably warm temperatures of late seem to have many flowers and plants thoroughly confused. However, this bloom and many others met a freezing fate this morning, when temperatures dropped below 30 degrees last night and are to remain there all day today. Tonight's lows are expected to be in the teens.

DNR Arrests Young Men For Hunting Offenses

The Department of Natural Resources Police recently charged several juveniles and young adults for various hunting offenses.

A search and seizure was executed by DNR police, according to Officer Walter May, on Nov. 14 in two Friendsville homes. At one of the homes, a large quantity of deer meat was seized, as well as processing equipment and a rifle.

Numerous charges were placed against six individuals after the search. Robert Campanelli, 19, Friendsville, was charged with three counts of keeping a loaded gun in a vehicle, two counts of shooting from a roadway, three counts of spotlighting with a firearm, and three counts of possession of deer during a closed season. A 16-year-old Friendsville male was charged with the same counts as Campanelli.

According to the DNR report, both Campanelli and the juvenile were fined $10 for each count of the first two charges, they both must appear in court on the spotlighting charge, and they were charged $300 for each of the deer possession counts.

Christopher Williams, 22, Friendsville, was charged with two counts of a loaded gun in a vehicle, two counts of spotlighting with a firearm, two counts of possession of deer in a closed season, possession of drug paraphernalia, and possession of marijuana. Penalties have not yet been given to Williams.

A Cranesville 16-year-old male was also involved in the case, and charges against him will be determined by Department of Juvenile Services. Bill Young, no age given, Friendsville, was charged with two counts of a loaded gun in a vehicle, two counts of spotlighting with a firearm, and two counts of possession of deer in a vehicle.

Md. Growth Limit Report Could Have "Drastic" Impact On County

A draft proposal of legislation was presented this week to the Governor's Commission on Growth by a committee of that commission seeking to limit "sprawling" growth throughout the state of Maryland on environmentally sensitive land and to direct that growth into already developed localities and designated growth areas.

In response to that news, Garrett County Planning and Zoning Director John Nelson stated this week that the proposal "could impact our office drastically" if approved.

According to the committee's report, 144,000 acres — an area twice the size of Baltimore — have been developed in the past five years, and an estimated one million people are expected to move into the state in the next 30 years.

The pattern of that growth must be changed, reported the committee, lest the stormwater run-off and pollution continue to threaten the health of the Chesapeake Bay.

The key proposal of the package, the Proposed Maryland Growth and Chesapeake Bay Protection Act, aims to protect Maryland's dwindling supply of open space and the bay, and would "alter the sprawling way Maryland has developed in recent years."

The spokesman said that the opening day total in Garrett County was 1,727, down nearly 500 from last year's first-day total of 2,217. Allegany County reported a first-day kill of 2,442, up slightly from last year's total of 2,414. The Washington County total was 1,327, down from 1,625 in 1989, and Frederick County reported a first-day kill was 1,345, compared to the 1,349 harvested the first day of the 1989 season.

The DNR spokesman said that the unseasonably warm weather and lack of snow on the ground, except in Garrett County where there was some snow Saturday morning, contributed to the lower counts.

The regular firearms season for antlered deer and antlerless deer (with permit) will continue through this Saturday, Dec. 1. Muzzleloader season for both antlered and antlerless deer will be Dec. 22 through Jan. 5.

Police Report Nearly $2000 In Thefts, DOP

Several incidents of theft and destruction of property have been reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office recently, including the theft of survey tools worth over $1,000, the destruction of over $800 in equipment at a local car wash, and two possible hunting incidents.

Kenneth J. Wade, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., reported to the Sheriff's Office that an unknown person or persons unlawfully entered the Backbone Ridge Development, Silver Lake, on the evening of Nov. 24.

The culprits then apparently removed survey pins, ribbons, and survey labor, as well as approximately 100 "No Hunting" signs, and five property identification signs. The total loss was estimated at $1,060.

In a separate incident, the manager of the Southern Car Wash, Joseph E. Helbig, reported that a coin vendor at the establishment was destroyed when an unknown suspect struck the machine repeatedly with a blunt object.

The culprit also bent a water wand and broke off the nozzle. The damage, which was reportedly done sometime on Nov. 23, was an estimated $830 loss.

Sheriff's Office members are investigating both incidents.

Pauline Sweitzer, Swanton, reported an incident involving her property to police on Nov. 26.

Ms. Sweitzer explained that she had authorized Roger

DNR Answers Charges Of Stepped Up Logging To Increase Revenues

In a hearing held last week before the Joint Budget and Audit Committee of the Maryland General Assembly, environmentalists questioned the motives of Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) concerning the apparent increase in logging in Maryland state forests in recent years.

DNR Assistant Secretary for the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Don MacLaughlin, who testified at the hearing, stated, "The whole thing was a set-up by the folks who oppose logging and incorrect conclusions were drawn by them."

The hearing was requested by Md. District 4 Senator Julian L. Lapidus for the purpose of investigating the disposition of revenue DNR receives from logging in state forests and parks. Money from timber sales in state forests are deposited in a special account known as the Forest and Park Reserve Fund, and a percentage of those proceeds are shared with the county in which the logging occurs.

Glen Besa, Flinstone, a spokesperson for the Sierra Club, Potomac Chapter, testified at the hearing, noting that the more logging DNR permits on state-owned lands, the more it benefits from logging revenues.

Citing the cuts in federal support of forestry programs in the early Reagan years, and a corresponding increase in logging on state lands, Besa stated "there is a clear conflict of interest when an increase in logging DNR, can support itself by authorizing logging in the state forests, which it is responsible for protecting."

Also testifying at the hearing was Ajax Eastman, president of the Maryland Conservation Committee, who expressed concern over the impact of the increased logging in the forests. "While an individual timber sale may have minimal long term environmental impact, the cumulative impacts of logging activities throughout the forest may be disastrous for certain species of animals and plants dependent upon large tracts of old forest," she stated.

Eastman continued, stating, "Current forest management plans by the DNR do not even consider these cumulative effects of logging."

In a report issued by the Joint Budget and Audit Committee and prepared by the Maryland Department of Fiscal Services this month on DNR timber sales, the committee noted that the DNR Forest, Park and Wildlife Service "has expedited the harvest of timber on state forest lands."

The report continued, "Since the sale of timber is a significant source of revenue, the committee is concerned that the budgetary controls necessary to manage those revenues through the legislative appropriation process may be inadequate and that the service may have incentive to expedite logging to raise revenues."

MacLaughlin responded to that contention by stating that any increase in logging has

Beacon Courses Slated At GCC Again This Year

Because of the success of last year's program, Garrett Community College is again offering a program of Beacon courses designed primarily for the adult student during the months of late winter and early spring.

According to Joan B. Crawford, director of enrollment development, most of these courses will begin in March, but several will begin earlier.

Two art courses will be offered in the program, both slated to begin the first week of March. ART 291 (Video Photography) will be taught by Jim Crabtree on Tuesdays from 3-4 p.m. Students must have their own video cameras for this course. ART 292 (Watercolor Painting) will be taught on Friday mornings from 9 a.m. until noon by Charles P. "Chip" Evans, noted local artist.

For those who enjoy the study of nature, two Biology courses are being offered, both to be taught by Kevin Dodge, assistant professor of wildlife and biology. BIO 111 (Wildflowers of Garrett County) and BIO 210 (Plant Systematics) will be given at arranged times starting in late March or early April.

History buffs will be able to pursue their interests in the HIS 292 (The Civil War) to be offered on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 by the Rev. Steve Yelovich beginning March 5. Rev. Yelovich plans to incorporate some of the program material from the recent PBS production on the Civil War into his classes. He also plans two field trips to Gettysburg and Antietam.

ENG 209 (Writing Family Histories) will be taught by Joan Crawford on Wednesdays from 1:20 to 2:50 p.m. beginning March 20. The course is designed for those who enjoy writing and wish to leave a record of people, places, and events for future generations.

For those who enjoy watching foreign films, HUM 292 (Films Around the World) will be offered on Monday afternoons from 3-4 p.m. beginning February 4. The course will be taught by Dr. Gail Herman and Jack Dubose.

MUS 119 (Pipes and Drums) will be taught on Wednesday evenings from 7-9 p.m. by the Honorable Fred Thayer beginning January 23. Judge Thayer emphasizes that students do not need to have their own instruments to take the course and that they may register after the beginning class.

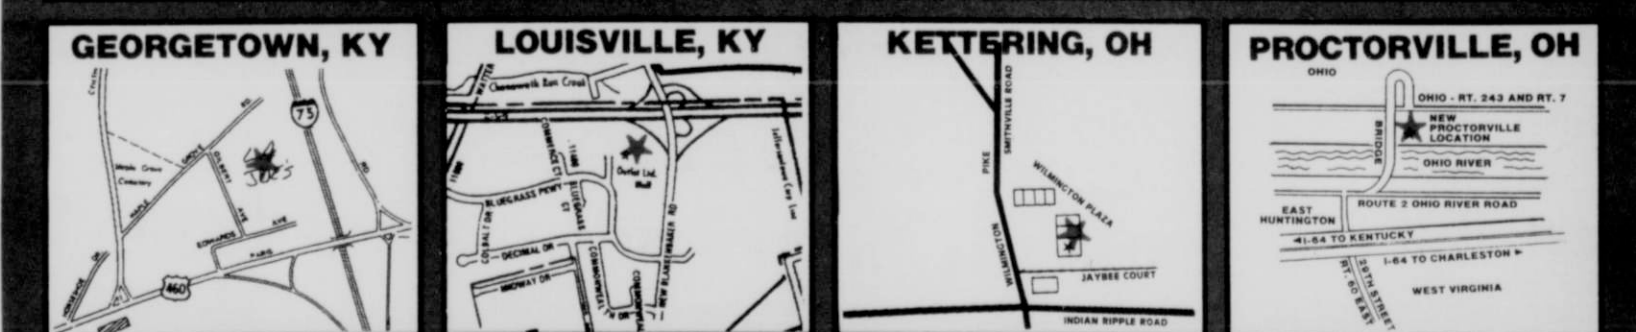

Persons desiring further information about the Beacon courses may call Crawford at 387-8666.

C&P PRESENTS SECOND CHECK TO FOUNDATION — The C&P Telephone Company of Maryland recently presented its second of three installments on its pledge to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation. C&P made a three-year pledge of $10,000 to the Foundation and will fulfill that pledge with a final check next year. Accepting the check from Nancy Nemith, manager/external affairs for C&P, was Carl Fike, treasurer of the Foundation. Also pictured is Ben Rosenthal, president of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The Foundation was established to provide additional funding for hospital equipment that cannot be financed through the regular hospital budget. The Foundation has received nearly two million dollars in contributions and pledges.

Mtn. Lake Park Man Found Guilty On Drug Counts

A Mtn. Lake Park man who pleaded not guilty to two drug charges in Garrett County District Court was found guilty and sentenced by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Gerald A. Coddington, 20, was found guilty of CDS (marijuana) possession and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Judge Turney handed him a 90-day jail term (all was suspended but 48 hours), ordered him to pay $100 in fines, and placed him on 12 months of DWI (driving while intoxicated) monitoring.

Coddington had been arrested on August 28 in the Crellin area by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies.

Sitting on the bench for other District Court cases last week was Judge Paul J. Stakem from Allegany County, who ordered pre-sentence investigations in two other drug cases.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Richard C. Browning, 42, Friendsville, who had pleaded not guilty to CDS possession and CDS paraphernalia possession. A third charge of discharging fireworks was not prosecuted because the State was unable to prove the charge.

Browning had been charged in April on the strength of a search and seizure warrant.

A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Michael C. Hinebaugh, 30, Mtn. Lake Park, who pleaded guilty to CDS possession. A charge of CDS manufacturing and distribution against him was dismissed and a third charge of CDS paraphernalia possession was not prosecuted.

Hinebaugh had been charged on May 23 on the strength of a search and seizure warrant in Mtn. Lake Park.

Identical drug charges against Jacqueline R. Hinebaugh, 50, Mtn. Lake Park, were not prosecuted because of insufficient evidence. She had also been charged on May 23.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Sharon A. Porter, 42, Oakland, when she pleaded guilty to destruction of property and one count of battery.

1990 GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS for Garrett County, on a precinct by precinct basis, were released recently by the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors. Above are the results of only those races in which there were more than one candidate, plus all three county commissioner races. Although there was only one person on the ballot for each of the three commissioner districts, there were also write-in candidates — incumbent Ernest Gregg in District 1 and Russell Sines in District 1, neither of whom was elected. Gregg received 2,091 write-in votes and Sines received 1,241. The precinct breakdown of the write-in votes was not yet available this week from the Board of Election Supervisors. In uncontested races, the official vote totals were as follows: House of Delegates, George Edwards, 4,933; county treasurer, Patricia Glover, 5,145; state's attorney, James Sherbin, 4,783; clerk of court, David Martin, 4,689; register or wills, Joseph DiSimone, 5,109; sheriff, Van Evans, 5,114; and Board of Education, District 1, Mikal Moomau, 3,544.

The pet had been vaccinated, and will be observed for 90 days.

Grantsville Woman Injured In One-Vehicle Accident Saturday

A Grantsville woman was injured as the result of a one-vehicle accident early Saturday morning. The accident was caused by an icy patch in the road, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

Rachel A. Frantz, 18, was injured when she lost control of the 1984 Subaru GL she was operating on an icy patch on Alternate U.S. Route 40. The vehicle reportedly skidded off the right side of the road and struck an embankment.

A passenger in the Frantz vehicle, Kelli R. George, 19, Grantsville, was apparently not injured in the 4:25 a.m. mishap.

Northern Rescue personnel were dispatched to the scene by Garrett County Emergency Management. They transported Frantz to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland where she was reportedly treated for injuries and later released.

Tpr. S.W. Vincent investigated for State Police.

A Mineral County, W.Va. man was injured Wednesday afternoon when his vehicle struck a bridge on Lower New Germany Road at the U.S. Route 48 interchange, according to the Maryland State Police, McHenry Barrack.

Craig Grady, 30, Ridgeley, was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad where he was reportedly treated and later released.

Police said Grady was a passenger in a construction truck operated by his brother, Lester Grady, 32, Fort Ashby, W.Va.

The accident occurred when the boom of the truck hit the top of the bridge after Grady made a left turn on Lower New Germany Road from Route 48, according to police reports. Lester Grady was apparently not injured.

Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched Grantsville volunteer firefighters to the 2:40 p.m. mishap.

A Germantown man was charged with various traffic violations on November 20 after being involved in a one-vehicle accident on Md. Route 135.

John T. Francis, 43, was reportedly traveling east in a 1983 Datsun when he ran off the right side of the road, re-entered the highway and skidded off the left side before running into several trees.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated and charged Francis with driving while under the influence of alcohol, failure to drive on the right side of the roadway, driving with alcohol in blood in violation of a court order, and failure to wear a seat belt.

Francis was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by

Two W.Va. Men Arrested By Sheriff Deputies

Two West Virginia men were arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department recently on charges involving illegal drugs and driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Billy L. Dawson, 26, Elk Garden, W.Va., was stopped on Nov. 23 by Dep. Murphy on Rt. 219 South and Weber Road when Murphy observed Dawson's vehicle being operated in an erratic manner.

Upon inspection of the defendant's vehicle, the officer discovered suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Dawson was then charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance and paraphernalia.

After posting a $300 bond, Dawson was released.

A Bayard, W.Va., man was arrested on the charge of DWI in the early hours of Nov. 25.

Charles M. Culp Jr., 28, was stopped by Dep. J. Murphy on Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park. After viewing Culp's license, the officer also discovered that the defendant's driving permit was revoked, and charged him accordingly.

Culp was released after posting a $500 bond, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesman.

Growth Limit

be encouraged to direct growth into smaller clusters, preserving large tracts of open space land.

In rural areas, growth would be limited to one residential dwelling per 20 acres of land, but would also make an allowance for "clustering."

Land in 100 year flood plains, along stream banks and steep slopes and in habitats for endangered species would be frozen from development, and any new buildings, roads or power lines would be built in these sensitive areas only if no viable alternative was possible.

Under the bill, each county would be required to submit a "Growth and Resource Management Plan" to the state planning office, which, in turn, would have veto powers over the plan. Violations of the state guidelines could result in a loss of state funding or in a lawsuit.

Nelson stated that, as of Wednesday, he had yet to see a copy of the completed draft but the proposal would be distributed to Garrett County Planning Commission members and would be scheduled for the main topic of discussion at the January meeting.

Butch Buckel Busy Butchering Bagged Bucks Into Baloney

by Craig Speicher

Butch Buckel's been busy butchering, but not butchering beef.

It's that time of year again, when whitetail deer swamp the rear parking lot at Buckel's Market in Grantsville, and that's no baloney. OK, maybe a little baloney. OK, hundreds of pounds of bologna.

What's happening is one of the largest deer processing operations in Garrett County is working a lot of overtime right now. Every year, "Buckel's Home Slaughtering Service" (a function of Buckel's Market), which normally caters to beef farmers, temporarily switches to serving deer hunters.

It all begins on the first day of deer (rifle) season. From then, until the season closes, butchering crews at Buckel's work daily from 7 a.m. to 2 a.m. — 18 hours a day — to skin, slice, and grind an average of 100 carcasses a day. (The longest any one employee works is 12 to 14 hours a day.) Those numbers break down to an average of five to six deer processed each hour, or one deer each 10 to 12 minutes.

"We can't keep up!" said employee Hope Folk, who does much of the paper work. And when things do get backed up, the parking lot takes on an almost surreal appearance, as dozens upon (literally, upon) dozens of deer almost obscure the blacktop, threatening to overflow into the streets, while hunters (and a few curious spectators who have never seen anything like it) patiently stand around, waiting until they can take their catch home.

Only about half the hunters do take it home. The other half store their venison in Buckel's freezers.

Besides processing the deer, Buckel's also serves as an official weigh station. They report the largest deer as of Tuesday weighed 197 pounds, the largest rack being an 11-pointer. Also by Tuesday, a cumulative total of 295 deer — yielding 400 pounds of bologna — had been processed, still a ways off from last year's 685 total deer.

But market owner Butch Buckel was confident that this year's processing operations would meet or exceed last year's numbers by the end of the season.

"We'll make it!" he predicted with a grin.

A Gift Idea . . .

While a spirit of giving should exist year 'round, there is no question that this attitude is most prevalent at the present time of year, from giving thanks at Thanksgiving to giving gifts at Christmas. There are literally thousands of opportunities for giving and the gifts can take many forms.

In this column today, we want to encourage persons to take advantage of one of those thousands of opportunities. There is a letter to the editor on this page that explains a tragedy involving a young man in the local Amish community. Jesse Swartzentruber, who is only 14 years old, has been a hemophiliac all his life. His treatment over the years has included literally thousands of blood transfusions. It was from one of those transfused units that Jesse contracted acquired immune deficiency syndrome, or AIDS. The disease has progressed and Jesse's condition is now critical.

While this young man continues his brave struggle to survive, his family is drawing closer and closer to financial ruin because of the enormous medical expenses associated with Jesse's treatment. Like most members of the Amish community, Jesse's parents are proud and humble people, who are not comfortable with accepting outside assistance. However, those most dear to them are taking it upon themselves to seek assistance in the form of donations from local residents.

The Amish are a special and important group of people to Garrett County. They are always ready and willing to pitch in and assist in times of emergency. They are always willing to donate money to causes they deem worthy. Many of them are always among the donors when the Red Cross Bloodmobile comes to town.

But the fact that Jesse and his family are Amish really should not make any difference one way or the other. They are people, fellow human beings, who desperately need the help of others right now. A trust fund has been established for Jesse and persons can contribute to that fund at the Garrett National Bank (see the letter to the editor for further details).

Certainly there are similar situations involving other local people. Hopefully, those with the means will respond in a generous, caring way to help folks like Jesse Swartzentruber and his family make it through such a dark time in their lives.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

With the coming of a new year as a newly elected group of public officials takes office, two familiar faces will be missing from the ranks of state and local government — State Senator John Bambacus and County Commissioner Ernie Gregg. This seems an appropriate time to take the opportunity to thank these two men for their years of service to Garrett County. Under their leadership, we have seen much progress, enjoyed financial stability, and found many reasons to be proud of this place we call home.

Both successful in their own professional careers, Senator Bambacus and Commissioner Gregg have given their expertise, time, and energy for the good of their constituency, as outstanding public servants. They have performed the duties of their offices with dignity, courage, and integrity. Most of all, they have worked cooperatively with officials of both political parties for the greater good of this community. Because of their efforts, we have had a very effective "team" of county and state officials working compatibly together.

As they now prepare to pursue their other careers, we say thank you for a job well done. And as newly elected State Senator John Hafer and County Commissioner Brenda Butscher prepare to take their oaths of office, we wish them well in their new political roles. They have high marks to maintain.

To the Editor:

The citizens of Maryland, along with Americans in all 50 states, will have a rare and unique opportunity to examine, celebrate and gain a greater understanding of America's Bill of Rights, the document that has upheld the freedoms we have cherished for 200 years. An original copy of the Bill of Rights will be exhibited at the Baltimore Convention Center December 9 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., December 10 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and December 11 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. And through an exciting multimedia presentation, viewers will learn the origins and history of the document, the many challenges to each of its 10 amendments and the effect it has on our lives.

Maryland is the 10th stop on a 26,163-mile journey of this Virginia copy of the Bill of Rights. We are privileged to witness this unique presentation and discover how the Bill of Rights secures the liberties that are admired and envied worldwide.

As a member of The Bill of Rights Tour's Maryland Host Committee, I strongly encourage Maryland residents of all ages and backgrounds to attend this free educational and timely event.

To the Editor:

We would like to introduce the community to a young friend and neighbor of ours. His name is Jesse Swartzentruber. Jesse was 14 years old last month. He is an Amish boy, lives in the Gortner area of Garrett County with his parents, David and Sylvia, and 4 brothers and sisters. Even before Jesse was a toddler, his parents found out that he was a severe hemophiliac (free bleeder).

Fortunately, his hemophilic problems could be moderately well controlled by giving him intravenous injections of Factor 8, the clotting element that is missing in his blood. It takes approximately 25-40 pints of blood to make one small bottle of Factor 8. Throughout his young life, he has had to be given multiple thousands of these bottles. This is a very expensive medication. For many years, his family, with the supportive help of their church and neighbors, tried to pay the medical expenses themselves. During the last several years the cost of the Factor 8 itself has been covered through Crippled Children's Organization.

Now, another tragedy has been added to their already heavy load. Jesse has acquired AIDS. As an innocent child, he had the misfortune to get it from the Factor 8, the substance he needed in order to live. He has had to be in the hospital on numerous occasions during the past year because of complications, and the medical bills keep building up.

Jesse is fighting to live, but his physical struggle looks grim. We don't know how long the Lord will allow him to be with his family, or what the road ahead may have in store for him.

Stories similar to this have been told on national TV, where communities have rallied in support of someone like Jesse. When a disaster or tragedy occurs in this area, the Amish community is often among the first to pitch in and help. This can be your chance to show them that you care about them too. Won't you join with us in making their financial struggle a little less of a worry during this holiday season by giving a contribution to Jesse?

A trust fund has been established for Jesse at to Garrett National Bank, Oakland, MD. Checks may be made payable to "The Jesse Swartzentruber Trust Fund," and sent to: The Jesse Swartzentruber Trust Fund, Garrett National Bank Trust Department, Oakland, MD 21550.

Sincerely,
Ralph and Mary Ellen Lichty

To the Editor:

You no doubt heard this morning, November 28th, TV broadcast that GM, Ford and Chrysler are closing down their assembly plants for a week because of excess inventory of unsold cars. And, that later shut-downs are likely. Their upcoming 3% COIAs for 3 years are not going to help the American automobile industry now or in the future.

The American economy appears to be in serious trouble. In spite of profuse advertising efforts, the day-after Thanksgiving sales, usually the highest sales day of the year, have been quite disappointing. The parking area of our largest local department store was only sparsely occupied. The store aisles were filled and overflowing with merchandise, but sales were slow.

The TV commercials for household furnishings offered delayed payment plans and no interest charges for up to a year or longer.

Auto sales plans are similar. Most dealers' lots are filled and overflowing. The 5 cents per gallon federal gas tax going into effect on December 1 will not help. Since long trips will no longer be planned, the "old" car may be quite satisfactory. Besides continuous employment is not assured in the future, as the 1991 depression sets in.

The uncertain Persian Gulf situation is not helping the economy at all. At any moment, World War III is likely to break out. Let us hope and pray that it will be short and decisive, that American casualties will be minimal, and that most of our troops can soon return home. Let us hope and pray!

We have our own Saddam Hussein right here in the USA. He controls the largest monopolistic organization in the country, with around 16 million members, and an income of over $4 billion per year, that is, until the 1991 depression strikes. The anarchy which will likely follow will seriously deplete his militant forces and hopefully allow true democracy to return to the USA, something that we have not experienced in the past 60 years, due to election campaign funding by the U.S. Saddam Hussein forces.

Let us return to: "Government of the People, by the People, for the People."

Very truly yours,
D. Noel Obenshain

To the Editor:

I've long been a big fan of western Maryland and try to visit your region several times a year. Most recently I rented a cabin at New Germany State Park for a weekend of fishing with friends and family. Our first night there, my van was broken into in an attempted theft; that morning, in loading the gear, we saw the stripped ignition and broken steering column. The damage was so extensive that the vehicle had to be towed.

Two juveniles had escaped that evening from the nearby detention center. Thankfully, they were caught the next day, and by all indications, they'd attempted the theft with tools and gloves from the center.

The real purpose of this letter is to vent my frustration with what followed. I was soon issued a summons to appear as state's witness in the trial of one of the boys, apparently to testify as to the extent of the damage since I'd seen nothing of the break-in.

After one postponement, I rearranged my schedule, reserved a room, and made the four-hour trip from Baltimore county on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

When the case was called, the defense attorney immediately cited a missing document (referring to the process of discovery). When Judge Thayer questioned the State's Attorney, he frantically searched his files without luck. The defense attorney pressed his case, the judge criticized the State's lack of preparation, and the case was promptly dismissed. I felt like I had been victimized twice.

The efforts of the DNR police (both in gathering evidence on-site and helping with the towing of the van) and the helicopter pilots who'd so efficiently captured the subjects seemed for naught. Jim Sherbin's incompetence turned what should have been a cut-and-dried case into a comedy of errors.

Hopefully, the court system in Garrett County is not so overburdened that the State's Attorney is too busy to bother sufficiently with cases such as this. If his performance on November 21 is any indication, there will be others.

My only consolation is that the State has decided not to prosecute the second youth; I've saved eight hours of driving and a day's salary.

I can live with inconvenience; I only hope the people of Garrett County aren't compromised and endangered when a criminal of greater stature slips by on a technicality. Please keep an eye on the State's Attorney's office, and I look forward to visiting your county under better circumstances.

Sincerely,
Craig Simms

The Mind Wanders

The Good, the Bad, and the Exhausted
by Pam Ashby

These are the best of times. These are the worst of times. These are the ramblings of a tired, cranky, yet grateful woman. The best of times included the birth of my first great niece, Carissa Ann Lewis, at 3:30 a.m. on Tuesday. Carissa, stubborn like her mother, Wendy, and her father, Scott, took her good old time in her journey from the safe, warm womb to an unsure world. But great aunt Pam couldn't go home to rest, so she wormed her way into the familiar birthing room and marveled at the miracle of birth one more time.

The worst of times entails the transition here at The Republican from MDT 350 computers to a whole new computer system, both of which were "down" last week right at press time. I believe we set a record last week for going to press as late as possible — and I had invited over 20 people to Thanksgiving dinner the next day.

Thanks to a great sister, we pulled together a great dinner complete with all the trimmings and me blubbering all the way through the Thanksgiving prayer I had written. Of course, Sherry had to redeem herself because she forgot to put my byline on my Thanksgiving column last week. But my mother said everyone would know it was mine anyway because the last word in the story was "burp."

After seeing a very understanding doctor this week, I now understand why I am so exhausted. I was as close to pneumonia as I've ever been and my ears were filled with fluid. The medications are helping. I'm high on the birth of Carissa. And both computer systems are working again.

Life is good.

Life is good.

We had a very nice annual meeting on October 22. The proceeds from raffling the beef donated by The Garrett National Bank were over one thousand dollars. Ray Kiester of Frostburg won the first prize of one half of the beef and Marie McCarty and Gary Love each won second prizes of one quarter. Mary Mallory, Librarian of the Western Maryland Regional Library, was the guest speaker. In addition to being very informative, she is an excellent public speaker.

All of the current members of the Friends' board of directors were re-elected. We will probably have at least one resignation in the next few months. Other than Jack Caruthers, we have been unable to enlist board members from the northern half of Garrett County who were willing and able to attend our monthly meetings and put forth the effort required to run an organization. We have had people who were interested, but because of business reasons could not attend meetings. If you would be interested in being considered for our board, please contact me.

I was anxious to read Tony Hillerman's new book, Coyote Waits, and wasn't disappointed. Success has not ruined Mr. Hillerman; he just keeps getting better. Robert Redford has purchased the movie rights to one of his earlier books and I believe that the movie is being filmed now. I am sure that all of Hillerman's readers will be interested in the casting.

Intellectuals by Paul Johnson is a comparison of the ideas and philosophies of such people as Rousseau, Marx, Sartre and Tolstoy along with descriptions of their personal conduct. What you learn from reading this book is that you would not want any of these people as friends. I wonder how many people the author decided not to include because they were too nice?

Larry McMurtry is one of the best known American novelists. In addition to earning popular and critical acclaim several of his books have been very successfully adapted for moving pictures and television production. One of his main themes is the end of what might be called the untamed west. His latest novel, Buffalo Girls, features Calamity Jane, Buffalo Bill, a pair of mountain men and an old Indian named No Ears. They all are very much affected by the encroachment of civilization. Buffalo Girls is the story of how they deal with their changing lives. In my opinion this is his best work since Lonesome Dove.

Jean Rembold, Mrs. J.H. Jackson, and Mrs. James Nordeck are our newest life members.

Cumberland Reserve Center to be processed for active duty. I figured it was coming sooner or later, but that initial phone call was a big shock. What would we do with our two kids, Erik, 4, and Caitlyn, who will turn 2 December 2? We have no other family close who could help.

My husband, a Maryland State Trooper stationed at the McHenry Barracks, said, "Don't worry, we'll manage. I'll take care of everything."

Well, I had done just about everything at home, so it was a big change for him. He found a sitter to come into the house so he would not have to take the kids out to our regular babysitter. It's harder for him because he does not have a set schedule of work. He works a rotating shift and never has the same schedule, and never knows if he'll be home on time.

I was supposed to go to Portsmouth Naval Hospital, but I swapped with someone at Bethesda Naval Hospital so I could be closer to home. I went home the first weekend and was surprised to see that the house was neat and clean. Even the laundry was done.

I get to go home on weekends if I don't have duty. I talked with my husband a couple weeks later and he said that he had "this Mr. Mom stuff" down pretty well. You'd be surprised how many husbands had to become "Mr. Moms" real quick. All of the people who are praying for all the troops should say a prayer for all the "Mr. Moms." I'm sure they all need one, too. It's hard and it's stressful, but we'll make it. I hope it comes to an end soon so we can all get home and get things back to normal.

I'd like to give my husband a special thanks for doing a great job. It's greatly appreciated. Although now all these "Mr. Moms" may appreciate their wives more, knowing what it's like doing all there is to do to keep a family going. It will be one experience they will never forget. I am thankful that I am not on a ship or over there, so I can get home and see my husband and kids.

There is, of course, a chance that I will have to go. We also got the word we will be here for another three months, for a total of 180 days. We will hopefully be home April 9, just in time to miss the ski season and shoveling snow.

Thanks again to my husband, Paul Brown, and all the "Mr. Moms" out there. Keep up the good work.

been because the stands are "coming of age now" and are ready for harvesting. He added that there has been "no giant increase" in logging.

The prepared report stated, "The data show that timber sale revenues doubled in FY 1984, the year after management of the four large state forests (Savage River, Potomac-Garrett, Green Ridge and Pocumoke) was changed from the Cooperative Forestry program to the Forest and Park Management program. The increase in timber sale revenues is not directly related to a corresponding increase in number of acres harvested. Only in FY 1984 was there a large increase in timber sales revenues. This suggests a more intensive harvesting on virtually the same number of acres, or else timber price increases."

The report continued, "General and special funds in the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service grew steadily throughout the entire time period (with the exception of special funds from FY 1988 to FY 1990), but federal funds peaked from FY 1978 to FY 1981 and dropped back from $2.3 million in FY 1981 to $400,000 in FY 1982. This suggests that services and staff supported by the federal funds were replaced with other fund sources."

The report also notes that the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is "charged with a multiple use management mission for the state's forests and parks." Those multiple-use concerns include streams, wetlands, parks, historic and recreational preservation.

period (with the exception of special funds from FY 1988 to FY 1990), but federal funds peaked from FY 1978 to FY 1981 and dropped back from $2.3 million in FY 1981 to $400,000 in FY 1982. This suggests that services and staff supported by the federal funds were replaced with other fund sources."

The report also notes that the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is "charged with a multiple use management mission for the state's forests and parks." Those multiple-use concerns include streams, wetlands, parks, historic and recreational preservation.

MacLaughlin noted that "multiple use is really multiple conflict," but stated that the department attempts to give all concerns in the state parks and forests equal consideration. "Timbering and recreation are not mutually exclusive," he said.

MacLaughlin also stated that, while the department is bound to uphold its "economic obligations" to the county — in logging revenues and in jobs — it is also protective of old growth forests. He added that the department cuts less than half of the 11-14 million board feet it grows.

"The real issue," he said, "is the protection of the forest against acid rain, growth and the pressure to divest or develop."

Another justification offered by DNR for its current timbering practices is the management of the gypsy moth infestation. But Nate Erwin, an entomologist formerly with the Maryland Department of Agriculture's gypsy moth program, disputed contentions that the gypsy moth infestation in Maryland state forests justifies the level of logging being carried out by DNR.

"The level of logging presupposes a 'worst case scenario' for gypsy moth defoliation. In reality, the logging activities will stress the forest and put the remaining trees at greater risk," stated Emory.

Speaking to that concern, Besa stated, "To justify this harvest level the DNR will tell you that the gypsy moth infestation requires forest management intervention. But tree mortality attributable to gypsy moths seldom exceeds 50 percent, and is usually far less. Compare that with the mortality levels associated with clearcuts."

Besa continued, "The seminal issue is, what role should our public forest serve? Are they merely a forestry school where logging practices can be demonstrated? Or are they to be a 'rainy day fund' for DNR to tap whenever the budget gets tight?"

Besa then concluded his testimony, stating, "Logging at the level it is now being carried out is inconsistent with ecological and recreational values mentioned, which I believe the general public views as the proper role for our state forests to play. One partial solution, which I recommend to you, is to divert timber revenue from the Forest and Park Reserve Fund to an alternative use, such as the acquisition of habitat for natural areas. The current disposition of timber revenues through the Forest and Park Reserve Fund creates a conflict of interest wherein DNR actually benefits if logging is expedited beyond sustainable levels."

Area Students Join Cancer Society To Fight For Smoke Free Generation

The American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout is celebrated each year by millions of smokers who try to quit smoking just for 24 hours.

This year, area students have joined in to show their support by taking part in various activities within their schools.

Among the many activities was a poster contest. At Northern Middle School, Justin Gornall was the winner of the poster contest. His poster warned that "we shouldn't clown around with cigarettes." Winning posters will be on display at Accident I.G.A.

Cigarette smoking wasn't the only issue addressed at Northern Middle School. Dr. Alvin Friend was guest speaker at an assembly that focused on the effects of smokeless tobacco.

The Student Service Alliance at Northern High School helped sponsor several activities. A drawing was held and T-shirts awarded by the American Cancer Society. Alliance members encouraged students and staff members to adopt a smoker for the day, and put together survival bags loaded with candy, notes of encouragement and tips from the American Cancer Society.

Carl Miller, a seventh grade student at Southern Middle School, won the poster contest, with his theme "adopt a smoker." The winning posters are on display at Englander's Pharmacy, Oakland.

Southern Middle and High Schools participated in activities which included a question/answer session featuring a high school student who experienced oral cancer from smokeless tobacco, "Mr. Dip Lip," which demonstrates the side effects of smokeless tobacco and distribution of stickers, pamphlets and posters.

School health nurses from Northern and Southern High Schools were on hand during parent conferences to talk with parents about smoking and health concerns. Displays and cancer information were provided by the American Cancer Society.

On Dean's List

Edward J. Frankhouser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Frankhouser, Oakland, was among the students at DeVry Institute of Technology, Columbus, Ohio, who were named to the dean's list.

Frankhouser, a 1989 graduate of Southern High School, earned a grade point average of 3.82. He is majoring in electronic engineering.

STUDENTS SUPPORT SMOKEOUT PROGRAM — Local students joined in promoting the recent Great American Smokeout, a campaign that encourages smokers to quit smoking for just 24 hours on a designated day in November. The hope is that, by quitting for that 24 hours, those smokers will be able to kick the habit for good. Pictured above are Northern Middle

Margaret Feather had been the organist at St. Paul's since the death of Julius Littman on February 13, 1963. She was succeeded by present organist Dr. David Sheets in December of 1979. Margaret also was a teacher at Southern High School and retired from there several years ago. As her health permits, she now is a substitute organist.

Mr. Feather was a teacher in West Virginia prior to coming to Oakland. He retired as administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital after serving in that capacity for many years. The Garrett County Crime Solvers Case of the Week involves the theft and vandalism of boats on Deep Creek Lake.

Boats were reportedly vandalized and stolen on September 7 from the Trading Post's dock, and on Sept. 21 from the Quality Marine.

Persons with information are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. These persons do not have to give their names, nor do they have to appear in court. If a tip leads to an arrest and conviction of the criminal involved, the person who provided the tip will be eligible to receive a reward of up to $1,000.

Accident Scouts Participate In Training Session

Thirteen Boy Scouts from five Potomac Council Troops, including Accident Troop 82, recently spent a day preparing to become an enormous help to den leaders and other adult Scouters. The den chief training they received was designed to teach the boys how to lead and get along with Cub Scout-aged youngsters.

According to Shelley Grapes, Tri-Valley District Committee, the conference featured sessions on song-leading, how to lead and use games, and how to get along with others. The sessions were held at Romney Christian Church. All boys who completed the conference are entitled to wear a trained patch. The Scout participants included Jason Reed, Doug Mayle, Paul Chevalier and Danny Sweitzer, all of Troop 82, Accident.

In addition to Mrs. Grapes, leadership was provided by K.C. Keith, Troop 10, Jeff Fairly and Larry Fairly, Troop 42, David Jennings, Troop 83, and David Grapes, Tri-Valley District Chairman.

Attention Deficit Disorder Group Being Formed

A support group for parents of children with Attention Deficit Disorder (or hyperactivity) is currently being formed in the Terra Alta area, with the first meeting date set for Wednesday, December 5, at 7 p.m., at the Terra Alta Elementary School.

Regular meetings will feature films, special speakers and discussion groups for persons interested in obtaining more information or coping with the disorder.

Reports indicate that two types of the disorder exist — one is accompanied by hyperactivity and the other is not. In the second type, the child might tend to be passive and quiet, or even "out of touch." Experts report that the first type is, of course, much easier to detect.

More information may be obtained by calling 1-304-789-2125 or 2170.

Md. Humanities Council Offering School Grants

The Maryland Humanities Council has U.S. Treasury Funds available to match funds raised from corporations, foundations, businesses, individuals, or state and local governments, in support of public programs in the humanities, according to a recent news release.

These funds are made possible by a special Gifts and Matching program of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) and are available through the council, NEH's Maryland affiliate.

The council awards grants competitively for public programs in history, philosophy, language, literature, linguistics, archaeology, jurisprudence, comparative religion, and the theory, history and criticism of the arts.

Proposal deadlines for the next round of major grants are as follows: first drafts, February 13, 1991; final drafts, March 22, 1991, and decision date, June 8, 1991. Programs requesting less than $1,201 do not have to be submitted against these deadlines, but must be submitted no later than six weeks prior to the commencement of the project.

The Maryland Humanities Council is an independent, non-profit statewide affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities. In 1990, NEH provided federal funding representing 77% of the council's overall budget for operations and programs. Additional support is provided by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, and by foundations, corporations, and individuals throughout the state.

Loving Memories

of BOYD LAWRENCE WILSON

Born March 26, 1912, a son of the late Rev. Victor Carl and Dora Belle (Sliger) Wilson in Hazelton, W. Va., and raised in the White Rock area of Garrett County. Died Sunday, September 23, 1990, at the Mon Valley Hospital.

Lawrence, or Larry, as we knew him, resided in Monongahela, Pa., since the late 40's, was retired from the Corning Glass Works and was a Past Commander of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

As I remember, Lawrence began walking when he was about 9 months old and before long was running everywhere. Once, we were looking for him and found him down under the hill, sitting with his feet hanging in the pond of water. Then I remember, he was about 18 months old, when Mom stood him on the table and he sank down. Mom stood him back up and he sank down again. He was taken to Dr. Mance at Friendsville and found that he had infantile Paralysis.

He was 3 years old before he was able to start walking again. I would help him walk a while and then carry him on my back until he was almost as big as I was. I remember the time he lost his buggy whip he called his cane. We thought we found it while walking the path, but it was a black snake. He fell on it and I fell on top of him. I picked him up and ran while Mom killed the snake. Every place I could, I would take him with me, and he was always giving someone something.

Lawrence was always a hustler. I remember how he collected old pieces of rubber, sold them to the junk man until he could buy enough material for Mom to make him a suit.

So, anyhow, I could go on and on with loving memories of this man, who, crippled for the rest of his life, learned to walk without assistance and became a hard working and unselfish giving person. He went through life helping other people, giving of his time, labor and money. He gave and gave till he had no more to give. At the very last, he gave his body to science that it may be used to benefit others. Anyone who knew Lawrence, knew he was always giving, helping others.

He was preceded in death by his sister, Ethel; and brother, Theodore. He is survived by his wife, Bertha; son, Robert; daughter, Janet; stepson, Gary; 8 grandchildren; 3 great-grandchildren; 2 brothers, Luther and Orval; 3 sisters, Irene, Mary and Goldie; and many, many other relatives who loved and admired him.

Lovingly submitted by his sister,

Irene G. Swords, Hutton, Md.

Northern Huskies Face Youth And Inexperience In 1990-91 Campaign

The 1990-91 Northern High boys' varsity basketball team, which will kick-off its 24-game campaign next Wednesday at home against Hancock, will be one of the youngest Northern squads ever, as only one starter from last season's team. There will also be only one senior in Coach Dave Bender's line-up.

A new dimension of the Northern program is its membership in the new Mid-Appalachian League (MAL). The other teams in the league are Mt. Savage, Hancock, Flintstone, and Oldtown. The MAL will recognize a league champion, first team All-MAL, and an MAL Honorable Mention list of players at the end of the year.

The lone returning starter this year for the Huskies is 6-2 junior forward Jon Houser, who was the third top scorer last year with 213 points (12.2 per game) and the leading defensive rebounder with 104. According to Bender, Houser has improved his outside shooting and defensive skills over the summer.

mer and should emerge as one of the top power forwards in the area.

The only senior on the team will be 6-4 guard/forward Aaron Morris, who missed much of last season because of a bout of mononucleosis. Bender believes he will add a measure of defense, rebounding, and outside scoring to the team.

The top junior in pre-season workouts has been all-position player Richard Schofield.

"Richard vastly improved all phases of his game over the summer, but none as much as defense," Bender said.

Junior center Mike Fike, 6-3, led the Northern junior varsity in scoring and rebounding last year, and Bender hopes he will become the strong post player that the Husky coach has been looking for the past few seasons.

Juniors Eric Umbel and Doug Brenneman will hope to make their mark this year as aggressive defensive players and penetrators on offense. Junior Sam Wakefield is a reliable shooter from 15 feet, while Tim Thomas continues to make strides in all phases of the game. Bender says junior newcomer Dave Hinebaugh is "surprisingly quick and an excellent rebounder."

Two sophomores who have also made considerable improvement during the off-season are last year's jayvee point guard Paul Edwards and EARN MEDALS ON THE MAT — Two members of the Southern Mal Club recently participated in the Dundalk Optimists' Tournament in Dundalk and both brought home medals for their efforts. Charles Strawser, pictured right, won first place in the school boy division and second place in the cadet division. Nick Dolan, left, won third place in his division and also recorded the fastest pin of the day (16 seconds) among the 300 participants. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Pete) Strawser, Oakland, and Nick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Dolan, also of Oakland.

Brian Kamp, who is 6-4.

Freshman guard Rob Speicher led last year's Tri-County team from Northern to the league championship.

"Rob is an intelligent player who is able to observe what is happening on the court as well as many older, experienced players," Bender said. "He is really working to help fill the gap left by three-year point guard Dave Yoder."

Bender said the key to the Huskies' success this year will be their ability to mature as a team quickly.

"Anytime you have so many new people, it takes a while for experience to be gained and for the players and coaches to gel," he said. "We want to find out who is suited best for what roles."

Last year's seniors were as dedicated and hardworking as any group of student athletes I've ever coached. If this year's group maintains the same focus, then we will be able to achieve most of our goals."

In commenting on the formation of the new Mid-Appalachian League, Bender said, "By forming this league, the coaches hope to encourage a greater commitment to basketball and more of an opportunity for recognition of achievement for the athletes who play at small, rural schools. Transportation problems, lack of facilities, reduced coaching help, lack of feeder systems, and fewer number of students are all obstacles that are magnified at schools such as the ones in the new league. The kids at these schools make greater sacrifices than many of their counterparts at larger schools for the chance to play, with no guarantee of a winning season. The league will provide greater opportunity for them to be recognized for their efforts."

Young Paces Lakers Past FSU Junior Varsity Squad, 77-67

An 18-point effort by Derek Young paced the Garrett Community College Lakers to a 77-67 victory over the Frostburg State University junior varsity team last night at GCC in McHenry.

The win upped the Lakers' season mark to 3-2. They will go for win number four this Friday at Dundalk CC.

Another plus for the Lakers last night was the return of All-American candidate Chuckie Moore who had been sidelined with a knee injury. Moore finished just behind Young in scoring as he recorded 17 points.

The score was tied at 36 apiece at halftime, but a bucket by Bruce Boldley followed by a three-point shot by Young gave the Lakers a five-point lead in the opening moments of the second half, and they never trailed the rest of the way.

One aspect of the Lakers' play that disappointed Coach Dennis Gibson was their performance at the free throw line, where they converted only 13 of 30 attempts.

Also finishing in double figures for the Lakers were Clarence Morgan, who netted 10 points and grabbed eight rebounds. Boldley was credited with seven assists and four steals.

Leading all scorers was FSU's Donald Woodard, who recorded 24 points. Adrian Floyd added 11.

Police Report

Guthrie to use a large tank, cut in half, to build a small bridge across a stream near the railroad tracks. Guthrie did so, but soon after he completed the bridge, Ms. Sweitzer reportedly was contacted by the Department of Natural Resources and was informed that the tank could not be used in this way.

Guthrie then attempted to remove the tank on Nov. 24. According to the report, two unknown suspects approached Guthrie while he worked, harassing him. They left after a short while.

On the following day, Nov. 25, Ms. Sweitzer discovered that five large trees had been cut from a neighbor's property and placed across the end of her driveway, blocking her path.

There are reportedly no suspects in the incident, and an investigation is continuing.

Steven T. Uphold, Deer Park, reported the theft of a Pierre Cardin wrist watch and some change to the Sheriff's Office.

Uphold said he had left his watch and the money on a dresser in his bedroom, and sometime between Nov. 17 and 19, the items were reportedly stolen.

The worth of the watch and coins was listed at $150. In a separate incident, James W. Dixon, Oakland, reported to the Sheriff's Office that his dog was shot and killed on Nov. 23 in an open field near Dixon's home.

The dog was a mixed collie, and was possibly mistaken for a deer as it was shot twice with a rifle. However, no one notified the dog's owners after the shooting to inform them of the accident. Dixon found the pet sometime later.

Dixon merely wished for documentation of the shooting to be logged at the sheriff's office.

In another possible hunting incident, a stray bullet apparently entered the home of Dennis and Diane Kuhn, Deer Park, on Nov. 24.

The Kuhns reportedly heard a noise in the back of their home, and upon investigation, found that a double window in their pantry had been shattered, and a bullet was lying near the window.

The incident occurred on the first day of deer season, and police suspect that a hunter was responsible for the stray bullet. The damage to the window was estimated at $75.

DNR Arrests

Edward Schmidt, 19, Friendsville, was charged with one count of a loaded gun in a vehicle, and one count of spotlighting with a firearm. Schmidt and Young have not yet been fined.

Officer May said additional charges may be placed in West Virginia, on several subjects.

May also reported that two Friendsville juveniles appeared before Judge Fred A. Thayer in juvenile court on Nov. 7. The youths were charged with a spotlighting offense that occurred on Sept. 11.

Both juveniles were found to be delinquent and were sentenced to custody of the Juvenile Services Administration.

May said a Friendsville adult, Steven G. Savage, no age given, was also stopped with the youths during the September incident. Savage is scheduled to appear in court on Dec. 12 to face the spotlighting charge.

J. MILTON DeWITT

Who departed this life Nov. 25, 1989

It singeth low in every heart; we hear it each and all.

A song of those who answer not, however we may call.

They throng the silence of the breast, we see them as of yore.

The kind, the brave, the true, the gentle, who walk with us no more.

CONGRATULATIONS TO:

DAVE M.

GCC Board Of Trustees Meet.

Hear Resort Management Director

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees met Tuesday, November 20, and heard a variety of reports including an overview of the Hotel Restaurant Management Program by the newly appointed director, Beverly Plachta.

Plachta spoke of hospitality opportunities in the county and the economic impact of tourism in Maryland.

She noted that she would be traveling to Northern and Southern high schools soon to present the program. She also stated that the WISP Resort and Holiday Inn have agreed to assist with the program.

GCC President Dr. Stephen J. Herman commended Plachta and said her recent move to Garrett County would "enrich the college and the community."

ACADEMIC REPORTS
Terming it the "last and best outcome of turmoil," Dr. Herman called for the full support and endorsement of the recently authored "Principles of a Just and Humane Community," compiled by the GCC Academic Council on Excellence.

Dr. Herman referred to the troubles the college had been faced with several years ago and said of the document, "The best human products are born of suffering."

The document deals with attitude, communication, honesty, proper procedures, resolutions, and governance to achieve harmony in the college community. The Board unanimously approved it.

The Board also approved the completed "Student Motivation Program" and "Placement Testing."

The "Student Motivation Program" deals with the problems and needs of both traditional and non-traditional students. Strategies for motivation are included for problem areas. The booklet stresses that "being successful is itself a motivator."

Pilot testing for students admitted to GCC is now widely used in community colleges. Students are tested in reading, writing, and mathematics. The booklet outlines the entire testing process and who may be exempt from certain tests.

Although still in draft form, the Board praised the efforts of Kevin Dodge and Jim Allen for their work on a draft of "Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology."

The introduction of the draft states, "The decade of the '90's is experiencing a resurgence of visible, active, public concern for the preservation of America's natural resources. Although environmental issues emerged as a focused natural concern in the 1960's, the 'establishment' looked upon environmental leaders of that day with suspicion. This outlook is changing as America prepares to enter the 21st century. In response to mounting scientific evidence, the public is recognizing the legitimacy of environmental concerns."

Dodge and Allen, along with Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, have worked closely with Allegany Community College in drafting the revised wildlife technology program.

The "Action Plan for Board Development and Board Oversight" was also reviewed. The main goals of the plan are: 1. to adopt and participate in a well-formulated program of Board professional development; 2. to undertake systematic oversight of the main features of institutional life at Garrett Community College; and 3. to set institutional directions through effective strategic planning.

The first five-year action plan will focus on academic affairs and student life.

FINANCIAL REPORT
GCC Comptroller John Culp said the financial picture is "sound" at the college.

Culp noted that the college had expended 32% of the budget this fiscal year which is one percent below even spending. He said that all line items in the budget are in keeping with last year and he noted an upward trend in instructional spending.

The comptroller also outlined the financial reports for the college and the college foundation. He reported that no material weaknesses were found in the reports of either of the financial statements or how the budgets are administered.

The audits were conducted by Rollins and Gerwig, Cumberland The Board officially adopted both financial reports.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT
Board Chairman Wayne Hamilton reported on the recent State Board for Community College's meeting hosted by GCC. He praised Dr. Nancy Preiselac, GCC instructor and special assistant to the president, for being selected by the State Board as an outstanding faculty member.

Hamilton also commended the College for its work on the Adventure Sports Technical Scan. He then asked for volunteers to help plan the 20th anniversary planning committee.

Finally, but not least, Hamilton announced the birth of a son, Nathaniel, to Susan and Michael Stem. Mrs. Stem is the executive administrative secretary at GCC.

The next Board meeting will be held Tuesday, December 18.

Potomac Council Hosts Webeloree For Local Cubs

Over 90 fourth and fifth grade Cub Scouts, including several from Garrett County, participated in the fall Potomac Council Webeloree at Larenim Park near Burlington, W. Va.

According to Steve Householder, activity chair, the boys and more than 35 adult leaders had two days of planned outdoor activities and camping. The theme was "Star Wars." Activities included an obstacle course, a commissioner's tractor pull where the boys pulled each other on cardboard skids, and a water balloon battle where "good triumphed over evil" as the Cubs pelted Darth Vader with more than 2,000 water balloons. All the spent balloons were disposed of properly.

"DREAM COME TRUE" RECEIVES CHECK FROM FUNB — Vice President and Community Office Manager of First United National Bank and Trust's Main Office, Linda S. Sanders, is shown above, at right, presenting a check for the first of monthly installments to be presented to "Dream Come True," a local group benefitting adults with life-threatening diseases. The contribution was made possible through First United's Helper CD program, a charitable donation plan, whereby bank customers may support a local charity by investing in a new six-month, one year, two year or three year certificate of deposit. First United then donates one-half of one percent of the amount invested to a local charity. Customers may also designate the money to be given to other charities, such as "Garrett Organization for the Handicapped," "Make A Wish" or "Friends Aware." Chairperson for the "Dream Come True" charity is Anna Mary Fratz, also shown above. A local "dream" was recently made possible by the program when the daughter of a chronically ill parent was flown, courtesy of "Dream Come True" from Florida to the Oakland area for the Thanksgiving holiday. Persons wishing more information about the First United Helper CD program are asked to contact Linda Sanders at 334-9471 or contact any of the branch offices.

Toasted-Almond Fingers

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup toasted almonds, finely chopped
1 package (6 ounces) semisweet chocolate pieces
1 tablespoon vegetable shortening

Additional toasted almonds, finely chopped (optional)
Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Stir in vanilla. Add flour, salt and almonds and mix well. Wrap in waxed paper and chill until hard—about 30 minutes in freezer or several hours in refrigerator. Using measuring tablespoonfuls of dough, shape in 2" fingers and put on cookie sheet. Bake in preheated slow oven (325 degrees) 17 minutes, or until done. Cool on wire rack. Melt chocolate and shortening over hot water. Carefully dip one end of each finger in chocolate and put on waxed paper to dry. Sprinkle with nuts, if desired. Store in cool dry place.

Lemon-Coconut Crisps

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, separated
Grated rind of 1 lemon and juice
1/3 cup flaked coconut
1 cup all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
Sugar

Candied fruit, nut halves
Cream butter and 1/2 cup sugar. Beat in egg yolk and lemon rind and juice. Add coconut. Sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture. Using measuring teaspoonful of batter, drop small balls onto greased cookie sheet. Brush lightly with unbeaten egg white and sprinkle with small amount of sugar. Decorate tops with small piece of candied fruit or nut half and bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes.

Cinnamon-Nut Crisps

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
1 egg, separated
2 cup all purpose flour, lightly spooned into cup
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped pecans, filberts or unblanched almonds

Cream butter, gradually add sugar and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk, flour, cinnamon and salt and mix well. Spread in greased 15"x10"x1" pan. Brush with lightly beaten egg white and sprinkle with nuts, then press nuts into surface. Bake in preheated slow oven (300 degrees) about 50 minutes. Cut in squares while still hot. Store airtight in cool place. Good keepers and shippers.

Cookie Men

1 cup packed light-brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup canned applesauce
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 egg
1/2 cup finely ground almonds (use blender)
3 cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
Raisins

Combine brown sugar, molasses, applesauce and butter in medium saucepan. Bring to boil, simmer 5 minutes, then cool to lukewarm. Stir in egg and almonds. Add flour mixed with remaining ingredients, except raisins, and mix well. Cover and chill overnight. To shape, make 1" balls for head, 2" balls for body, 3" strips for legs and 2" strips for arms (about 1/2" thick). Put on greased cookie sheets and press with finger in desired shape (dough is sticky, so wipe fingers with wet paper towel). Cut raisins for eyes and mouth and leave whole for buttons. Bake in preheated 325, degree oven 12 to 15 minutes (do not brown). Cool on racks.

Cream Wafers

1 Cup butter or margarine
1/3 cup whipping cream
2 cups flour
Granulated sugar
Creamy Butter Filling

Mix butter, cream, flour thoroughly. Chill one hour. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Roll dough 1/8 inch thick. Cut into 1-1/2 inch rounds. Transfer to waxed paper. Heavily sprinkle with sugar turning to coat both sides. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Prick in 4 places with a fork. Bake 7-9 minutes or until slightly puffy. Put 2 cookies together w/filling.

Creamy Butter Filling:

Blend 1/4 cup soft butter, 3/4 cup confectioner sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Apricot Filled Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup milk
4 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 10 ounce jars of apricot pastry filling

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add eggs, vanilla and milk and beat thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and blend flour mixture into sugar mixture. Chill dough. Roll out thin, cut in 2 inch squares, put a little apricot filling in the center and bring two opposite corners up and fold down. If dough is too sticky, add enough flour to enable you to roll it out on floured board. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheet at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes. Cool. When cool, ice with the following:

Icing
2 cups confectioners sugar (sifted)
4 tablespoons margarine
4 ounces cream cheese
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1 ounce nuts (ground)

Blend sugar, margarine and cream cheese together. Add vanilla and milk and blend until smooth. Ice cookies and sprinkle top with ground nuts.

Banana Cookies

1 cup margarine
1 1/4 cups sugar
1/3 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
3 bananas (mashed)
1/4 cup oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
2/3 cup nuts (chopped)

Cream margarine and sugars together. Add eggs and beat. Add bananas and mix thoroughly. Combine oil and vanilla and set aside. Mix salt, flour and soda. Add to mixture alternately with liquid. Then add nuts and drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for about 10 minutes. Cool. Ice with banana icing. Makes 6-7 dozen.

Deluxe Lemon Bars

2 1/4 cups flour
1/2 cup confectioners sugar (sifted)
1 cup butter, softened
4 eggs (beaten)
2 cups sugar
1/3 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Sift 2 cups of flour and confectioners sugar together. Then cut in the butter until the whole mixture clings together. Press into a 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. While this is baking, beat the eggs, then add sugar and lemon juice and beat all together. Then sift 1/4 cup of flour and the baking powder together into the egg mixture and mix. Put this mixture on top of baked crust and return to oven. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes longer.

Molded Cookies

1/2 cup butter, softened
Confectioners' sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup all purpose flour
3/4 cup flaked coconut, chopped slightly

Cream butter with 2 tablespoons sugar until blended. Add vanilla and flour and mix well, then stir in coconut. Shape in small balls and put on ungreased cookie sheet. Chill 15 minutes, then bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes, or until very lightly browned. Roll at once in confectioners sugar.

PLANTED IN THE HOUSE OF THE LORD...

Winter is just around the corner. Reminders are all around. The grass has turned from green to brown, tinted by early morning frosts. Bare, black tree limbs are silhouetted against the November sky, as winter looms on the horizon.

Yet, potted plants, carefully rescued before the first frost, shine like emeralds in the sunny bay window, oblivious to the season. They thrive in the house, warm and tended, lovingly watered and nourished.

As in nature, our lives are, from time to time, assailed by the cold winds of doubt, and our hearts gripped by the icy fingers of fear. We do not have to feel desolate. We, too, can be rescued.

Come into God's house. Warm your heart and nourish your spirit. Psalms 93:12-13 promises "...the righteous man will flourish...planted in the house of the Lord."

Background Scripture: John 1:6-8, 9:17, 1:22-30
Devotional Reading: John 3:22-30

"Too bad about John the Baptist!" exclaimed a youth in one of my catechetical classes some years ago. "You mean because he was beheaded?" I asked. "No," replied the youth, "because he lost his 'star status' when Jesus came along."

I'd never thought of it just that way, but, in a sense, that's what happened. After Jesus began his ministry, some of John's own disciples left him and joined the swelling crowds following Jesus and it wasn't long before John was imprisoned by Herod and finally beheaded. If, when the gospel narratives open, John's is a rising star on the religious horizon, it soon becomes a fallen and faded one.

"POOR JOHN"

It doesn't seem that John the Baptist thought of himself as "poor John" or that he was resentful of the eclipse and eventual demise of his ministry. For John saw his ministry as having as its purpose to prepare the way for Jesus and his. John had enough popularity that he could easily build something more lasting for himself. When they asked him, "Who are you?" (John 1:19), he could have strung them along a little. He didn't have to say "I am not the Christ." Nor did he need to deny being Elijah or even a prophet. Furthermore, he need not have pointed people to Jesus. When they asked him, "Then why are you baptizing, if you are neither the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the prophet?" (1:24). Why did he tell them: "...among you stands one whom you do not know...the thing of whose scandal I am not worthy to untie" (1:27)? Why advertise the competition?

UNDIMINISHED

But John did not see Jesus as "competition." Rather, he saw Jesus as the fulfillment of his own mission and, when he saw Jesus coming toward him, he proclaimed: "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world. This is he of whom I said, 'After me comes a man who ranks before me'...I have seen and have borne witness that this is the Son of God." It was shortly after that two of John's disciples left him and followed Jesus.

If John was not concerned about his loss of star status, his disciples were very upset: "Rabbi, he who was with you beyond the Jordan, to whom you bore witness, here he is, baptizing, and all are going to him" (3:26). John, however, puts the matter straight with these unambiguous words: "He must increase, but I must decrease" (3:30).

In "decreasing," so that Jesus might "increase," John was not diminished, but fulfilled. We need not think of him as "poor John," for in faithfully doing the work God gave him to do, John gained the highest satisfaction a person can know. And so can we.

Divorces spark unexpected friendships

Stefanie Powers in high-strung role

By Mary Ann Townsend

Between fund raising and writing movie scripts, Stefanie Powers is always on the run. The actress, who starred for five years on the series Hart to Hart, took time out to act in a TV movie scheduled to air Monday, Dec. 3, on NBC.

In When Will I Be Loved? Powers stars as a woman going through a divorce who befriends two women facing the same situation. Starring with Powers are Katherine Helmond (Who's the Boss?) and Crystal Bernard (Wings).

The women help each other through the pains and joys of separating and starting over when they accidentally meet in the office of their divorce lawyer, played by Josef Sommer. The lawyer theorizes that one out of every three women contemplating divorce will reconcile with her husband, and the women discover that his theory is true.

But which one will it be? Helmond plays Barbara Patterson, a museum docent, and Bernard plays Julie Weston, an expectant mother. Powers plays Maxie Howard, an ambitious representative for a garment manufacturer. Her husband, Jerry Howard, is played by Kevin Conway.

"The reason it was attractive to me was that the part of Maxie was the sort of role that I've really not had an opportunity to play before," Powers said of her character's volatile marriage. "There's the more spectacular of the relationships because they're more dramatic and high-strung."

But Powers has, in fact, played the role of garment marketer — in real life. Since 1986, Powers has had the Stefanie Collection at Sears. Although plans are for the line to discontinue the line in February, Powers is looking for a new outlet for the merchandise bearing her name.

"It's just a coincidence," the actress said of her character's profession. "At least I didn't have to do the research of someone in the garment industry."

Powers said When Will I Be Loved? is not intended to be funny, despite an early press release calling it a lighthearted drama. "In Jerry and Maxie's relationship, sometimes they argue to the point of ludicrousness. That could be humorous. Maybe it is. But we weren't playing for comedy," she said. "I don't think it's any more lighthearted than any other divorce."

In addition to her role in When Will I Be Loved? Powers also reunited this year with Hart to Hart co-star Robert Wagner in a stage production of Love Letters, and is continually working on feature film scripts.

More recently, however, she completed another project very near and dear to her heart — organizing a three-day fund-raiser for the William Holden Wildlife Foundation, which educates Africans in animal preservation and conservation techniques.

While wearing so many hats, would Powers consider committing to another television series?

"Sure, but it's a toughy to come up with the premise," the actress said. "And right now, with everything else going on, it just doesn't seem feasible."

TIME OUT

Olympian builds to million dollar boxing match

By Steve Paschal

The first of America's 1988 Olympians to win a world championship as a professional will make his first title defense Saturday when IBF Light-Flyweight Champion Michael Carbajal meets top-ranked contender Leon "Fiero" Salazar of Panama on NBC's Sportsworld.

Carbajal (17-0, 11 KOs) won the IBF light-flyweight crown in July with a stunning technical knockout of former title holder Muangthai Kittikassam of Thailand. The exciting silver medalist, fighting before his hometown fans in Phoenix, felled the previously unbeaten Kittikassam three times before finishing him off in the seventh round.

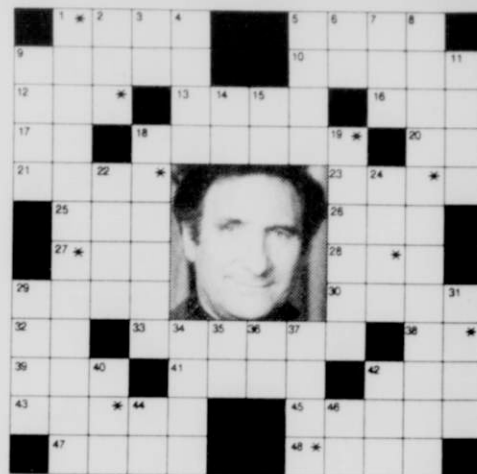

Although Carbajal fights in the 108-pound junior-flyweight division, a weight class generally overlooked by the media, he may reap the first $1 million payday for a junior flyweight if he can get past the dangerous Salazar. Most experts believe the "Million Dollar Showdown" will occur sometime next year in a title unification bout between the IBF champion and WBC champion, Humberto "Chiquita" Gonzales.

But before that payday materializes, Carbajal must get past Salazar (14-2-1, 11 KOs), a non-stop fighter known for his stinging flurries and effective body punches. Salazar has ended 10 of his last 12 fights with his opponent on the canvas.

"Fight Doctor" Ferdie Pacheco, who will call the action from ringside along with Bob Trumpy, said, "Carbajal, with the possible exception of Gonzales, is the best of the small fighters in boxing. Salazar has the style and heart to make this an exciting fight, but he's in for a tough time."

Q: Several of us single ladies have started a sort of informal fan club for Alan Autry who plays the role of "Bubba" on In the Heat of the Night. We have been told that you could possibly furnish us with an address of the studio or of Alan Autry himself. Thanks for your help. —Louise Stubbs, Lovington, N.M.

A: You ladies certainly have good taste! I suggest you write to his publicist Frank Tobin, c/o Porter/Novelli, 11755 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 1600, Los Angeles, CA 90025. He should be able to supply the information you need.

Q: What ever happened to Brenda Marshall, the lovely brunette co-star with Errol Flynn in The Sea Hawk and only wife of William Holden? Is she still living and where? —Marilyn Cooper, Goodland, Kan.

A: Brenda Marshall, born Ardis Ankersen in 1915, has been quoted as saying of moviemaking, "I hated it. One year they made me do eight pictures and I wound up with a nervous breakdown." She retired from films in 1950. She was divorced from Holden in 1971 after 30 years of marriage; she never remarried. She had two sons by Holden and a daughter by a previous marriage. She makes her home in California.

ABC's World of Discovery, Sunday, proves these microscopic critters are everywhere!

Marilu Henner, along with Burt Reynolds and CBS' Evening Shade, has moved to Mondays.

'Mary Poppins' brightens Disney Channel schedule

By Lee Irby

The holiday spirit is in the air at The Disney Channel with the return of a Disney classic.

On Sunday, Dec. 2, Julie Andrews becomes the "practically perfect" nanny who comes to live with the Banks family in 1910 London. She enjoys a jolly holiday with her friend Bert the chimney sweep and the two Banks children in the time-honored classic Mary Poppins.

Then on Thursday, Dec. 6, Disney premieres A Hobo's Christmas, starring Bernard Hughes and Gerald McRaney. With Christmas only a week away, hobo Chance Carson has decided to visit his only son, Charlie, who he has not seen in more than 25 years. The son is not enthusiastic about the visit, but Chance's two grandchildren are delighted by his colorful stories about life riding the rails.

Also premiering this week is the ABC AfterSchool Special, "Stood Up." The story focuses on a teenage girl, Becky, who is stood up by a senior class hunk for the school prom. Becky decides to sue the boy for the cost of her prom dress and the alterations.

Her trial is conducted by the "Street Law" class at her school. Becky's action illustrates the hard feelings and harmful publicity a trial can trigger, as well as the need to take responsibility for a decision and the satisfaction of seeing justice done.

"Stood Up" airs Thursday, Dec. 6, on ABC.

Comedy, suspense, drama round out week's movies

By Christy Bergslien

Michele Lee and Justine Bateman find themselves in peril on foreign soil in the CBS thriller The Fatal Image, Sunday, Dec. 2. The two play an American mother and daughter who inadvertently videotape a murder while touring Paris.

When a power-mad PTA president ingests a poisoned crabcake at a fund-raiser, everyone becomes a suspect in her murder. Robin Mattson (Santa Barbara) plays the hated, ill-fated president in Menu for Murder. The black comedy debuts Tuesday, Dec. 4, on CBS.

Why would anyone refuse the Congressional Medal of Honor? That is the question behind Decoration Day, airing Dec. 2, on NBC. Garner plays a lonely retired judge jolted out of his languor when he is asked to champion the cause of a former boyhood friend who has refused the medal on principle.

In When Will I Be Loved? airing Monday, Dec. 3, on NBC, Crystal Bernard, Stefanie Powers and Katherine Helmond play divorcees-to-be who become friends at their lawyer's office.

Fox's Monday night theatrical movie is The Pick-up Artist, airing Dec. 3. Robert Downey Jr. plays a young womanizer who meets his match when he falls for Molly Ringwald, the daughter of a boozing gambler.

Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in ABC's sole offering, Commando, Dec. 2.

Jack Webb good in portrayal of jazz musician Pete Kelly

By Steven Alan McGaw

Pete Kelly's Blues (1955)

Yes, this is a film about jazz, specifically jazz musicians in the 1920s. Yes, it was directed by and stars Jack Webb of Dragnet fame. And yes, Webb adheres pretty closely to his no-nonsense directing style and monochromatic acting. But Webb was a skilled storyteller; he knew how to color a work with humor and unusual characters, and, most of all, his stuff feels real. This film is no exception.

Webb stars as musician Pete Kelly. He gets fine supporting work from Janet Leigh, Edmond O'Brien, Lee Marvin and Andy Devine. Jayne Mansfield is used effectively, and singer Peggy

Lee received an Oscar nomination for her performance. The music is terrific and the attention to period detail is unerring. Give this one a try.

Vidmark Entertainment will soon release the moving drama Longtime Companion on cassette. The film centers on a group of friends in New York City, following them through the early '80s as the scourge of AIDS evolved from a chilling rumor to a terrifying reality and the killer of thousands. Starring Bruce Davison and Dermot Mulroney, the film's low-key approach only augments the mounting pains of the stories told. Keep an eye out for this one.

Kyle MacLachlan will continue to investigate murders on ABC's Twin Peaks, Saturdays.

Joanna Cassidy portrays author Gene Stratton Porter on PBS' Wonderworks, Wednesday.

Peter Ustinov not exactly a knight to remember

Peter Ustinov

Actor and author Peter Ustinov was recently knighted at London's Buckingham Palace but found the honor did not entitle him to a long chat with the queen. "She said, 'I hear you're still as busy as ever,' which I thought was very nice," Sir Peter recalled. "I said, 'Yes, I've just been to Australia and New Zealand,' and by that time the next man was on."

Bob Hope will receive the All Time Man of the Year Award from the Hollywood Women's Press Club at the 50th Golden Apple Awards on Dec. 9.

Pernell Roberts will return to television in the cast of Donor, a dramatic new motion picture-for-television also starring Melissa Gilbert and Jack Scalia and set for broadcast Dec. 9 on CBS. Roberts plays Dr. Martingale, the chief of staff in a hospital where a horrifying cover-up involving human experimentation and murder is taking place.

Family Dog, a new half-hour animated comedy series which explores the life of a family's pet dog, has begun production in Los Angeles for future broadcast on CBS. Steven Spielberg, Tim Burton and Dennis Klein are executive producers. The series centers on the day-to-day concerns of a nameless family dog looking for a sunny place to nap, digging up and burying bones, avoiding confrontations with larger neighboring dogs and relating to his human family, the Binfords. The Binfords are aware of the dog but are mostly wrapped up in their own concerns. The series is based on an episode of Amazing Stories.

Director/producer Gil Cates has been set to produce the 63rd Annual Academy Awards presentation, originating from the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. The event will be telecast live on Monday, March 25, 1991, on ABC. This marks the second consecutive year that Cates has been selected to produce the Oscar telecast.

Rick Dees, host of ABC's Into the Night Starring Rick Dees, has been named radio personality of the year by Billboard Magazine. Dees' radio show is heard each weekday morning on Los Angeles stations KLIIS-FM/AM. He also hosts his own syndicated radio show, Rick Dees Weekly Top 40.

Arthur Hill, who guest starred opposite Angela Lansbury on the very first episode of Murder, She Wrote (1984), returns in an upcoming episode. "The Return of Preston Giles," Hill portrayed Giles, Jessica's publisher and potential love interest — before her amateur sleuthing put him away for murder. Now, Giles is out of prison and eager to re-establish contact with Jessica.

Hallmark Hall of Fame begins 40th season

James Garner, Bill Cobbs star

By Anne Wheeler

The 40th season of television's prestigious Hallmark Hall of Fame presentations will be launched Sunday, Dec. 2, with Decoration Day, a poignant drama about childhood friends who reunite in their retirement years and rally for the same cause.

James Garner and Bill Cobbs star as the friends whose 30-year separation ends when one of them refuses to accept a Congressional Medal of Honor and the other fights to see that justice is served.

Cobbs, familiar to television audiences for his role in the miniseries Rage of Angels and in the series Map Maxwell, plays Gee Pennewell, a bitter, isolated farmer who suddenly finds himself the center of attention in a rural Southern town

C&P Ordered To Provide Free Per Call Blocking

The Maryland Public Service Commission (PSC) has directed the Chesapeake and Potomac Company (C&P) to provide free, per call blocking with its Caller ID service, to balance the needs of all subscribers.

In issuing its written order, the PSC stated that "many households have found Caller ID to be an effective tool for discouraging harassing and obscene telephone calls." Many also use the service to edit their calls by determining which ones they will answer immediately, which they will ignore and which calls will be returned at a later date. However, members of the Commission "have been persuaded by the testimony and evidence that there are possible negative effects of Caller ID's service which warrant and justify the implementation of per call blocking."

Per call blocking will allow any caller to intentionally block the transmission of his or her number to a Caller ID display screen. A caller can dial a 2 or 3 digit code, before dialing the phone number, to block the disclosure of the telephone number from which the call is originating. As a result of this action the called party's Caller ID screen will display the letter "P," or "PRIVATE," and not display the caller's telephone number. Thus, the per call blocking would allow the caller to maintain the privacy of his or her telephone number.

If a caller uses per call blocking, then the call party will receive a "P" or "PRIVATE" on the Caller ID screen. Therefore, the called party will know that the caller is deliberately trying to conceal his phone number. With this information, the Caller ID subscriber then has the same choice of whether to receive the call, just as if the screen displayed an unfamiliar number.

The PSC sought written and verbal comments from Maryland telephone users. The Commission received nearly 1,300 letters from SOUTHERN GOSPEL GROUP TO APPEAR AT GCC -- The Hoppers, a nationally known gospel family group, will appear in concert at Garrett Community College auditorium, Wednesday, December 5, at 7 p.m. The Hoppers have recorded numerous albums and many of their single releases have reached the gospel recording industry's top forty charts. They have also appeared on local and nationally syndicated television programs. Appearing throughout the United States and Canada for the past three decades, the group was selected to appear at the first religious inaugural celebration for President Ronald Reagan in 1981. In 1983, they were chosen as the top mixed group by the Southern Gospel Music Association. The group consists of Claude Hopper, manager, spokesperson and bass singer; Dean Hopper, bass player and lead singer; Greg Bentley, tenor; Shannon Childress, pianist; Mike Hopper, drummer, and Connie Hopper, alto singer. Persons desiring more information are asked to call 334-4954.

concerned citizens. Over 150 citizens testified at evening public hearings held at four locations across the state. Almost 60 percent of the written and verbal comments favored Caller ID. In reviewing the documents, the Commissioners found that customers want to subscribe to the service. However, case testimony also revealed that there are possible negative effects of Caller ID. The Commission found merit in the argument that teachers, psychologists, doctors and other persons in sensitive professions and occupations, who must use their home phones in the evening for professional purposes, may have valid reasons from time to time for wanting their home telephone numbers to not be revealed to called parties. Also, the Commission recognized that, from time to time, consumers may want to make calls to commercial businesses and avoid the possibility that Caller ID will result in unwanted subsequent return phone calls from those businesses. The PSC does not believe that free per call blocking will have a negative impact on the number of subscribers to Caller ID service.

In July, the Commission initiated its hearings for the purpose of evaluating various privacy and safety concerns surrounding Caller ID. The proceeding was conducted to "weigh the benefits and detriments of possible modifications to the Caller ID tariff," including the possibility of requiring C&P to provide some type of call blocking.

To date, over 34,000 C&P customers have subscribed to the Caller ID service. The service is now available in various areas of the State. C&P officials expect to have it available to the entire State by fall, 1991.

One of the Commission members disagreed with the majority opinion and stated that he did not favor requiring C&P to make per call blocking available.

The Commission's order also requires C&P to submit a copy of the bill insert the company will use to notify customers about the availability of per call blocking and how to use per call blocking.

GOBA Meets November 13, Minutes Noted

The regular monthly meeting of the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) was held on November 13 at Cornish Manor. Those in attendance were Rob Michael, Jan Shafer, George Brodak, Janna Naylor, Connie Margison, Teresa Feather, J.D. Watkins, Dee Raynovich, Scott Hollingsworth, Jack Jones, and Robin Witt.

One of the first items on the agenda was the welcoming of GOBA's newest member, George Brodak, of Brodak's Video Showcase.

Robin Witt, GOBA secretary, handed in her resignation which will be effective December 31. Any persons interested in filling the secretarial position, which includes the duties of attending the monthly meetings and typing the minutes, should contact Jack Jones, president.

GOBA members were encouraged to begin Christmas hours on Dec. 1, and to advertise the hours in an attempt to "be consistent with the competitive malls." Those GOBA members participating in the Christmas hours will keep their businesses open until 8 p.m. throughout the Christmas season.

The Autumn Glory banners were a topic of discussion at the meeting. Members expressed concern about the insufficient storage and care of the banners, noting that several banners remained out at the time of the Nov. 13 meeting. Another topic discussed was the condition of the Christmas decorations, which also were not taken care of properly, according to the minutes.

A motion was made to write a letter to the Town of Oakland voicing the association's dismay at the lack of concern for the considerable amount of money that GOBA has invested in these items.

Any GOBA members who wish to participate in the 1990 Christmas Giveaway are asked to do the following: new members are to pay 1991 dues of $50, plus a check for $50 for the grand prize and advertising costs, and thirdly, prepare a $100 gift certificate or state on store letterhead which bank winners are to pick up their $100 savings bond or $50 food certificate.

An announcement was made at the meeting concerning the Farm Fresh shelter. Protected parking will be available in the shelter for $10 per month, except on days with scheduled events. For reservations, persons may call Marvin's Men's Wear at 334-9211.

GOBA is planning activities for Memorial Day weekend, as well as July 4th. All interested vendors and crafts people are asked to call Marvin's to reserve spaces at the events.

GOBA's next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 11, beginning at 1 p.m. at Cornish Manor.

DHCD Program Combats State's Housing Shortage

The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) has introduced a new initiative to combat Maryland's shortage of low-income housing.

The program, known as "Shelter One, Start Small... Dream BIG," is designed to get small, inexperienced groups involved in housing. Several dozen groups are currently working with DHCD's Community Development Administration (CDA) to plan projects, and two loans will settle by the end of the year.

"If each church or nonprofit organization in Maryland undertook one small project, like buying a house to rent to a low-income family, it would have a significant impact on increasing the supply of decent, safe and affordable housing to those in need," DHCD Secretary Jacqueline H. Rogers said.

The state of Maryland, through Shelter One, is offering these groups the tools to be successful in meeting that challenge in the nineties."

CDA has developed a Non-profit Sponsor's Guide which outlines how the Shelter One program operates. The guide also gives information on how to incorporate as a nonprofit corporation, and provides a list of referral resources for professional services and local government contacts, along with a glossary of terms.

Once the necessary applications have been completed indicating what the group wants to do, who it wants to serve, and what revenue and expenses will be associated with the project, CDA will assess the feasibility of the project and make recommendations before much of the work is done.

Shelter One structures the financing for the projects and provides technical assistance. In addition, Shelter One can provide information about properties that may be available through DHCD's Maryland Housing Funds, Housing and Urban Development, Resolution Trust Corporation, or the State Clearinghouse process.

Shelter One will also help the group form a nonprofit corporation when necessary, coordinate with local government staff to clarify zoning issues and obtain local contributions, make preliminary site inspections to evaluate the acceptability of a proposed property, assist in completing the application, and obtain documentation necessary to close the loan. Shelter One can also provide information on potential sources of grant funds.

For further information about Shelter One and how to obtain an application, persons may call CDA's Rental Housing Programs at (301) 974-2122.

Oakland Student Recipient Of $500 Scholarship

An Oakland resident recently won a $500 scholarship in a program sponsored by the Maryland National Guard Family Association and the National Guard Association of Maryland. Christine E. Bittinger received the award from Nola McBee, Family Association president and Lt. Col. Arthur "Bill" Pulket, NGAM president.

Christine is a sophomore at Frostburg State University majoring in mathematics and communications. She plans to teach in a middle or high school upon graduation, "probably near Frederick or Washington, D.C.," she said.

Her 16-credit-hour schedule this fall doesn't allow much extracurricular activity; however, she does work part time as a tutor in the PASS program, helping other Frostburg State students improve their math abilities.

Christine also belongs to Phi Eta Sigma, a freshman honor society at Frostburg for students who have achieved a 3.5 grade average or above.

Last summer, she waited tables at the Point View Inn at Deep Creek Lake and expects to work as a waitress in Ocean City this spring.

She is a 1989 graduate of Southern High School where she was on the track and basketball teams and served on the student government. She also served as class treasurer and was active in high school theatre as a junior and senior.

Christine is the daughter of Sgt. 1st Class Thomas E. and Dorothee Bittinger, Oakland. Her father is a readiness NCO and operations sergeant in Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion, MDARNG, also in Oakland.

Adventists Begin 82nd World Service Appeal

Local Seventh-day Adventists are visiting homes and businesses this month in behalf of the church's 82nd annual World Service Appeal.

A priority every fall, fund-raising benefits welfare, disaster, educational and medical work in over 180 countries of the world, including the U.S. and Canada, according to a church spokesperson.

Adventist volunteer solicitors carry credentials and wear identification badges. They distribute "Vibrant Life" brochures reporting on use of funds from previous campaigns, including last fall's aid to victims of Hurricane Hugo and the California earthquake.

Herbert Morgan, community services director for the Mountain View Conference of Seventh-day Adventists (headquarters for West Virginia and western Maryland), says about 13 percent of funds raised return to local Adventist churches for use in their communities.

Some, such as the Clarksburg and Parkersburg, W.V., churches, operate community service centers distributing free food and clothing to needy persons; others offer stop-smoking, parenting, nutrition and stress seminars.

The majority of funds are distributed according to need by states and countries, with only three percent going to actual fundraising expenses.

Bus drivers honored for long-time safe driving records were as follows: Harold Wiley, 35 years; Raymond Yoder, 30 years; Randall Gleece and Patricia Loar, 15 years; and Jean Wright, 10 years.

Service pins were given for years of membership in Woodmen: Kermit L. Bittering, Judy Ann Miller, Katherine Upperman, and Frederick J. Riggelman, 25 years each, and Leo Smith, 50 years.

The credential was awarded by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C., which represents the early childhood profession through its affiliation with the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve child care by evaluating and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care. Although the first credential was awarded just 15 years ago, 42 states plus the District of Columbia already include CDA in child care licensing regulations. Others are considering similar action.

Every candidate for the CDA credential is observed working with children and is evaluated by a team that includes early childhood experts and a parent. The candidate must demonstrate ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a safe and healthy learning environment.

Mrs. Rinker, a graduate of Southern High School, has been a Head Start teacher for five years. She resides on Backbone Mountain with her husband, John, and their three children.

Child care staff and parents wanting information on CDA should write the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition at 1718 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., 5th Floor, Washington, D.C.; or call (202) 265-9090 or 1-800-424-4310.

Miss Oester Becomes Bride Of Mr. Diehl In September Ceremony

Barbara Jean Oester and Michael James Diehl were united in marriage Saturday, September 22, at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident. Rev. Wilfred L. Karsten officiated the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Lynette Karsten was the organist. She accompanied Daymond and Lori Schmuck, who were the vocalists. Selections included

"Theme from Ice Castles," "Whither Thou Goest," "O Perfect Love," and "The Wedding Song."

The flowers were placed on the altar in honor of the grandparents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Oester, Grantsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Diehl, Addison, Pa.

Before the ceremony, the groom presented each of the mothers and grandmothers with a yellow rose.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a white satin gown with leg-of-mutton sleeves of net, appliqued with embroidered lace and shirred satin at the shoulders. The sleeves were adorned with pearls and iridescent sequins. An embroidered applique bodice adorned with pearls and iridescent sequins held a gathered skirt edged with lace that continued around a full cathedral train. The train featured cut-out lace motifs. To complete her attire, the bride wore a two-tiered satin edge veil gathered from a pouf on a Cinderella hat of white satin with a pleated brim. The hat was trimmed with a cluster of white silk and iridescent flowers, leaves, pearls, and pearl sprays. The bride's jewelry consisted of pearl and diamond earrings, a gift from the groom.

The bride carried a cascade silk bouquet of dusty rose roses, white mini carnations, white azaleas, and baby's breath. The bouquet was accented with pearl sprays, ivy, and white streamers.

Serving as maid of honor was Linda Oester, Grantsville, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Carol Resh, Grantsville, and Robin Riley, Addison, Pa., sisters of the groom. The junior bridesmaids were Jamie Resh, Grantsville, and Ashley Pirich, Addison, Pa., nieces of the groom.

Dusty rose and wine were the colors chosen for the wedding and reception. The attendants wore teal-length gowns with lace overlays and a satin ribbon bow at the waist. The maid of honor's gown was wine while the bridesmaids' and junior bridesmaids' gowns were dusty rose. They carried white lace fans with dusty rose roses, white azaleas, white mums, and baby's breath. The bouquets were accented with ivy and white streamers.

Jackie Resh, Grantsville, and Stacey Riley, Addison, Pa., nieces of the groom, were flower girls. They wore wine tea-length gowns trimmed with wine lace front and back insets and white lace ruffles forming a V in the front and back. The white lace also ruffled around the hemline. The gowns also featured a shaped back overlay with a white lace contrast and a large wine colored bow at the waist. They carried white baskets with an arrangement of dusty rose roses and baby's breath. The arrangement was accented with ivy, a white bow, and white streamers.

Serving as the groom's best man was Dorsey Guard, Friendsville, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Glenn Diehl, Addison, Pa., brother of the groom and David Oester, Grantsville, brother of the bride; Randy Resh, Grantsville, brother-in-law of the groom; and Charles Tissue, West Newton, Pa., cousin of the groom.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with a white tie and vest. The groom's boutonniere consisted of a dusty rose rose and baby's breath. The best man and groomsmen wore gray tail tuxedos with gray ties and vests. Their boutonnières were dusty rose carnations with baby's breath.

Jared Resh, Grantsville, nephew of the groom, and Jeremiah Guard, Friendsville, cousin of the bride, were ring bearers. They carried white satin pillows trimmed with white lace and embroidered ribbons.

All of the flowers for the wedding were arranged by Accident Floral and Gifts. The ring bearers' pillows and attendants' hair pieces were made by the bride. All of the attendants' gowns were made by the bride and Carol Resh, sister of the groom.

A special blessing was said by Pastor John Jenista, Berlin, Pa.

The guest book attendant and bird seed distributor was Heidi O'Neil, Fairhope, Pa., friend of the bride. Gary Oester, Grantsville, brother of the bride, served as acolyte, program, and bird seed distributor.

The bride and groom were taken from the church in a horse-drawn white carriage, a gift from the bride's brother and sister. The carriage was from Hoof Prints, Frostburg.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony at the Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School gymnasium, Confluence, Pa. The buffet meal was catered by the Confluence V.F.W. ladies auxiliary.

The wedding cake was baked by Sharon Garlitz, Star Route, Frostburg. The three-tier hexagon-shaped cake was surrounded by six heart-shaped cakes. There were also two sheet cakes. All were trimmed with dusty rose silk flowers and wine satin ribbon streamers. The cake top was crystal wedding bells surrounded by a crystal heart. The cake was cut and served by Janie Pirich, Addison, Pa., sister of the groom.

Pictures were taken by Photography by Jeannine, Frostburg, and the video was done by Garrett Video Productions, McHenry.

Following a honeymoon cruise to the Caribbean and San Juan, Puerto Rico, the couple established residence in Addison, Pa.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Northern High School and a 1985 graduate of Garrett Community College. She is employed with National Bank of Western Pennsylvania, Markleysburg, Pa.

The groom is a 1981 graduate of Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School and a 1981 graduate of Somerset Vocational Technical School. He is employed with Somerset Cable TV and on the family farm.

Pre-wedding events included a bridal shower hosted by Linda Oester, sister of the bride, and Heidi O'Neil, friend of the bride. A second shower was hosted by Carol Resh and Janie Pirich, sisters of the groom. A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at their home.

Local Chess Players Vie In State Tourney

Three local chess players represented Western Maryland in the Rockville JCC Tornado Tournament, held Sunday in Rockville. The event was sanctioned by the Maryland State Chess Association and the United States Chess Federation.

Jerry Cline, a USCF member who holds a rating of 1,800, Phil Riccobono, who is rated 1,400 in Class D, and Leif Piper, who went into the event unrated, represented Garrett County and Western Maryland in the tourney.

In his first game, Cline was pitted against Maryland State Champion Allan Savage, a master who is rated 2,374. Savage won the match in 38 moves. A win by Cline would have upped his rating by 400 points, putting him into the expert category. Cline did earn one draw in the competition.

Riccobono finished with a record of one win, a draw, and two losses, holding his own against players rated between 1,600 and 1,800-plus.

Piper, who competed against Class B players rated between 1,700 and 1,900-plus, finished with two wins and two losses. He defeated two players who were ranked 1,850 and 1,750. His final loss was to 13-year-old Geoff Melman, the youngest USCF expert in the tournament. Piper's 2-2 record gave him his first USCF rating, a 1,750 in B Class, just under expert.

Piper and Cline are members of the local Queen's Knight Chess Club and Riccobono is a member of the En Passant Chess Club.

Another participant in the tournament was Boris Yursiski, a guest of the U.S. Chess Federation and a master player from the Soviet Union with a rating of 2,374. Yursiski, a resident of Kiev, Russia, at one time played and defeated Russian champion and world master Garri Kasparov's father in a local village establishment. Had Yursiski been from a prominent family in the Soviet Union, like the Kasparovs, he would have received assistance and training from the Soviet government and may have become world champion, according to a spokesman for the Maryland State Chess Association.

Md. Humanities Council Offering Matching Funds

It was announced recently that the Maryland Humanities Council has funds available for school grants of up to $1,200, to support unique and innovative humanities programs for children in Maryland schools, grades one through twelve. Any accredited elementary, secondary, public, private, or parochial school is eligible to apply, as well as nonprofit institutions and organizations, other than schools, who want to produce humanities programs for school-aged audiences. There are no deadlines for submission of applications, but six weeks must be allowed prior to the programs beginning.

All school grant projects must meet the special requirements outlined in the council's guidelines; must be in one or more fields of the humanities; must be an activity that would not otherwise take place and is not part of the regular classroom curriculum; must draw on humanities resources from outside the school; and must involve students actively, not passively, in the program.

Applications may be obtained by writing or calling the Maryland Humanities Council at 516 North Charles Street, Suite 102, Baltimore 21201, (301) 625-4830.

The Maryland Humanities Council is an independent, nonprofit statewide affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities. In 1990, NEH provided Federal funding representing 77% of the Council's overall budget for operations, programs and services. Additional support for council programs is provided by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, and by foundations, corporations, and individuals throughout the state.

Applications To FSU Up 19% For Next Fall

Applications for Frostburg State University's fall 1991 freshman class are up 19% over this time last year, according to David L. Sanford, Dean of Admissions.

Not only are the numbers of applications increasing, the quality of applicants is on the rise. Sanford says, "Last year we had over 4,000 applications and at this rate we're going to exceed that. Yet the number of people in our freshman class hasn't increased substantially." The incoming freshman class averages around 875 students. He continues, "That has created a need for more selectivity and from that aspect, the admission posture has changed in that we're getting applications from better qualified students. We're able to select better students from the volume of applications that we're getting, so the nature of the student body is changing."

The Dean says the average SAT score of this year's freshman class is 916, up 40 points over the freshmen entering four years ago. The nation-wide average SAT score for all high school seniors was only 900. Academic grade point averages are also up, averaging 2.72 this year.

Coal & lumber towns of Garrett County

G.C. COAL HISTORY PROJECT — The first meeting has been scheduled for a working committee that will plan, design, and coordinate an oral history project of the coal communities of Garrett County. The meeting will be held on December 5 at Penn Alps, beginning at 1 p.m. Persons interested in attending the meeting or receiving more information may contact Ralph Burnett, chairman of the Garrett County Development Corporation, at 334-9480.

Another indicator that the academic quality of the student body is increasing is the fact that academic scholarships are sought after and filled with a higher degree of competition.

According to Director of Financial Aid Kathie Kutler, FSU granted 100 Meritorious Achievement Awards this year, 25 of which were four year grants. The others were one year grants. In this program, tuition is waived for the students receiving the award. Criteria for these grants include an SAT score of 1200 or 3.5 high school grade point average. Ms. Kutler also says that during the 1989-90 academic year 50 Maryland Distinguished Scholars attended FSU. These students receive full four-year scholarships to the Maryland state institution of their choice and are selected on the basis of academic and artistic achievement.

Sanford attributes the increased interest in FSU to several key areas. He says the University began a marketing effort several years ago, but it was the arrival of Dr. Herb F. Reinhard as FSU President that gave the effort the extra energy that has resulted in the increases. Sanford also attributes name recognition down state as a factor, saying University status "had a large impact on us," and that it "has really been a strong marketing tool."

The Dean also stresses the "importance to the families I've spoken with about our appearance on the list of the 100 schools that are the best value for the dollar. That has been mentioned to me any number of times. That has had a big impact on them (the families of applicants)." He refers to the fall 1990 Time magazine Money Guide which judged FSU to be the 15th best educational value in American public institutions of higher learning.

The current economic climate has also made Frostburg a more attractive choice. Families of applicants, "tend to be looking a little closer to home because of the economics," says Sanford. The kind of student attracted to FSU seems to be changing, again due to economic factors. He explains that the cost of higher education generally has reached such a level that families who might have considered a different type of institution are now finding Frostburg State University a quality, reasonably priced first choice.

Mid-Atlantic Region's Largest Ag Lender Has Profitable 3rd Quarter

The Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore reported third quarter net earnings of $5.9 million on a loan portfolio that topped $3 billion during the quarter, according to recently released combined financial statements of the bank and its 18 affiliated associations located across Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

"The agricultural economy in the Mid-Atlantic region continues to show stability as reflected by our increasing loan volume and the soundness of our loan portfolio's credit quality," said Gene Swackhamer, president of the bank, which is the region's largest agricultural lender.

"This is the 12th consecutive quarter we have experienced continued loan volume growth. While we are pleased with this trend, we want our customers to continue to enjoy stable farm income, dependable off-farm income and secure collateral values," Mr. Swackhamer added.

He reported loan volume at the quarter's end was $3.05 billion, an increase of 2.0 percent or $60.4 million over the previous quarter and 8.6 percent or $242.7 million above third quarter 1989. Mr. Swackhamer commented that credit quality across the region had not changed significantly since year-end 1989, and expectations are for credit quality to remain stable throughout the remainder of this year. He attributed this stability to a well-diversified agricultural economy, off-farm income and conservative lending practices.

Declining property values, which have had a negative impact on some financial institutions in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic states, have had minimal effect on the loan portfolio of the bank and its associations to date, according to the bank's quarterly financial statement.

Net income of $5.9 million was recorded for the third quarter 1990, compared to $3.1 million for the second quarter and $4.3 million at September 30, 1989. Bank officials attributed the fluctuations in net income to an improving trend in net interest income offset by the recording of expenses associated with the investment in stock of the Farm Credit System's Financial Assistance Corporation, in the second and third quarters of 1990.

The Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore and its 18 associations are currently providing loans and financial services to over 50,000 borrowers across the Mid-Atlantic region and in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. The bank and the affiliated associations, which form the Baltimore Farm Credit District, are part of the Farm Credit System. The Farm Credit System is a nationwide system of federally chartered agricultural lending institutions cooperatively owned by their borrowers.

Dairy Farmers Attempt To Price Their Milk

"Just 10 months ago consumers were paying prices for dairy products that returned nearly $16 per cwt to dairy farmers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Since then, the demand for dairy products has remained strong, but because our (dairy farmers) milk price is determined on national marketing conditions, it has already dropped more than $3 per cwt from last year. Looking at 1991, it is expected that blend prices in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania will average between $11.25/$11.75 per cwt," explains Lowell Friedline, dairy farmer from Somerset County, Pennsylvania.

Friedline, also a director for the Producers' Equalization Agency (Agency) adds, "We produce a nutritious product, spend money advertising it and have created a strong demand, but this is self defeating because we do not have a mechanism to price our product. This is particularly disturbing since just a few months ago, consumers locally were paying prices for dairy products which yielded us a reasonable milk price."

"In order to have a healthy dairy industry in eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, we (dairy farmers) need to establish a mechanism to price our product. This can only be done if the vast majority of dairy farmers agree to price their milk through a pricing agency. Although this may seem difficult since dairy farmers by nature are independent, it can be done if an organization was designed in a manner that was acceptable to both independent dairy farmers and dairy farmers who ship their milk through a cooperative. I feel the Agency is this type of organization, but to become operational the vast majority of dairy farmers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania need to sign an agreement to mutually price their milk," explains Jim Woods, independent dairy farmer from Mercer County, Pennsylvania.

Woods adds, "The Agency is a dairy farmers' organization with a goal to price milk at a level that will return to dairy farmers at least a $1 over-order premium. Dairy farmers can achieve this goal by gaining the acceptance from the vast majority of dairy farmers in this market to mutually price their milk so local milk processors will not be disadvantaged. The Agency does not intend to direct milk or disrupt the milk producer and milk processor relationship which will allow dairy farmers to ship their milk to the plant of their choice and continue to receive their regular milk checks. The Agency will then announce over-order premiums and return them to dairy farmers in a third monthly milk check after approximately one cent is deducted to cover Agency operating costs."

"By November 25, 98 percent of Maryland's corn grain acreage was harvested, ahead of last year's 92 percent and the five-year average of 96 percent. An average of 5.7 days was suitable for fieldwork during this week according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, none of the topsoil was very short of moisture, 13 percent was short, 81 percent was adequate, and six percent was surplus. Subsoil moisture ended the week as follows: none was very short, six percent was short, 94 percent adequate, and none surplus. Sorghum was in good condition and was nearly all harvested. What field corn that is left in the field is in good condition. Barley, rye, oats and pasture were also in good condition across the state. Soybeans and wheat were rated to be in fair to good condition this week. Hay supplies were adequate."

"If dairy farmers want a better price, they need to become involved in pricing their milk. So do something about your future, become involved and attend the next Agency meeting in your area or call 1-800-875-2250," concludes Woods.

Corn Grain Harvest Virtually Complete

By November 25, 98 percent of Maryland's corn grain acreage was harvested, ahead of last year's 92 percent and the five-year average of 96 percent. An average of 5.7 days was suitable for fieldwork during this week according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, none of the topsoil was very short of moisture, 13 percent was short, 81 percent was adequate, and six percent was surplus. Subsoil moisture ended the week as follows: none was very short, six percent was short, 94 percent adequate, and none surplus. Sorghum was in good condition and was nearly all harvested. What field corn that is left in the field is in good condition. Barley, rye, oats and pasture were also in good condition across the state. Soybeans and wheat were rated to be in fair to good condition this week. Hay supplies were adequate."

Maryland's progress for the week ended November 25, listing the percentage for this year, last year and the average in that order, was: Crops seeded, wheat 98, 91, 96; barley 100, 97, 99; rye 98, 90, 96; oats 89, 69, 94; Crops harvested: corn grain 98, 92, 96; soybeans 93, 80, 79.

Weather
Maryland weather for the week ended November 23, had light precipitation and temperatures warmer than normal in Western and North Central Maryland and cooler than normal for Southern Maryland west of the Bay and the Eastern Shore. Precipitation averaged 0.27 inch, ranging from 0.05 inch at several stations to 0.84 inch at Hagerstown. Western and North Central Maryland averaged 0.39 inch and 0.37 inch, respectively. Southern Maryland west of the Bay and the Eastern Shore received 0.23 inch and 0.12 inch, respectively. Temperatures averaged 45.1 degrees, 0.5 degrees above the normal of 44.6 degrees for the November 17-23 period. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the 20s except Baltimore and Washington Airports where minimums were in the mid to upper 50s and extreme Western Maryland where minimums were in the mid teens. Maximum temperatures for the week were mostly in the mid 60s to low 70s except extreme Western Maryland's low 60s. A male horse has 40 teeth while a female has only 36.

Changes in the National Beef Herd

A recent report giving national beef statistics was recently put out by the National Cattlemen's Association in their publication called Directions. One of the more interesting articles in the publication dealt with the number of cattle needed to meet the demand for the product in the 90's. The statistics are surprising. Although numbers nationally have been declining since 1975, total beef production has not. In fact, beef production from 100 million cattle in 1990 will equal the average production from 120 million head in the decade of the 70's. The following statistics are given for this increase in beef from fewer cattle. While the number of head has declined, the average weight has increased during the last 15 years. Weaning weight increased from 465 lbs. in 1975 to 524 lbs. in 1989. Fed cattle marketed increased in average weight from 1060 lbs. to 1122 lbs. in this same time span. Carcass weights increased from an average of 579 lbs. to 678 lbs. Also, today's carcasses are leaner which means that the average carcass today is both larger and has a higher percentage of lean meat. Thus, the production of consumable meat is even greater than the 100 lb. carcass weight increase. In addition, since feedlot time has declined from an average of 150 to 180 days in the 70's to 125 to 130 days presently, the number of cattle to be marketed annually has increased. Therefore, the total production of beef in the 90's can be equal to the total beef production in the 70's with 20 million fewer cattle. The combination of increased leaner carcass weights and more rapid turnover replaces production from 20 million head of cattle.

Bedding With Recycled Newspaper

Most of you have probably read about the advantages of using chopped newspaper as a source of animal bedding. Most studies are very positive. Until now, there has not been a source to obtain the chopped newspaper. I just received a letter from Tom Grimes, Manager of Brock Scrap and Salvage, Cumberland, Md., that they now have 50 lb. bales of chopped newspaper available. Compared to straw, the price looks right. You get more information by calling 301-777-0820.

Aerate Grain for Safe Storage

A lot of our grain corn probably was picked and stored at a higher moisture level than desired. You should check the temperature of the stored grain. By now it should be below 40 degrees F. If it is not, you should aerate immediately. Aeration reduces insect activity and prevents moisture migration, which can cause grain to heat and spoil.

Christmas Bird Count Slated December 15

The Garrett County Christmas Bird Count will take place this year on December 15. This will be one of more than 1,550 similar counts designed to help survey wintering birds in those areas. All Christmas Bird Counts will be taken from Guam and Hawaii to Labrador and from Alaska to Brazil, during the period from December 15, 1990, through January 3, 1991 (inclusive).

This year marks the 91st anniversary of the original Christmas Bird Count, taken on Christmas Day, 1900 in 25 locations, mostly around major northeastern cities. Since then, this annual event has grown from its original 25 counts to 1,550 plus, and the total participants from 27 to over 42,000.

This year every Canadian province, every American state, Bermuda, many tropical American countries, and numerous West Indian and Hawaiian islands will submit their results to the National Audubon Society, which sponsors and supervises the affair, and publishes all the counts in its birding magazine, American Birds.

According to local birders, the count itself is the biggest birding event of the year, and for some groups it means days and weeks of planning strategies and working out logistics that will yield, in a single calendar day, the most complete census of birds possible in the designated area. By tradition, that "count area" is a circle with a unique center and 15-mile diameter, or an area of roughly 177 square miles.

The Garrett County count has its center at the intersection of Lakeshore Drive and Mayhew Inn Road.

Within this circle, count organizers attempt to field as many birders as they can. These birders are grouped into "parties," each with a party leader familiar with the section of the circle which it alone will search (or census). There is no upper limit on the number of participants taking part in the count.

ROTARIANS HELP WITH HABITAT HOME — Rotarians turned out on Saturday, October 27, to participate in the construction of a Habitat for Humanity home being built on "R" Street in Mtn. Lake Park. The Rotarian construction crew had the responsibility of hanging sheet rock throughout the house. Oakland Rotary had a total of 11 Rotarians turn out for the project. The Habitat for Humanity project foreman, Don Little, was present to provide advice and help. Rotarians pictured, left to right, are: front row, Ross Crowe, James Harvey, Robert Ulino, and Joe DiSimone. In the back row, same order, are: Craig Wengert, Frank Custer, Andrew Messer and Tom Dabney. Rotarians working on the project but not pictured were Dave Moe, Clarence Stem, Tom Browning, and Tom Jones.

All of the Christmas Bird Count information will be gathered, edited, and published in the Christmas Bird Count issue of American Birds ($15.00), whose editors organize the annual extravaganza. "Apart from its attraction as a social, sporting, and competitive event, the annual Christmas Bird Count reveals interesting and scientifically useful information on the early-winter distribution patterns of various species of our winter resident birds; where they are and in what numbers," stated one organizer.

All persons, regardless of skill level, are invited to participate in the counts. For information on the Garrett County nearest count, persons may contact Connie Skipper at 387-5227.

MSP's Operation Yuletide To Aid Retail Merchants

Maryland State Police have announced "Operation Yuletide," a state-wide crime prevention program with local law enforcement agencies and retail merchants.

"Operation Yuletide is a cooperative crime prevention effort focused on the retail community during the long, holiday shopping season," stated Trooper First Class Jerry Skrzybiec (pronounced Skrib-ick) of the Maryland State Police Crime Prevention Unit. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service radio broadcast, TFC Skrzybiec said police are hoping to enhance safety for shoppers.

"Our goal is to team up with local law enforcement in a state-wide effort aimed at reducing crime in the retail district," TFC Skrzybiec added. Beginning on Thanksgiving Friday, special teams of troopers will be deployed to patrol shopping centers and malls. The special enforcement effort will feature foot patrols inside the retail centers and "ride-along" patrols with mall security on the parking lots.

"Uniformed troopers will be on patrol in the retail district as well as undercover officers who will be walking among shoppers searching for thieves and shoplifters," added TFC Skrzybiec. The Maryland State Police Crime Prevention Unit has offered a few tips for shoppers: •during nighttime shopping, park in well lit areas •lock all windows and doors when leaving the vehicle •packages placed in vehicles should be stored out of sight •shop with a companion •maintain close control of pocketbooks or other belongings •avoid displaying large amounts of cash •be observant, and report any suspicious activity to authorities

Maryland State Police will also deploy special holiday highway patrols to assist motorists in heavily travelled areas of the state. State Police are encouraging motorists to drive cautiously in areas where vehicular and pedestrian traffic is heavy.

Women's Support Group Begins To Meet At GCC

Judge F.A. Thayer Sentences Man In Assault Case

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man charged with three counts of assault was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections by Judge Fred A. Thayer in Garrett County Circuit Court. The judge then suspended the three-year term on several conditions.

George W. Talbot, 43, was charged with the assault violations after an April incident at which time he reportedly assaulted six children, all in his care at the time. Talbot allegedly battered the children and pointed a gun at them.

A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered by Thayer on Oct. 11 after Talbot pleaded guilty to the three counts of assault. Other charges not prosecuted included child abuse and reckless endangerment.

The conditions Thayer imposed included five years probation, mandatory counseling, and total abstinence from alcohol during probation.

Defense attorney for the defendant was John R. Toston. A Mountain Lake Park man was acquitted of conspiracy charges in Circuit Court last week, and charges of distribution of cocaine as well as one of possession of cocaine were not prosecuted.

Richard E. Reall, 36, was acquitted of the charge which stemmed from a November 1989 incident at which time Reall was involved in a Maryland State Police undercover sting operation at the Oak Grove Tavern, Crellin.

Defense for Reall was Deborah A. Lawson. The imposition of sentencing for Robert L. Pyles, 25, Oakland, charged with fourth degree sex offense, had been withheld on Nov. 8. Judge Thayer did proceed with sentencing on Nov. 29, and Pyles received one year in the Garrett County Jail, with credit for time served and the balance of the sentence suspended.

The sex offense charge against Pyles stemmed from an April through May episode involving a 15-year-old female.

The defendant was represented by Robert C. Hesson. Brenda J. Whitacre, 25, Frostburg, was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail on the charge of distribution of marijuana. Thayer granted credit for time served and suspended the balance of the sentence.

Whitacre had been charged following an October 1989 incident at the Stonehenge Bar parking lot on Rt. 40. At that time, the defendant reportedly sold a quantity of marijuana to an undercover officer.

Thayer also ordered two

The snow guns have been in full operation the past several nights at the Wisp Ski Resort in McHenry, which

Blaze Rips Through Local Mill, Losses Estimated To Be $500,000

Fire swept through a local sawmill near Deer Park last Thursday afternoon causing an estimated $500,000 in damages.

Volunteer fire fighters from Deer Park, Oakland, and Gorman were summoned to the Bowers Lumber Company, Inc., located along State Rt. 135 about two miles west of Deer Park, at 12:17 p.m. Upon their arrival, they discovered the 40-by-80-foot building which housed the mill portion of the company fully involved in flames.

According to Fred Collins, chief of the Deer Park VFD, employees of the mill had tried to extinguish the blaze, but were unsuccessful because of the smoke. Firemen brought the fire under control in about one hour, but remained on the scene for nearly five hours.

The cause of the fire is under investigation by Jim Woods, deputy state fire marshal out of the Frederick office. Woods said that the exact cause may never be determined because of the complete destruction of the building and equipment. An estimated $450,000 worth of saws and other equipment was lost.

Also called to the scene was the county air cascade vehicle, currently housed at Accident VFD, and the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Placed on stand-by were the Bittinger, Terra Alta, and Mount Storm VFDs. Deer Park VFD was called back to the scene early Friday morning and again Friday evening to extinguish rekindled Arrested were Rickey A. Weaverling, 35, Johnstown, charged with two counts of breaking and entering, felony theft, and malicious destruction of property; Cynthia L. Broadwater, 26, Johnstown, charged with felony theft, breaking and entering, and malicious destruction of property; Mark A. Headley, 22, Hyndman, charged with breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property; and Alvia M. Weaverling, 80, Hyndman, charged with breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property.

Two juveniles were also charged and turned over to Juvenile Services.

Rickey Weaverling was being held on $1,700 bond. Broadwater was held on $1,000 bond and Headley was released on an unsecured $1,500 bond. Alvia Weaverling was released on her own recognizance.

Numerous stolen items were recovered, according to Tfc. R.J. Resh and Tfc. J.W. Hare. In an unrelated theft case, a young Oakland man and a 17-year-old male juvenile were charged with theft and destruction of property this week stemming from a November 15 incident.

Kevin A. Lohr, 18, and the juvenile were charged with destroying two tires and stealing one cassette stereo, a total of 26 cassette tapes, a shirt, and a Maryland license plate.

The items were reported taken from the vehicles of Sean Foley and Carlton H. Reams Jr., both of Oakland, according to a report filed by Tpr. W.E. Dixon.

INVESTIGATIONS

State Police are also investigating several other reported thefts and property destruction. Elizabeth M. Celvi, McHenry, told police that someone removed a radar detector from her vehicle while it was parked at Dennett Road Nursing Home on November 27.

Tfc. Jeffrey Arnold, Huntington, W.Va., reported that someone stole four chains and four chain binders from his tractor-trailer while it was parked at the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop on Monday.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney is conducting the investigation. Allen C. VanSickle told police that someone punched holes in three tires on his automobile on Saturday. Tfc. P.R. Brown is investigating.

Emergency Funds Approved For Spring Lick Rd.

The U.S. Soil Conservation Service announced last week the approval of $575,000 in Emergency Watershed Protection Funds to repair Spring Lick Road near Swanton. Flooding has nearly destroyed the road twice in a period of five years and caused a tributary of the Savage River, Crabtree Run, to drastically change its course.

U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes, along with Senator Barbara A. Mikulski and Sixth District Congresswoman Beverly B. Byron, made the request. Sarbanes had strongly urged the Soil Conservation Service to expedite approval of these funds because of the heavy rains that caused extensive damage to sections of the road, creating hazardous conditions, according to a news release.

In the news release, Sarbanes stated, "I am pleased that these funds have been quickly approved allowing the repairs to go forward. This emergency assistance is needed to restore the road, limit damage to the watershed and safeguard lives and property."

"Flooding has continued to erode the steep embankment on which Spring Lick Road is built, causing further the problem," Sarbanes continued. "Heavy runoff is bringing damaging sediment into the stream which empties directly into the Savage River — one of the state's premier trout streams and recreation areas."

A $500,000 LOSS is the estimate made by fire investigators at the Bowers Lumber Company after a blaze ripped through that business last Thursday at about noon. Deer Park, Oakland, and Gorman firefighters were called to the mill, located along State Rt. 135 about two miles east of Mtn. Lake Park. The 40-by-80-foot building which housed the milling operation was fully involved in flames when the firemen arrived on the scene. There were no injuries reported and the cause of the fire is still undetermined. See story.

ATV Theft Reported To Sheriff's Office

An investigation regarding the theft of a four-wheel, all-terrain vehicle (ATV) is in progress by Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week. The vehicle was reportedly stolen from private property in Friendsville.

Adrian A. Spiker told police that an unknown suspect or suspects apparently entered his BAITY E. RIDDER MEMORIAL AWARD WINNER — Each year, for the last 33 years, the Oakland Rotary Club has honored the Outstanding Youth Exhibitor at the Garrett County Fair. The 1990 winner of the award is Heidi Hauser, daughter of Tom and Alice Hauser of Oakland. This year, the award was renamed the Baity E. Ridder Memorial Award. Ken Ridder, who presented the award on behalf of the Rotary Club, said: "Baity's family is proud of his many accomplishments in, and dedicated service to business, church, community and service organizations, and is pleased that the Rotary Club has chosen to name its Outstanding Youth Exhibitor Award in his honor." Rotary President Andrew Messer added: "The Garrett County Fair is the lifeblood of the Oakland Rotary Club. Approximately 90 percent of the receipts side of our budget are generated at the fair. Young people, like Heidi, who put their time and energy into their projects and exhibit them at the fair are the reason the fair is so well attended. The Rotary Club appreciates their efforts and is very happy to award the Baity E. Ridder Outstanding Youth Award each year." Heidi, a member of the Country Kids 4-H Club, entered a total of 45 exhibits in the Sheep, Horse/Pony, Poultry, Crafts, Vegetables, Needle Arts, Food Preservation, Flowers and Clothing Departments. Fair activities she took part in included the Horsemanship Contest, Fashion Revue (where she won both blue and champion ribbons and assisted with the narration), demonstrations, and was a clean-up day worker. In addition to her champion ribbon, she received one reserve champion, 15 blue, 15 red, three white, and eight other ribbons. property sometime between Nov. 29 and Dec. 1 and removed the ATV. He said his wife spotted an unfamiliar truck out in a field on their Hoyes-Sang Run Road property on Nov. 29, and Spiker suspects the vehicle was stolen at that time.

The ATV is valued at $2,000. In a separate case, several leather jackets were reported stolen after the Bausch & Lomb Christmas party at Brodak's on Rt. 219 North.

Sandy L. Nice, and Joseph R. and Doris J. Evans told police that their leather jackets had been hung on a rack in the foyer of Brodak's clubhouse. After the party, the jackets were gone.

stolen originally, but one was found some time later, apparently mistakenly picked up by another person. Three remain missing, according to reports.

The total value of the jackets was estimated at nearly $800.

A destruction of property complaint was logged in the police records, reported by Robert P. Thomas of Paul's Excavating of Oakland. Thomas told police that someone had damaged two John Deere skidders on the company's property by putting sand and rocks in the fuel tanks of the vehicles.

The culprits apparently sabotaged the equipment sometime on the night of Nov. 26, or early morning of Nov. 27. The tires on the skidders were slashed as well.

The damage done to the equipment, plus the loss of fuel in the clean-up efforts, was estimated a $586 loss.

Another case of breaking and entering was reported to the Sheriff's Office by David Insley, A&A Realty rental manager. Insley said a suspect apparently broke the door glass of a rental unit on Lake Shore Drive, owned by David Lookabaugh, Hagerstown. After gaining entry through the shattered door, the culprit removed a video cassette recorder, valued at $200.

Sheriff's Office personnel are investigating the theft.

A brass coal bucket was reported stolen this week. Irene C. Miller, Oakland, told police that someone apparently removed the bucket, valued at $100, from her coal room. The theft took place sometime between Nov. 7 and Dec. 3.

There are no leads in the case, and an investigation is continuing.

Sheriff's Office Logs Arrests

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged several arrests this week, with charges ranging from driving while intoxicated (DWI) to hunting on private property without permission.

Richard Paugh, 27, Elk Garden, W. Va., was charged with DWI on Nov. 30 when Dep. J. Murphy found him slumped over the wheel of his vehicle, which was apparently parked in the middle of North Glade Road.

In the process of charging Paugh, Murphy discovered that a bench warrant had been issued for the defendant from the District Court of Allegany County. Paugh had reportedly rented several items from a Cumberland Rent-a-Center in February 1989, and then sold the items in Baltimore.

The items included a television, stereo, video cassette recorder, and speakers. Paugh is being held at the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond, according to an office spokesperson.

A Deer Park man was charged with DWI twice within six hours, according to police reports. Joseph R. Kisselbach, 35, was stopped on Rt. 135 in Deer Park at 8:15 p.m. on Dec. 1. Dep. Murphy charged him at that time with DWI.

Dep. Murphy again saw Kisselbach operating a vehicle at 2 a.m. on Dec. 2. After stopping him, Murphy discovered that the defendant had again been driving while intoxicated, and driving without a license. He was charged accordingly, and was released after posting $5,000 bond.

Albert E. Gauden, 36, Belle Vernon, Pa., was served a criminal summons for trespassing and hunting without permission. Gauden was apparently bow hunting on private property on September 15, and was spotted by the property owner, who found Gauden up in a tree.

Detective Kelly served the criminal summons on Nov. 27.

Two criminal summonses were served to Robert W. Gray, Oakland, who reportedly took a load of bricks that belonged to an Oakland woman. In the process, Gray also allegedly battered an Accident man. The incident took place on Nov. 8, according to police records, and the summonses were served by Dep. R. Sines on Nov. 25.

Frederick L. Gregory, 26, Oakland, was served a criminal summons on Nov. 21 on charges of theft and malicious destruction of property against a Deer Park man. Gregory reportedly stole household effects, jewelry, and decorative furnishings with a value of $300 or more, and caused $300 or less in damage to house walls, floors, and furnishings.

Dep. J. Murphy served the summons to the defendant.

Oakland and Deer Park fire fighters responded to another structure fire just before noon Friday when an apparent cracked flue set fire to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sell, located at the corner of 12th Street and Mary Drive in Oakland.

When firemen arrived on the scene, they found smoke coming from the eaves of the single-story wood structure. Mrs. Sell was at home at the time and was successful in getting their family pets — a dog and two cats — out of the house.

Firemen brought the blaze under control in a matter of minutes and fire damage was basically confined to one wall in the living room, where a wood stove was located. There was also smoke damage throughout much of the house.

Firemen remained on the scene for about one hour. Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

just east of the Blooming Rose Road, sent a Martinez, Ga. man to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Larry Blake, 41, was operating a 1989 Chevrolet truck when he lost control of the vehicle, struck a guardrail, and came to rest facing north, said police.

Blake was taken to the local hospital by Northern Rescue Squad personnel where he was treated and later released.

Tfc. J.W. Hare investigated and charged Blake with driving while under the influence of alcohol and with changing lanes when unsafe to do so.

Cumberland Woman Found Guilty Of Felony Theft In G.C. District Court

A Cumberland woman was found guilty of felony theft (a charge upgraded from uttering a false document) in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week with Judge Jack R. Turney presiding.

Joanne L. Morgan, 43, had uttered a forged check with the intent to defraud, according to court records. The incident took place on July 9 at a local bank. Judge Turney sentenced Morgan to one year in jail (all was suspended), ordered her to pay a $100 fine, and placed her on two years of supervised probation.

In other District Court news, Walter L. Paugh, 37, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property. The judge accepted his plea and handed him a six-month suspended jail term, fined him $50, and placed him on one year of supervised probation.

Paugh had been charged on August 4 with defacing and molesting a 1991 Chevrolet pickup truck owned by Steven W. Whitacre.

Terry E. Norris, 36, Frostburg, was found guilty of uttering a bad check for $1,500 to Robert C. James.

He was handed a six-month suspended jail term, a $50 fine, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to make restitution to James.

Christine L. Tucci, 41, Stratham, N.H. (formerly of McHenry), was found guilty of theft. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered in her case.

Tucci had been charged stemming from several February incidents when she had illegally obtained money from a local bank where she had been employed.

Janet L. Nicholas, 23, Swanton, was found guilty of possessing a controlled dangerous substance (marijuana). Judge Turney handed her a 90-day jail term (all but 48 hours was suspended), ordered to pay a $100 fine, and placed her on six months of unsupervised probation.

Nicholas had been arrested on June 8 on the strength of a search and seizure warrant.

Nancy L. Wilburn, 27, Grantsville, was given probation before judgment after being found guilty of possessing drug paraphernalia. She was handed a $75 fine and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Wilburn had been charged stemming from a September 20, 1989 incident at a bar near Frostburg.

Cecil L. Schaefer, 61, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of misusing the telephone. He was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, ordered to pay a $100 fine, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

Schaefer was found not guilty of harassment, although the judge ordered him not to have any further contact with Peggy or Wilford Leasher.

James M. Thomas, 20, Oakland, was found guilty of one count of harassment against Michael D. Slagle. He was given a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $50, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Two additional counts of harassment against Thomas were placed on the set docket at the request of the victims involved, Sheryl Hefner and Michael Slagle.

Judge Turney ordered Thomas not to have further contact with Hefner or Slagle. The charges stemmed from August

THE OAKLAND ROTARY CLUB CHRISTMAS PROJECT, in its tenth year, will use this tree, along with four others around the county, to provide holiday food baskets, clothing and toys for needy Garrett County families. "Ask any Rotarian and he will tell you this is the best project we do all year," stated Dr. David Bolinger, chairman of the project. Names of needy persons are secured from local agencies, such as the Department of Social Services, Garrett Community Action and the Garrett County Health Department, to assure that the needs of the persons or families are valid. Tags are then placed on the five trees, and members of the public may then purchase one of the tags and buy the gift named. The five trees are located at Will O' The Wisp (the tree shown above is located there), Bausch & Lomb, First United National Bank and Trust, main branch, Garrett County Memorial Hospital and J.C. Penney Catalog Store. Gifts must be returned under the respective tree by December 12 so that deliveries can be made by December 15. Bolinger stated that the project started with 10 families and grew to 195 in 1989. This year, he said, the club is hoping to serve 150 needy families. The project serves Garrett County in Grantsville, Finzel, Friendsville, Accident, Oakland, Red House, "and all areas in between," according to Bolinger. Donations should be directed to the Oakland Rotary Christmas Project, P.O. Box 488, Oakland, Md. 21550. Persons desiring more information are asked to call Dr. Bolinger at 334-1122.

and October incidents.

Richard W. Jenkins, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty on two counts of destruction of property.

Judge Turney ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the case which charged that Jenkins had recklessly operated a vehicle which caused damage to two of Russell Kyle's vehicles. The incident occurred on July 27.

A charge of battery and a charge of harassment against Russell R. Kyle, 42, Frostburg, were placed on the set docket.

The judge ordered Kyle to have no further contact with Richard W. Jenkins who had brought the charges against Kyle, stemming from July and August incidents.

Barry L. Wilt, 32, Grantsville, had a charge of destruction of property against him placed on the set docket at the request of the victim, James Wilt.

James Wilt had charged Barry Wilt with injuring and defacing his siding and driveway with his vehicle on July 26.

Judge Turney ordered a bench warrant for Kelly A. Carroll, 28, Silver Spring, who had been scheduled to appear in court last week on charges of disturbing the peace, littering, and malicious destruction of property. Carroll failed to appear on her court date.

She had been charged stemming from a May 5 incident at the Wisp Resort Hotel where she allegedly used profanity in a loud manner, molested a toilet and carpet, and littered in a swimming pool.

Alice L. Brandlen, 23, Oakland, had a charge of battery against her placed on the set docket at the request of the victim, Luann L. Fazenbaker.

The incident occurred on August 16.

Two charges of battery against Carol L. Lucas, 45, Oakland, were placed on the set docket at the request of the two victims, Larry R. Lucas and Debra K. Hartman.

The charges stemmed from an August 16 incident at the Garrett County Fairgrounds.

Stemming from the same incident, Larry R. Lucas, 49, Mtn. Lake Park, had two charges of battery against him placed on the set docket at the request of the victims, Carol Lucas and Randy Lucas.

A charge of battery against Debra K. Hartman, 27, Mtn. Lake Park, was placed on the set docket at the request of the victim, Carol L. Lucas.

A charge of perjury as a witness in court against Amy S. Shupp, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted at the request of the victim, Roger R. Shupp.

Mrs. Shupp had allegedly made a false statement in Circuit Court at divorce proceedings on June 29.

Through a court agreement, a case of battery against Frederick J. Adams, 60, Friendsville, was placed on the set docket.

Adams had been charged with battery on a juvenile stemming from an August 7 incident. Mary A. Turner, 32, Mtn. Lake Park, who had been charged with two counts of theft, had her case placed on the set docket.

Turner had allegedly sold items from a school fundraiser to Karen Wotring and Katherine Wotring and Myers.

Charges of battery, destruction of property, and disturbing the peace against Randy P. Spear, 30, Friendsville, were placed on the set docket at the request of the victim, Deborah L. Regan.

Spear had been charged as the result of an August 7 incident at a bar in Accident.

Crime Increases Across State, But Down In County

Crime in Maryland increased six percent during the first nine months of 1990, according to a Uniform Crime Report prepared by the Maryland State Police Central Records Division. The 1990 January through September crime report lists 206,111 offenses reported by law enforcement agencies statewide compared with 194,791 offenses reported during the same period in 1989.

In Garrett County, however, there was a nine percent decrease in the crime for the same period.

"The violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault as a group increased 11 percent statewide," said John Vespa of the Uniform Crime Reporting Section. "The property offenses of breaking and entering, larceny, and motor vehicle theft increased five percent," added Vespa.

The most significant change in the preliminary crime report is indicated under the violent crime category of forcible rape. During the first nine months of 1990, there were 1,890 forcible rapes reported to law enforcement authorities statewide, which represents a 24 percent increase over the 1,362 forcible rapes reported during the same period during 1989.

However, in Garrett County four of the eight categories showed a decrease in the first nine months of 1990, three showed slight increases, and one remained the same.

The increases were in cases of larceny/theft (from 235 to 244); robbery (from no cases to three); and arson (from seven to eight cases). The number of murders investigated remained the same (one in each nine-month period).

Showing a drop in numbers of cases were: forcible rape, from seven cases to three; aggravated assault, from 91 to 77; breaking or entering, from 152 to 114; and motor vehicle theft, from 34 to 29 cases.

Media Mania . . .

Most of the major economic indicators suggest that our economy is now in recession. Some alleged experts predict that we could be in for a long haul, while others believe the recession will bottom out about the middle of next year.

While we agree that the economy seems somewhat sluggish, we also believe that the major media, particularly television media, is painting the picture much darker than it really is, and by doing so they are actually contributing to the recession.

Just prior to the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, supposedly the biggest shopping weekend of the year, television media stated over and over again that sales were going to be significantly down because of the recession. Then on Friday and early Saturday of that weekend, the media reported that the number of shoppers in the stores and various malls was quite high, "but most of them were just browsing."

The report Saturday evening and Sunday stated, with great surprise, that the majority of store owners noted an increase in sales over the previous year. Again, however, the anchormen just couldn't let it rest and concluded with some kind of a statement that, even though sales were good during the Thanksgiving holiday, "this was no indication that would be the case for the entire 1990 Christmas buying season."

It seems that the media has decided just what kind of a Christmas buying season this will be and we are afraid that the general public is willing to allow the media to make this decision. The merchants seem to be holding their breath right now, believing they are facing their worst Christmas season in history, and the shoppers seem to be convinced that they should really cut way back on their spending this year.

Of course, the situation in the Middle East has everyone nervous and tentative, and among Saddam Hussein's hostages right now is the U.S. economy. However, our point here today is that it bothers us that the major media has such a grip on society, that instead of simply reporting the news, it seems compelled to not only create the news, but also interpret it for us and dictate how we should think and react.

Some may argue that less money spent on Christmas gifts and more donated to charity and various other worthy causes would be a nice change, and we would agree with that philosophy; however, major contributions to charity by businesses are made possible only via a strong economy and good sales figures, not to mention the extra benefit of increased employment.

So, shoppers — be aware, be careful, be prudent, but don't be scared away by some ghost that has been fabricated, or at least enlarged, by the media.

PUBLIC EDUCATION: WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE by Linda Booth, President G.C.F.T.

Many Maryland teachers face one of the most challenging and interesting periods in the state's educational history. Teachers in many areas of the state may have an opportunity to have a greater voice in their destiny than ever before. Only time will tell whether teachers in each area of the state choose to control the situation or whether they choose to be controlled by the situation.

Dr. Shilling, State Superintendent, has recently said in an interview that his first priority is to implement the Maryland School Performance Program. His second priority is to give teachers, principals and other school personnel greater autonomy in achieving the goals of the program. Bob Embry, Maryland State Board of Education President, in a recent interview said, "I see empowering teachers as my first priority for the State Board of Education."

At the 1990 AFT Convention, President Albert Shanker warned that this was probably our last chance to restructure public schools and he pleaded with those in attendance to do everything within their power to convince teachers to implement educational change. "The public is tired of waiting," said Shanker.

In Chelsea, Massachusetts, the School Board has handed over the operation of the school system to Boston University. In Illinois, the Illinois Legislature has turned the Chicago School System over to parent lead governance boards. The Wisconsin Legislature has created a five-year voucher program whereby the state will pay $2,500 per student for 1000 students from low income families to attend private schools and that amount will be deducted from the State Education Budget. A tuition tax credit bill is before the Oregon Legislature.

Shanker views these developments as a sign that if educators fail to address their lingering problems, public education in America is going to be finished in five to ten years. He believes that nothing short of restructuring will produce needed gains in public education.

My point is, the electorate is calling for more accountability in public education. If we oppose every plan presented to us by the electorate (merit pay, vouchers, tax credits, etc.) and at the same time refuse or neglect to develop our own plan, what system will be installed to satisfy the public electorate?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am moved to write in response to last week's editorial and letter regarding Jesse Swartzentruber. While I would hope that the community will show their support and concern by contributing to the trust fund which has been set for Jesse, his plight and that of his family raises serious issues.

I have always believed that one can judge a nation's spiritual and moral values by the way it cares for its most vulnerable groups, namely, the elderly, the sick, and children. By political force of numbers, the elderly seem to be pulling ahead, but right now I do not believe we give our children and our sick the care to which they have a right.

The operative word here is "right." It is the right of sick people to be cared for by the whole community. It is the responsibility of the community to share the financial burden of caring for our sick.

We live in a community where wages are often subsistence level and where health insurance is rarely provided by employers. There are many communities such as ours across the nation. And now we have AIDS.

It is no longer feasible to advise putting something aside for a "rainy day." For families such as the Swartzentrubers, dealing with hemophilia and AIDS, every day is a rainy day.

The burden of dealing with catastrophic illnesses such as this is heavy enough. It is time for this country to take responsibility for providing health care for all of its people, whatever the circumstances. Some of our inner city hospitals are closing because they can no longer cope with the influx of AIDS patients. Our medical system is breaking down, just when we need it most.

We must all question the injustice of a system which provides care if you can pay and shows you the door if you can't. We need a national healthcare system which the responsibility for this nation's health is shared by all.

My family will gladly contribute to Jesse's fund, but I can't help asking: is this enough?

Eileen Schlosnagle

To the Editor:

In view of the events that took place on Friday, November 30, at our home, we thought a letter to the editor would be appropriate. The event was nothing new in this world, but something very new for us. FIRE!

First we are most thankful to God that the fire was not worse than it was and that no lives were lost.

Then we thank God for friends, neighbors and VOLUNTEER FIREFIGHTERS.

Thanks — The patients and staff from Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home that were responsible for discovering and reporting the fire.

Thanks — For nurses and aids for being concerned about Betty and helping her with the pets.

Thanks — For a neighbor that was thoughtful enough to bring a chair and blanket for Betty and the use of his phone to make various calls.

Thanks — For friends who offered their help in anyway they were needed.

Thanks — For an insurance agent that really cares and responded in minutes to take the initiative to resolve the problems caused by the fire.

Thanks — For the immediate response to those who are involved in the cleanup and repair of our home.

Thanks — For firemen who responded in minutes to extinguish the fire. For their gentleness to Betty in explaining

The Mind Wanders

Little Things Mean A Lot (or, A Lot Of Little Things Are Mean)
by Sherry Frantz

A mean lot of little things have been insinuating themselves into my struggle through life in recent weeks. (Or has it been decades?) And they are not satisfied to inflict the usual round of head, neck and backaches.

No, they strive for annihilation of my very soul, beating me, breaking me so as to not afford me the luxury of a swift demise. They dwell, in largest and strongest numbers, in my home, keeping me from sanctuary therein, stifling my solitude, rendering me restless, and breaking my buoyancy.

Laughingly, they dance about in destructive and wanton abandon, shattering my windows, ripping off doors, burning out light bulbs, making holes in my kitchen floor, clogging the drainpipes and allowing the rodents to come inside.

They are sometimes sly, wreaking their havoc only while I am absent or asleep, but sometimes quite bold and unafraid, standing in front of me with their damage and offering up only obstinacy at my angry reaction.

When they sense my frustration and exhaustion, they tease me into bed, whispering to me to sink deeper and deeper into the comfort and warmth there. They do this, despite my protests that I have much more important things to do than clean up after them. (A world of wisdom and wealth awaits me, if they would just get out of my way.)

I try to learn to laugh at myself with them, but they do not want me on their side, only at their feet.

I scream at them to get out. But they remain steadfast and unmoved.

Tired of fighting them, I attempt to reconcile with them and allow them a compromised existence. But, of course, they will not attempt to strike such a compromise.

I try dealing with these mean little things one at a time, individually. But when one is nearly mastered, two others interrupt the effort with renewed nastiness. They acknowledge impertinently that I have no time for their shenanigans — and then go on about their business.

They confront me with blank stares when I ask them to at least let me understand their purpose. (I will try harder to accept them if I can understand their mission — their place in my life. I will allow them that place if they will just give me more freedom.)

They respond with quizzical, annoyed looks, and tell me (in their stupid little voices) that I am responsible for my own fate. "Well, of course I am," I whine at them. But I'm trying to move forward, if they will just get out of my way.

They continue to watch as I struggle, until one of the lesser of the little meannies comes forward to attempt a little compassion. "We are just one troop of many like us. There are loftier creatures right outside. See. Just open the door."

and showing her the extent of the damage and cause of the fire. For their concern for her well being.

Just thanks for everything everyone has done.

Can you imagine a fireman in "the heat of battle" coming to Betty and apologizing to her because they broke a cup? We just can't get over these guys. We think you are the greatest. May God bless all of you!

Sincerely,

Betty and Don Sell

To the Editor:

Pride in my Garrett County heritage has again been reinforced by the recently published report by the Maryland Department of Education as to how the state's 24 school systems rate (too often not well) in a variety of categories. I note with no amazement that Garrett County ranked second in the state in the category of "citizenship" with a grade of 89 against a statewide average of 75, only Howard County being better

CHRISTMAS DANGER FROM PLANTS

by Kiyo Dolan

Christmas is just around the corner and many homes soon will be decorated with evergreens and other plants to brighten them for the holiday season. Many beautiful decorations are made with evergreens, such as holly, pine, spruce, laurel and rhododendron, all of which can be found in abundance in Garrett County woodlands. Decorative as these plants may be, did you know that many of them are poisonous? Accidental poisoning of small children, pets and livestock have occurred through ingestion of such plants. Although the chance of poisoning may be small, it does exist and such plants should not be used without some knowledge of the relative toxicity.

Mountain laurels and rhododendrons are commonly found in wooded areas and often used in landscaping. These plants contain a toxic chemical andromedotoxin which, if ingested, can cause symptoms of nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain, coma and even death. Boxwood, holly and yew are also used in landscaping and decoration. Toxic alkaloids in boxwood have caused livestock deaths within a day after feeding on boxwood clippings. The berries of holly, either evergreen or deciduous, may vary in color from red to yellow to black. All are toxic, and if eaten, may cause nausea, vomiting and a dazed condition. Almost all parts of yew are toxic, but especially seeds and leaves, which can cause diarrhea, respiratory and circulatory collapse, convulsions, coma and death.

Nearly everyone is familiar with the tradition of kissing under the mistletoe, but who would have guessed it, too, is poisonous. People have died of heart failure within ten hours of eating or drinking steeped berries or leaves of mistletoe.

Perhaps the most popular indoor Christmas plant is the poinsettia. A member of the spurge family, this plant has a milky sap which can cause severe internal and external inflammation and burning to some people. Its seeds are most poisonous, but eating any part of the plant may cause vomiting, diarrhea, delirium, blindness (if rubbed into the eyes), shock and even death.

Growing indoor flowering plants from bulbs may be an enjoyable pastime following Christmas. Again, care must be taken, for many bulbs are toxic and have caused deaths among children, and even of livestock, after eating bulbs in fields. Bulbs of amaryllis, daffodil and hyacinth can cause severe digestive upset, cardiac, respiratory and nervous disorders, and death.

These are only a handful of the poisonous plants which pose potential danger to us all, especially small children who tend to put anything in their mouths. Perhaps the best way to deal with poisonous plants is to avoid them altogether. However, if you choose to have them in your home or garden, it is better to be aware of the hazards of these plants than to risk accidental poisoning by them. If you would like more information about toxic plants, you could read 100 Poisonous Plants of Maryland, bulletin #314, of the University of Maryland Extension Service.

In previous articles we discussed what to sell and where to sell. The topic now is how much to charge for your product or service, what is your pricing strategy.

A client recently asked us to devise a formula for pricing manufactured goods, and this was not difficult. Using the cost-plus approach, we added variable costs (those which change with output, mainly labor and materials) to fixed costs (those which stay the same, such as rent and insurance), took this total cost figure and added a percentage for profit.

But this approach is only a starting point, answering only the question, "What is the least I can charge?" It ignores competition, "What the market will bear," the pressure that limits "the most you can charge," a price which is usually below what you would "like to charge." The question remains: "What must you charge for your goods or services?"

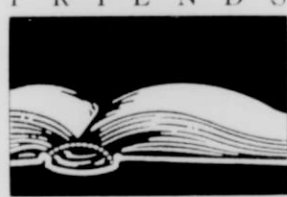

Obviously, you want to maximize profits. In economics profit maximization occurs at that quantity of output where total revenue is farthest above total cost. This occurs at that output where the additional sales revenue from the last unit made is equal to its per unit total cost; that is, you keep making your product until the last unit breaks even. In a stable marketplace you would sustain this level of output and the price would be what you "must charge," profit maximization. This is as true for a monopoly as it is in a very competitive environment.

In the long run each product must pay for itself. In the short run a product can be sold below total cost but should cover all the variable costs and contribute something to the fixed costs. At the retail level this tactic of selling a few items below cost is known as a "loss leader," really a promotional gimmick to generate customer traffic. Other prices will have to be raised to compensate.

Retailers, like car dealers, have backed themselves into a pricing corner through discounting and rebates. Now customers have come to expect a discount, and nobody buys retail. Retailers have countered with higher initial mark-ups and more use of "skimming," setting a high initial price, then gradually lowering it to maximize profits. Customers have learned to wait for lower prices, but a skimming technique is effective if a product is a hot new item or scarce or if the demand curve is not known. A rule of thumb is that it is always easier to lower a price than to raise it, a high price tends to establish a high value. Don't undervalue your product or service.

When considering changing price, we need to know the "elasticity" of demand, the effect on sales revenue. When lowering a price, the loss of revenue per unit should be more than offset by increased sales. When raising a price, the increased revenue per unit should compensate for the loss of unit sales. We also must shop our competition and get to know their pricing strategies and reaction patterns. Thus, we must be very careful about how the customer will react to a price change. In the end, value and price are in the customer's eyes.

LIBRARY ISSUES CONSIDERED

As a delegate to the Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services, the second half of this year has been one of traveling to meetings. Then in September the conference itself took place. This was a highlight in my life of meetings!

For two and a half days, I was challenged to think "future" and then to work in small groups to form resolutions defining the future in Maryland's libraries in the next decade. The last day was one of concentrated effort to vote up or down 51 resolutions. Thirty-eight passed.

Five for Special Attention

The last process was to select five of these for special attention of Governor Schaefer and next year to be taken by the elected delegates to the White House Conference.

In order of priority, here are summaries of the top five:

1. That the State of Maryland shall promptly and as a specific line item fund mandated local school system plans to achieve standards for School Library Media Programs in Maryland by July 1, 1995.

2. That the legislature provide the libraries in our state institutions (a) per capita funding comparable to that of Maryland's public libraries; (b) full-time Master's Degree librarians with adequate support staff in each facility.

3. That the Governor appoint a task force to formulate a statewide preservation plan with special attention to the preservation of Maryland newspapers and local records held by libraries as well as historical societies and academic libraries. Plan should include treatments, training, disaster preparedness, and preservation of photographic and electronic media.

4. That the governing bodies of every type of library allocate funds to develop marketing strategies to promote all Maryland libraries and their services.

5. That a task force evaluate present state aid formula and develop an equitable formula and a process for keeping it current.

As you consider each of these, you will recognize that each has an effect on Garrett County. The second may be limited but still important if a family member is in a state institution.

All 38 resolutions along with the whereas are available at the Oakland library.

Personal Priorities

Since the conference ended, I have attended two other meetings that have dealt with the resolutions and how to make them be realized. Personally, I hope to work mainly for the first one and to challenge the Board of Trustees and the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library to continue making Garrett Countians more aware of the services already available through our library (number four).

While traveling to some of these meetings, I had the good fortune to be with and "talk library" with several professional librarians — one from GCC, one from FSU, and one a public school librarian from Allegany County. I was impressed with their real concern for their profession and I now realize that if you say you are an advocate for libraries, you should include all types of Maryland's libraries in your support.

Stroke Club Plans Annual Christmas Party/Buffer

Terry Wolff, chairman of the Allegany County Stroke Club, announced plans this week for the club's third annual Christmas party. A buffet luncheon will be served at the Holiday Inn, Cumberland, Friday, December 21, beginning at 1 p.m. The facility is accessible to those using wheel chairs, canes, or walkers.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by contacting Wolff at 301-729-1640 or Lois Bolka at 304-738-8926. The luncheon is open to the public and reservations are due by Tuesday, December 18.

All stroke patients or veterans and their families, caregivers, and guests are invited to attend. Also invited are those who are visited at home through the club's Outreach Program.

The guest speaker for the luncheon will be Delegate Betty Workman of Allegany County.

In the event of inclement weather, the luncheon will be cancelled and rescheduled. Cancellations are always announced by local radio stations and by telephone.

The next business meeting of the club will be held January 18, 1991, at 1 p.m. in the clubroom of the Kensington-Algonquin, 1 Baltimore Street, Cumberland.

The club has a variety of programs scheduled for 1991 meetings.

STROKE CLUB NEWS
Members of the Stroke Club recently traveled to Hagerstown to share a Thanksgiving dinner with members of the Washington County Stroke Club. Kay Hoffman, director of the Washington County American Heart Association, arranged for the two clubs to meet at the Howard Johnson Restaurant.

Earl Wolford, Fort Ashby, has been named chairman of the club's Outreach Committee. He requests that any stroke patient, stroke veteran, family member, or caregiver who would like to be visited at home or in the hospital should contact him or one of his committee members. Numbers to call in the tri-state area include: Allegany County, 301-729-1640; Garrett County, 301-746-8269; Pennsylvania, 814-634-0335; and West Virginia, 304-298-3741.

The American Heart Association, Western Maryland Division, located in the Narrows between the Fruit Bowl and Kline's Restaurant, has literature available upon request on strokes, high blood pressure/hypertension, how to stop smoking, high cholesterol, heart-safe diets, and menus. Office hours are from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily. Telephone inquiries may be directed to 301-724-4011.

chology of Human Relations and PSY 111 Lifestyle Planning. Students in the Resort Management Program will also have practice in food service, accommodations, and events management during this time.

During spring semester, which begins January 21, morning and afternoon classes will again be offered primarily on a Monday-Wednesday, Tuesday-Thursday schedule, with evening classes meeting once each week. Special activity classes will meet on Fridays.

To accommodate persons who work all week and who cannot take evening classes, the college has again scheduled certain classes to meet on Saturday mornings. These are CS 106 Introduction to Computers, PSY 102 Human Growth and Development, and SPC 101 Basic Speech. These classes will meet from January 26-May 4, omitting March 16 (spring break) and March 30 (Easter weekend). A one-credit outdoor education course, Rafting and River Guiding, will meet on Saturdays from March 23-May 4.

In addition to these classes at the McHenry campus, the college will be giving evening credit courses at the elementary schools in Crellin, Grantsville, and Kitzmiller, as well as two afternoon courses at Southern High School, for the convenience of students there.

Courses starting later in the spring will include the Beacon courses designed primarily for the adult learner starting in March, and the Special Topics in Art, Geography, History, and Sociology, being offered during the trip to Greece, from May 21-June 2.

Anyone desiring further information about courses being offered and registration procedures may call the Student Assistance Center of the college, at 387-6666.

SADDLE TRAMPS

by Jennifer Morgan

Our monthly meeting was held on November 25, at Garrett Community College. There were nine members present, and six parents. We had two new people join us. We would all like to say welcome aboard. Jennifer Morgan led the pledges.

In the absence of Jamie Schmidt, Jason VanSickle read the secretary's report.

Old Business

There was more discussion on the auction we are planning to have in early spring.

We decided to have the riding clinic at Double G's indoor ring on March 16 at 11 a.m., if the date is open at Double G. Everyone is to bring a covered dish, and everyone is welcome to come.

There will be further information in the Garrett Addition and The Republican newspapers. No rain date is needed because of the new indoor facilities at Double G Ranch.

St. Jude's children would like for us to have a cancer trail ride. We selected May 5 as a tentative date and the location is being looked into. It will be a 10-mile round trip ride. So, think about getting sponsors to make money for St. Jude's children.

New Business

Our Christmas Party will be held on Dec. 20 at 6 p.m. in the G.C.C. student center. Bring a $5 gift to be exchanged. Pizza will be ordered. You can bring a friend (but make sure they have a gift to exchange). Moms are to bring cookies or other treats.

We are having an after-holiday dance at the G.C.C. student center on Jan. 18, at 7:30 to 10 p.m. Admission is $4. Snacks and drinks will be furnished by Saddle Tramps. A D.J. will provide the music. There will be lots of fun, and everyone is welcome to come to the Saddle Tramps after-holiday dance. So put the date on your calendar and come and join us for some fun.

Allegheny 4-H has invite us to their Christmas Party on Dec. 11.

Northern GOP

In lieu of gifts, a donation was collected for the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad. Ten dollars was given for a brick for the National Federation Republican Building in Washington, D.C.

Cleda Baker, chairman of the Nominating Committee, gave the report. Officers will be Carolyn Gano, president; Twila Mae Fike, vice president; Lois Rowe, secretary; and Louise McKenzie, treasurer. The officers will be installed at the first meeting of 1991, set for March 26.

Recent engagements included performances with the Kansas City Symphony in works of J.S. Bach, and the creation and premiering of a role written for him in a new opera by Anthony Davis. In the fall of 1989, Young returned to The New York City Opera in the lead of Arnold Schoenberg's

"Moses and Aaron."

Preparations continue for the Choral Society's performance of Bach's Christmas Oratorio which is slated for December 21, 22, and 23 at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. In addition to Young, local native Kathryn Sincell will perform the soprano part, with Robert Mosley, featured in an earlier issue of The Republican, providing the baritone solo work. Lenora Eve, also of New

State Coalition Unveils Education Funding Plan

A state-wide education coalition, building on the growing momentum for tax reform and concern about Maryland schools' performance, released a new financial strategy aimed at ensuring equal opportunity for public school students throughout Maryland.

"We are calling for an increased investment in education to produce the skilled workforce for the high-tech, robust economy we want in Maryland," said Arthur Boyd, executive director of the Metropolitan Education Coalition, (MEC). "Here, for the first time, is a comprehensive plan to ensure that each child, regardless of jurisdiction, has an equal opportunity to succeed."

Called "A New APEX for Maryland," the plan springs from the Education Now state-wide funding equity project of the Metropolitan Education Coalition. MEC was founded in 1987 with a mission to educate, organize, and encourage action around improving the quality of public education in Maryland. Bringing together citizens and 100 business, community, parent and educator organizations, MEC's membership crosses geographic, income and special interest boundaries, with representatives from both urban and rural areas, including Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore.

"Our membership is as broad as the range of children that we seek to help," says Boyd, "and that's the kind of coalition we need to find solutions to this growing disparity between the educational haves and the have-nots."

SAUDI ARABIA STUDIES — The fourth and fifth grade classes at Loch Lynn Elementary School conducted a study of Saudi Arabia and the crisis in the Gulf recently. The students studied the physical features and culture of Saudi Arabia. They also studied the events leading up to the crisis and the role of the United States military there. Two local soldiers stationed in Saudi Arabia were then chosen as recipients of care packages from the students. The children brought in candies, cookies, and other items to send. They also wrote letters to each soldier, asking them questions and providing local or school news. They are now eagerly awaiting responses from the soldiers. The study was under the direction of Linda Martin, fourth grade teacher, and Jill Gracie, fifth grade teacher.

The "Education Now" model funding formula draws on a number of position papers and discussions at the state-wide Metropolitan Education Coalition conference held this fall.

"This report breaks new ground not only by offering a new model funding formula tied to performance and need, but also by redefining what we mean by equity," said Tru Ginsburg, president of MEC. The "Education Now" proposal focuses on meeting the educational needs of individual children, recognizing that some districts and some children will need more funding per pupil.

"Many people from the wealthier districts are worried that they will get less," said William Ecker, the Carroll County school superintendent and co-chair of "Education Now." "That is not what we are proposing here." The plan calls for more funds to be available for education state wide, with a state-wide average of $900 more spent per student. Those funds will be adjusted, however, on the basis of both student need and local ability to pay. "Even in the wealthier districts, there are many students whose needs are not being met," said Ecker.

Under the current Maryland school funding formula, called "APEX," there are wide differences — as much as $2,580 — between what is spent on a student in the poorer districts and the wealthier districts. That difference shows up in performance, as shown in the just-released state-wide School Performance Report Card. The five districts spending the most per student averaged satisfactory scores in three out of four basic competency tests. The five districts spending the least per student averaged a satisfactory score in only one.

"When you don't invest in education, you pay the price in poor performance, dashed hopes, and state-wide economic slowdown," Ecker warned.

The Education Now plan calls for a New APEX to ensure an equal opportunity for educational success throughout Maryland. Among the major new funding strategies of the "Education Now" proposal are the following: a $900 per pupil (average state wide) added investment in education; a performance challenge, that ties increased funds to school-by-school performance improvement plans, and holds schools accountable for results; an "adequacy floor" to assure each jurisdiction an amount sufficient to provide a basic quality education from combined state, federal and local sources; a weighted formula to distribute aid based on the diverse needs of students, variation in the cost of living, and thus variation in the costs to achieve success; a larger portion of state aid weighted by local ability to pay; and reduced reliance on the local property tax.

"We are faced with two choices," said Arthur Boyd of MEC. "Either we can invest now in the future of our children — and the continued prosperity of the state of Maryland — by improving the quality of education state wide, or we can pay far more per capita later on, with tax money going to state and local prisons, juvenile detention homes, greater drug problems, and welfare costs."

He noted that the cost of keeping a prisoner in jail for a year now averages $22,000 and the cost of a new bed in a juvenile detention center is $87,000.

"We can invest $900 more per child now, or pay that child's family later $14,000 per year in welfare benefits," said Boyd. The next step, says Ginsburg, is to tap into the growing momentum for tax reform and heightened public demands for better school performance.

"It is time to mount a public information campaign about the funding formula so that our political and community leaders can enter into a truly informed debate about how to realize the promise of quality education for every student in Maryland."

Oakland Civic Club Reports Recent Activities

The Civic Club of Oakland held its November meeting at Will O' the Wisp with the main part of the program being presented by member Helen Earles. The program, the celebration of Christmas included a brief history of some favorite holiday music. Helen was assisted with the program by Dorothy Leighton, and accompanied by Kathy McDowell.

A report given by Shirley Panther indicated that the Autumn Glory Antique Show netted $355, more than in any other year. Many dealers and vendors expressed appreciation concerning organization of the show and commented on the quality of food served by the members, according to a club spokesperson.

All members were given a form by Martha Jachowski, president, to record volunteer hours to various charity organizations and return them so the club will receive credit.

The craft group of the Civic Club will be meeting through the winter at Helen Wagner's residence, the first and third Tuesday of each month. Faye Denison, leader, reported the first visit to the Lighthouse was a success. They returned there on December 4 to make Christmas gifts for the children.

The newsletter, KIND, with environmental information was purchased with funds from recycling and is being sent to Accident, Kitzmiller and Red House Elementary Schools.

In the event the county does not have recycling receptacles in place by January 8, recycling materials may be taken by members to Helen Wagner's house on Tenth Street near Oakland.

Members of the club decorated trees at the Cuppet-Weeks Nursing Home December 4, and all nursing home residents will receive gifts from the Civic Club members. The gifts must be delivered to the residence of Frances Meese or Dottie Morris by December 18.

A news letter has been compiled by Marin Day and distributed to those present at the meeting. Others will be mailed.

Martha Jachowski president, indicated that a nominating committee will be needed to acquire nominees for secretary and treasurer for the March, 1991, meeting.

Help is needed by Jean Clark to assist with the AAUW Education project at Garrett Community College, December 7, at 6:30 p.m. Those interested are asked to contact her.

The club will hold its next meeting in March.

DOUBLE G RANCH has undergone some changes recently, according to Denny Giotteley, owner. The ranch now has a 70-foot by 120-foot lighted indoor riding arena and is a horse boarding operation. The arena is available to those boarding horses. Boarding can be handled on a daily or monthly rental basis. Gift certificates are available now for the holiday season. Persons desiring information may contact Double G at 387-5481.

DHR Initiates Child Support Amnesty Program

Carolyn W. Colvin, Secretary, Department of Human Resources has announced the beginning of a two-week holiday amnesty program for parents who owe child support.

The program, entitled, "Support Your Children, They're Worth Every Dime," will run from December 3 to December 14.

"We want to let parents know that if they come in during the amnesty period and agree to a payment plan, we will not refer them for prosecution," Colvin said. "We will ask the sheriff and the court to hold or quash an outstanding warrant so long as we receive the agreed payments."

In some cases, DHR's Child Support Enforcement Administration (CSEA) is willing to settle for less than the full amount owed. The "Amnesty" program benefits all parties. Not only does the state collect the much needed child support, but the parent's name will not appear on the "Ten Most Wanted" list, have their income tax refund intercepted or lottery prize taken, if they pay their accounts in full.

"So much of the publicity about child support is negative and that can sometimes scare people away," said Meg Sollenberger, Executive Director, CSEA. "This program is designed to encourage them to step forward and pay."

To learn more about the child support amnesty program, contact your local Child Support Office or call 1-800-492-5676.

Crackdown On Drunk Driving To Increase

Maryland's tough stance on drunk driving is going to get tougher, according to Carol F. Hinkel, the Administrator of Maryland's Drinking Driver Monitor Program.

"Currently, there are 27,000 people assigned to the monitor program," Hinkel stated. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service radio broadcast, Hinkel predicted an upsurge in referrals.

"We expect an increase of as much as 30 percent in view of the fact that alcohol remains Maryland's worst drug problem," Hinkel stated. "Alcohol kills someone on our highways every 20 minutes. It is a national crisis, a national disgrace," Hinkel added.

The Drinking Driver Monitor Program is a probation supervision program in the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation for offenders found guilty and on probation for driving while intoxicated (DWI) or driving under the influence. The monitor program requires people to undergo a weekly "in person" evaluation to demonstrate proof of participation in treatment and self help groups.

"We make people assigned to this program accountable," Hinkel said. "When we confirm a violation, we notify the court immediately," Hinkel added. According to a preliminary review of program data, less than three percent of the offenders assigned to monitors are sent back to court for a new arrest while on probation.

In addition to the criminal charge of driving while intoxicated, Maryland drivers face administrative penalties for drunk driving. Under the state's administrative per se law, police in Maryland will immediately confiscate the driver's license of an operator who refuses to take a chemical test for alcohol or whose test results register .10, the state's legal limit, or higher. A recent review of drunk driving arrests indicated that approximately one out of every two drivers arrested for driving while intoxicated in Maryland lost their licenses on the spot.

Maryland State Police are stepping up drunk driving patrols during December. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has designated December 9 through 15 as National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Suggestions For Building Name

The Board of Directors of the Garrett County Community Action Committee is accepting suggestions for an official name of the Old Center Street School building, once it is rehabilitated and converted into a C.A.C. managed multi-service center.

The renovated building will house a Senior Center, Head Start Center, C.A.C. program offices, community recreation area, and classrooms. The person submitting the selected name will be awarded $175.

Suggested names must be received by December 18, 1990. Suggestions should be submitted in writing to Duane Yoder, Executive Director, Garrett County C.A.C., P.O. Box 449, 360 W. Liberty Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

A second joint meeting between the Dennett Road School P.T.A. and Parent Advisory Council (PAC) was held Nov. 29 in the school cafeteria. Forty-four parents (including five staff members who are also Dennett Road parents) and two other teachers attended the event, which was hosted this month by the P.A.C.

Following a welcome by Clark Sharpless, school principal, and the Pledge of Allegiance, Mrs. Linda Fleming (Chapter I Resource teacher and coordinator of P.A.C., Dennett Road) conducted the P.A.C. business meeting. This included updates of activities by the following committees: R.I.F. (Barbara Schick, speaking for Linda Wengerd), School Beautification (Bonnie Edwards), Aboretum (Barbara Schick), Christmas Love Tree (Beth Cook), and Parent Volunteers (Donna Cook).

Fleming also informed parents of the upcoming "Parents Go to College" program that will be held at Allegany Community College this Saturday, Dec. 8. This one-day seminar is being offered for all parents and caretakers of Chapter I children.

Presently, there are four vacancies remaining for Dennett Road's bus trip to the college, with a departure time of 7:45 a.m. Fleming encouraged parents and others to contact her if interested in accompanying the group.

The following P.A.C. calendar events were announced:

December 10: "Love Tree" gifts are due. These are items purchased by Dennett Road students' families for other, less fortunate Dennett Road students and their younger siblings. Those families whose children have selected ornaments from the tree are asked to please deliver their wrapped gifts, with respective ornaments attached, to the Chapter I room by Dec. 10.

December 11: A "Volunteer Day" will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for all those who have donated time to the school this semester. Workshop activities will be held starting at 9 a.m. Included in the day will be a specially prepared luncheon and a cookie exchange. Volunteers are requested to R.S.V.P. to either Mrs. Fleming or Mrs. Donna Cook by Friday, Dec. 7, regarding the luncheon and the cookie exchange.

P.T.A. President Mrs. Pat Bowser then conducted the P.T.A. business meeting. Secretary Barbara Shick took the room count for awarding of the Dennett Roadrunner Banner and a class pizza party. Mrs. Smith's third grade class won, with eight parents in attendance.

Mrs. Bowser gave a summary of her participation in November's Maryland State P.T.A. Convention, which was held in Ocean City. She spoke of the various workshops that had presented useful information in such areas as: developing thinking skills, reinforcing math skills through games, and encouraging reading through a focus on children's preferences.

Mrs. Bowser announced there is yet an inventory of candy bars remaining to be sold from October's fundraiser. Anyone interested in purchasing individual bars at $1 each may contact the school's main office or Mrs. Kayla Cathell, fundraising chairperson.

Gloria Salazar, parent, passed on information obtained from the Nov. 29 issue of The Republican regarding the Maryland Council of Humanities' offer to match school funds (up to $1,200) for development of a humanities-based project. She stated that individual schools are invited to write or call for the necessary grant application forms from said Council.

Mrs. Bowser announced that the next P.T.A. meeting will be held December 13. The Executive Committee will convene at 6:30 p.m., followed by the P.T.A. business meeting at 7 p.m. Kindergartners and first-grade students will present a Christmas program after the general meeting.

After the P.T.A. meeting adjourned, Mrs. Rosetta Rodeheaver, Gifted and Talented program teacher at Dennett Road, presented a program on "Helping Your Child to Think." A spokesperson said, "This was a very helpful presentation, as Mrs. Rodeheaver planned and directed various parent activities which demonstrated the skills necessary for critical thinking."

Following the program, refreshments were served by the P.A.C.

Huskies Open With Easy Win Over Hancock

The Northern High Huskies opened their 1990-91 campaign with an easy 55-28 win last night at home against Hancock. It was the first game played involving teams in the new Mid-Appalachian League.

Jon Houser led Northern's offensive effort by scoring 20 points on nine buckets and a pair of free throws, and the Husky defense played an outstanding game overall, as it did not allow a single basket by Hancock in the entire second half.

"We have really been working hard on team defense, and this was a great confidence builder for us," stated Northern Coach Dave Bender.

The Huskies never trailed in Our Lives Have Changed...

Yes our lives have changed... not as we would have chosen — but God did not promise "sun without rain," "light without darkness" or "joy without pain." He only promised us strength for the day when the darkness comes and we lose our way, for only through sorrow do we grow more aware that God is our refuge in times of despair. Those words are from a poem by Helen Steiner Rice, but they reflect the way we feel at this difficult time in our lives. We want to thank everyone who has helped us through this time. Thanks to our many friends for their expressions of kindness through cards, flowers, food and money, but above all for the prayers that have and are sustaining us. Even though we know our lives will never be the same, Candy was a very special daughter and sister who loved the Lord Jesus Christ, and we know we will see her again.

God bless each of you,
David, Dottie and David II Opel

Chuckie Moore Paces Lakers In Three Straight Wins; Record 6-2

The Garrett Community College Lakers are on a winning roll, as they stretched their win streak to five games with three straight wins this past week and improved their season record to 6-2. The victories this week included two over previously unbeaten teams.

Behind a 30-point effort by All-American candidate Chuckie Moore, the Lakers topped previously undefeated Dundalk in a Maryland JUCO American Division game Friday night at Dundalk. Then on Monday evening at home, Moore netted 25 points in an easy 102-79 win over Westmoreland CC. The third victory of the week came last night over visiting Potomac State, a team that came to McHenry with a 5-0 record, as GCC won, 72-63, with Moore ripping the nets with 31 points.

Moore, a 6-5 sophomore forward who had missed two contests because of a knee injury, also recorded 11 rebounds and five assists in the win over Dundalk last Friday.

The Lakers netted 63 percent from the floor, but were down 45-38 at halftime after Dundalk's Darren Ingram hit two three-pointers and a team-mate added another one in the final minute and a half of the first half.

The Lakers gradually chipped away at the home team's lead in the second half and took the lead for good, 66-65, on a dunk by Moore with about seven minutes left in the game. Derek Young followed with a foul shot and then Moore scored eight unanswered points to give Garrett a 10-point lead (75-65).

Also reaching double figures for the Lakers were Clarence Morgan with 16 points, Young, a 6-9 sophomore from Allegany High School, with 14, and Bruce Boldley with 10. Young also pulled seven rebounds, dished out seven assists, and blocked a shot, while the 6-4 freshman forward Morgan, who was making his first collegiate start, grabbed eight rebounds.

Ingram paced the Lions with 23 points, Kevin Leach finished with 17.

Garrett CC (85): Chris Green 2-3-7, Bruce Boldley 2-4-6, Earl Hemby 0-2-2, Marcus Spencer 0-0-0, Clarence Morgan 7-2-4, Chuckie Moore 13-3-3, Jesse York 3-0-0, Derek Young 6-2-5, Carlos Trotter 0-0-0. Totals 33-18-75.

Dundalk CC (77): Don Levi 3-0-0, Detrick Wiggins 4-2-4, Kevin Leach 4-0-1-4, Darren Ingram 7-7-23, Tom Leon 1-0-1-2, Leslie Sewell 1-0-0, Rob Jelen 3-4-15, Carrie Hayes 1-0-2, Greg Robbins 2-0-4. Totals 28-13-77.

Three-point goals: Dundalk 4 (Levi 2, Williams 1, Leach 2, Ingram 2, Sewell 1); Garrett 1 (Moore). Total fouls: Dundalk 22, Garrett 18. Fouled out: Boldley (Garrett); Rebounds: Garrett 40 (Moore 11), Dundalk 31 (Ingram 7).

Moore also led his team in rebounding with eight.

The score remained close throughout the first half, although the Catamounts took a six-point lead, 38-34, with 3:47 remaining and were on top 38-34 at halftime.

The Lakers came back early in the second half with a 10-2 scoring burst and took the lead for good, 46-45, at the 14:50 mark. They expanded their lead to 64-53 with 4:25 remaining and kept a similar margin the rest of the way.

Also reaching double figures for the Lakers were Young, who finished with 15 points, and Morgan with 10. Boldley was held to six points, but provided six assists and three steals.

Yancy Taylor led Potomac State's scoring with 21 points, Marcus Chatman netted 15 and grabbed 12 rebounds, and Scott Riggelman recorded 11 points.

The Lakers out-rebounded the Catamounts, 44-38.

Laker Coach Dennis Gibson was particularly pleased with the win because he compared the Catamounts favorably with North Greenville, one of only two teams that has beaten the Lakers this season (95-90).

"I believe the Catamounts are as good as North Greenville," he said, "and may be better, because they have more of an outside game."

He said he hopes his team can keep the momentum going into this weekend's Louie Spoerl Memorial Classic at Allegany Community College in Cumberland. Garrett is slated to play Nassau (N.Y.) on Saturday at 6 p.m. and meet SUNY-Farmingdale Sunday at 1 p.m.

Garrett CC (72): Chris Green 1-0-2, Bruce Boldley 2-4-6, Clarence Morgan 5-0-1-0, Chuckie Moore 13-5-31, Jesse York 3-0-0, Derek Young 3-4-15, Carlos Trotter 1-0-2. Totals 31-10-75.

Potomac State (63): Alfred Poe 0-2-2, Yancy Taylor 8-2-23, Chris Green 1-0-2, Bruce Boldley 2-4-6, Clarence Morgan 5-0-1-0, Chuckie Moore 13-5-31, Jesse York 3-0-0, Derek Young 3-4-15, Carlos Trotter 1-0-2. Totals 31-10-75.

Three-point goals: Potomac State 3 (Taylor 3, Riggelman 2); Garrett 0. Total fouls: Potomac State 15, Garrett 20. Fouled out: None.

Maryland With Pride

Leading all scorers was Westmoreland's Alberto Montanez, who finished with 26 points. Darren Cooper was close behind with 23 and Tim Jones scored 15.

Last night against Potomac State, Moore connected on 13 field goals and five of six free throws, as the Lakers came back from a first-half deficit and go on for a nine-point win.

Garrett CC (102): Marcus Spencer 2-0-4, Chris Green 4-2-10, Carlos Trotter 3-0-7, Bruce Boldley 3-4-8, Carlos Williams 2-0-4, Chuckie Moore 12-0-25, Clarence Morgan 6-0-12, William Bowen 1-4-6, Jesse York 5-3-13, Derek Young 6-0-13, Totals 44-11-102.

Westmoreland CC (74): Darren Cooper 11-1-23, Tim Jones 5-5-15, Alberto Montanez 8-8-26, John Marthe 2-4-4, Phil Sherbondy 1-3-5, Pat Farrell 1-0-2. Totals 29-21-74.

Three-point goals: Garrett 3 (Trotter, Moore, Young). Total fouls: Westmoreland 13, Garrett 20. Fouled out: Young, Jones.

Canaan Valley Skiing Underway

The 1990-91 Ski Season at Canaan Valley Resort State Park is underway. The resort was able to make snow before the Thanksgiving Holiday but was unable to open due to the warm weather that it had been experiencing. "The weather is finally cooperating with us and we are doing what we do best, making snow," said Wes Benbow, Canaan Valley's Ski Area manager.

With two trails open and the quad chairlift operating Canaan Valley Resort's Ski Season officially began Sunday, December 2. With weather forecast's predicting extended cold air in the Canaan Valley Region, the outlook of snowmaking and opening more trails and lifts is "very promising," Benbow said.

New for this season at Canaan Valley Resort is "The Beech Club," the Resort's new indoor pool and fitness center, and a new dining room and lounge. Also new at the ski area is snowboard skiing with rentals and lessons available.

For Snow Reports, reservations, or additional information on Canaan Valley Resort, persons may call 1-800-CALL-WVA (ask for Canaan Valley) or 304-866-4121.

with a firm 90. My mild surprise is that Garrett County was not first in that category.

Obviously, the values of those who originally conquered the mountains of Western Maryland are being passed on to the current generation and the teachers of Garrett County are apparently succeeding in keeping people alive and well. It is appropriate with this performance to salute the Garrett County Board of Education which incidentally also produced a performance by its students in excess of the state average in math, writing and attendance (not too shabby in view of Garrett County winters).

I am sending this same "Letter to the Editor" to The Baltimore Sun, a paper of general circulation in the area where I currently reside.

Very truly yours,
H. Russell Smouse

To the Editor:

We have heard some disturbing rumors regarding the building of a new rectory and social hall for St. Peter's Catholic Church.

The rumors we have heard indicate that the new building is to be a rectangular pole structure having no style, design, or character. Isn't it a shame that our beautiful church will be hidden by a building that would have no aesthetic beauty and would detract from the historic charm of the neighborhood?

Furthermore, it is our understanding that St. Peter's does not have a licensed contractor working on this project. A building of this magnitude and cost requires someone of experience and knowledge in this field to ensure that we will have a building that we can be proud of as a parish and a community.

We look around and see two new churches being built by congregations of much smaller size and resources. We find it hard to understand how they can build these beautiful churches while St. Peter's is reduced to a pole-built building finished out with T-11 and fake brick.

As local residents, we have always enjoyed the quality and style of the churches in our town. Many businesses in town have been diligently working to improve and restore the charm and character of our community. Why can't this project do the same?

It is our hope that the parishioners of the Catholic Church will make an effort to talk to the building committee and find out what the plans really are before it's too late so we can have a building that not only St. Peter's can be proud of, but the community as a whole.

Most Sincerely,
Cindy Evans

An open letter to Mr. Charles C. McIntyre.

Dear Sir:

In answer to your eloquently posed question: "Who is Pogo?" Allow me to advise you first of all the question is more appropriately phrased, "What was Pogo?" You see, Pogo is no more... it, he is now extinct, as non-existent as a high school graduate's vocabulary in the fast moving, slow witted marvelous era some have dubbed "The Information Age."

Pogo was a comic strip, Mr. McIntyre, but Pogo the character was a creation of a brilliant communicator of thought provoking ideas and ingenious metaphors of our lives and times. A politician is the last thing he would have ever considered being. So you're right, you never got a

ADVICE FROM A PRO — Northern High School students were treated this week to an informative talk by former Penn State and All-Pro running back Lydell Mitchell. His topic concerned the abuse of drugs. editor to impress anyone, Mr. McIntyre. I write them to "express" what I hope are thought provoking ideas, conveying information and suggestions worthy of the time and effort I expend trying to disseminate them to the community in which I have "chosen" to live in my retirement. The fact that I don't write "down" to the "least common denominator" is a conscious decision on my part of long standing — for which I take full responsibility.

You see, Mr. McIntyre, I believe most people are better than you seem to think they are. We have such a beautiful language, why shouldn't we all strive to use it to the best of our ability? Are you satisfied that our expensive school system graduates an inferior product, unable to compete in the world market place that now confronts us all?

You seem to be enamored of mediocrity in your selection of politicians and in life's more important matters. I, for one, am disgusted that the greatest nation the world has ever seen is saddled with a fourth rate system of education, due primarily to people who think the way you apparently do, and the greed and ineptitude of politicians who "pretend" to serve her best interests.

No, Mr. McIntyre, let's not "keep it simple"; let's try instead to compete with the rest of the work and rid ourselves of mediocrity and ineptitude before we find ourselves so hopelessly behind we truly deserve the fate our "public servants" are trying to foist upon us.

Oh yes, I also believe the people who live in "our wonderful Garrett County" are the best! That's one of the reasons I "elected" to spend the rest of my life here. With your permission, I'll get on with it.

"PROUDLY EMPLOYING U.S.W.A. SKILLED TECHNICIANS!"

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

HOLIDAYS ARE THE SEASON FOR HELPING OTHERS by Governor William Donald Schaefer

This week, I was invited to a Thanksgiving dinner given for people who might not otherwise have had a Thanksgiving meal. They served all the traditional Thanksgiving fare — turkey and all the trimmings. It wasn't just food that the diners enjoyed. It was the fellowship and the feeling that people cared enough to do something for them, cared enough to offer a hand to those who need it most.

I guess it's predictable that this time of year my column focuses on helping our less fortunate citizens. But, this is no routine holiday message. This year is different than many of the past holiday seasons in Maryland. The needs are greater than they have been in recent years.

There's lots of evidence. News of the national economic slowdown is all over the newspapers. Revenues are off. State and local governments are having to cut back on programs. The job market is not good. There have even been some layoffs. There's more concern about what the future holds. Are we in a recession? Are we headed for one? People are thinking and spending more conservatively.

Right here in Maryland we also see evidence. The number of families on welfare has increased by 10 percent over a one-year period. Soup kitchens are feeding more people. Another disturbing indicator is that the state's largest United Way campaign has had to extend its deadline because of slower response. Food collections are lagging.

But amidst all this sad news are many bright spots. Some local United Way campaigns have received larger individual contributions than in past years. So far, donations to our state employees' United Charities campaign exceed last year's results for this time period. State employees make up the largest single volunteer effort in the state. I'm proud of them.

People are trying harder to help. Even prisoners are getting into the act. Inmates at the Maryland Penitentiary have pitched in to help feed the homeless and poor. A recent study showed that Central Marylanders beat the national average in giving to charity.

I've said time and time again that, "Government can't do it all." With reduced federal programs, lower tax revenues, and the need to reduce spending at the state level, government's ability to help people is weakened. Though the cuts we have made in the state's current-year budget are substantial, they were carefully chosen to have the least impact on those who rely on our help the most.

But, like those who shared that Thanksgiving meal, we must remember that we are fortunate. Though our state's economy feels the effects of the national slowdown, many of us still have plenty to share with others. Maryland is rich in people who care and who want to make a difference in people's lives. This is the year those of us who can, should try to go the extra mile to help those around us. I'm asking that you make a special effort this year. There is ample opportunity to help. Organizations in every community need help: whether it be collecting goods and foods, or helping to prepare a special meal, or simply by offering companionship to the elderly or the ill, there are ways to help. It doesn't always mean writing a check. A gift of time and energy is just as important.

One way of helping is through your local United Way campaign at work. If you haven't pledged or made a contribution, please ask how you can do so where you work. Another organization needing immediate help is the Maryland Food Committee which helps feed the hungry, year-round, throughout the state. You can send contributions or find out how to help by calling the Maryland Food Committee at (301) 366-0600.

Holidays are difficult times for many. Financial strains and loneliness are never more apparent than at this time of year. Expectations are raised and often not met. Thinking of others is a wonderful way to make yourself happier this holiday season. Between now and the first of the year, someone in your community will ask for your help. Give it. You won't be sorry.

But remember, when responding to charitable requests, use your head as well as your heart. Ask questions, and get the facts. When possible, make your donation by check or ask for a receipt. If you're not sure if the group soliciting you is on the "up and up," call the Office of the Secretary of State, 1-800-825-4510. They'll tell you if the group is a registered charitable organization and how it uses the proceeds of its solicitations.

Another thing that makes this holiday season difficult is the increased number of military personnel overseas. Let's make a special effort for them and their families to show how much we appreciate their sacrifice and patriotism.

As always, I welcome your thoughts. And, if there's a special need in your community, please let me know. Together, we'll see if something can be done to help make the holiday season just a little bit better for that person. Write to me, Governor William Donald Schaefer, State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

How To Harness Holiday Spending

Everyone loves a generous gift-giver during the holidays. But no one expects you to go dangerously into debt in order to give nice presents.

While it is better to give than to receive, it's even better to gain control over your spending before you buy that first gift. Dr. Mary J. Stephenson, Family Resource Management specialist of the University of Maryland, suggests some ways to help harness your spending now — so you won't be stampeded by bills in 1990.

Keep a written record of all credit purchases. Don't wait until the bills arrive to tell what you've bought. By then, it may be too late to avoid being overburdened by credit card debt.

Shop with a list, whether for party foods or holiday gifts. That way, you can more easily resist impulse buying.

Avoid buying obscure items on sale. Take advantage of pre-holiday markdowns only if you were going to get the item anyway.

Dr. Stephenson suggests leaving your credit card at home if you answer "yes" to the following questions. Do you:

pay bills late?
pay only the minimum due on credit card balances?
use checking account overdrafts or bank-card cash advances on a regular basis?
dip into savings to pay bills or take out new loans to pay old ones?

"Most of us want to be generous at Christmas," notes Dr. Stephenson. "But credit cards can lead us into being too generous for our own good."

Many holiday shoppers are considering deferred-payment arrangements with their favorite stores. Deferred-payment allows you to make purchases in December and not be billed — or charged interest — until several months later. It is a convenient way to shop. But it can tempt you into spending even more.

"Remember," says Dr. Stephenson, "you still have to pay those bills, whether they are deferred or not."

Here are some other suggestions to help you keep tab on your holiday spending:

Decide on the total amount you will spend.

Determine how much to

Butter a 9-inch square baking pan, set aside. In a heavy 4-quart saucepan, combine milk, corn syrup, sugars, butter and salt. Place over medium heat and stir with a wooden spoon until mixture comes to a boil. Clip on candy thermometer. Stirring constantly to prevent scorching, cook to 240F (115C) or soft-ball stage. Pour into prepared pan. Cool at room temperature until firm. Cut into 1-inch squares. Wrap in waxed paper or dip in tempered chocolate. Makes 81 pieces.

JUST TRYING TO GET AHEAD

"I'm just trying to get ahead."

How often we hear this phrase. Yet, how often the "great American dream" turns into a nightmare.

Certainly we need some financial security, but in the process of pursuing great riches and social standing, which might be lost in the blink of an eye, some lose sight of those riches which cannot be bought, and they may pay the price.

Most importantly, we may sacrifice our spiritual well-being. Matthew 16:26 warns us, saying, "For what will a man be profited if he gains the whole world and forfeits his soul?"

This week, seek the riches of the spirit as you worship God in His House. The Bible advises us in Matthew 6:20 to "lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust destroys..." and in Matthew 6:33 to "seek first His (God's) Kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things (worldly goods) shall be added to you."

Is this not the greatest security of all?

DO YOU PREFER THE DARKNESS?

Background Scripture: John 3:1-21
Devotional Reading: John 3:18-21

As a boy, I was always skeptical about this verse: "And this is the judgement, that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil" (John 3:19). Because I was somewhat afraid of the dark, I couldn't imagine anyone loving it. Today, of course, I realize that, strange as it may seem, people often do choose darkness instead of light because, for some perverse reason, they love the darkness more. That is the supposition that underlies the newspaper business today: they focus on human darkness—crime, corruption, decay, tragedy, and anything that is essentially negative. "Bad news" sells newspapers, books, and television advertising time. If your daily newspaper were to focus on "good news" instead of "bad," people wouldn't buy it.

NEGATIVELY TUNED

Unfortunately, many of us are tuned in to negativity. If we are ill, we can describe our feelings in great detail. But if we are well, we are hardly aware of our wellness at all. If someone has a "juicy" story about someone we know, perhaps even a friend, we are much more likely to listen to it. Even our prayer lives may be dominated by negativity: how much of your prayer time is devoted to asking and how much to thanking? Some people even practice a Christianity that is negatively oriented: seeing and expecting the worst in people and the world. Still others are attracted to satanic religious practices that seem to glory in the darkest and lowest elements in our human nature.

When Nicodemus, a member of the Sanhedrin, the Jewish religious council, came to Jesus he came by night because he didn't want anyone to see him in the presence of the Nazarene. He also chose darkness, but in this case he chose darkness to hide, not his sin, but his virtue. The reason, of course, is that his society saw sin as virtue and virtue as sin. Associating with Jesus would threaten his "virtuous" religious standing in the community. So, he chose darkness.

PLAYING "DUMB"

We don't know what he expected Jesus to say to him, but he was obviously perplexed when Jesus said, "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (3:3). Did Nicodemus really not know what Jesus was saying, or was he simply playing "dumb" because he didn't want to deal with it? I suspect the latter, because it is a lot easier to discuss being born physically than it is to be spiritually reborn. If the first seems impossible, the other must seem highly undesirable to others.

The fact is that all of us need to be transformed so that we will seek the light rather than the darkness.

SOAP TALK

Antony, Alan are brothers

By Candace Havens
Dear Candace: Is Antony Alda (Johnny Correlli) on Days of Our Lives any relation to Alan Alda? There seems to be a resemblance. —D. in Arkansas

Dear D.: Alda is the son of the late Robert Alda and is the brother of Alan Alda.

Dear Candace: Please help! I am a senior citizen and watched Days of Our Lives until the very beautiful and talented Brenda Benet, who played "Lee," committed suicide. I still think of her and wonder why she chose to end her life and how she did it. Can you answer that question for me? —Yours truly, D.S.

Dear D.S.: There is no concrete evidence as to the exact reason Benet (Lee Carmichael, Days) committed suicide. Her son, Christopher, had died a year earlier of acute epiglottitis, a dangerous infection that causes the throat to swell.

His parents, Benet and Bill Bixby, were divorced at the time, and they both took the death very hard. But sources close to Benet say she did not shoot herself over her son's death. They said it was more likely because of a romance gone wrong.

Dear Candace: I like The Bold and the Beautiful; it is the best of any soap. I would like to know why it is only 30 minutes long. Thanks. —Just wondering, Nacogdoches, Texas

Dear Reader: B&B is a fairly new soap; it's been on the air four years. As the show becomes more established and moves up in the ratings, it could then go to one hour.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748. © TV Listing Inc.

'Cops and Robbers' makes Ed Asner's day

'Lou Grant' star is gonna 'shake 'em up'

By Amy Schmidt

Here's a bit of TV trivia for you: What actor has won more Emmy Awards than any other? If you didn't guess Ed Asner, you guessed wrong. But that's OK. In a recent interview promoting his upcoming NBC movie Cops and Robbers, Asner said he, himself, never would have guessed how successful he would become.

Asner's award list includes seven Emmys and five Golden Globes. "Oh, and there's a couple of comedy critics circle awards. I don't know. I have to look around and see what the hell I've got here," said the actor off-handedly.

But there was a time when Asner's career looked pretty grim. Between 1966 and 1968 he didn't work at all. He and his former wife Nancy had just had their third child. They had moved into a bigger house, and they thought they were going to lose it. "My agent couldn't figure it out. He said, 'Everybody admires your work but they're just not hiring you.'"

Finally, eight years after having left the Big Apple for tinseltown, Asner began to see some success. In 1970, he was cast as Lou Grant, the gruff editor with a heart of gold on The Mary Tyler Moore Show. The comedy ran for seven years and Asner won three Emmys.

Immediately following The Mary Tyler Moore Show, Asner played Lou Grant again, this time on an hour-long drama. Lou Grant lasted five years and garnered him two more Emmys.

"I've been there for so long it's old hat now," said Asner of his success. "I always resented the fact that I wasn't making it big. But when it finally happened, I couldn't believe it."

In Cops and Robbers, airing Sunday, Dec. 9, Asner will play a cop. This isn't a typical role for the actor, who frequently plays the part of the intellectual. "I'm not often seen that way, so I'm gonna shake 'em up," said Asner. (In Fort Apache Seven-time Emmy-winner Ed Asner and Wiseguy star Ray Sharkey (from left) play Cops and Robbers, Sunday on NBC. A group of policemen, led by Sharkey, mastermind the largest bank heist in history. Asner plays the straight cop whose on to them.

— the Bronx and Police Story he did play a cop, he reminded me.)

An interesting twist to Cops and Robbers is that the cops get to play the robbers. Ray Sharkey, George Kennedy and James Keach co-star in this drama which is based on a true story. On Memorial Day weekend 1980, a group of policemen carried out a plot to rob a Boston bank. It was one of the biggest heists in history. Sharkey and Keach play the bad guys. Asner and Kennedy play the good guys who try to bring their colleagues to justice. The pair's game plan is to foster distrust and suspicion within the force and to wait for a crack in its ranks.

In February, Asner will play a Chicago detective in a new law-enforcement pilot for NBC. He hopes it will lead to a series and another

Emmy. "It's been a while," he said, "since the last one." (Asner's career lagged during the conservative Reagan-era when he spoke out on behalf of a number of liberal causes.)

What I really wanted to know, though, was whether this controversial actor, with his tough exterior and seemingly soft center, is as nice on-screen as off. "I bite, but only in passion," joked Asner. © TV Listing Inc.

TIME OUT

49ers to meet Cincinnati

By Steve Paschal

It will be a rematch of Super Bowl XXIII Sunday when the San Francisco 49ers and Cincinnati Bengals go at each other in the headline game of CBS Sports' Regional NFL coverage.

This will be the first time the teams have faced each other since Joe Montana led the 49ers to a 20-16 victory in one of the great Super Bowl finishes of all time. In that game, San Francisco got the ball at its own eight-yard line with 3:05 left in the game and marched 92 yards in 11 plays to win their second consecutive NFL championship.

Although the Bengals slipped to 8-8 last season and finished fourth in the tough AFC Central, they are back in the middle of a dogfight for first place with Pittsburgh and Houston. After opening the season with five straight wins, Cincinnati dropped four in a row due to a series of injuries to key players. But an off week gave the Bengals a chance to recover and, with Ike Woods, James Brooks and quarterback Boomer Esiason healthy once again, they battered Pittsburgh 27-3 three weeks ago and reclaimed the division lead.

San Francisco wrapped up its division with six weeks left in the regular season and appears headed for an AFC championship showdown with one of the best New York Giant teams of all time.

While the majority of the country watches the Bengals and 49ers, other areas will see either the Giants taking on the resurgent Minnesota Vikings or the Atlanta Falcons going against the Phoenix Cardinals. The second game also offers a pair of interesting matchups with Chicago facing Washington and New Orleans playing the Los Angeles Rams. © TV Listing Inc.

Sharon Gless hopes her 'Trials' won't end soon

Sharon Gless trades her badge for a law degree when she stars as a corporate lawyer-turned-public defender on CBS' The Trials of Rosie O'Neill, Mondays.

Actress returns to TV after two years

By Amy Schmidt

Rosie was an overachiever, well-educated and from a good family. But she wasn't young anymore, and her husband wanted someone who was. Such are The Trials of Rosie O'Neill, CBS' drama about a lady lawyer who exits her ivory tower in the corporate sky to defend the poor and the indigent here on earth.

Although the show deals with Rosie as a public defender, it primarily deals with her as a person, said Sharon Gless, a.k.a. Rosie O'Neill, in a recent interview. "Rosie wanted to change herself because of what happened to her," said Gless. "What she's going to eventually learn is that his infidelity had nothing to do with her. It was all about him."

Like Cagney & Lacey, The

Trials of Rosie O'Neill is designed to appeal to women ages 35 and up. "We call our show 'fortysomething,'" kidded Gless.

So where has Sharon Gless been since her days as Christine Cagney on Cagney & Lacey? "I took two years off after Cagney & Lacey, saying that I didn't want to do a series again," said Gless. "I started becoming sort of a hermit. I didn't want to go into town. I didn't want to work. I bought a house at the beach—I must say, it was the best two years of my life. But then I thought, 'I better go back to work if I'm going to keep my beach house,'" she laughed.

Gless, herself, has never been married. But she is seeing the producer of her show, Bernie Rosenzweig. "He's my best friend," said Gless. "We don't have time to date, but we certainly know where the other person is!" © TV Listing Inc.

Ed Begley Jr. a cameraman before becoming an actor

By Polly Vonetes

Q: Where can I write to Ed Begley Jr.? I saw him in a recent movie and think he is an interesting actor. Could you provide some information as to where he was born, schools attended and if he is married? —J. Smith, Atascadero, Calif.

A: Ed Begley Jr. was born in Los Angeles on Sept. 16, 1949. He is the son of the late actor Ed Begley. He landed his first TV role at age 17 in an episode of My Three Sons. Soon after, he appeared in a recurring role in the dramatic series Room 222. Begley worked as a cameraman for a local television station after attending Valley College and until beginning his film career with Walt Disney Studios. He appeared in a series of Disney films which starred Kurt Russell. The turning point in his career came with his role in St. Elsewhere. Now starring in NBC's new series Parent Hood, Begley is separated from his wife.

Q: Could you tell me when Frank Sinatra won his Oscar for playing Maggio in From Here to Eternity? Did they play his hit song of that day, "Young at Heart," when he went up to collect his award? Also, where could I write to him? —Ed Mampel, Kingsland, Texas

A: Frank Sinatra won his Academy Award in 1953. I may be wrong, but the usual procedure during the awards show is to play the theme of the movie winning the award. In this case, From Here to Eternity. Write to Sinatra at 70588 Frank Sinatra Blvd., Rancho Mirage, CA 92270.

Q: I am a big fan of Richard Grieco, who played Dennis Booker on Booker. Could you please tell me all about him? Will he be back on TV and his address? —Dana, Terre Haute, Ind.

A: Twenty-four-year-old

Ed Begley Jr.

Richard Grieco was born in Watertown, N.Y. A gifted athlete, he excelled in such sports as hockey, lacrosse and football. Named an All-American high-school football player, Grieco attended Central Connecticut University on an athletic scholarship with his sights set on a career in law. While in college he was entered in a national competition known as the "Best Face of the '80s" and emerged as a clear-cut winner. The contest led to a contract with a modeling agency in Manhattan. It was during this time he realized his desire to act and began two years of intensive theatrical study. His first audition led to his first professional role on the daytime drama One Life to Live. He turned down many offers before accepting Fox's offer to join the cast of 21 Jump Street. Look for him to be appearing in another series soon. Write to him c/o Joe Dera Associates, 584 Broadway, Suite 1201, New York, NY 10012.

Dixie Carter keeps in touch with roots in stage work

By Candace Havens

Dixie Carter plays the delightful Julia Sugarbaker on the popular CBS series Designing Women. Her character is quick-witted and always gets what she wants, yet always remembers her Southern manners.

Carter grew up in the South in McMormonsville, Tenn., and from the beginning she wanted to be an opera star. After receiving a bachelor's degree in English from Memphis State University, Carter headed for New York to study her music more intensely. Then, she recalls, "came the rude awakening. My voice simply wasn't big enough for opera."

With the encouragement of a friend, Carter decided to audition for a part in a Shakespearean production by Joseph Papp. Her acting career began in The Winter's Tale. Then what seemed to be a promising career ended when she married her first husband, Arthur Carter. Two children and eight years later, she returned to acting with hopes of working in musical theater.

She later headed for Hollywood to star opposite Richard Chamberlain in a West Coast production of Fathers and Sons. She starred in a few feature films and was a regular on several series including On Our Own, Filthy Rich, Out of the Blue, Different Strokes and The Edge of Night.

Home to Carter is McMormonsville, but she also shares a residence with her third husband, Hal Holbrook, in L.A. © TV Listing Inc.

Laila Robins plays attorney Victoria Heller on Gabriel's Fire, Thursdays on ABC.

Dennis Dun plays Jack Killian's producer/engineer on NBC's Midnight Caller, Fridays.

In the first of three movies this season, Peter Falk plays homicide detective Columbo, Sunday on ABC.

Multi-talented Bo Jackson leads the Raiders against the Lions on ABC Monday Night Football.

Networks offer viewers a pick of who-dunnits

By Christy Bergslien

Peter Falk reprises his role as Columbo, Sunday Dec. 9, on ABC. The rumpled, long-key detective "Goes to College" in his season premiere. Stephen Caffrey and Gary Hershberger play two students who steal the final exam for the criminology course. When the theft is discovered by their professor, they plot to murder him and use Columbo as an alibi.

Opposite Columbo, CBS will air the thriller Donor. Melissa Gilbert plays a young doctor who gets curious when both her patients and co-workers begin to mysteriously die. Her subsequent investigation results in an unbelievable diagnosis with a fatal prognosis. Jack Scalia and Pernell Roberts co-star. © TV Listing Inc.

Not to be outdone, NBC broadcasts its own who-dunnit Sunday. In Cops and Robbers, a group of cops progress from graft to petty theft and finally to grand larceny when they stage the largest bank heist in history. Ed Asner and George Kennedy must break the code of silence among the force's officers in order to bring their colleagues to justice. Ray Sharkey and James Keach also star in this drama based upon a true story.

Real-life husband and wife Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy reprise their Broadway roles in Foxfire rebroadcast on CBS. The two play an Appalachian farm couple, with John Denver playing their country-singer son, Saturday, Dec. 15. © TV Listing Inc.

Michael Moriarty helps keep Law & Order on the NBC drama, airing Tuesdays.

Liz McVay (Mariette Hartley) would dearly love her boss' job on CBS' WIOU, Wednesdays.

New Kids on the Block learn meaning of Christmas

By Anne Wheeler

The New Kids on the Block have a Christmas they'll remember forever when a little boy teaches them the true meaning of the Yuletide on the New Kids on the Block Christmas Special, a prime-time special airing Friday, Dec. 14, on ABC.

In the animated special, the New Kids plan to spend Christmas with their own families. But their plans are interrupted by an 8-year-old boy named Albert.

Albert takes the Kids to New York's Spanish Harlem, where they meet Rosa, a woman who provides food, blankets and toys for the neighborhood needy each Christmas. However, this year she won't have enough to go around unless there is a miracle.

Before the animated adventure of the New Kids, the real New Kids on the Block reminisce about past holidays and what Christmas means to them. After the animated special, another live-action segment features the New Kids' concert performance of "This One's for the Children."

Other Christmas specials kids may enjoy this week are The I Love Lucy Christmas Show, Monday, Dec. 10, on CBS, and the holiday classic Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, tentatively rescheduled for Friday, Dec. 14, on CBS. In Monday's special, the Mertzes and the Ricardos trim the tree and reminisce about Christmases past. © TV Listing Inc.

A holiday tradition, the Bob Hope Christmas Special, broadcasts Saturday on NBC.

Maverick director Peter Sellers sets The Marriage of Figaro in Trump Tower, Friday on PBS.

Commission Recommends Community Colleges Be Top Spending Priority

Maryland's top priority for higher education spending in the FY '92 budget should be the state's community colleges, according to the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

The commission last week recommended an $8.5 million increase in funding for the 16 community colleges under a revamped formula for state support of the two-year colleges. The funding increase is contingent on adoption of the new formula by Governor William Donald Schaefer and the General Assembly.

"Maryland's system of community colleges is one of the best in the country," said J. Henry Butta, chairman of the commission, "but they are also among the most expensive. This new formula not only treats the colleges more fairly, but will help hold down the rate of growth in tuition and fees."

At the same time, the commission — which is responsible for coordinating and planning all postsecondary education in Maryland — voted in favor of a $500,000 increase in scholarship funds so that the number of students receiving state financial aid would not drop as college costs rise.

The commission also recommended $21.7 million in new funding for public institutions for faculty merit pay increases, completion of new University of Maryland facilities, and the continued downsizing of the University of Maryland at College Park.

The funding recommendations include a $5 million increase to pay for continued enhancement of the College Park campus, which was designated in the 1988 reorganization as the state's flagship institution.

The recommendations reflect the priorities adopted by the commission earlier this month, plus some routine increases excluded from next year's budget because of budget reductions.

By law, the Maryland Higher Education Commission recommends a higher education budget to the governor. The total FY '92 operating budget recommended by the commission is $983.2 million.

The commission also forwarded to the governor recommendations for $110.7 million in capital projects at four-year institutions (compared with $116.4 million in requests), $7 million in community college capital improvements (the original request was $11 million), and $1.8 million for the New Community College of Baltimore.

Adolescent Single Parents Sought By New Horizons

"The Caring Connection," an Adolescent Single Parent Program operating through the New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College, funded by the Maryland State Department of Education, is seeking to identify adolescent single parents and pregnant teens between the ages of 12 to 19 who need support in completing high school or getting their GED, enrolling in vocational training to further develop their job skills and to successfully enter into employment to become self sufficient.

"The Caring Connection" can provide services to assist the following categories: single parent who is unmarried or legally separated from a spouse; adolescent who has a minor child or children for which the parent has custody or joint custody; and pregnant teens.

"The Caring Connection" provides counseling and support to assist adolescent participants through the program, opportunities to participate in career decision-making workshops, assistance to complete high school, information on obtaining a Graduation Equivalency Diploma (GED), community agencies referrals, financial assistance for child care while attending classes to finish high school or further training, tuition assistance for credit/non-credit vocational classes at Garrett Community College, and assistance in finding employment.

Individuals who feel they might qualify for this assistance and support are asked to contact Barbara Frey or Sue Sines of "The Caring Connection" through the New Horizons Program at GCC by calling 387-6666, ext. 171, weekdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Potomac Edison Oakland Office Receives Award

Employees from Potomac Edison's Oakland office received an award from the National Safety Council in recent weeks.

Nancy Neff, Western Division manager, announced that employees from PE's Oakland office worked safely for 57,748 employee hours to win this prestigious award.

"Employees worked from August 22, 1988, to December 31, 1989, without a lost time accident to receive the President's Citation from the National Safety Council," said Neff. "This is one of the highest honors given by the Council for safe work practices. Only employees working safely for a full year receive this award."

Neff added that the employees in this and all Potomac Edison work locations should be "commended for their outstanding safety records. The award earned by these employees is an example of true commitment to safety."

Potomac Edison employs 1,100 employees in its 7,300-square-mile service territory in Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland.

Chesapeake Bay License Plate To Be Available

Governor William Donald Schaefer last week unveiled Maryland's Chesapeake Bay license plate to honor the state's most precious natural resource. This special license plate will be available from January 1, 1991 to December 31, 1992 for $20.

The plate can be ordered now by mail or at full-service Motor Vehicle Administration offices. All registered drivers of passenger cars, multi-purpose vehicles, and trucks up to ¾ ton are eligible to purchase the Bay plates. Vehicles with handicap or personalized plates can buy modified Bay plates.

The special Bay license plate includes a rendering of one of the Bay's most abundant waterbirds, the Great Blue Heron, chosen as a symbol of conservation and rebirth. Delicate Bay grasses and the slogan "Treasure the Chesapeake" are also featured on this blue and green plate.

"Buying a Chesapeake Bay license plate is a great way for citizens to help the Bay," the governor said. "I am especially excited that this special plate is Maryland's first license plate to be made of recycled aluminum."

Anticipated revenue of $1 million from the sale of the Chesapeake Bay license plate will go to the Chesapeake Bay Trust. The Chesapeake Bay Trust is a state-initiated, non-profit organization which grants funds for Bay restoration projects, such as shoreline improvement, tree plantings, development of environmental education centers, and water quality monitoring programs.

To raise additional funds for the Chesapeake Bay Trust, a limited number of plates with the letters "BAY" and three numerals will be available for $100, while special numerical combinations will be sold for $500 (i.e. BAY-100, BAY-123). These "BAY" plates can be ordered through the Chesapeake Bay Trust by calling 974-2941.

Legislation passed last spring by the Maryland General Assembly authorized the Motor Vehicle Administration to create a commemorative Chesapeake Bay license plate. The Chesapeake Bay was chosen as the plate's theme because of its rich cultural and historical value to Maryland.

By purchasing a Bay plate, Marylanders can participate in the statewide effort to restore the Bay. Citizens can call the Motor Vehicle Administration information line at 950-1MVA.

Southern GOP Women Meet November 27

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club held its November meeting on Tuesday, November 27, at Red Run Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

President Ruth Umbel opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance. Leona Beckman then led the group in reciting the Lord's Prayer. Minutes from the previous meeting were read by Secretary Pat White and approved by the club.

White then reported on some election results, stating that Maryland had the second highest gain in percentage of elected Republicans in the country, second only to Massachusetts.

Reports were also given on the Maryland Federation of Republican Women's Convention held November 17-18 in Columbia. Attending were Ruth Umbel, Mary Hebb, and Brenda Butcher. It was established that the 1991 State Convention will be held October 4-5 at the Wisp Resort, Deep Creek Lake. The National Convention will be held the following weekend in Cleveland, Ohio.

The club has donated two children's books, Meet Thomas Jefferson and Meet Benjamin Franklin, to the Ruth Enlow Library for the Mamie Eisenhower Memorial.

The program at the meeting dealt with the Constitution of the United States and was presented by Leona Beckman. She reminded the members that "it is freedom's most important document" and that "Maryland was one of the 13 original colonies to ratify the Constitution on April 28, 1788, with three signers."

Each club member was presented with a pocket-size copy of the Constitution which contains seven Articles and 26 Amendments.

The club's December meeting will be the annual Christmas party.

March Of Dimes Announces Small Grants Program

The Allegany/Garrett County March of Dimes announces a Small Grants program for its Division area. The Foundation is seeking grant proposals to prevent birth defects, to ameliorate their consequences for patients and their families, and to improve the outcome of pregnancy.

A birth defect is defined as a abnormality of structure, function, or metabolism, whether genetically determined or resulting from environmental influence during embryonic life. A birth defect may cause disease from time of conception through birth or later life. Low birthweight is included within this definition. The interests of the March of Dimes include the broader aspects of pregnancy outcome.

Proposals will be rated on their relevance to Division and Chapter funding priorities. Grants of up to $5,000 are awarded. Requests are reviewed quarterly and are awarded to recognized institutions or agencies only and not to individuals. A grant may be requested for a maximum two-year period, but the approval to fund requires Executive committee action on an annual basis.

For further information and to receive an application packet, persons may contact Trish Morgan, director of the local March of Dimes Division weekdays, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., at 301-722-5818. Postmark deadline for the first quarter is January 2, 1991. The March of Dimes proposal package should be sent to 111 S. George Street, Cumberland, Maryland 21502.

Area Health Ed. Center Announces Name Change

Anthony Bollino, M.D., chairman of the Board of the Cumberland Area Health Education Center (CAHEC), recently announced that the agency's name is being changed to the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC) to more accurately reflect the agency's true scope and range of services to Maryland's three western-most counties. In its 14th year of service to the region, the AHEC works to improve health care through health personnel education in Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties.

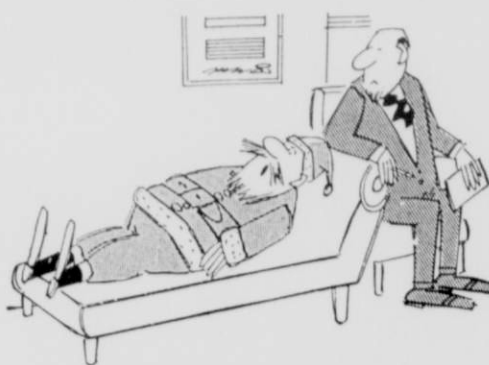

According to Don Spencer, executive director, "The momentum to change the name began many years ago, but gained impetus in the last several years as the center's programming expanded. Many people outside of the Cumberland area, and even within Cumberland, expressed a need for the agency's name to be more inclusive of the geographic area served."

On the national level, the AHEC concept developed in the mid 1970's in response to health personnel shortages in rural areas. The federal government worked with medical universities to help establish regional centers that could help entice health professional students to work in rural areas and that could work with the existing regional health professionals in providing continuing education and developing linkages with major medical centers.

In 1976, an AHEC to service Western Maryland was established in Cumberland and named the Cumberland Area Health Education Center. The Center became a reality through the hard work and cooperation of many local medical professionals, local, state, and federal government representatives, the University of Maryland at Baltimore School of Medicine, and the Maryland Statewide Medical Education and Training System. From the beginning, the agency has served all of Western Maryland. It is a locally responsive non-profit center that focuses on interdisciplinary health professional education. In cooperation with the University of Maryland at Baltimore and other health professional training schools, the Western Maryland AHEC serves as a regional, interdisciplinary training center through which students and residents can learn about clinical care, health services and public health policy in a rural or small city location. In addition to health professional clinical training experiences, the Center also provides support for off-campus education programs such as the RN to BSN and the BSN to MSN programs. It also conducts continuing education programs on thematic topics such as geriatric medicine, occupational medicine, adolescent medicine, and the agency maintains a medical learning resource center to support the professional development and needs of health care practitioners and students. The AHEC also fosters recruitment of students for health careers, conducts health promotion and community education, and fosters interagency networks among health and higher education professionals.

Some current Western Maryland AHEC projects are 1) implementation of a Federal AHEC Training Initiative in Adolescent Medicine for Health Professionals, 2) completion of the third year of programming for the Health Careers Opportunities Program for area high Financial Aid Proposals Given By Education Comm.

At its meeting on October 31, 1990, the Maryland Higher Education Commission recommended a major restructuring of state financial aid programs for college students. The proposal, which now goes to the governor and the General Assembly, includes modifications of current programs and establishment of new programs. It has no impact on the FY '92 budget.

The highlights are as follows:

Creation of a "Free State" program in FY 1996 as the foundation program for state financial aid, with a gradual phase-out of the General State Scholarship. The Free State Program would pay 100 percent of the cost (adjusted for federal Pell grants and family contributions) of attending a four-year public institution in Maryland for poor students who complete college preparatory courses. The scholarship could be used at any college or university (public or private) in the state. The program would also make financial aid available to low and middle-income students, increasing the percentage of adjusted need to 40 percent and the maximum amount to $3,000 a year. Funding requirement for FY 1996 is estimated at $25 million, enough for over 13,800 students.

Establishment of a grant program for part-time students, who presently receive limited financial aid. Almost 114,000 of Maryland's 260,000 college students attend part-time. Since it is difficult to estimate how much money would be needed, an initial appropriation of $1 million is recommended.

Creation of a zero-coupon college savings bond program to help middle income families. A state subsidy of one percent is recommended for students who attend college in Maryland. With the interest subsidy, the program would cost $1 million or less annually.

Creation of a Maryland math/science student corps to increase the number of graduates who are employed in occupations requiring math and science skills. College loans would be forgiven for graduates who work in Maryland. Estimated cost (based on maximum of 200 students in program): $400,000 a year.

Two other changes noted were:

The Commission recommended that the law governing the Distinguished Scholar Program be changed to allow identification of Distinguished Scholars (high ability high school students) sooner, so that Maryland colleges and universities have a head start in recruiting them.

And the state's cumbersome system of 16 "manpower" programs should be collapsed into two umbrella programs to minimize confusion and make the programs more responsive, the Commission concluded.

Area Boy Scouts Collect 11,000 Pounds Of Food

For the third consecutive year, the boys and young men of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, participated in the national good turn, Scouting For Food.

According to Brad Burr, Council Executive, more than 450 youth collected almost 11,000 pounds of food. The Scouts distributed throughout their neighborhoods blue plastic bags, contributed by the local Wendy's Restaurants, and the following week picked them up full of contributed non-perishables. The donated food was taken to various local food banks and pantries where it was counted, weighed and marked as donated by Scouts.

Recent studies reveal that twenty million Americans go hungry some time every month. "Scouts realize that they alone cannot eliminate hunger," noted James S. Bryner, Council President, "but they hope that their efforts will inspire Americans to do something about our nation's hunger problem."

Diana Loar, director of the Western Maryland Food Bank, located in South Cumberland, says, "Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts through their 'Scouting for Food' program provide us with our largest single donation of food for the entire year. It is distributed to local and regional food pantries and community kitchens throughout the year, not just during the holidays."

The following units participated in this year's "Scouting for Food" Campaign: Pack 60, Moorefield; 28, Ridgeley; 46, Keyser; 69, Westernport; 32, Augusta; 29, LaVale; 9, Cresaptown; 56 and 24, Frostburg; and 50, Mt. Savage. Boy Scout Troops included Troop 60, Moorefield; 35, Keyser; 82, Oakland; 9, Cresaptown; 10, LaVale; 30, Piedmont; 58 Keyser; 29, Ridgeley; 32, Augusta and 2, 16 and 17, Cumberland.

Checking Heat Tapes Advised By Health Officer

Residents of mobile homes are being warned by Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County Health Officer, to have electrical heat tapes and pipe heating inspected now for possible fire hazards. "There have already been several fires in Maryland due to heat tapes this year," Archer said.

Based on data from the U.S. Fire Administration and the National Fire Protection Association, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) estimates there are about 3,300 residential fires each year involving heat tapes. On the average, these fires have resulted in an estimated 20 deaths, 160 injuries and $25.4 million in property losses each year.

CPSC said data about heat tape fires was gathered over a six-year period, and that over half the fires involved mobile homes and trailers. During the investigations, it was discovered that many homeowners do not regularly inspect their heat tapes and that, in some cases, consumers were not aware that one or more heat tapes had been installed in their home.

Heat tapes are usually installed in crawl spaces and in the sub-structure of mobile homes and other dwellings where exposed water and drain pipes could freeze during the winter. In many cases, the products are plugged in year-round and are activated by a thermostat when the outdoor temperature approaches freezing.

While some consumers have the expertise to inspect heat tapes, most consumers should call a qualified electrician to inspect the system. If the electrician finds damaged or cracked insulation or bare wires, the old heat tape should be replaced immediately.

For persons purchasing heat tapes, CPSC offers the following safety tips:

- Buy the proper tape for the proper pipe. Know the diameter and length of the pipe to be protected, then buy the heat tape recommended for that size by the manufacturer.

- Follow the manufacturer's instructions for installing heat tape. Heat tape should not be lapped over itself around the pipe unless specifically permitted in the manufacturer's instructions.

- Heat tapes should be wrapped directly over the pipe to be protected, never on top of the thermal insulation covering a pipe.

- Don't cover heat tapes with insulating materials unless so advised by the manufacturer; if you insulate the tape, it must be a non-flammable insulating material such as fibrous glass.
- Never use more insulation than recommended by the manufacturer. Over-insulation can cause a fire.

Dr. Archer also advises everyone to check their smoke detectors to make sure that they are working properly. "One of the fires in Maryland this year due to a heat tape resulted in smoke inhalation because the smoke detector didn't work," he said.

Susan R. Murray Accepts Position With Health Dept.

Susan Rae Murray, R.N., recently accepted a position with the Home Health Service division of the Garrett County Health Department. She will provide skilled nursing care to home-bound patients.

Ms. Murray noted that the delivery of skilled in-home nursing services is a challenge that is exciting and rewarding. "Every dedicated nursing professional should have an opportunity to practice the profession in this manner," she stated.

HOLIDAY FESTIVAL SLATED — The annual Holiday Festival of Music sponsored by the Accident Cultural and Historical Society will be held Sunday, December 16, at the Flowery Vale Community Center in Accident at 3:30 p.m. The festival will feature the combined talents of the Accident Concert Band, noted storyteller Dr. Gail Herman, and the revivers, an instrumental and vocal group comprised of Ray Miller, June and Ellis Harvey, and Lori and Daymond Schmuck. The Revivers will lead the audience in singing traditional and popular carols. A community social is scheduled to conclude the festival. Refreshments will be provided by members of the Aid

Association for Lutherans, Branches 585 and 588. Admission to the program is free. Parents are encouraged to bring cameras to photograph their children with a special guest scheduled to arrive by sleigh. The Accident Concert Band has been designated by sponsors as the beneficiary of this year's festival. Boasting a 100-year tradition, the Accident Band is comprised of children as well as adults and is the only community band currently performing in Garrett County. Donations will be accepted on the band's behalf with total festival contributions to be matched by arrangement with the Aid Association for Lutherans.

Norma Bolding, R.N., director of Home Care Services said, "Ms. Murray is a welcome addition to the staff as Home Health has grown in the past two years by 18 percent."

It is predicted by the "American Journal of Nursing," September 1990, that by the year 2000, home health visits will be increased by 66 percent. The Garrett County Health Department is already experiencing a shortage of nurses.

Murray graduated from Allegheny Community College in December 1987 with an associate degree in nursing. She was employed at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, in the High Level Care Unit from December 1987 to September 1989, and at Denett Road Nursing Home from September 1989 to September 1990.

She is a Garrett County Hospice volunteer and a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church. She resides in Oakland with her husband, Jim, and their three children, Sarah, David, and Michael.

To Speak At Conference On Breastfeeding

Carol Bass from the Garrett County Health Department has been selected to speak at the Mid-Atlantic Regional Breastfeeding Conference which will be held this week in Bethesda. Mrs. Bass is scheduled to present highlights of the county's successful breastfeeding support programs according to Health Officer Dr. Rex Archer.

The local health department encourages breastfeeding by offering information to pregnant women at clinics and prenatal classes. Also, a hospital-quality electric breast pump is available for loan to women with special breastfeeding circumstances, such as premature delivery. To further aid nursing mothers, employees are available daily for telephone counseling.

Mrs. Bass serves as coordinator of Garrett County's Women, Infant, & Children's Supplemental Food Program known as WIC. Her presentation at the conference is to train WIC local agency health professionals to implement effective breastfeeding education and support systems for WIC clientele.

Sewage Sludge Advisory Group Slates Meeting

A meeting of the Garrett County Sewage Sludge Advisory Committee will be held at 1:30 p.m., December 11, in the Soil Conservation Service's meeting room in the Garrett County Courthouse in Oakland. The Sludge Advisory Committee was established as a requirement of the Garrett County Sewage Sludge Ordinance enacted into law in 1983.

Committee members are appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners and represent citizen, industry, and regulatory agency interests. The purpose of the committee is to serve in an advisory capacity to the county government and to review the implications of the regulation.

The committee meeting is open to the public. Anyone wishing to address the committee or be placed on the agenda should contact chairperson Dorothy Leighton, at 334-3315 or the Garrett County Health Department Environmental Health Services' office at 334-8980.

GCMH Among Those Honored At Luncheon

Twenty-nine Maryland hospitals, including Garrett County Memorial, were honored at an awards luncheon, Tuesday, for the "special brand of preventive medicine" they practiced as a means to reduce the number of deaths and the severity of injuries in their communities.

The awards ceremony was held at Loews Hotel in Annapolis, to recognize the innovative educational programs, promotional events, and community outreach activities the participating hospitals conducted in order to promote the life-saving, injury-reducing benefits of safety belt and child safety seat use during the "Maryland Hospital Challenge Campaign."

According to a spokesman for the event, participating Maryland hospitals branched out from their traditional roles as places where only people with broken and sick bodies go for healing. The safety belt and child safety seat programs and activities which were conducted during this campaign highlighted what an important partner hospitals are in making preventive medicine an integral part of healthy living.

"While hospitals throughout Maryland and across the country have always taken a leadership role in periodically conducting safety belt and child safety seat educational programs, the Maryland Hospital Challenge Campaign was the first safety belt program simultaneously conducted by a statewide network of hospitals," said Rick Wade, vice president of communications for the Maryland Hospital Association. "The success of Maryland's prototype campaign has already received interest from a number of neighboring states," he continued.

Among the activities and programs conducted by the 29 hospitals during the campaign were: child safety seat installation clinics, safety belt proper use demonstrations, poster contests, distribution of infant "Buckle Baby" t-shirts, identification of "Saved By The Belt" crash survivors, community outreach projects, employee-visitor parking lot compliance surveys, development of a health-care/law enforcement task force team and development of new educational courses for employees, patients and visitors.

Special Assistant of Medical Affairs for the District of Columbia's Commission on Public Health and Human Services, Dr. Beverly Coleman-Miller, served as the keynote speaker at the awards luncheon.

Honorary "manager" of the Maryland Safety Belt Team, Brooks Robinson, joined representatives from the coalition of sponsoring agencies in presenting the hospitals with trophies and plaques from the Maryland Committee For Safety Belt Use, and certificates of appreciation from the Governor's Office. Sponsoring agencies for the "Campaign" include the MD Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders, MD Chiefs of Police Association, MD Child Passenger Safety Association, MD Committee for Safety Belt Use, MD Department of Transportation, MD

Local Historical Society Announces New Publication

With the mailing of the October and November issues, the Garrett County Historical Society launched its new publication, "Seedlings." Designed to promote junior memberships, "Seedlings" contains historical information about Garrett County, aimed at the interest of grade school students.

"Our first mailing went out to the general membership of the society so they could see what we were doing," said Mrs. Martha Kahl, corresponding secretary of the society. "Now members are buying junior memberships for their grandchildren as Christmas gifts," she added.

John Grant, editor of both the society's "Glades Star" and "Seedlings" gave some background details of the new publication, stating "Last spring the board of directors was discussing the future membership of the Historical Society, and the idea of junior members was presented. It was part of a program which would promote interest in Garrett County history among grade school students. Publication of 'Seedlings' was suggested as a means of giving some detailed historical information to the younger citizens of the county."

In June, the idea of junior members was presented to the Historical Society at their annual banquet and business meeting.

"The members voted to charge $2.50 for a junior "SEEDLINGS" CATERING TO THE YOUNG COUNTY CITIZEN, and the young man above certainly seems to be interested in the contents of the booklet, now in its third month of publication by the Garrett County Historical Society. According to Editor John Grant, the publication grew out of the idea of junior membership in the society. Grant also edits the "Glades Star" publication, and noted that "Seedlings" affords the historical society a chance to provide the same time of historical information to the younger generation. Junior memberships may be purchased by contacting Martha Kahl, Rt. 4, Box 89, Deer Park, Md., 21550.

membership," said Grant. "That amount would cover some of the publication costs for the 10 issues of 'Seedlings' to be mailed out during the year," he said. Asked about the contents of future issues of "Seedlings," Grant responded, "The Historical Society will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 1991. Over the years we've gathered a lot of historical information about Garrett County. 'Seedlings' will give us a method to share it with the younger members," added Grant.

Persons interested in purchasing junior memberships are asked to contact Mrs. Martha Kahl, Rt. 4, Box 89, Deer Park, Md. 21550.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Clarification

In an Armed Services Review in last week's issue of The Republican, the name of Tamara Jo (Fike) Virts, Kitzmiller, wife of U.S. Army Specialist Richard Virts, was not included in the information sent from the U.S. Army.

Spec. Virts was recently deployed to the Middle East as part of Operation Desert Shield.

Specialist Ralph E. Murphy, a Garrett County resident, has recently received the U.S. Army Achievement Medal for meritorious service while assigned as an aircraft fire control repairman for the Aviation Division, Felker Army Airfield, Fort Eustis, Va., from March 1989 to October 1990.

The certificate stated, "Specialist Murphy's can do attitude, coupled with his immense technical knowledge, made him a valuable asset to the Aviation Division. His technical expertise was evident during his day-to-day assignments and allowed his section to maintain high operational readiness on the AH-1 and AH-64 aircraft."

The certificate continued, "Specialist Murphy's devotion to duty is in keeping with the highest traditions of military service and brings distinct credit upon himself, the transportation corps and the United States Army."

Pfc. Neil Savage was deployed to Saudi Arabia this week.

Savage is with the 82nd Combat Engr. BN. His duties include handling explosives, demolition, land mines, and he is a M-60 machine gunner on a personal carrier.

He has served three years with Company C Engr. BN, Oakland, Md. and has been in Bamberg, Germany, for one Savage is the son of John and Cathy Savage, Oakland. His address is Pfc. Neil Savage, 219-84-3734, A Co. 82nd Engr. BN, Operation Desert Shield, APO 09689.

Army 2nd Lt. Kriss E. Hinebaugh has deployed to the Middle East with American military forces participating in Operation Desert Shield.

Operation Desert Shield is the largest deployment of U.S. military forces since Vietnam. The operation is in response to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and threat to Saudi Arabia.

"It is the presence of dedicated military people like Lt. Hinebaugh that brings America's principles to life and gives them strength and meaning," President George Bush said.

Hinebaugh is the son of Ed and Janet Hinebaugh of Rural Route 1, Oakland.

New Farm Bill Contains Bolder Conservation Section

As farmers sift through the 1990 farm bill, they will see stronger environmental language as one of the major differences between it and farm bills of the past.

The input of environmental and food quality groups impacted farm legislation more than ever, as farm groups, consumers and members of Congress listened, reacted and responded. Ag economists believe non-farmer interest in farm policy will increase, not decrease, making future farm bills even tougher to agree on.

New conservation/environmental areas include establishment of an organic food standard, a forestry title and an environmental quality office within the Department of Agriculture.

Funding increases were authorized for low-input sustainable agriculture, global warming and forestry projects.

The portion that will affect producers throughout the country is the bill's pesticide record-keeping provision. "It imposes an environmental standard on everybody, whether they participate in farm programs or not," said American Farm Bureau Federation conservation staffer Hyde Murray.

The law requires licensed applicators of restricted-use pesticides to keep records of use for two years. The on-site records must contain information comparable to that maintained by commercial applicators in the state. If a producer's state has no requirements, the records must include at least the product name, amount and date of application. Fines levied if records not maintained

This throws "a regulatory net" onto the farm not seen before, according to Murray. He explained that the 1985 farm bill coupled farm conservation activity with price supports, with the loss of benefits being the consequence of non-compliance. "Now it's taken one step further: it's a sanction whether you participate in the program or not," Murray said.

Under the statute, the USDA secretary will be responsible for assessing penalties for record-keeping violations. First offenders will be fined no more than $500, and second and subsequent offenders can be assessed a maximum $1,000 at the secretary's discretion. The law does not pre-empt state penalties.

Direct access to records will only be through the USDA of the state pesticide agency, said Murray, with the information available to agencies that deal with pesticides, health or the environment. AFBF stressed during all the record-keeping discussions that the identity of individual applicators be protected, and that stayed in the final agreement.

Some early versions of the language had no provision for reasonable search or examination of the records. "Theoretically," Murray said, citing an example, "a government agency could call up a farmer at midnight and say, 'I'll be over there in five minutes, let me see your records on pesticides.' There was nothing about reasonable times or reasonable opportunities to prepare them."

Farm Bureau took the lead in lessening the impact of the provisions sought by the environmental lobby. "It was the intent of Farm Bureau and other like-minded farm organizations to try to make it apply in a way that would be sensible and fair to producers," said Murray.

AFBF pesticide specialist Mark Maslyn pointed out the record-keeping requirements do not take effect right away. The USDA and Environmental Protection Agency will jointly draft regulations on their respective areas within 180 days after the bill is signed by President Bush.

After approval, a public comment period follows; hence, Maslyn felt it will be well into next year's growing season before the regulations could be considered. "If that's the case, the department would have to decide whether to have them take effect at that time or delay them until the 1992 growing season."

Conservation: CRP limits raised
The 1985 farm law began a fairly ambitious conservation program that removes marginal and erodible land from crop production. With the program in place, about 30 million acres have been affected. Enter the 1990 farm bill, with an expanded program under a new name: Agricultural Resources Conservation Program.

Folded under the ARC are the existing Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and a new Wetlands Reserve Program. The minimum number of enrolled acres in the CRP is 40 million acres, with a maximum set at 45 million acres, for land set aside under 10-year contracts.

The criteria for CRP-eligible land, broader than the 1985 farm bill, includes erodible croplands, marginal pasture land converted to wetlands of trees, cropland with potential groundwater problems and cropland used as filter strips, grass waterways, windbreaks or as wildlife habitat.

The wetlands reserve program has been established to voluntarily enroll up to one million acres (200,000 acres annually) of farm wetlands, converted cropland and adjacent wetlands through the purchase of easements.

Also part of the conservation title are the establishment of a program protecting 25 million acres of private forestland, an incentive program to help farmers prevent contamination of ground and surface water on 10 million acres and creation of a rural development administration within USDA to aid communities in economic recovery from the loss of farms.

Except for the required pesticide record-keeping law, the farmer and rancher still can determine how conservation will affect the operation. "Fortunately," said Murray, "the environmental thrust of the bill is, for the most part, cast in a voluntary mode."

"That ultimate management decision still rests with the farmer/landowner and the free exercise of his or her property rights. It's up to the owners to decide whether they want to participate and if so, to what extent."

Yeutter Names New SCS Chief

Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter has named William J. Richards, an Ohio farmer well known for his pioneering work in soil conservation tillage, as chief of the Soil Conservation Service.

In making the announcement, Yeutter said: "Bill has demonstrated leadership and a life-long commitment to soil conservation which makes him an ideal choice to manage this very important agency."

In his capacity, Richards will oversee the day-to-day operation of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), which employs nearly 14,000 people and has offices in all 50 states. The SCS works directly with farmers to help them implement soil conservation techniques, as well as to enhance and preserve the environment and water quality. The SCS also participates in river basin and watershed planning, and is the lead federal agency for soil surveys.

William J. Richards received his bachelor's degree in Agriculture Economics from Ohio State University, and attended the Harvard Business School's Agri-Business Executive Education Program in 1974, 1975, 1976, and 1979. He was named one of the nation's outstanding young farmers in 1967 by the U.S. Jaycees, and is a member of numerous national farm organizations and associations, including the Ohio Farm Bureau, the Ohio and American Soybean Associations, and the National Corn Growers Association.

Richards has a lifelong relationship with Ohio State University's College of Agriculture, serving on numerous planning and review committees as a visiting professor. In 1980, Ohio State University awarded him its Distinguished Service Award.

Richards also is a highly regarded speaker on the topics of conservation tillage practices, "no-till" farming, soil compaction and controlled traffic, and farm management, and has been a guest speaker at the USDA's Outlook Conference in Washington, D.C.

He has travelled extensively studying agriculture and soil conservation techniques, visiting farms and agricultural leaders in most of the 50 states, in addition to England, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, and South America.

Richards presides over a family farm operation in Circleville, Ohio, which he shares with his wife and sons. All three of his sons have completed agricultural courses at land grant universities and have assumed management responsibilities in the family farming operation.

The Richards' farm operation began in 1954 with acquisition of 140 acres of neglected river-bottom land. While farming this land, Richards pioneered the use of minimum tillage and other farm innovations. He was one of the first farmers in the country to practice what we now call conservation tillage on his entire acreage. Constant improving of land has been a characteristic of his operation.

Maryland 4-H Team Third In Cattle Judging

Maryland's 4-H team placed third — close on the heels of Wisconsin and Pennsylvania 4-H teams — in 4-H and FFA dairy cattle judging competition held November 4, during the North American International Livestock Exposition at Louisville, Ky.

The Maryland group was first among 21 state teams in Brown Swiss breed judging, third in Ayrshires, fourth in both Guernsey and Holstein judging, seventh in reasons, and eighth in Jersey breed judging.

Lenny Pieper, 18, of Blackhorse (Harford County) led the Maryland team by placing second overall among 84 contestants. He also was second in both Brown Swiss and Jersey judging, sixth in Ayrshires, and 14th in Holsteins.

Christopher Savage, 15, of Burkittsville (Frederick County) was fourth in the overall standings. He placed first in both Ayrshires and Holstein breed judging, third in Brown Swiss, and ninth in oral reasons. Two young women from Howard County were also members of the Maryland 4-H team.

Tanya Lager, 16, of Fulton, placed tenth in Brown Swiss breed judging, while Shannon Harrison, 15, of Morgan, was 15th in Guernsey judging. Both finished in the top half among 84 contestants.

Coaching Maryland 4-H dairy cattle judging teams for the ninth consecutive year is Dr. J. Lee Majeskie, of Calverton (Prince George's County), a dairy herd management specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service.

Summary Of Farm Bill Shows Modifications, Offers Flexibility

The following is a summary of some section titles of the 1990 farm bill, with information provided by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Paragraphs printed in bold type denote those agricultural provisions required by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990, Congress's deficit reduction package. These provisions were not included in the farm bill itself, but were enacted with OMBRA passage.

In reference to the legislation, AFBF President Dean Kleckner stated: "The 1990 farm bill will continue in the direction of agricultural market orientation and give farmers greater planting flexibility, even though the farm program budget cuts are disproportionate and we accept them with great reluctance."

DAIRY

Sets milk price supports at no less than $10.10 per cwt. for milk containing 3.67 percent of milk fat on a total solids basis. Provides for price support increases if purchases do not exceed 3.5 billion pounds and decreases if purchases exceed 5 billion pounds.

USDA secretary is directed to develop a standby inventory management program by August 1, 1991, to keep purchases at or below 6 billion pounds; not to include termination, buyout or support price reduction below $10.10. If Congress does not enact, USDA may impose assessments to cover all costs incurred for dairy product purchases in excess of 7 billion pounds.

Federal milk marketing order hearings must be concluded and any systemwide changes be effective by January 1, 1992.

Dairy marketing assessment: The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (OMBRA) requires that a program service fee be collected from producers for deficit reduction purposes. The fee is set at 5 cents per cwt. during 1991 and 11.25 cents per cwt. between 1992 and 1995. The fee will be deducted from producers' milk checks; a refund is provided with evidence that producers' marketings did not increase from the previous year.

TRIPLE BASE

Triple base: Applies to wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice. Under the triple base provision of OMBRA, producers will not receive deficiency payments on 15 percent of their program base acreage for each crop, in addition to any required set-aside. In return producers may plant any crop except fruits and vegetables on that 15 percent of each crop base. Crop planted on triple base is not eligible for deficiency payments but is eligible for commodity loans. Year-round haying and grazing are allowed.

Under the optional flexibility plan, producers will be allowed to "flex" an additional 10 percent of their crop base for the 1991-1995 crop years. No deficiency payments are paid on this acreage and limits may be applied on planting soybeans. Program crops on this acreage also are eligible for non-recourse loan and marketing loan protection.

WHEAT

Basic loan rate formula is 85 percent of five-year average market price, excluding high and low years. This is up from the current authority to set loan rates at 75-85 percent. Loan rate may not be reduced by more than 5 percent from preceding year. If stocks-to-use for marketing year is expected to be equal to or greater than 30 percent, USDA secretary may reduce loan rate by up to 10 percent. If stocks-to-use is projected at less than 30 percent but greater than 15 percent, loan rate may be reduced by up to 5 percent. If stocks-to-use is projected at less than 15 percent, no adjustment is allowed.

USDA secretary may reduce loan rate by up to 10 percent beyond the stocks-to-use adjustment if it is determined that without adjustment, the loan rate will prevent wheat from maintaining competitive position.

Loan rate will not be set at less than $2.44 per bu. under basic loan rate formula or stocks-to-use adjustment unless that level exceeds 80 percent of the five-year average market price.

USDA secretary has marketing loan authority, with repayment at the higher of the loan level or prevailing world market price limited to no less than 70 percent of basic loan.

Deficiency payments will be calculated based upon a $4 target price. Payment will be difference between target price and the higher of national weighted average market price during the first five months of marketing year, or basic loan level.

For 1991 winter wheat crop only, producers have the option to participate in the 15 percent triple base program or have deficiency payments calculated on a 12-month average price basis.

FEED GRAINS

Loan rate formula for corn is same as for wheat. Stocks-to-use adjustment to loan rate is as follows: 10 percent adjustment if stocks-to-use is equal to or greater than 25 percent; five percent if ratio is 12.5 percent to 25 percent; and zero if stocks-to-use is less than 12.5 percent.

Loan rate may be adjusted by up to 10 percent if necessary to maintain competitiveness; minimum loan rate for corn will not be less than $1.76 per bu., unless such rate would exceed 80 percent of the five-year market average price.

Loans for other feed grains (grain sorghum, barley, oats and rye) are provided at level determined by USDA secretary to be fair and equitable in relation to corn.

Marketing loan authority and loan deficiency payments: same as for wheat.

Target prices for feed grains set at no less than $2.75 per bu. for corn, $1.45 for oats and $2.61 for sorghum. Barley target price will be no less than $5.8 percent of corn target price.

Oat acreage limitation requirement will be zero for 1991-95 crop years.

Producers will be permitted to devote additional acreage to conservation uses subject to 0/92 program in which deficiency payments will be made on 92 percent of the additional acreage devoted to conserving uses. Applies to wheat and feed grains.

OILSEEDS

Minimum loan rate for soybeans will be $5.02 per bu.; minimum loan rate for sunflower, canola, rapeseed, safflower, mustard seed and flaxseed will be 8.9 cents/lb.

USDA secretary has authority to set repayment rate that minimizes loan forfeitures and government cost. Loan deficiency payments will be available to producers who forgo obtaining loans.

OMBRA requires a loan origination fee of 2 percent of loan level on oilseed loans.

HONEY

Price supports are set at 53.8 cents/lb. Marketing loans may be repaid at loan level or at levels set by USDA secretary.

OMBRA requires that honey marketing assessments be charged on 1991-95 crops; amount is equal to 1 percent of national price support level.

WOOL AND MOHAIR

Existing price support program is extended; includes a per person payment limitation of $200,000 in 1991 which ratchets down to $125,000 in 1994.

OMBRA requires a 1 percent assessment to be deducted from payments made in 1991-95 marketing years.

PAYMENT LIMITS

Establishes $75,000 per person limit on gains from marketing loans, loan deficiency payments and Findley payments. A recognized person and spouse are considered one person unless spouse was engaged in separate farming operation before marriage and maintains operation separately.

FARMER-OWNED RESERVE

Entry into reserve may occur only after expiration of nine-month price support loan. Extended loan may not be less than the current level of support. USDA must allow grain loan entry into FOR when previous 90-day average price falls below 120 percent of loan rate and stocks-to-use ratio is at least 22.5 percent for corn or 37.5 percent for wheat. Maximum FOR levels are 300-450 million bushels of wheat and 600-900 million bushels of feed grains.

GRAIN QUALITY

Strengthens grain quality standards, and requires testing for aflatoxin contamination of corn shipped overseas.

RESEARCH AND PROMOTION PROGRAMS

New producer-funded research and promotion programs are authorized for oilseeds, pecans, mushrooms and limes. Changes are made in operation of current cotton and potato research programs.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Rural development activities are consolidated in a new Rural Development Administration within USDA. Two pilot programs are authorized in up to five states. Under the first one, 16-member statewide planning panels may be established. Panels are to review applications, set priorities and rank applications for FmHA funding through business and industry program, water and sewer program and community facility program. Under the second one, a rural development revolving fund is established. Rural water/waste services are provided with additional funding and technical assistance.

ACREAGE REDUCTION PROGRAMS

Levels set at maximum 20 percent for wheat and feed grains, 25 percent for cotton, 35 percent for rice. For 1991, wheat ARP will be 15 percent, feed grains a minimum 7.5 percent. Oats ARP zero for life of bill; secretary may allow oats on set-aside land if production projected below domestic use.

ARP for 1992-95 crops set according to specific stocks-to-use ratios.

OMBRA establishes minimum ARPs which will not apply if 1991 ending soybean stocks are less than 325 million bushels or carryover stocks are less than prescribed percentages.

CROP INSURANCE

Changes in federal crop insurance program include a requirement that the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. work toward reducing disparity between risk and premium in an attempt to improve actuarial soundness of the program. Information dissemination will be through county ASCS offices. Use of ASCS yield data and dollar-denominated coverage is authorized. A comprehensive disaster program for 1990 crops is also authorized.

ADVANCE DEFICIENCY PAYMENTS

Made as soon as possible after program sign-up, with payments made available from secretary to producers if determined it is likely to be earned. Producers to receive advance payment of 40-50 percent of projected deficiency payment for wheat, feed grains and up to 30-50 percent of cotton, rice deficiency payment. Half (50 percent) of producer's advance can be received in generic certificates, at producer's option.

TRADE

Major changes in Food for Peace (P.L. 480) program to streamline food aid delivery to countries and develop markets for U.S. farm products. USDA gets top priority over concessional sales (Title I). Agency for International Development controls inventory property, reducing time from three years to one year to grant food aid (Titles II, III). Export Enhancement Program is reauthorized at annual minimum $450 million; Market Promotion Program (old Targeted Export Assistance) set at $175 million a year. Commodity Credit Corp. will guarantee only U.S. farm commodities under GSM-102 ($5 billion per year) and GSM-103 ($500 million) programs. Accountability and oversight strengthened in trade programs to help prevent inconsistencies, abuse and/or fraud.

FARM CREDIT

Farmers Home Administration: speeds disposal of FmHA offer inventory to FmHA eligible farmers. Increases interest rate subsidy on certain guaranteed loans to 4 percent; also directs a gradual shift from direct to guaranteed loan funds for deficit reduction reasons; FmHA debt forgiveness limited to a single write-down for loans made after January 6, 1988, with lifetime $300,000 cap in principal and interest on borrowers.

Farm Credit System: can now lend to marketers and processors who use any portion of their on-farm production in processing/marketing, but this authority is limited to 15 percent of FCS institution's portfolio. Authorizes FCS to examine condition of Farmer Mac, opens secondary market for FmHA guaranteed loans by allowing Farmer Mac to pool them.

CONSERVATION/ENVIRONMENT

For first time, requires recordkeeping of restricted pesticides by certified applicators including farmers. Records of use must be maintained for two years and made available to federal and state agencies upon request. Producer's individual records are to be kept in confidence.

Tougher sodbuster and swampbuster penalties, expanding list of lost program benefits if farmer violates conservation compliance plans or farms without approved plan. For inadvertent violations, with no more than one per five-year period, graduated sanctions (from $500 to $5,000) established for sodbuster. Swampbuster penalties range from $750 to $10,000 and time period is 10 years.

Continues criteria for defining a wetland: predominance of hydric soil, saturated at frequency to support wetland vegetation and under normal circumstances supports wetland vegetation. Has USDA certifying wetlands maps and conducting on-site reviews before setting penalties in wetlands appeals cases.

The newly created Agricultural Resources Conservation program, which consolidates programs that protect highly erodible lands, wetlands and improve water quality, includes:

The Conservation Reserve Program continues and is set between 40-45 million acres. CRP-eligible lands are environmentally sensitive lands, marginal pastures planted to trees and land important to maintaining water quality and wildlife habitats.

New is the voluntary Wetlands Reserve Program, with one million acres of wetlands set in multiyear easements as goal. Also new is a water quality incentive program offering cost-share assistance to producers with approved plans.

ORGANIC CERTIFICATION

Officially named the Organic Food Production Act of 1990, this is a new title. Sets national definition for "organic" and standards for organic products to bring uniformity to the marketplace. Even though some states may set stricter standards, this title requires that in order to be labeled organic, products must at least meet the national standard.

FORESTRY

A forestry title is in a farm bill for the first time. The measure expands USDA authority for cost-share assistance to states and establishes programs to protect and improve forestlands. It also creates the America the Beautiful Foundation to promote tree planting and encourages urban forestry activities.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

USDA secretary is directed to do a comprehensive study of the fruit and vegetable industry and recommend additional program and assistance to the industry.

Study is to review labor supply, crop insurance, production and marketing developments, existing safe chemicals for production, labeling requirements and a federal education program on dietary importance of fruits and vegetables.

Authorizes two-year pilot program for labeling perishable commodities as to country of origin.

RESEARCH

Includes definition of sustainable agriculture. Creates within USA a joint council on food and agricultural sciences to further research, Extension Service and teaching in the food and agricultural sciences.

Provides for expanded research in aquaculture and analysis of existing aquaculture laws. Authorizes further research in the production and marketing of alcohol and industrial hydrocarbons from agricultural commodities and forestry products.

Christmas WONDERS '90

A Complete, Informative Shoppers' Guide - From Merchants' Ideas To Wrapped-Up Savings!

What The Gifts You Give Say About You

While it's true that gifts can provide insight into the personality and interests of the recipient, they also say something about the giver.

"We can learn a lot about an individual's personality from the types of gifts he or she gives," says Dr. Billie H. Frazier, a human development specialist with the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and an authority on the psychological significance of gifts.

"Just as we send out signals with the clothes we wear, we also send out signals with the gifts we make or purchase."

Consider for example, the lavish givers who give extravagant gifts well beyond their budget and inappropriate for the relationship between them and the recipients. Typically, says Frazier, givers prone to this kind of extravagance are seeking to buy approval or affection. Unconsciously, they may be trying to compensate for deeply rooted feelings of inadequacy and lack of self-esteem.

At the opposite end of the gift-giving spectrum are the "hesitant" gift givers, those most likely to skimp on cost or creativity. Self-absorbed and preoccupied, these individuals grudgingly give gifts that require little of their time, creativity or finances.

"Giving gifts isn't fun for these people," says Frazier. "It's another task — something they have to do. Frequently, they get the first thing they see."

People who put off buying Christmas gifts until the last minute or those who buy the same gifts for everyone probably fall into the hesitant gift-giver category.

Other types of gift givers identified by Frazier and other experts are:

•Strings-attached givers: They use gifts to manipulate or as bribes for favors, or to get something tangible in return.

•Blundering givers: Their gifts inevitably disappoint or embarrass. With or without realizing it, they may be using gifts to punish, not please.

•Recordkeepers: They give only when they receive gifts themselves, selecting either the same gift or one of equal value. Recordkeepers often are incapable of spontaneity or real generosity.

•Impromptu givers: They give spontaneously, sometimes for no reason. Such people genuinely like to please and love to be surprised as much as they love to surprise others.

•Foot-in-the-door Givers: They use gifts to initiate or continue a relationship, which may not be possible without this special touch.

•Appropriate givers: They really like giving to others and try to select something the other person will truly enjoy.

These categories are not mutually exclusive, Frazier emphasizes. Most people fit into several of them, depending on the situation and recipient involved. For example, you may be an extravagant giver with some people, a hesitant giver with others, and an appropriate giver with still others.

To increase the proportion of appropriate gifts you give, Frazier advises thinking carefully about the like and dislikes of those on your gift list.

"Too often we buy what we would like, rather than what the other person would enjoy," she says. "Try to choose a gift with the intended receiver's preferences in mind — one that says 'you are special to me.'"

Tips On Keeping Holiday Spending Under Control

Higher oil prices, government budget deficits, and the spectre of a recession have many Americans tightening their purse strings and looking for ways to avoid the financial excesses of the holiday season.

Fortunately, it is possible to keep spending under control this time of year, according to Dr. Mary Stephenson, a family resource management specialist with Maryland Cooperative Extension Service (MCES).

"You just have to plan your expenditures wisely," she explains. Among her recommendations for avoiding the holiday money crunch:

1. Before shopping, determine how much money you can afford to spend on such holidays as Hanukkah or Christmas, and be realistic about it.

2. Prepare a "shopping list" of expenses, including such "hidden" holiday expenses as travel, paper and ribbons, cards and postage, and entertainment costs. Estimate what you can spend for each category and record your actual expenses afterward.

3. Pay cash. Charging can lead to overspending. Then, when the bills arrive in January, many people find they can't pay them off.

4. Use catalogs. Time is money in today's hectic world; even if you don't order anything, catalogs can save you time by providing good gift ideas.

5. Make cards and gifts. Homemade bread, cookies, relishes and jams, a hand-crocheted afghan, or a child's finger painting represent a labor of love and are valued accordingly.

6. Give gifts of service. Coupons that the recipient can return to the given in exchange for a service — such as grass mowing, house painting, grocery shopping or dinner preparation — are sure to be appreciated by elderly friends or relatives and dual-income parents.

7. Comparison shop. This involves planning ahead and taking time to check several places for the gift you want. It's especially important with toys because prices vary considerably from store to store.

8. Shop at bazaars, flea markets and holiday fairs; they can be sources of unexpected treasures, such as classic books, vintage jewelry and quality handmade items.

9. Choose lightweight gifts for mailing. It's just as easy to find a nice gift that weighs several ounces as one that weighs several pounds, and a lighter gift costs less to send.

Once the holidays are over, start planning financially for next year's holiday season. Learn from your experience. If you keep good track of your expenses, you will have a guide for next year.

You may wish to start putting money aside each week or month, so you'll have what you need next year. If you're not disciplined enough to save on your own, you may wish to join a Christmas club through a bank or employee credit union.

"Christmas clubs usually don't offer very good interest rates," says Stephenson, "but they force people to save money for a specific purpose. They also are a helpful savings mechanism for individuals who can't deposit enough to qualify for other types of savings accounts."

Another way to avoid an avalanche of bills after the holidays is to buy presents throughout the year. Whenever you see something that someone on your gift list would like, purchase it for the next holiday season.

And don't forget to take advantage of half-price sales on wrapping paper, ribbons and cards.

"Some retailers cut their prices as early as the week before Christmas," Stephenson notes, "so while other people are scrambling for last-minute gifts, you can get a budget-conscious start on next year."

Storage Tips For Food Gifts

As the holiday season approaches, food catalogs start showing up in mailboxes across America. Everything from smoked salmon and duck pate to chocolate truffles and hazelnut torte are advertised as the perfect Christmas or Hanukkah gift. But are they safe?

"Food items are popular holiday gifts," says Dr. Mark A. Kantor, a food nutrition specialist with the University of Maryland System Cooperative Extension Service. "And, stored properly, they should present no food safety problems."

Some food gifts, for example, must be refrigerated, and bear a label to that effect.

"If a product is labeled 'keep refrigerated,' that's a warning that not all the bacteria have been inhibited or destroyed," Kantor explains. "Refrigeration is necessary to keep the food safe to eat."

Contrary to popular belief, smoking of meats such as turkey and hams doesn't eliminate the need for refrigeration. These items are smoked for flavor, not preservation.

Country hams are a different story. With their high salt content and dryness, they are safe at room temperature because bacteria can't grow on them.

Other gift foods — canned meats, vacuum-packed steaks, sausage and cheese assortments, for example — may or may not need refrigeration depending on how they are processed.

"Some canned meat products are heated to 250 F, just like vegetables and other canned goods," says Robert A. Savage, a food technologist with the Processed Products division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). "This effectively sterilizes them so they are shelf-stable. But some canned hams receive only a mild heat treatment after canning and therefore are not commercially sterile. These hams must be refrigerated (before and after the can is opened)."

Vacuum packaging, while inhibiting the growth of spoilage bacteria, encourages other organisms like Clostridium botulinum that thrive on low-oxygen conditions. (Clostridium botulinum produces a toxin that can cause botulism, a sometimes fatal form of food poisoning.)

"Vacuum-packed steaks are as perishable as raw chicken and should be treated in the same way," says Savage.

Some sausages and cheeses in gift assortments don't need refrigeration. They are shelf-stable due to brining, drying and, sometimes, preservatives.

To help consumers store meat and dairy gifts safely, USDA has prepared the following chart.

Food Gifts: How to Store Them, How Long They'll Last.

Cans or Jars of Meat — Refrigerate if so labeled; otherwise, shelf-stable 2-5 years. After opening, store in refrigerator up to a week.

Cheese, Processed or Hard — Safe at room temperature, but refrigeration prolongs quality. (Soft cheeses, such as brie, must be refrigerated at all times.)

"Cook-Before-Eating" Ham — Refrigerate up to 1 week. After cooking, refrigerate up to 5 days.

Country Ham — Shelf-stable 1 year if unsliced. Refrigerate 2 to 3 months if sliced. Once cooked, refrigerate 5-7 days.

Game Birds — Keep refrigerated up to 2 days raw or 4 days after cooking.

Sausage Labeled "Keep Refrigerated" — Store refrigerated up to 1 week.

Sausage, Hard/Dry — If unopened, can be kept in the cabinet 4-6 weeks, in the refrigerator 6 months. After opening, store up to 3 weeks in the refrigerator.

FREEZER NOTE — Frozen food stays safe indefinitely but may lose quality and flavor. WARNING: Don't freeze canned food. Expanding contents may burst can seams, causing leakage and rusting.

Candy, fruitcakes, plum puddings and other confections seldom pose health problems.

"These products contain sugar, rum, spices and other 'preserving' elements that have been used since the Middle Ages," says Kantor. "They can be shipped and stored at room temperature. About the only thing you need to be concerned with is damage or breakage of the package, especially if it is glass or ceramic."

The one possible health hazard in the dessert category is cheesecake. Because it includes fresh cream cheese, it must be kept cold to avoid spoilage. For this reason, vendors are advised to ship cheese-cake frozen solid. Consumers should then refrigerate the cheesecake upon receipt.

If you have questions regarding the safety of food gifts, contact a home economics agent at your local Cooperative Extension Service office. Phone numbers are included in county (and Baltimore city) listings in the blue pages of the telephone directory.

Another source of information is USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline, which operates weekdays 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST. Call 1-800-535-4555 (Washington, D.C., area residents should call 202-447-3333).

Jewelry Termed "The Perfect Gift"

"Ready, or not, the holidays are here, along with the search for the perfect gift for everyone on your list," says Steffan Aletti, President of the New York-based Jewelry Industry Council. "Here's a fact to keep in mind when gift-hunting: everyone loves jewelry," he says. "Romantics see love and permanence in the beauty of sculpted precious metal and gemstones; practical people see that jewelry retains its value, unlike so many consumer products. Jewelry also comes in a tremendous range of prices, so cautious spenders will find an ideal jewelry gift to fit the most modest budget."

Many people — men in particular — find holiday shopping, especially last-minute shopping — an ordeal. "Crowds, price-off sales, holiday confusion, hoopla and hype" says Aletti, "can combine to grind down the heartiest holiday spirit to a bah humbug attitude."

For that reason, Aletti says jewelry is the ideal gift for everyone — family, lovers, friends and business. "There's such a wide variety of jewelry available in all price ranges, that you can surely find the right piece at the right price. There's formal jewelry, informal jewelry, sports jewelry, emblematic jewelry, etc., so if you know people well enough to know their lifestyles, interests, color preferences, finding an appropriate jewelry present is easy. There's also no better way to remind relatives and other loved ones of what they mean to us, to show co-workers and business peers our esteem, and to demonstrate friendship. Jewelry is the gift that outlasts the season.

"Another way to make shopping easy on yourself is to decide what you want to spend on that special present, then ask to see a selection of jewelry in that price range. Jewelers and jewelry departments make it easy to see jewelry by price — say, under $50 or over $250. This saves the time and effort of bucking holiday crowds from counter to counter, searching for the elusive perfect gift. It also guarantees a purchase that is beautiful, precious, retains its value, and will be treasured long after most gifts are memories."

Jewelry for Women

Jewelry is the ultimate fashion accessory. As apparel costs escalate and the dictates of "name" designers become more diffused and contradictory, women see jewelry as the ideal way to accessorize and change looks without spending a fortune.

Color is "in," thanks to the fashion world's vague, non-colors. Jewelry offers a dazzling array of color — not only the metallic colors of gold — which comes in many shades: white, pink, green and yellows — silver and copper; but through a veritable rainbow of colored gemstones, which can be expensive, but in the case of genuine gemstones such as blue topaz, can also be surprisingly affordable. The perfect color at the right price is out there!

Hot jewelry right now includes bangle bracelets; pins and rings — with or without diamonds or colored stones — chains and, of course, earrings — preferably long and dangly.

Jewelry for Men

Executive dressing today requires the subtle accents of precious metals and gemstones. Nothing gaudy. The strong man understates clothing and accessories. Consider a delicate wrist chain or ID bracelet, or a plain link necklace; an emblematic (fraternal, college, coat-of-arms, etc.) ring or lapel pin; a tie tac, bar or clip; and, with the triumphant return of French cuffs, cufflinks have become a must, as well as collar bars or clips.

Plain gold or silver is the ultimate understatement, but precious stone accents are welcome — and remember, today men wear diamonds.

Jewelry for the Kids

The young see jewelry as status symbols and fashion statements, so dazzling high-fashion, gold plated or gold filled jewelry and fun watches make ideal gifts for little expense. There are also many lightweight pieces in silver and karat golds, with or without small diamonds and colored stones, to delight young people. Popular right now are lightweight chains, often with pendants such as a puffed or gem-set heart, bangles, wrist chains, and, of course, pins, which both boys and girls wear in bunches up and down lapels and sleeves. Earrings — again, long and dangly — are a must, and the again popular charm bracelet is a great gift that provides the opportunity for dozens of follow-up gifts over the years.

And Don't Forget: Watches!

A watch? You can't own just one.

There's a watch for every outfit, mood and situation, and many own a variety of time-pieces, from plastic "fun" and fashion watches, through "high-tech" electronic multiple-function watches. (which men love), all the way to expensive platinum or karat gold watches.

And, for men who want a conservative but sharp look, a pocket watch and chain makes a perfect decoration for that dark expanse of vest.

store or department carries a variety of jewelry and office accessories that make ideal holiday gifts. For the desk, consider sterling or gold filled picture frames, paperweights, letter openers and pen/pencil sets — for a more personal gift, consider one of the many "power pens" available in the wake of the renewed popularity of the fountain pen.

"Jewelry" concludes Aletti, "makes the most permanent gift. Jewelry lasts forever — which means the thought, the love, the respect behind that gift lasts forever as well. Jewelry gifts also never lose their value — precious metals and gems always retain value, and we've learned over the past decade how collectible antique costume jewelry has become. In fact," he concludes, "jewelry gifts are nothing less than heirlooms in the making."

Sheriff's Dept. Arrests Four On Drug Charges

Several men were arrested by deputies of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week on charges of illegal drug possession. Two of the defendants were also cited for driving under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol (DUI).

John L. Armstrong, 34, Mtn. Lake Park, was stopped for exceeding the speed limit on Rt. 26 in Hutton on Dec. 12. Dep. J. Murphy made the arrest, and upon inspection of Armstrong's vehicle, reportedly discovered a quantity of suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Also found in Armstrong's vehicle was illegal deer meat, according to the police report. The defendant was charged by the Department of Natural Resources for possession of the meat.

Murphy also tested Armstrong for sobriety, and subsequently charged him with DUI. Two rifles were found in the Armstrong's vehicle, and police reported that federal charges of a convicted felon in possession of fire arms are pending.

Armstrong was released from the Garrett County Jail after posting a bond of $2500.

Three young men were arrested on Sunday, Dec. 9, after Dep. Murphy stopped them on Old Crellin Road for a traffic violation. James B. Thomas, 19, Liverpool, N.Y., the driver of the vehicle, was charged with DUI.

Upon inspection of the vehicle, Murphy found possible drug paraphernalia and a marijuana residue in the possession of Thomas and the two passengers in the vehicle, who were Robert E. Locke, 20, and Robin L. Moyer Jr., 18, both of Oakland.

Locke, Moyer, and Thomas were all charged with possession of marijuana.

ATTACKING AN INFERNO — Three Oakland volunteer fire fighters prepare to attack a blaze that ultimately gutted most of a Pleasant Valley residence Saturday evening. The family of Dennis and Reneta Murphy and their four children lost nearly all of their possessions in the fire, which was apparently caused by an overheated or cracked flue. Also called to the scene were the Deer Park and Gorman VFDs, along with the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries. Some nine hours after this blaze, the home of James and Annette Livengood, located along U.S. Rt. 10 near Gorman, was also destroyed by fire. See story. Photo by Don Sincell.

Decision Of Oakland Sewer Auth. Sparks Cherry Glade Controversy

A recent decision of the Oakland Sewer Authority concerning the Cherry Glade service area has sparked some controversy between the authority and users in the service area.

Oakland's Mayor and Town Council served in their capacity as the Oakland Sewer Authority to make the decision, which came about during a Nov. 19 meeting.

A law suit brought against the Oakland Mayor and Town Council by the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., in January concerned the control and responsibility of the sewer system in the Cherry Glade area. Although the case ended in victory for the town, granting them control over the area, it also left the town with a $60,000 debt in legal fees. The recent decision of the sewer authority mandates that the $60,000 will be recouped by including the debt in the "capital costs" portion of the Cherry Glade users' bill.

This decision means that the approximate 100 users in that area will each be billed an additional $600 to cover the legal fees, which are owed to the law firm of Shapiro and Olander, of Baltimore. The motion to bill the users carried by a vote of four members to three.

According to the minutes, those in favor of the motion were Arthur Naylor, Mary Lou Stemple, Jay Moyer, and Clint Englander. Those opposed were Peggy Jamison, Asa McCain, and Dr. Andrew Mance.

When asked why only the Cherry Glade users were to be charged, Arthur Naylor, president of the sewer authority, explained that the group did not want to charge the entire Oakland area for the costs incurred by the town in the law suit, and because Cherry Glade was the area involved, only those users would be billed to recoup the $60,000.

Oakland, Deer Park, and Gorman fire fighters were summoned to the Murphy residence at 9:06 p.m. Saturday. Upon their arrival they found the center portion of the single-story trailer and wood-frame home fully involved in flames. They brought the blaze under control in about one-half hour and managed to save much of the structure, but most of the family's possessions were lost.

Tom and Marietta Baker and their three children were visiting the Murphys when the fire was discovered. Mrs. Baker said that they smelled smoke earlier in the evening, but at first thought it was coal smoke from the furnace. Two Garrett County Families Left Homeless By Weekend Fires

Two Garrett County families lost nearly all of their possessions this past weekend when fires, both believed to be caused by overheated or faulty flues and both occurring within about nine hours of each other, ripped through their homes Saturday evening and early Sunday.

Losing their home Saturday evening was the family of Dennis and Reneta Murphy and their four children, who resided along Bernard Road in Pleasant Valley. Early the following morning, the home of James and Annette Livengood and their young daughter, located along U.S. Rt. 10 about three miles west of Gorman, was gutted. All of the members of both families escaped with only the clothes on their backs, but none was reported injured.

Oakland, Deer Park, and Gorman fire fighters were summoned to the Murphy residence at 9:06 p.m. Saturday. Upon their arrival they found the center portion of the single-story trailer and wood-frame home fully involved in flames. Completion Of Crellin Sewer Project Noted Dorothy Leuba, chairperson of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, announced this week the completion of construction and final cost accounting of the Crellin Sewer Project, stating that the final grant reimbursement request has been forwarded to the Maryland Department of the Environment to close the construction portion of the project. She noted that this is another Sanitary District project that has been completed well within the budgeted grant amount, with the final project cost at $1,886,842.77. The Environmental Protection Agency and the state's approved budget for the project was $1,719,900. The sewer system was completed under the budget by $32,757.23," said Leuba.

The Sanitary District was able to receive total grant funding for this project, she continued, noting that this is only the second system known in the state to receive total funding for construction at no cost to the community. The other system is also a Sanitary District project in the county.

Commissioners Voice Objections To State Growth Limit Report

During the first day of business between newly elected Garrett County Commissioner Brenda S. Butcher and incumbents Elwood L. Groves II and John G. Braskley, it was announced this week that a letter has been sent to the chairman of the Governor's Commission on Growth, stating, "insufficient time has been allocated for input and response from the local level," in response to draft legislation issued recently limiting growth in Maryland.

The letter then stated, "We now find ourselves with less than 10 days with which to evaluate and comment on the most revolutionary changes to land use policies since their inception."

The letter cited the fact that many counties in the state are currently undergoing a transition period with newly elected county officials as one factor in the need for more evaluation time of the recommendations.

Another main objection to the plan was voiced by Commissioner Groves, who stated, "Many of the proposals are based on the assumption that all counties in Maryland have county-wide zoning, as well as various forms of subdivision ordinances. As a matter of fact, Garrett County does not have either of these mechanisms in place."

Groves then stated that the "crux of the recommendation calls for severe curtailment or reduction on growth — especially in the most sparsely populated county in the state, with the most rural areas and approximately 20 percent of our land mass owned by state or federal government."

The commissioners acknowledged that legitimate concerns have been addressed by the commission, but that "we believe the commission is going too far too quickly," said Groves.

Commissioner Braskley stated, "Basically, you're having the state, Big Brother, coming in here and telling you what you're going to do. If we're going to be forced into county-wide zoning, I think we should at least have local input."

Commissioner Butcher agreed, stating, "I think if we're going to have zoning, we need to do it by election districts and let those people tell us what kind of zoning they prefer."

A public hearing on the commission's recommendations is slated for Saturday, December 15, in Annapolis. The letter is being submitted as testimony.

Development To Take 16,741 Acres In County; Public Hearing Set

Maryland Office of Planning Director Ronald M. Kreitner recently released data which projects that Garrett County could lose up to 16,741 acres of farm and forest lands to development in the next 30 years under present land-use practices.

According to the data, Garrett County has 420,903 acres, of which 13,396 are presently developed. The Office of Planning projects an additional 8,516 acres of farmland and 8,225 acres of forest will be developed by the year 2020 unless the state and county change their growth management policies.

"Statewide, we anticipate a loss of more than 696,000 acres of farms and forests in the next 30 years. Since Maryland's formation in 1834, we've developed a total of nearly 1.1 million acres," Kreitner said.

"Clearly, state and local government must work together to stop the destruction of farms and forests and start concentrating our growth in suitable areas. Unmanaged growth wastes valuable land and damages the Chesapeake Bay," he added.

Maryland's growth in recent years has been characterized by sprawl development, an inefficient use of the land which forces governments to spend large amounts of money to build roads, sewers and schools to serve small numbers of citizens.

Sprawl development also damages the Chesapeake Bay because it removes from productivity farm and forest lands which serve as a buffer between the population and the bay. Runoff from construction sites, fertilized lawns, streets and sidewalks, and other forms of pollution from sprawl all end up in the bay.

Added to those problems are recent Office of Planning projections which show an additional one million people could be living in Maryland by 2020.

To address these and other issues, Governor William Donald Schaefer appointed in October, 1989 the 32-member Governor's Commission on Growth in the Chesapeake Bay Region. The commission, comprising businessmen, environmentalists, private citizens, state, local and municipal representatives and members of the Maryland General Assembly, is to prepare for the governor an agenda aimed at managing growth in the state up through the year 2020.

On November 27 the commission released a draft proposal outlining steps state and local governments could implement to better manage growth.

A public information hearing on the commission's draft proposal is set for December 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The hearing will be held in the Joint Legislative Hearing Room, Legislative Reference Building, 90 State Circle, Annapolis. Testimony at the hearing will be by appointment. Individuals wishing to testify must contact the commission at (301) 225-4562 by December 13.

The commission is also seeking written comments from the public. All comments about the draft proposal should be sent to the Governor's Commission on Growth in the Chesapeake Bay Region, Suite 1101, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Md. 21201.

Forestry Practices, Growth Limits Discussed At Community Meet

Forestry practices, growth limit recommendations and the increasing concern over the state budget deficit dominated a pre-legislative session community meeting hosted by District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards and newly elected District One Senator John Hafer on Saturday, December 8, at Garrett Community College.

Approximately 50 people attended the meeting for the purpose of voicing concerns or proposing legislation in regard to issues affecting the local region.

Forestry and timbering practices on publicly owned land in the county were, once again, at center stage as indicated by the sometimes lengthy and emotional discussions on the issue. Representatives from both the forestry/logging and environmental communities took part in those discussions which focused, in large part, on the regulations surrounding timber management and harvesting.

Grantsville resident Fred Bolton proposed to the legislators that the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) hold an annual public review/hearing on each and every timber cut scheduled to take place. This should be done, he said, in an effort to ensure that the public is kept informed of what is going on.

GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS SWORN IN — Newly elected Garrett County Commissioner Brenda Butcher, along with incumbents Elwood L. Groves II and John G. Braskley, were sworn in this week by newly elected Garrett County Clerk of the Circuit Court David K. Martin. Butcher was appointed by the board to serve as chairperson. The first day of business as a new group was conducted Tuesday. Butcher defeated incumbent Ernest J. Gregg Jr. in the November General Election, following his write-in campaign.

KEEPING THE HOME FIRES BURNING — A house can be seen on the corner of Center and Second in Kitzmiller bedecked with bows, American flags, and a banner bearing the name of EMJ Michael Brantner. Mike is the son of William and Leona Brantner who have decorated their home in this way in honor of him as he serves in the United States Navy in the Persian Gulf. Displayed inside the home are several awards and plaques earned by the 22-year-old sailor. Mike is currently aboard a missile cruiser in the Gulf, and has been there since August 15, his father said. The senior Brantner said his son was allowed to call home one time, on Thanksgiving Day, from Israel, where the crew was given a short leave for a new holiday. Mike is a 1985 graduate of Southern High School, and is in his fifth year of service in the U.S. Navy.

Kathryn Sincell, Lenora Eve To Be Among Soloists For "Oratorio"

Kathryn Sincell

Kathryn Sincell and Lenora Eve, both of New York City, will be among the soloists for the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Bach's Christmas Oratorio, to be performed three times next weekend, Dec. 21-23, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland.

Ms. Sincell, a native of Mtn. Lake Park, holds a bachelor's degree from Frostburg State College and a master's degree in vocal performance from Southern Methodist University, where she was awarded a full scholarship. She has been a guest soloist at various musical events, including the Seoul Festival in Korea, the Monomoy Festival in Cape Cod, with the Summer Conservatory of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., and the Arcady Festival of Maine.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sincell, Mtn. Lake Park, she is the executive director of the Garrett Lakes Music Festival in Garrett County.

Ms. Sincell, who will be singing the lyric soprano solos in the Choral Society's concert, is currently studying with Eva Likova, former New York City Opera performer.

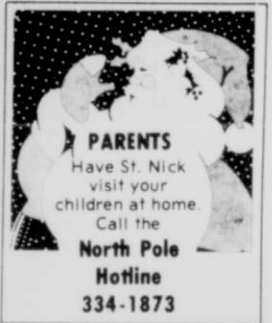

Ms. Eve, mezzo soprano, is a native of Wichita Falls, Tex., and holds a bachelor's degree in voice performance from Midwestern State University and a master's degree from North Texas State University.

She has performed as a soloist and in operatic roles with the Red River Lyric Theatre in Texas and spent two years with an operatic touring company in Detmold, Germany. She has resided in New York City for about two and one-half years, where she continues to pursue her singing career and is also teaching at her own studio, at the Lee Strasberg Institute, and at the Academy for Musical and Dramatic Arts.

She recently debuted with the Amato Opera Company in Manhattan, performing the role of Dorabella in Mozart's "Così fan tutte." She is also a soloist for Second Presbyterian Church in Manhattan and studies privately with Cornelius Reid.

The other soloists for the concert will be Robert Mosley, baritone, and Thomas Young, tenor, both internationally known performers.

Tickets for the three concerts, set for Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon, Dec. 21-23, are moving at a "brisk pace," according to a spokesman for the Garrett Choral Society. They may be purchased at Englander's Pharmacy, Will O' the Wisp, and from members of the Choral Society. The tickets will be honored at the door until just before the beginning of the concert, at which time remaining seats will be sold to non-ticket holders.

The two-day meeting was held in preparation for the Adventure Sports program being developed jointly by Garrett Community College and Frostburg State University.

Adventure Sports Program At GCC And FSU To Be Available Soon

Garrett Community College and Frostburg State University will soon offer a unique comprehensive program of studies in a new International Institute for Adventure Sports Education, according to officials from both institutions.

The Institute will feature academic degrees and certificates, as well as non-credit training, licensing and certification for safety, officiating and proficiency.

Adventure sports display characteristics different from team sports: they can be recreational or competitive; involve a degree of personal risk from nature; are physically challenging; and derive their challenge from nature and natural forces, not other competitors. They require adaptive problem solving throughout participation and are non-motorized and occur in a natural outdoor setting.

According to Dr. Ed Root, Dean of FSU's School of Education, students seeking an academic degree or certificate may enroll at either GCC or FSU. All academic students who enroll will receive Associate of Arts degrees from GCC and can then continue and receive Bachelor's degrees from FSU.

"The heart of this program happens to be a group of courses we call 'Adventure Sports,'" says Dr. Root. "That is comprised of three different levels. There will be basic courses, which will include basic canoeing, basic kayaking, basic skiing, so that someone who doesn't have a lot of skills can get started."

The next level will take the student "through a higher level of proficiency. Then the student must get a higher level of skill in at least one of those sports areas," he says.

Because the program is totally cooperative, all credits taken at GCC will be transfer-able to FSU. Program implementation will require state approval for GCC. Dr. Root says the program may be available as a pilot project at GCC as soon as the spring 1992 semester, with full FSU participation starting in the fall of 1992.

The curriculum will include a semester-long internship program where senior students will actually work at various outdoor recreation facilities to get hands-on experience.

According to Dr. Root, graduates of the program will find themselves in great demand, being employable by resorts, park services, theme parks and other outdoor-oriented businesses. "Here's an opportunity to take formal course work in something you love to do anyway, but, when you graduate, you take a job and work at something that, for you, is fun," Root said.

Bloodmobile Nets 153 Pints At Oakland Visit

The Red Cross bloodmobile collected a total of 153 units of blood at its November Oakland visit to the National Guard Armory, considerably short of the 200-pint goal. There were five first-time donors, according to Lucy Burnett, co-chairman of blood services for the Garrett County Red Cross.

Persons who gave their eighth pint of blood and thus receiving their one-gallon donor pins were: Lois A. Knox, Deer Park; Carl P. Rebele, Deep Creek Lake; and Brian K. Selders, Betty W. Shaffer, Raymond G. Strubin, and Brenda L. Beckman, all of Oakland.

Becoming two-gallon donors at the visit were Linda F. Hyde and Thomas J. Graybill, Oakland, Mary Rounds, Deer Park, and Robert M. Broadwater, Westernport.

Roy O. Hinkle Sr., Mtn. Lake Park, and Linda S. Phares, Oakland, became three-gallon donors, while Russell Liller, Mtn. Lake Park, and David M. Higdon, Friendsville, became four-gallon donors.

Completing their fifth gallons were Cheston E. Miller, Eric Wotring, and Robert L. Gnegy, all of Oakland.

John Toston, Deer Park, and Herman E. Mullen each completed their sixth gallon, while Janet E. Hardesty, Mtn. Lake Park, gave her 80th pint of blood to become a 10-gallon donor.

Volunteers assisting with the visit were: Sally Gonder, Vava Railey, Kathryn Helbig, Margie Seifert, Berylaine Stanton, and Dorothy Frame, all with registration; Helen Kahl, Lois Cuppett, and Janet Hinebaugh, temperatures; Susan Scott, Jacquelyn Shirer, and Judy Umstot, hemoglobin tests; Arletta Bittinger, Mary Jane DeWitt, and Ruth Porter, bag labeling; Phyllis Pacheco, Wilma Minor, Mary Kathryn Speicher, Betty W. Shaffer, Norma Hesen, Liz Friend, Fern Foley, Cathy Miles, Virginia McCauley, and Cheree Reckner, all registered nurses who completed histories and took blood pressures; Kathy Burnett, Lois Cuppett, Mary Warther, and Rick Ward, walkers; and Ethel Rudder, Cynthia Simpson, Violet Bowser, Grayce Quinet, Rayet-ta Beitzel, Freda Austin, Lorraine Mason, Helen Henline, Alice Ann Ridder, Ruth Mateer, Helen Schroyer, and Betty M. Pritt, kitchen workers.

Additional Items Discovered Stolen From YMR Home

An owner of a vacation home in the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort reported several stolen items to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week after an inventory of his summer residence. Conrad H. Glade, Herndon, Va., had first reported the theft of two televisions after an October 16 break-in of the home, but reported more items missing after inspecting the area more closely.

Glade reported to police a loss of $291 in items including flashlights, a radio, a floor lamp, a blanket, various clocks, and a broken window. Glade's original loss was estimated at $380, bringing the total loss to $671.

In a separate incident, an employee of Team One reported the theft of a CB radio, a CB antenna, and a radar detector.

Randy Lipscomb told police that a 1988 Cavalier owned by Peggy White, Friendsville, had been parked on Team One's lot for several weeks and was to be repaired. Lipscomb checked the car periodically, and noticed on Dec. 5 that the door was unlocked, and that items had been removed from the vehicle.

The loss in the theft was estimated at $235.

A theft and destruction of property was reported to the Sheriff's Office by the manager of Flowers By Webers this week.

Bea Crocco told police that sometime between Dec. 8 and 10, an unknown person or persons forcibly removed a pine wreath from the front door of the business. The wreath had been placed on the cross section of the door frame, and had been secured there with wire. When the wreath was wrenched from the door, the cross section was broken.

The damage to the door was estimated at $100, and the wreath at $30. There are no suspects in the case, according to the report.

Anthony C. Corby, Deer Park, reported the $850 loss of a tool box from the back of his truck. Corby told police that he had placed his tool box in the truck on the morning of Dec. 11 and had driven from his home on Steyer Mine Road in to the Hometown Market in Oakland.

Corby then realized that the tools had fallen from the truck. After retracing his route and being unable to locate the box, Corby reported the loss. The tools include a drill, jigsaw, masonry tools, chalk lines, a circular saw, and carpentry, electrical, and plumbing items.

Any person finding the missing tools are asked to contact the Sheriff's Office at 334-1911.

Clarification

In last week's edition of The Republican, it was reported that a brass coal bucket had been stolen from the coal room of Irene C. Miller, Oakland. It should be noted that the police report was incorrect, and in fact the stolen item was not a coal bucket, but a 20-gallon copper kettle and frame. The loss was estimated at $100.

Swallow Falls Day Use Area To Remain Open

The Swallow Falls State Park day use area will remain open 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, according to a spokesperson from the Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service.

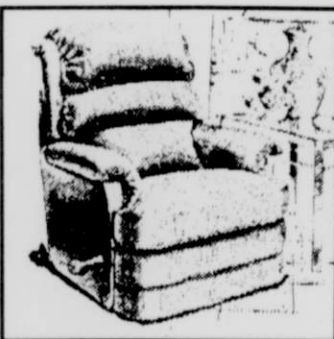

A previous announcement stated that the park would be closed because of recent budget constraints, but that announcement has been updated to state that the day use area will remain open daily. However, the campground in the Swallow Falls State Park area will be closed until March 31, the spokesperson said.

Two Greenbelt Women Given PBJ In District Court On CDS Counts

Two Greenbelt women were found guilty of possessing controlled dangerous substances and were given probation before judgment by Judge Jack R. Turney in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Anne Marie Crossed, 31, and Odile Alane Crossed, 34, both pleaded guilty to CDS (marijuana) charges. Both were fined $100 and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

The two were charged on August 28 by the Department of Natural Resources Police at Swallow Falls State Park campgrounds.

In other District Court news, a Germantown man pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Judge Turney ordered a presentence investigation for Randall D. Christopher, 27, who had initially been charged on September 1 by the Maryland State Police following a routine traffic stop.

A passenger in the Christopher vehicle, Karen R. Lynn, 25, had also been charged with CDS possession and possession of drug paraphernalia. Neither of those charges were prosecuted.

Richard L. Uphold, 30, Friendsville, was found guilty of battery and handed a suspended six-month jail term, a $50 fine, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

A Major Loss . . .

A major loss for Western Maryland was announced last week when Dr. Herb. Reinhard, president of Frostburg State University, announced his resignation from that post, effective January 20. His leaving, in our opinion, was precipitated not by wrongdoing on his part, but by the actions of a disgruntled, small minority of faculty members and a couple of news reporters who misused the power of the press.

When Dr. Reinhard came to what was then Frostburg State College four and one-half years ago, the institution was in a somewhat stagnant state, where there was little desire for advancement, growth, and improvement. FSC was basically just another small, average college that had no particular claim to fame and little to attract students.

However, we are convinced that no other institution of higher learning in the United States has made the giant steps forward that FSC, and now FSU, has made in the past four-plus years under Reinhard's leadership. Frostburg State is now among the most respected small universities in the country, and has received national recognition in various publications. Enrollment, which was so sluggish just five years ago, has grown so dramatically that it has had to be capped the past several semesters. The quality of students, in terms of test scores, is also significantly higher. This turnaround certainly did not happen by chance.

When Reinhard arrived at FSU, he made no bones about it that everyone involved, from faculty to custodial personnel, were going to have to knuckle down and work if they wanted to remain a part of the organization. Some faculty members, who thoroughly enjoyed their slow-paced, lazy work habits before Reinhard's arrival, took an immediate disliking of him and probably vowed at that time to try to have him removed.

As far as the media's involvement, we are not suggesting that stories printed in the Cumberland Times-News and the Baltimore Sun by two very aggressive reporters contained lies. We are suggesting, however, that they were very selective in what they decided to print and what they left out of print, information that would have covered the issue in a far more unbiased manner.

After being lambasted by both Reinhard and some local elected officials who accused the Times-News of using "horrendously bad journalism," the Times-News responded with a pair of editorials in their Sunday edition. Both pieces acknowledged Reinhard's contributions to FSU, but maintained that there was illegal, unethical behavior on his part, and that it was only through "good journalism" that these evil deeds were uncovered. They accused him of taking $10,000 from an estate earmarked for scholarships and putting it into his own discretionary fund. In fact, however, not only was that $10,000 NOT earmarked for scholarships, but it was also presented to the college totally unrestricted. In addition, before Reinhard so placed that money, he obtained approval from the Attorney General of Maryland.

As for Foundation monies being used as political contributions, this was never Reinhard's intent. He made the decision that there are occasional politically affiliated events where it is important that the University is represented. We believe this to be true, and so do many other universities, such as the University of Maryland, where similar expenditures of Foundation funds have occurred. If it is wrong, then more specific guidelines stating such should be provided so similar mistakes do not occur in the future.

The independent audit report of Reinhard's actions is to be released today and we are certain that he will be exonerated of all charges.

Then why did he resign, even before the release of the audit report? Because he was simply tired of the mistruths, harassment, innuendo, and negative press. Last week, after it appeared that he was going to be cleared of illegal and unethical conduct, the same faculty members then began to question his "intent" in all of this. That was the final straw. He knew then that there was to be no end to the campaign.

Western Maryland has lost an outstanding leader, all for the wrong reasons. And all of us in Western Maryland will suffer for it in the long run.

State Police Speak Out

Editor's Note: The following editorial was prepared by the Maryland State Police in observance of National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

This time of the year as we're preparing for holiday festivities, no one wants to think about unpleasant matters, especially those as unpleasant as drunk and drugged driving — often a natural outgrowth of our holiday partying and festivities. But think about drunk and drugged driving we must, if only to insure that we and those we love don't engage in it and inadvertently precipitate a disaster in our community.

In honor of National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week, which is observed this year from December 9-15, let's agree that when we party this season, we're going to adopt the popular idea of electing a designated driver before we go out for the evening. After we're out there, it's too late. This is a sure-fire method for keeping everyone out of trouble, including the innocent driver of the car coming at us from the opposite direction.

But suppose someone who's already driving comes to your house for holiday celebrating and has a bit too much. Do you get into a fight with them to take away their car keys? What do you do? There are three basic techniques anyone can practice to save an impaired driver: drive your friend home yourself, call a taxi, or let your friend sleep at your house for the night. These lessons are so elementary for the holiday season — and so vital. They can help save some of those 23,000 lives lost in 1989 to drunk drivers. They can help save some of the 500,000 injured people who in 1989 fell victim to drunk drivers.

Why do these three ideas rarely work in practice? Probably for the following reasons. When you offer to drive a friend who's had too much to drink home, it means they have to leave their car at your place, and that's going to involve some tricky logistics getting back to your house and maybe some explaining to somebody else the next morning. Secondly, taxis cost money, and in smaller communities they can cost a lot of money, if you can even get one to show up inside an hour. And lastly, if someone does stay over,

The Face Of AIDS

by Eileen Schlosnagle

I have a friend who is dying. I have had friends die before, and I know there will be more.

I am thirty-eight years old, and my friends who have died and those who are to follow are my peers. How is it that someone of my age group could know so many young people who have died? It is because of AIDS.

Now I live in an area relatively untouched by AIDS, but that will soon change. Just as it has changed the face of many cities, so it will change here.

I grieve for my friends. That grief is always with me like a dull ache. At other times, I howl and scream in pain.

My friends are three thousand miles away. I doubt I will see them again. The other evening I spoke with my friend Robert on the telephone. It was the first anniversary of his partner's death. Santos had died on Gay Freedom Day. A good day to die — but not as Santos did and not at his age.

The sadness of this anniversary was even more poignant because as I spoke with Robert, it became eerily apparent that Robert will soon die.

I met Robert when I became his emotional support volunteer. We would spend time together — good times and bad. I would try to be there for him.

Robert and Santos had been together only six months when Santos received his death sentence — for that is what an AIDS diagnosis is: a death sentence. The relationship was young, and Robert could have gotten out while the getting was good, but — as he confided in me — he had never known love before.

I met Robert when Santos had seven months yet to live. When Santos and I first met, his face was already ravaged by the lesions of Kaposi's Sarcoma. He made an excuse to be in the room where I waited for Robert. Santos had his back turned to me, and with a dramatic flourish, he turned to allow me a full frontal view of his disfigured face. Carefully, he searched mine for traces of shock or revulsion. I passed the test. Sadly, I had seen the face of AIDS before.

One evening, Robert called and invited my husband and six-year-old son over for a barbecue. My son still bore the marks of chicken pox and was self-conscious about being seen in public. I reassured him by preparing him with an account of Santos' lesions.

I will never forget that meeting of the little boy with chicken pox and the young man dying with AIDS. Leo had dressed in his suit and slicked back his hair as was his custom when visiting. Santos appeared in his bedroom doorway, obviously having made an effort to be presentable on this now rare occasion of being out of bed. He painfully hobbled toward Leo, leaning heavily on his walking stick. With his hand outstretched, he said, "How do you do?" in a most dignified manner, and Leo, taking his hand, responded in kind. The moment was over, and I let out a deep breath. Leo had not drawn back in fear but had accepted Santos, lesions and all.

Leo knows more about AIDS than most adults. He still has questions, and when he asks, I attempt to answer them in a non-judgmental, factual manner. I see this as my duty. He will grow up in a world where AIDS is a fact of life. Just as I will provide for his educational and spiritual needs, I must now provide my son with the knowledge that will protect him against AIDS.

I know there is much fear surrounding AIDS. It is a fearful disease, and I can attest to the horrors of its unmerciful course, but I can also attest to the fact that my work with people touched by AIDS has been the best work I have so far done in my life. My memories are of such a quality that I feel regret that others have not had the same privilege.

Fear is a product of ignorance. Let us arm ourselves and our families with knowledge. Compassion is a human virtue and one we should nurture in ourselves and our children.

I don't know how much longer Robert will live. Because he is still in a state of denial, I cannot openly discuss his impending death with him. My fear is that he will die alone and that I will not be there to help him — and that I will not know when he is gone.

Your vocabulary is superb and I never once had to go to my dictionary, but a couple words made me think a bit more. You keep on keeping on in your disseminating them please. To the Editor:

On September 1, 1963, the state of Maryland enacted a mandatory motorcycle helmet use law. This law was amended on May 29, 1979 to affect only persons under the age of eighteen. A bill to reinstate this law has been introduced in the MD legislature every year since then and has failed to pass.

"It is not a radical law — 23 states already have them."
"Head injured motorcycle riders have less than a 55% chance of ever returning to work. So, YOU the Tax Payer will carry the patient and frequently the patient's family. All because the rider did NOT wear a helmet!

Many people wonder how this failure to reinstate the Helmet Law could happen: Police and fire teams who are the first on the scene and frequently remove damaged, un-helmeted heads from the pavement; the ambulance and helicopter crews who race against time to the life-sustaining treatment of Shock Trauma; the doctors and nurses of the Shock Trauma Centers who mobilize all their skills, for hopeful restoration of functions to the broken, un-helmeted heads; the Department of Post Mortem Examiners who are called in when all efforts have been to no avail; and most important of all, the families and loved ones of the victims — they are in shock starting with the first knock on the door by a police representative and remain that way for days, weeks, months or frequently years, watching, waiting and hoping, for the damage that could have been prevented to be repaired!

The Maryland Head Injury Foundation has a two-fold mission, (1) to improve the lives of head injury victims and (2) prevention of head injury. As an effective measure for prevention of head injury, we support...

Christmas And Candlelight

by Frances Acton

"From the church on the corner Comes the song of Bethlehem; and of angels' voices singing
'Peace on Earth Goodwill to Men.'"

These lines are taken from a poem about window shopping on the main street of a small town when all the stores are closed and the only sound is the carols emanating from the church on the corner. They came to mind the other evening as the snow covered the street and the choir at St. Paul's United Methodist Church on the corner of Fourth and Oak Streets, Oakland, could be heard rehearsing for the 47th Annual Candlelight Service, set for the 16th of December.

How did this Christmas tradition — almost half a century old — begin?

It was December 1943 — the country was at war — and Elisabeth Thayer, then choir director at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, decided to hold a special service the week preceding Christmas — a service of inspiration and hope, as a warning world sought "Peace on Earth — Goodwill to Men." It would be an evening of special music by the choir and the reading from the Scriptures of the beautiful story of the very first Christmas.

"And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the fields keeping watch over their flocks by night..."

Judge Fred Thayer was a small boy and remembers very clearly helping with the special decorations that were an integral part of the service. He recalls how he climbed the tall ladder to fix greens over the altar. To a small boy that was a very tall ladder. There were always candles in every window of the sanctuary. Now they are the large candles in beds of green — then they were blocks of oak (naturally, in this town) with holes bored to hold the candles and it was Fred's job to secure those candles in place.

In 1963 under the direction of Dorothy Leighton, specific themes for the services were instituted. The church was decorated to emphasize the theme and the bulletin covers were chosen to conform. There have been such themes as: "Christmas Folk Songs of America" traditional music of the American Indian, the Negro spirituals and Mexican songs; "Carols of the Old South," "Christmas Music of American Composers," "The Christmas Story in Hymns," among others. In 1976 — Bicentennial year — the theme was patriotically American and there was a scrapbook on the altar containing a portion of a flag carried by George Washington's men when they crossed the Delaware. Handel's "Messiah" was presented in 1963 and 1977. In 1979, St. Paul's inaugurated the Christmas tree with ornaments made by the women of the church. The altar was decorated with a huge ichthus or "sign of the fish," the secret sign used by early Christians to identify themselves.

Julius Littman was organist at the beginning services, followed by Margaret Feather in 1963, and now Dr. David Sheets. Choir directors have been Elisabeth Thayer, Dorothy Leighton, Anne Bell, Diana Custer Marks, and currently, Carolyn Lambert Wilt. Familiar names which are included in this year's program appear on the old programs — Ethel Rae Snyder, whose husband and children were also part of the program, the entire Leighton family, Anne Bell, Merritt Feather, Carolyn Lambert Wilt, and others.

The programs were a montage of the changing times. Earlier on, all the women were listed as "Mrs. Herbert Leighton," "Mrs. Jay Bell," etc., and as the years marched on it was Mrs. Dorothy Leighton, Mrs. Anne Bell — and then even the "Mrs." was dropped.

The entire 47 years of this traditional service is a history in itself, and now we have come full circle. The world was at war in 1943 and today it is on the brink of war. On those same desert sands traversed by three kings in search of a savior, a mighty army stands ready to kill on command. It is hoped that this simple service will inspire and strengthen our resolve and that maybe, just maybe, we can truly hear the angel song:

"Glory To God in the Highest — and on Earth Peace — Goodwill to Men."

The Mind Wanders

A FAMILY DIVIDED
by Pam Ashby

I decided this year that my family was going to learn that Christmas doesn't just happen — that there are many preparations before that magical night when Santa bounds down the chimney with thoughtful, pre-wrapped gifts, places them under the beautifully decorated tree, and samples all the home-baked goodies.

So I devised a plan that would involve the entire family. We would shop together, wrap together, decorate together, and bake together. Perhaps then, the brood would realize that it takes hours of hard work to put together a Norman Rockwell holiday scene — A Christmas of which dreams are made.

We're dealing with the shopping thing. We're not always happy campers because we sometimes forget that we're buying for others and not ourselves — but we're learning.

The gift wrapping, in all honesty, has been quite fun. But it still seems that only the womenfolk participate in this pre-Christmas activity. And, of course, the family cat, Alfie, enjoys assisting. He takes the bows that fall to the floor and promptly deposits them in the toilet. My daughters find that extremely amusing.

The day we were to decorate the house, the husband and the son had to work. Well, wasn't that convenient? So I at least had the girls to help — for a while anyway. Then they had to babysit and go to parties. Solitude is nice. And how they did marvel when they all returned home that night to see the lights and garland and candles all around.

The Christmas tree excursion did include three family members and by decorating time, one more family member appeared. Just as we were about to string the lights the husband had to deliver deer bologna to family members. No problem. His was a mission of love and good cheer and that is what Christmas is all about. And we did avoid the annual "light fight."

So on to the holiday baking. We (I) devised a schedule and everyone had an assigned task. The son had to work, but that was expected. There were still four of us. Just as he finished chopping the nuts and cherries and was about to cream the shortening and brown sugar, the husband was called away to a brush fire. No problem. Just more good will during the holiday season.

The cookie baking progressed with the womenfolk until the siblings decided it was time for rivalry. I decided it was time for bed for the little warriors. I finished baking cookies at about 11:30 p.m. last night.

Happy (yawn) holidays.

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

REMEMBER MARYLANDERS IN THE GULF THIS HOLIDAY

by Governor William Donald Schaefer

The holiday season is here, which means a lot of you will be busy with parties, shopping, and thinking up New Year's resolutions. It's a happy time, to enjoy friends and families, and to think about whether the year has been good to us.

But as you prepare for the holidays, I hope you will take a minute to think about the brave Marylanders — men and women — who are in the Persian Gulf or getting ready to head to that troubled part of the world. While the threat of war seems so far away from us here in Maryland, many families this holiday season will be missing loved ones who have an important job to do.

I support President Bush's decision to activate Operation Desert Shield, and I think it's important that the United States maintain a strong presence — and strong defense — in the Persian Gulf. I went to a send-off ceremony for a National Guard unit in Towson, and it made me so proud to see those Marylanders serving their country.

Maryland is well-represented in the Gulf. About 1,500 members of the Maryland National Guard and Marylanders in the reserves from all five branches of the military have been activated. Thousands of other Marylanders active in the Army, Marines, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard are standing shoulder to shoulder to keep us out of harm's way.

In my last column, I asked Marylanders to remember the less fortunate during the holiday season. This week, I'm asking something else — remember those who are protecting America's interests in the Middle East. The response from Marylanders has been overwhelming, but we don't plan to let up — or forget the families who remain behind.

Since the first group of Marylanders left for the Gulf, showing support for our service members has been a group effort. Everyone has had a hand: business, private citizens, school children, community groups, and the news media have worked together to show our armed forces that we are thinking of them, especially during the holidays.

Maryland employers are showing support for their workers called to active duty. I hope they will keep up that support as the Gulf tensions continue.

State government has tried to do its part as well, extending health insurance for families of state employees called to the Gulf and setting up assistance centers to help with any problems at home.

In December and January, state employees are sponsoring a program called "Care Enough to Share." We'll have donation boxes at all state office buildings, where we hope to collect thousands of items to send to the Gulf. We're gathering everything from lip balm and toothpaste to snacks and playing cards, and the shipments will be delivered in January for all U.S. military personnel to share — not just Marylanders. Each of the packages will have a "Maryland With Pride" circular, to explain how the gifts were collected.

As you celebrate the holidays with your family and loved ones, I hope each of you will remember our brave troops — not just now, but throughout the coming year and until every Marylander returns home.

But I'll also ask you to consider this: if you know a military family who will celebrate the holidays alone this year, make a point to invite them over or arrange to visit with them. Ask them to join you for a holiday party or a religious service. There are many ways to say, "We care."

I would be interested to hear your ideas about how we can let the soldiers know we're thinking about them. Please write to me, Governor William Donald Schaefer, The State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

fort to "balance out the interests" of all public land uses and concerns.

Bolton noted the "conflict of interest" that appears to exist within DNR (charged with the management of state-owned land) is a result of "pressures to meet budgetary goals," explaining that DNR derives revenue from all timber cut on the land.

He also questioned the adequacy of the current regulations covering those cuts, whether or not they are actually enforced, and the possibility of adopting new regulations, if necessary.

Warren Groves, regional silviculturist with DNR, responded to those concerns by stating that DNR does have a "penalizing action" in place to deal with loggers who perform improperly. "They can blackball those loggers, but they never have," he said, adding that performance bonds have occasionally been taken away from loggers.

Groves then stated that "a lot of changes" have recently been taking place because of more attention to sensitive areas, such as wetlands and buffer zones.

"We are trying to get more refined each year with environmental concerns," he said.

John Forman, who represents several groups, such as the Maryland Forest Association, the Garrett County Forestry Board and the Allegany-Garrett Sportsman Club, added that any logging operation must first obtain a permit and must then abide by sediment erosion and

YOUR CHRISTMAS TREE

The Christmas tree — a sight that brings joy and excited anticipation to the children. A symbol of peace and hope to everyone throughout the nation during this holiday season.

Our tradition of decorating a tree with lights and ornaments dates back to the Revolutionary War. It was during this time that the Hessian troops hired by the British and homesick for their German homeland, decorated native American pines to remind themselves of their homes and families. The evergreen has been a symbol of the Christmas season since the European middle ages, and lighted and decorated trees have adorned Christmas celebrations in Germany since the days of Martin Luther (1483-1546).

Each December Americans take home an evergreen to decorate with tinsels, ornaments, candy canes and lights to be used as the center piece of the holiday season celebrations. Many people still cut their trees in the wild forest, though more and more the trees we use are coming from cultivated Christmas tree farms and are sold at a retail lot in residential areas.

When you visit the local retail lot, you will of course be looking for a good tree, one that is fresh and appealing to the senses. The size, shape and kind of tree is determined by personal preference and the space the tree will occupy — but a fresh tree is something we are all looking for. Here are some simple tips that Ernie Metz, Project Forester for Garrett County, has suggested will help you determine if a tree is fresh:

— Bend a needle on the tree. If it is resilient, the tree is fresh.
— Bump the base of the tree hard on the ground. If no needles fall off, the tree is fresh. (Spruce do not retain their needles well. In their case, it is not a reflection of freshness.)
— Feel the bottom of the stump. If it is sappy and moist, it is fresh.

Buying a Christmas tree that passes these three tests will help assure that you are buying a fresh tree, one that will not prematurely drop its needles, and has the strength to carry your ornaments and lights without undue fear of breaking or catching fire.

water resources regulations.

He noted, though, that environmental violations by loggers are enforced only if a complaint is made, adding that the area currently employs only one inspector from the Maryland Department of the Environment.

Forman reminded the group that DNR is presently three years and 10 million board feet behind schedule in its projected five-year plan for harvesting. "At present values," he said, "that amount would have meant an approximate $2 million in revenue for DNR, 25 percent of which would have gone into the county coffers."

"If we're going to make a plan, then let's stick to it," he said, adding, "Timber is a renewable resource, not a finite one."

Forman concluded his statements by noting that he does advocate citizen input into forest management.

A few representatives of the logging and tree farm industries, however, expressed concern that they have been "under attack" by those representing environmental concerns. One logger stated, "Why can't they just leave us alone?" He added, "Let's start charging these people to use our forests."

That logger also suggested to Delegate Edwards that revenues from timber sales be used to spray the remaining trees for gypsy moth control.

Delegate Edwards reported that Garrett County has changed the way it mines to better accommodate environmental concerns and that similar changes would also be taking place in the logging industry. "I support a multi-use forest," he said, noting that communication between the various disciplines was "starting to flow."

"We're trying to provide everyone with the opportunity to use state land," he concluded.

Md. Growth Limit Recommendations

Garrett County Property Owners Association President John Hinebaugh raised concerns regarding the recent report by the Governor's Commission On Growth, stating that, under the draft legislation, zoning would be required in all Maryland counties. That would, in turn, result in 75 percent of the land in Garrett County being designated as "a sensitive or rural area, allowing only one dwelling per twenty acres," stated Hinebaugh.

"That would be a catastrophe," stated Hinebaugh.

Hinebaugh then proposed that Edwards and Hafer consider seeking exemptions for Garrett County in the plan, stating, "Garrett County should be excluded or the act should be drastically changed."

Edwards stated that he has requested that the Garrett County Planning Commission make recommendations that the draft legislation be modified. "If the bill goes in, it will be almost impossible to exempt Garrett County" he said. Edwards then added, "Rural areas will end up getting the shaft."

State Budget Cuts
Several persons at the meeting also shared their concern over the recent news that the state budget deficit of over $400 million, has resulted in Governor William Donald Schaefer's call for approximately 1800 lay-offs of state employees, as well as budget cuts in various other departments.

Carol Bass, co-ordinator of WIC (Women, Infants and Children) food supplement program indicated that while cuts in employee benefits is "something we can live with," state personnel rules are not being followed (in regard to seniority, etc.), therefore, the threat of persons being laid off just prior to their retirement exists. This, she said, could set "dangerous precedents."

Queen's Knight Club Designated Official Team

The Queen's Knight Chess Club has been designated by the U.S. Chess Federation as Western Maryland's official team that will compete early next year for state and regional titles.

The team is composed of Jerry Cline, captain and director of the Queen's Knight Club, who holds a rating of 1,800; Terry Wolfe, also rated at 1,800; Rick Pike, 1,670; Leif Piper, 1,750; and Clayton King, 1,600. Phil Ruccobono, rated 1,425, and Albert King, 1,500, are alternate members of the team.

The team's first regional competition will be against the Fairmont, W.Va., Chess Association soon after Christmas.

The club held a rated and non-rated tournament on Saturday at the Wisp Resort in McHenry. Terry Wolfe, who entered as a non-rated player, won the non-rated competition and Phil Ruccobono won the rated event.

The two of them then played for the overall championship, which was won by Wolfe. He was awarded membership in the USCF and a Lady chess set.

The Queen's Knight Chess Club meets every Monday at 7 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland and is presently offering a free one-year membership to anyone interested in joining. Membership in the club provides opportunities for tournament participation, access to USCF membership, lower costs on chess equipment, and other privileges. Interested persons are invited to come to a regular meeting any Monday evening or call the club director at 334-1611 for more information.

The use of this technology through the receipt of bonus grant funds, lower maintenance costs, a closed system less susceptible to infiltration and inflow of surface or ground water, and cheaper construction and installation costs.

The system was designed by Morgan France, constructed by Ferri Contracting Company, Inc., with excavating by Robert D. Beitzel. Construction, engineering and inspection were performed by Morgan France and the Sanitary District's engineer, Jeff Gilbert. The project was managed by Wendell Beitzel, administrator, and Linda Gnegy, administrative assistant, at the Garrett County Sanitary District.

Commissioners

because the commissioners are unable to attend the meeting in person.

The recommendations call for limiting growth in the entire state to protect the Chesapeake Bay from further pollution, and would limit the "sprawling growth" now taking place throughout Maryland in favor of concentrating growth into already developed areas. Specifically, one recommendation calls for only one residential dwelling to be built on twenty acres of land in rural areas.

"We don't have the same type of problems they do," stated Groves. "and here we are at a stage in our development where we're 'talking development' and working toward a broader economic base and seeing economic growth over the past 10 years. And now we're talking about doing everything we can to restrict that. I think it's a wrong signal."

It was also noted that the draft legislation was first released November 27 and received by the commissioners November 30, which then resulted in the objections to the time allotment to "respond responsibly," as was stated in the letter.

The proposed Maryland Growth and Chesapeake Bay Protection Act of 1991, as the report is titled, requires that the interim program be implemented by July 1, 1991.

The commissioners also stated in the letter that, "Garrett County residents, especially those in the more rural areas, carry strong feelings about property rights, and we anticipate major dissension among our citizenry at the notion of implementing county-wide land use controls."

The letter concluded with statements in support of the basic vision of the proposal and an offer of cooperation from the county in developing a workable plan to fulfill the purposes of the protection act, but stated, "It appears that the draft legislation provides no consideration regarding regional differences throughout the state" and offers only a "blanket approach."

Braskey summed up the commissioners' reaction by stating, "Basically what we're saying is, give us some say and give us some time. Don't shove this down our throats."

Local Ecologist To Speak To CARE Group

State assessments of the environmental problems facing Garrett and Allegany Counties will be the focus of a presentation to CARE (Concerned Area Residents for the Environment) at its meeting on Monday, December 17.

The presentation will be made by Douglas Oxford, who teaches ecology at Southern High School and who attended an intensive program last summer on state-wide and Western Maryland environmental problems. Beginning with four days at Appalachian Environmental Laboratory at Frostburg State University and ending with a number of days on research vessels in the Chesapeake Bay, Oxford was one of 23 teachers from across the state who participated in the course. The program is in response to a state law requiring that each county have teachers trained in environmental problems. Since the state is the leader in this venture, all of the environmental leaders at the state level, and those in academic and research environmental fields were presenters of the material.

The highly intensive course included 54 field trips in 21 days and provided an ideal opportunity to overview the problems unique to Western Maryland and those common throughout the state. "Oxford's reporting of the problems in Garrett and Allegany Counties as seen by the experts will provide an informational base for CARE to determine its agenda and course of action for the foreseeable future," according to a CARE spokesperson.

In addition, there will be a discussion of environmental initiatives to be presented at the next session of the Maryland legislature and of environmental issues discussed at the recent open meeting held by District I-A Delegate George C. Edwards and District I Senator-elect Hafer.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room 314 of the Continuing Education Center of Garrett Community College, McHenry. All persons interested in environmental issues are invited to attend.

port reinstatement of this Maryland Motorcycle Helmet Law, without reservations.

We urge you and your readers to demand reinstatement of this law, when the next session of the Maryland Legislature begins in January, 1991.

Yours sincerely,
John Hamilton
A volunteer Director of the Maryland Head Injury Foundation; Father of a head-injured son.

To the Editor:

Isn't it a shame that we live in a county where "disturbing rumors" can upset so many people? It's also a shame that these people believe these rumors without asking questions or getting involved! I'm talking about the new building at St. Peter's Catholic Church.

First of all, the building committee and Parish Council have been working for four years on this project. The council meets the first Thursday of every month, and all parishioners are invited to attend. After the meetings, the minutes are published in the church bulletin. To date, very non-council people have attended these meetings.

Now, to the building. It is not a rectangular pole structure as rumored. It does have style, design, and character. We have a licensed contractor, a licensed architect, and licensed engineers, all of whom have been bonded and insured to the specifications of the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

The main goal of the building committee is to see that St. Peter's has a beautiful, multi-purpose building that our parish and community can be proud of. I find it disturbing that these people would think that the there'll be those embarrassed jokes in the morning and you may have to serve them breakfast with the family.

The solutions to these three problems are interesting. Returning a friend's car the morning after with a family member at the wheel will cement a friendship and place him or her in debt to you for a similar favor should the need arise. Paying for a taxi, even if it runs to $25 with a tip, is not even one-tenth of the full cost for a first-time drunk driving offense, which can often hit $3,000 if you figure in lawyer's fees, court costs, increase in car insurance premiums, and hourly time off the job to appear in court. And listening to embarrassed excuses and giving someone breakfast may permit you to spend some quality time with a friend you

"Project Blue Light" Announced By Sheriff's Dept.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is planning to participate in "Project Blue Light," and a spokesman from the office has invited the entire community to participate in the project as well.

"Project Blue Light" began in Baltimore City by Kim Martin, who lost her husband after he was shot in the line of duty with the Baltimore City Police Department on Oct. 10, 1989. In remembrance of her husband at Christmas, Mrs. Martin placed a blue bulb in a candle in her window.

Mrs. Martin then asked her friends and neighbors to do the same. The response was overwhelming, according to a release from the Baltimore City Police Department.

This year, the Baltimore Fraternal Order of Police wish to continue the activity by asking all Maryland residents to light a blue bulb in their windows in remembrance of those police officers who have lost their lives in the line of duty.

The spokesman from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office stated that the county is invited to participate in Project Blue Light for not only those who have died, but to honor those who continue to keep neighborhoods and communities safe.

Husky Grapplers Open Campaign With Three Convincing Victories

Before the high school wrestling season got underway last week, most area fans claimed that the Northern High Huskies would be one of the top, if not the top, team in the area, and if the results of their first three matches are any indication of what is to come throughout the season, that pre-season prediction will have been accurate.

The Huskies, under Coach Lynn Brenneman, whipped Central Preston and Allegany, 46-27 and 58-18, respectively, in a tri-meet in Kingwood last Thursday night, and then flattened host East Preston Monday evening, 56-21.

The Northern squad is loaded with experience this season, as the returning starters recorded over 170 individual wins last year. They are led by defending 135-pound state runner-up Tim Thomas, sophomore Allen Bittinger, who placed third in the state championships last year in the 130-pound class as a freshman; and Ron Sines and Randy Dolan, also state finalists last year.

Bittinger is currently ranked second in the state in the 130-pound class and Thomas is ranked fifth in the 135-pound division. The Huskies as a team are ranked 12th in the state among all size high schools.

Recording pins in all three meets this past week for the Huskies were Rich Wyland in the 119-pound class, Chris Rowe in the 125-pound class, Randy Dolan, 152 pounds, and Scott Beitzel, heavyweight.

Bittinger and Thomas each had two pins and a decision, while Sines recorded two pins and a technical fall.

Todd Burdock recorded pins in the Central Preston and East Preston matches, while Tommy Hare earned a decision against Allegany and a pin at East Preston.

Jason Fazzenbaker recorded a pin against Allegany in the 189-pound class, as did Greg Miller in the 140-pound division.

The Huskies will travel to Morgantown, W.Va., this weekend to compete in the University High Tournament, where Northern is the three-time defending champion.

Intramurals At GCC Providing More Than Fun

Intramurals at Garrett Community College this semester have been more than an opportunity for noon hour recreation, according to Ann Wellham, athletic coordinator.

Students in the Sports Officiating class (PE 240) have been getting practical experience by officiating the volleyball and basketball games just ended as part of their training for future certification as volleyball and basketball officials. Some of them have already taken the examinations required by the National Federation of State High Schools Associations for certification to officiate volleyball and basketball games in the state of Maryland.

Three students who have passed the certifying examination to become volleyball officials are Val Teagarden, Tracy Jones, and Steve Ujcie.

The intramural volleyball tournament was won by a team captained by Earl Leichter. Other members of the team

HUSKY GRAPPLERS OFF AND WINNING — The Northern High School wrestling team is expected to be "the team to beat" in the area this season, and the veteran squad is so far earning that reputation, as the Huskies have easily won their first three matches this season. They are currently ranked 12th overall in the state ratings, which include high schools of all sizes. Members of the team include, front row, left to right: B. Newman, Rich Wiland, Chris Rowe, Allen Bittinger, and Tim Thomas. In the second row, same order, are Greg Miller, Dale Fazzenbaker, Ron Sines, Randy Dolan, Larry Wakefield, and Tommy Hare. In the third row, same order, are Todd Burdock, Jason Fazzenbaker, and Scott Beitzel. Allen Bittinger, who placed third in the state last year, is currently the number two ranked wrestler in the state in the 130-pound division, while Thomas, who was state runner-up last year, is ranked number five in the state in a very tough 135-pound division. Lynn Brenneman is the coach of the Huskies.

were Darryl Forney, Kevin Doyle, DG, Largent, Mick Bayle, and John Stickley. This team had a tournament record of 14-0 and defeated a team led by Val Teagarden that had an 11-4 record coming into the finals.

Basketball intramurals were won by the team consisting of Mike Berlin, Jake Sawyers, John Cutter, John Stickley, Kim Copeland, and Brandon Biehl.

Students in another class have been involved in the tournaments as well. Art professor Ron Skidmore's Basic Design class designed and colored the T-shirts awarded to the winning team.

Local Volleyball Teams Winners In Pa. Tourney

Two volleyball teams from Garrett County traveled to Carick High School near Pittsburgh Sunday to compete in the all-day Pittsburgh Alliance Tournament, and both teams came home with championship trophies.

The tournament was played using United States Volleyball Association rules. Each team played a total of eight games and the top three teams then entered the playoffs. The second and third place teams played a best-of-three match. The winner of that match then played the first place team for the championship.

The local women's team, composed of Sue Sanders, Debbie Goralski, Stephanie Stephens, Diane DeWitt, Gale

Ringer, and Carol Humberson, entered the playoffs as the second place team. They defeated the third place team in two straight games and then topped the first place team in two games to win the title.

The Garrett County men's team, consisting of Rob Heilig, Paul Warnick, Bob Goralski, Brad DeWitt, Mike Sanders, and Bobby Wilt, entered the playoffs as the number one team and won the title in two straight games.

All winners received trophies. The local women's team was sponsored by Roger Sines Construction.

RAMS BEGIN CAMPAIGN — The Southern High girls' varsity season is now underway, as the Rams opened Monday with a 56-51 loss to Mount Savage. They will go for their first win next Thursday at Fallston High School. The team is coached by, pictured above seated left to right, Don Stemple, head coach, and assistants Jane Wildesen and Ken McLaughlin. Standing, same

Southern Girls Drop Opener To Mount Savage

The Southern High girls' varsity basketball team, hoping to improve upon last season's 12-7 record, opened its season Monday evening with a 56-51 defeat at the hands of host Mount Savage.

All-Area player Krista Shaffer paced the Indians with an 18-point, 12-rebound performance, while Dee Lowery finished with 13 points.

The Rams led at the end of the first two quarters of action, 10-8 and 26-25, but the Indians surged for 21 third-quarter points compared to only eight for Southern to take a 46-34 advantage going into the fourth period.

The Rams chipped away at the Indians' lead in the final stanza, despite committing 17 personals in that period, but they could not come back for a win.

Michelle Duling spearheaded the Rams' scoring with 15 points, while Shelli Cannon and Kathy Gibson each finished with 12.

The game was also the season opener for the Indians.

The Rams' 1989-90 campaign ended with a playoff loss to Glenelg. Gone from that team are Melinda Evick and Tracy Dawson, who were two of the top three scorers and rebounders, along with defensive specialist Tonya Shreve and reserve Angie Gear.

Coach Don Stemple will be relying heavily on his three junior starters — Cannon, Duling, and Gibson. The only two seniors on the team are Khrystie Browning and Jodi Elliott.

Players moving up from last year's 14-1 junior varsity team are Susan Umstot, who also saw a lot of action on the varsity team, and Alayna Harkins and Robin Ridder. Rounding out the team is first-year player Amanda Hauser.

This season's schedule will feature two weekend trips, one to the Baltimore area to play Fallston and Mercy, and the other to the Washington area to meet Watkins Mills and Immaculata. Another highlight will be the annual Snowflake Classic, hosted by the Rams later this month.

"We expect a good year if we can overcome the distractions of the school renovation," stated Coach Stemple. "We are practicing at the armory and we will have no home games until mid-January. Hopefully, the regular gym will be ready by that time."

Stemple said his team's strengths are experience, depth, and quickness, but the weaknesses include a lack of height.

"Our goals are to avenge three losses to Westmar and one loss each to Fort Hill, Allegany, and Mercy, and to be the number one seed in Region I," Stemple said. "If we are the number one seed, then we will host two playoff games and, hopefully, can make it to Catonsville and the state championships."

Assistant coaches are Ken

McLaughlin and Jane Wildesen. The Rams' next contest will be at Fallston next Thursday, Dec. 20. They will then play at Mercy the following day.

Lakers Fall To Farmingdale At The Buzzer, But Then Defeat Nassau

A last second tip-in by New York-Farmingdale prevented Garrett Community College from playing in the championship game of the Louie Spoerl Memorial Classic in Cumberland last weekend, but the Lakers came back in Sunday's consolation game to record a 77-67 win over Nassau (N.Y.) Community College.

The split left the Lakers with a 7-3 record, which they will take to Mount Aloysius this evening.

The Lakers led in Saturday's opening round against Farmingdale by as many as 13 points in the second half, but the visitors recorded 11 straight points late in the game to cut the GCC lead to one point and Sherod Quarles tipped the ball in as the buzzer sounded to give Farmingdale a 79-78 victory.

Garrett led by only one, 33-32, at halftime, and were on top 71-59 at the 4:49 mark after All-American candidate Chuckie Moore hit a 17-foot jumper. But Farmingdale proceeded to run off their 11 unanswered points, as the Lakers assisted them by committing five fouls and two turnovers, to make it 71-70. Moore finally resumed the Lakers' scoring with a bucket and a foul shot to give GCC a 74-70 lead.

Derrick Cooper hit a short jumper to cut the Lakers' lead to two, but Garrett's Carlos Trotter followed with a pair of free throws to make it 76-72.

Adrian Stewart followed with a three-pointer for Farmingdale with 50 seconds remaining. Moore was fouled with just 16 seconds remaining and he made both attempts to give the Lakers a 78-75 advantage; however, the Rams' Sam Rowe was fouled by GCC's Chris Greene outside the three-point line with just seven seconds left, giving Rowe three shots at the line. Rowe sunk two of the three free tosses to cut the lead to 78-77.

The Lakers could not get the ball inbounds and threw the ball across midcourt, out of bounds. With five seconds left, the Rams set up a play and tried a shot with two seconds left. The ball bounced off the rim and Quarles went up for the winning tip-in.

"We just gave them the game, in the last five minutes," stated GCC Coach Dennis Gibson.

Moore led the Lakers, and all scorers, with 32 points, while Greene finished with 24. Chris Pursoo paced the Rams with 21 points and Anderson added 17 points and 13 rebounds.

The Lakers played without point guard Bruce Boldley, who is currently sidelined with a knee injury.

Moore once again paced the Lakers in Sunday's win over

Nassau as the 6-4 forward/guard pumped in 35 points, grabbed nine rebounds, and recorded three assists, two steals, and four blocked shots.

The Lakers were sluggish in the first 10 minutes of the contest, as Nassau (2-5) jumped out to a 7-0 advantage. They knotted the score at 17 apiece with 11:04 remaining in the half, with Moore score 12 of the Lakers' points.

GCC took its first lead at the 9:06 mark on a bucket by Moore to make it 21-20; however, they were down by three at halftime, 35-32.

The Lakers took the lead for good at the 10:37 mark of the second half, 49-48, on an eight-footer by Moore.

The Rams stayed close and were down by just four, 57-53, after Jaimie O'Connell hit a pair of free throws, but the Lakers then scored eight unanswered points to give them a 62-53 advantage.

The lead was cut back to six points, 68-62, with 1:24 remaining, but the Rams could get no closer.

Derek Young also reached double figures for the Lakers with 11 points.

Huskies Fall To Mountaineers Before Being Topped By Westmar

After opening their season with a victory over Hancock, the young Northern High Huskies were tripped up twice this past week, losing to host Beall Friday evening, 67-44, and then falling to Westmar Tuesday evening in a Class 1A Region I clash in Accident.

The Huskies were never really in the game against the Mountaineers, who jumped out to a 15-8 lead, stretched their advantage to 32-19 by halftime, and led 49-35 going into the final period.

Danny Taylor paced the winners with a 22-point performance and also grabbed a game-high nine rebounds. Jon Winebrenner and Matt Young each contributed 10 points, while Shannon McKenzie pulled seven rebounds and was credited with five assists.

Northern's Jon Houser finished with 21 points and seven rebounds, while Aaron Morris also reached double figures with 10 points.

The win evened Beall's record at 1-1.

The Northern junior varsity also went down to defeat in the preliminary game, losing to the Beall jayvees, 48-33.

In Tuesday's contest against Westmar, the Huskies controlled the first half of the game, jumping out to a 7-0 lead in the opening moments, holding a 16-6 advantage at the end of the first quarter, and leading 26-17 at halftime. But the Wildcats made some adjustments in the locker room at intermission and came back to cut the Huskies' lead to just one point, 34-33, by the end of the third period. They then outscored Northern in the fourth stanza, 16-9, to win going away.

Morris and Rob Speicher paced Northern's scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Houser finished with nine points and a game-high 15 rebounds.

Pacing the Wildcats' scoring were Brian McAlpine and Scott Garey with 17 and 16 points, respectively. Westmar, the defending Class 1A runners-up, improved their record to 2-1.

In the preliminary contest, the Northern jayvees were edged by the Westmar junior varsity, 48-47. Danny Spiker led Westmar with 24 points, while

Ram Grapplers Fall To Falcons, Top East Preston

The Southern High School wrestling team, composed mostly of freshmen, opened its season last Thursday evening with a 45-27 defeat by visiting Frankfort, but then rebounded last night to top East Preston, 45-30, at Southern Middle School.

The Rams were about even with the Frankfort Falcons in actual competition, as they had to give up three matches by forfeit, while the Falcons had to give up only one forfeit.

Matt Devens, Mike DeWitt, and Josh Woods all won by pins for the Rams, Jason Burgess won on points, and Sonny Livengood was awarded a win by forfeit.

Shane Fridley, Travis Winans, David Raines, and Howard Courtney recorded pins for the Falcons.

Last night against East Preston, Jason Burgess, Pete Strawser, Brian McCroskey, Sonny Livengood, and Ed Philyaw all registered pins for the Rams, while Shane Skipper won by technical fall and Jason Rush earned a point victory.

The 1-1 Rams, coached by Terry Kendall, will be in action again this Saturday at the University High Tournament in Morgantown, W. Va. Local persons planning to go to the event should follow I-48 west to Morgantown, take the Pierpont Road Exit just past Cheat Lake, go to the bottom of the hill and turn left onto Rt. 119, go three miles, take a right turn and follow the road up a hill to the school. The competition will get underway at 11 a.m.

The Rams' next home match at Southern Middle School will be next Wednesday at 7 p.m. against Central Preston.

ment and we quickly got everyone out into the garage. But pretty soon there were flames in there too and we all went outside."

Mrs. Murphy said Mr. Murphy attempted to extinguish the blaze with a garden hose from the garage, but the flames soon spread and forced him and Mr. Baker out of the house.

The Bakers are now accepting donations of furniture and household goods to assist the Murphys. "We have plenty of clothes now," she said, "but they need things like sheets, towels, wash cloths, dishes, and personal things. They just lost everything."

The Murphys' children include: Shena, 8; Nathan, 7; Sheila, 6; and Andrew, 3.

The Murphys did have some insurance on the house and contents. Persons who have furniture or other items to donate to the family are asked to contact the Bakers at 334-2467, or bring the items to their residence at 301 Roanoke Ave., Loch Lynn.

Firemen remained on the scene for about one and one-half hours. Also responding were the Southern Rescue Squad and the county air cascade vehicle, currently being housed at Bittering VFD.

Firemen from Gorman and Bayard, with assistance from Oakland's tanker, responded to the Sunday morning fire at the Livengood residence and likewise found that single-story wood frame structure fully involved in flames upon their arrival.

According to Mrs. Livengood, she and her husband were awakened at about 5 a.m. by their 5-year-old daughter, Jessica, who said that the family cat had awakened her. Mrs. Livengood said that soon after that, the smoke alarms in the house sounded and Mr. Livengood went to investigate and discovered the fire. The family then fled the burning structure.

Mrs. Livengood said the cat ran into the basement, but was later saved by fire fighters.

According to Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, the blaze was most likely caused by a cracked flue.

The fire was brought under control quickly, but not before the entire structure was gutted. Also responding to the scene were the air cascade vehicle and Southern Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Livengood said that the property was insured. The family is presently staying with her parents.

Oakland and Deer Park fire fighters were also called out last night shortly after 7 p.m. to respond to a fire off Decatur Street in Mtn. Lake Park. Destroyed in the blaze was a three-story tree-house, located in a wooded section approximately 200 yards off the roadway. Brush units from Deer Park VFD were used to reach the scene; however, the structure was burned to the ground. Further details, such as the owner of the structure and cause of the fire, were unavailable at presstime.

the authority, added that the charges for the Oakland area (excluding the Cherry Glade service area) had been sent out in March, and two payments had been made since then. If the legal debt were added into Oakland's bill now, it would cost users an additional $50, approximately. She also added that the council had been battling the problem for a long time, and a decision had to be made.

The minutes of the Nov. 19 meeting state that Robert Watson, local attorney, advised the group to place the debt in the capital cost portion of the users' bill. In an interview with Watson, he explained that the action was completely legal, as the statute states that the sewer authority has the right to list in the capital cost area any fees, assessments, or charges they may have incurred.

Watson, who was the town's representative in the law suit, also said that he had asked Wendell Beitzel, G.C. Sanitary District administrator, on several occasions not to press charges originally because of the inevitable cost of such a pursuit. Beitzel was not available for comment.

Also not available to comment on the issue was Oakland Mayor Asa McCain. Further details are forthcoming in next week's edition of The Republican.

CHRISTMAS COFFEE RING

3/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 cup ground almonds
3 cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 cup chopped mixed candied fruits
Thin Confectioners' Sugar Frosting
Red candied cherries
Pecan halves
Sliced green candied pineapple

Cream 1/4 cup each butter and sugar, then add lemon rind and almonds and mix well, set aside. In large bowl, mix remaining sugar, the flour and salt. Add remaining 1/2 cup butter and work in with fingers or pastry blender as for piecrust. Soften yeast in the warm water and add to flour mixture. Beat egg with the milk and add mixture. Beat well with wooden spoon and turn into lightly greased bowl. Cover tightly with sheet of plastic wrap and refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight. Punch down, then roll dough on lightly floured board to a 14"x10" rectangle. Sprinkle butter-sugar mixture evenly over dough; then spread evenly with chopped mixed candied fruits. Roll up from long side as for jelly roll and seal edges by pinching together. Put, sealed edge down, in ring on lightly greased baking sheet. Seal ends together firmly. With scissors or sharp knife, cut through ring from edge to center about three quarters of the way, making a cut every 3". Set a greased custard cup in center. Cover and let rise in warm place about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated 350F oven about 30 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Then put on serving plate and decorate with frosting, candied cherries, pecan halves and candied pineapple. If desired, set a nondrip candle in center of ring.

Thin Confectioners Sugar Frosting:
Add 1 to 2 tablespoons hot milk a little at a time to 1 cup confectioners' sugar, stirring to blend thoroughly, until mixture is of thin spreading consistency. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract and mix well.

HOLIDAY BREADS

4-4 1/2 cups all purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/3 cups milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon sesame seeds
18 unblanched almonds
1 tablespoon raisins

In large bowl of electric mixer thoroughly blend 2 cups flour, the sugar, salt and yeast. Melt butter in saucepan, add milk and heat until very warm (120F). Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat at medium speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour and beat at medium speed 2 minutes. Stir in enough of remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic (about 10 minutes). Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place free from drafts until doubled in bulk (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down and knead on lightly floured surface until smooth and elastic. Divide in half and pat or roll one half to a 7 1/2" circle. Put on greased baking sheet. Divide remaining half in 3 equal pieces. Shape each into 3/4" rope, braid ropes, then shape in circle, pinching ends together. Put on greased baking sheet. Let breads rise in warm place until light (about 30 minutes). Brush both with egg and sprinkle braid with sesame seeds. On round bread, press almonds and raisins firmly into dough in any desired pattern, then brush again with egg. Bake both in preheated 350F oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden. Remove to racks to cool. Best served freshly baked, or store airtight in cool place about 1 week. Can be frozen up to 3 months.

HOLIDAY COFFEECAKE

1 cup warm water
4 cups all purpose flour
8 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
Vanilla Frosting
Red candied cherries

HOLIDAY COFFEE WREATHS

6 cups all purpose flour, lightly spooned into cup
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup hot water
4 eggs, 3 at room temperature
Confectioners' sugar
Red or green candied pineapple and cherries

Prepare Filling and set aside while making dough. To make dough, measure flour onto a piece of waxed paper. Dolly Parton enjoys a family Christmas

200 relatives unite for ABC TV special

By Amy Schmidt

Growing up in the foothills of the Smoky Mountains, little Dolly Parton waited for Santa every Christmas. She never saw him. "I figured he couldn't find his way that far back into the Smokies," said country music's glamour queen.

Who would have thought that, with or without Santa, one day young Dolly would make Christmas come to her house. On Friday, Dec. 21, she does just that on her ABC special, Dolly Parton ... Home for Christmas.

Over 200 (count 'em) of Dolly's relatives will join her. Dolly has six brothers, five sisters, 15 nieces and nephews, and then, of course, there are the cousins to contend with. Parton said the special is "the most expensive home video we've ever shot." They join Dolly for singing and reminiscing on her trip down memory lane.

"I'm from a very musical family," said Parton. In fact, her Uncle Bill, himself a musician, helped her make her start. When she was 10 years old, he borrowed a car to drive her to Nashville so Dolly could talk her way onto the Friday night Grand Ole Opry broadcast.

Her show biz-shy mate, Carl Dean, won't be participating in the special. "I didn't need to ask him. I'm sure he would've said, 'Hell no, you know better than to ask,'" she said. Dolly met her husband of 24 years at the Wishy Washy Laundromat her first day in Nashville. The asphalt contractor is rarely seen or photographed.

The first destination of Dolly Parton ... Home for Christmas will be the three-room cabin where she grew up. During most of those years, the tiny house didn't even have running water. But they always had a Christmas tree, said Dolly. Her father would cut one down, and they would decorate it with homemade ornaments.

Other destinations include her theme park, Dollywood, where some of her relatives are employed, and the Nashville studio where she recorded her Christmas album.

Superstar Dolly Parton celebrates the holiday with 200 relatives in her Smoky Mountain homeland in Dolly Parton ... Christmas at Home, Friday on ABC. Parton revisits the three-room cabin where she grew up and her Dollywood theme park.

Even if there were no special, Dolly makes a point to spend Christmas with her family every year. In 1984 she flew everyone, including her nieces and nephews, to her new home in Hawaii.

Truly, the girl in "the coat of many colors" has come a long way. Dolly is one of the country's wealthiest country music stars, having expanded her empire to recording, film and television. At one point, Dolly admitted she spent thousands of dollars each year on shoes alone. Her collection of blonde wigs exceeds 300. She owns rooms full of clothes.

Admittedly, she's larger than life. But Dolly said she's just got to have it all. "Since I was a child, I've loved anything that sparkles and shines. So Christmas gives me a great excuse to decorate my house with all that's gaudy and glittery. I'm sure I would make every interior decorator shudder at my overstatement. Hollywood-hillbilly taste, but I don't care what anyone says," she said. "Too much has always been just about enough for me, and Christmas is no exception."

Yes, Santa Claus, there is a Dolly.

Julius LaRosa got an agent, then got canned

By Polly Vonetes

Q: What did Julius LaRosa do so bad on The Arthur Godfrey Show that warranted his being fired while on the air? It happened on Oct. 19, 1953. —Kevin Brehm, Atascadero, Calif.

A: Julius LaRosa was in the Navy when Godfrey first heard him sing. Impressed, he promised LaRosa a job on his show when he left the Navy. By the spring of 1952, LaRosa was a regular, and a popular one. His television exposure helped him launch a recording career. By the middle of 1953, LaRosa's fan mail outstripped Godfrey's. Meanwhile, Godfrey had a hip operation. When he returned to the show, he felt some of his regulars had become lazy. The first of the last straws came when LaRosa missed a ballet lesson Godfrey had ordered for all the cast. Godfrey abruptly yanked LaRosa from the next day's broadcast. LaRosa, upset, hired an agent, and it was a known fact Godfrey never dealt with agents. On Monday, Oct. 19, 1953, Godfrey brought LaRosa on for the last spot on the morning show. After innocently asking whether LaRosa thought doing the show "was a pain in the neck," he bade him do his song. At the conclusion of the number, Godfrey announced, "That, folks, was Julie's swan song," and closed the show.

Q: I am a real TV fan, and I like to know all I can about my favorite shows, so here are my questions: What ever happened to the actress Stephanie Kramer, who played Dee Dee on Hunter? What happened to The Outsiders on Fox? —Janet Prill, Amsterdam, N.Y.

A: Stephanie Kramer gave up her six-year role as Sgt. Dee Dee McCall on Hunter to pursue her singing career, a dream she has had since childhood. She is currently recording an album. I am sorry to tell you The Outsiders has been canceled, and there is little chance of it coming back.

Q: I would appreciate information on Edward Woodward, particularly his school years. I believe he attended the same school as me in Wallington, Surrey, England. Can you confirm or deny this please? —Olive MacLeod, Cimarron, Colo.

A: Edward Woodward just may be a schoolmate of yours. He was born on June 1, 1930, in Croydon, Surrey, England. He grew up in suburban London near Croydon Airport, a favorite target for German bombers. He says his school was hit five times, and he was once briefly buried alive. For more detailed information about his early years, I suggest you write his very active fan club at: EQ/EW International, 1021 West Gregory, Normal, IL 61761.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest will be answered.

Olivia Newton-John makes her TV movie debut as a mannequin who comes to life and makes a little girl's wish come true in A Mom for Christmas, Monday on NBC.

Olivia Newton-John makes TV movie debut

Mannequin grants Christmas wish

By Mary Ann Townsend

Olivia Newton-John's first television acting role seems to have been tailor-made. Not only does the popular singer get to perform a song for the background of one scene, but she also gets to play a mother, a role she cherishes in real life.

Newton-John makes her television acting debut in A Mom for Christmas, starring with Doug Sheehan and Juliet Sorrey in a tale about a young girl whose Yuletide wish is for a mom.

Newton-John stars as a department store mannequin who overhears the girl's wish and comes to life to fulfill it. In real life, Newton-John's own most memorable Christmas wish was granted when she gave birth to a healthy daughter, Chloe, in January of 1986.

In addition to tapping her parenting and singing skills, A Mom for Christmas touches on Newton-John's Australian roots. Born Sept. 26, 1948, in Cambridge, England, she and her family moved to Australia when she was 5 years old.

Her homesickness for Australia led to another endeavor that was worked into the movie. Several years ago she and longtime friend Pat Carroll contemplated opening a local Aussie hangout, and in 1984 on trendy Melrose Avenue in Los Angeles, they opened their boutique, Koala Blue. Now they sell their designer clothes in 55 stores worldwide. Those clothes were incorporated into the movie, Newton-John said.

"I'm wearing Koala Blue clothes in the movie, everything I wear," Newton-John said, cheerfully agreeing that was a nice way to get free advertising.

'The Blackboard Jungle' places rock music in serious context

By Steven Alan McGaw

A few weeks ago, I wrote about one of my favorite dumb movies, The Girl Can't Help It. Dumb as it is, the film was important in its time as one of the first "rock 'n' roll" movies. Another work that really clarified the music, like it or not, as the emerging soundtrack of America's youth was...

The Blackboard Jungle (1955)

Richard Brooks directed this landmark film based on Evan Hunter's novel about a teacher's harrowing experience in a New York City high school. Glenn Ford is tremendous as the teacher whose eyes are opened in a way he never expected. Sidney Poitier, in his screen debut, is riveting as one of Ford's troubled students.

The rest of class/cast rises to the occasion as well. (Look for a very young Jamie Farr.) Anne Francis and Louis Calhern also give fine performances. This film is a treat to watch, but don't sit down expecting light entertainment; this is serious stuff and places the music in a serious context as well.

Something else to look for in the video store is Industrial Symphony No. 1, created by David Lynch (yes, that one) and Angelo Badalamenti. This weird, arresting performance piece features more haunting vocals from singer Julie Cruise, the blonde waif who shows up occasionally at the Twin Peaks roadhouse to sing the theme song ("Falling").

Frosty, Charlie Brown star in Christmas classics

By Lee Irby

Frosty, that "jolly, happy soul" whose old silk hat full of magic has turned him into a musical Christmas legend, demonstrates his unique showmanship in the popular holiday perennial Frosty the Snowman. The animated special is narrated by Jimmy Durante and is to be re-broadcast Wednesday, Dec. 19, on CBS.

Comedian Jackie Vernon provides the voice for Frosty in the musical Christmas fable based on the popular song of the same title by Jack Rollins and Steve Nelson.

Another Christmas favorite, A Charlie Brown Christmas, is back this year. Charlie and Linus weed through all the commercialized trees to find the true, unornamented meaning of the Yuletide season. The show is also broadcast on Dec. 19 on CBS.

For a true trip back to the past, tune in to The Judy Garland Christmas Show on The Disney Channel, Sunday, Dec. 16. Legendary singer Judy Garland will be featured in a series of specials on The Disney Channel's Sunday Night Showcase. Garland performs holiday melodies with her children Liza Minnelli and Lorna and Joey Luft.

TBS is showing a plethora of Christmas movies, all week including Pocketful of Miracles, The Bells of St. Mary's, Miracle on 34th Street, A Little House Christmas, A Christmas Story and It's a Wonderful Life.

Kevin Costner to play lead in retelling of Robin Hood

By Steven Alan McGaw

Kevin Costner's next film is Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves. Guess who Costner plays! (And if you haven't seen his Dances With Wolves, currently on view, do so! It's a stunner.)

Odessa, Texas may not be pleased to hear this. Alan Pakula will follow his terrific Presumed Innocent by directing the film version of Friday Night Lights. H.G. Bissinger's controversial book about a small town's obsession with high school football and the victims such fanaticism leaves in its wake. No word on casting yet.

On Sunday, Dec. 16, cable's VH-1 will premiere two new episodes of the usually excellent VH-1 to One series. The new ones focus on Elton John (with vintage home movies, yet) and Whitney Houston.

This sounds interesting. Paramount plans to re-release Bernardo Bertolucci's 1977 work, 1900. Starring Robert DeNiro and Gerard Depardieu (both bigger stars today), the film will be restored to its original five-hour running time. (C'mon, you might like it!)

Condolences to the family and friends of film historian and AIDS activist Vito Russo, who died of the tragic disease Nov. 7.

Production starts in January on Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure II. Awesome, dudes!

On the other hand, production is well underway on a project titled Nudist Colony of the Dead. No comment...

Movie offerings sparse as holiday specials prevail

By Christy Bergslien

Network movie offerings are sparse with holiday programming taking up most of the week, but here goes:

Sunday, Dec. 16, on ABC, Michelle Pfeiffer, Susan Sarandon and Cher appear in The Witches of Eastwick. Three bewitching New England ladies inadvertently conjure up the perfect devil of a man — Jack Nicholson. Not to be missed, this wildly funny story has a bit of everything.

CBS' lone cinematic offering, Fletch Lives, broadcasts Tuesday, Dec. 18. Chevy Chase and Richard Libertini return from this film's 1985 precursor. Chase plays a smart-alecky undercover cop who finds himself in New Orleans. When he inherits a Southern plantation in drastic need of repair, the usual Chase brand of pratfalls ensue.

An original and heartwarming Yuletide tale airs Monday, Dec. 17, on NBC. Olivia Newton-John plays a mannequin who comes to life after a motherless girl wishes she had a mother of her own for Christmas. Eleven-year-old Juliet Sorrey plays the part of the wistful child. The role is Newton-John's first on television.

Michael J. Fox and Christopher Lloyd take us Back to the Future Dec. 16 on NBC. Crispin Glover and Lea Thompson also star in this hit comedy about a teenager whose time travel back to 1955 alters the course of his young parents' lives.

© TV Listings Inc.

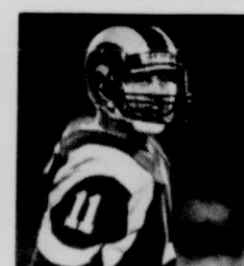

Megan Follows and Uta Hagen star in "Seasonal Differences," Thursday's ABC Afterschool Special.

Crystal Bernard plays the lifelong friend of two pilots who own a small airline in Wings, Fridays on NBC.

Michael J. Fox travels back in time to the 1950s in Back to the Future, Sunday on NBC.

Ramsa quarterback Jim Everett is set to clash with the 49ers on ABC's Monday Night Football.

Jane Curtin plays a divorcee in a new relationship in Working It Out, Saturdays on NBC.

Walter Cronkite compares U.S. and Canadian health care systems in Borderline Medicine, Monday on PBS.

Board Cuts Revenue Estimates By $353 Million, Cites Slow Economy

The Maryland Board of Revenue Estimates, consisting of State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein (chairman), State Treasurer Lucille Maurer and State Budget Secretary Charles L. Benton, met in Annapolis December 6 and informed Governor William Donald Schaefer that state revenues are growing "extremely slowly." Slowing consumer spending, a falloff in construction activity, and a decline in employment projections caused the board to reduce its earlier estimate of general fund revenue by $353.2 million.

The Board of Revenue Estimates last presented projections in December 1989. At that time, it estimated fiscal year 1991 general fund revenue would total $6.3 billion. The board's most recent projection reduced that estimate to $5.9 billion. Fiscal year 1991 ends June 30, 1991. The board projects fiscal year 1992 general fund revenue will total $6.3 billion.

"Analyzing the national economic prospects, we found it necessary to reduce our estimates for individual and corporation income taxes, sales and use taxes, the tax on net earnings of financial institutions, the property transfer tax and interest on investments," Comptroller Goldstein said.

The $5.9 billion in general fund revenue expected for fiscal year 1991 represents a 3.5% growth over last year, while the $6.3 billion projected for fiscal year 1992 represents a 6.6% growth over the 1991 figure.

In its analysis, the board provided projections for specific state revenues, based on economic trends and changes in state law.

Income Tax

The board reduced its earlier estimate of net individual income tax revenue to the state for fiscal year 1991 by $116.6 million to $3,019,277,000.

Individual income tax projections are being reduced because of a slowdown in the growth of Maryland personal income and employment. "This is critical because it directly affects the tax withheld by employers and submitted to the state, our largest source of income tax revenue," Goldstein said.

Adverse market conditions and the failure of the U.S. Congress to enact new capital gains tax treatment will continue to encourage taxpayers to defer selling stocks, bonds and real estate, thereby reducing Maryland's tax revenue.

The board projects fiscal year 1992 individual income tax revenue to total $3,290,965,000. These estimates are for the state income tax, exclusive of the local "piggyback" income tax.

Corporation income taxes are expected to produce $131,858,000 in net revenue for the general fund in fiscal year 1991, or $46.3 million less than earlier projected, because of the outlook for corporate profits. Corporation income taxes are expected to produce $143,534,000 in net revenue for the general fund in fiscal year 1992.

Sales & Use Tax

The board stated that Maryland sales and use tax revenue has grown slowly since March, 1989. The months of January, October and November, 1990, each produced less sales and use tax revenue than the comparable months of 1989. "This is the first time we have experienced that kind of falloff in sales and use tax revenue," Mr. Goldstein said.

An actual decline in the construction-related categories of sales and use tax, combined with dramatically slower consumer spending are the reasons the board cut its earlier projections for fiscal year 1991 sales and use tax revenue by $120.4 million, to $1,580,423,000. This represents a growth of only one-half of one percent over fiscal year 1990. Citing a more favorable outlook for construction, capital goods and consumer spending in fiscal year 1992, the board projects a 6.5% growth in sales and use tax revenue, to $1,682,017,000.

revenue estimates reduced by the board includes franchises, excises and fees. The Board of Revenue Estimates reduced its earlier projections for these revenues by $78.5 million for fiscal year 1991 to $338,802,000. Revenue estimates for interest on investments, business franchise taxes, death taxes, and property transfer taxes were reduced, reflecting lower earnings for financial institutions and the poor real estate market. For fiscal year 1992, franchises, excises and fees are expected to produce $850,335,000.

State Lottery

The Board of Revenue Estimates increased its earlier projection of state lottery revenue for fiscal year 1991 by $8.5 million, to $333,914,000, largely due to sales of the new "Winner Take All" and the implementation of a weeknight, "Second Draw" lotto game. Maryland lottery revenues are expected to generate $325,471,000 for fiscal year 1992.

Transportation

Aside from general fund revenues, the Board of Revenue Estimates also projects transportation revenues each year. Slumping motor vehicle sales and higher fuel prices are resulting in lower motor vehicle titling tax and motor vehicle fuel tax revenue. The board expects $954.7 million in transportation revenue for fiscal year 1991. Transportation revenues are projected to total $967.1 million for fiscal year 1992.

"We will continue to monitor all of these revenues and will give the governor any changes that may occur between now and the middle of March, when the legislature will be in session and will be considering the governor's budget," Goldstein said.

New Educational Opportunities For Nurses Announced

As part of its continued commitment to the nurses in Western Maryland, The University of Maryland School of Nursing will again offer the nursing transition courses at a Cumberland site beginning in January, provided that there are adequate numbers of interested students registered, according to a University spokesman.

This series of courses is designed for registered nurses who graduated from a nursing program before 1984 and are interested in working towards a Bachelor's degree in nursing. Previously available only to nurses who graduated prior to 1979, this transition course option has been expanded and has become a permanent part of the state-wide nursing education articulation plan.

In-state nursing graduates after 1984 and out-of-state graduates become eligible for this option in 1992. Susan Coyle, RN, MS, an instructor for the University of Maryland School of Nursing and the local coordinator for the transition courses, encourages all interested registered nurses who qualify to take advantage of this opportunity.

The Nursing Concepts Transition Course will be offered during the Spring 1991 semester. This course requires three hours of classroom time per week for fifteen weeks; the course will be scheduled during evening hours, one evening per week. Course content includes a review of all body systems, an update on the use of the nursing process and nursing diagnosis, and a review of human growth and development. Course grades are determined on a pass/fail basis.

In addition to the Nursing Concepts transition course, nurses eligible for this option will need to take the social sciences and the physical sciences transition courses. These courses will also be offered in Cumberland for sufficient numbers of enrollees. Completion of all three transition courses plus thirty-two additional credits of prerequisite college course work prepares a registered nurse for admission to the senior nursing courses offered by the University of Maryland. These nursing courses are available in Cumberland through the University's Outreach Program.

For further information, nurses can contact Ms. Coyle at 724-5312 after 5 p.m. A final count of students is needed by January 4, 1991 in order to complete class plans and registration.

GCC Students, Fifth Graders Learn At Camp Hickory

Age differential did not seem to matter when fifth graders and college students participated together in an outdoor education weekend at Camp Hickory early in November. According to Ann Wellham, coordinator of athletics at Garrett Community College, 36 fifth grade students from Accident and Friendsville Elementary Schools attended the weekend, where they were instructed by college-age counselors — seven from GCC and 10 from Frost-

burg State University.

The students arrived at Camp Hickory late on Friday afternoon, settled into their cabins, and then participated in a variety of evening activities. These included knot tying, nature and rhythm bands, food chain webbing, and story telling and sing-along. Following breakfast Saturday morning, the students participated in activities that included making survival kits and shoe box constellation views, using maps and compasses, and learning nature identification. That afternoon they learned to build shelters and did arts and crafts.

According to Ms. Wellham, the weekend had four general objectives, with activities planned to accomplish these. The objectives were: to develop self concept and self-perception; to develop a knowledge and awareness of the out of doors; to expand on subject areas the students may have experienced in school, using the out-of-doors and outdoor education concepts; and to provide opportunity for socializing.

"The purpose behind the design of teaching outdoor education at Camp Hickory is twofold: to enable my students to be involved in a direct hands-on teaching experience incorporating outdoor education characteristics and techniques, and to provide a unique learning experience for the fifth graders in Garrett County," Ms. Wellham said. "The weekend was successful in meeting both purposes and enabled both my students and the fifth graders to leave Camp Hickory with a feeling of success and accomplishment. I often heard the comment, 'When can we go back?'"

The Holidays In Western Maryland

Being a part of our community is pretty nice around this time of year. You can hear laughter from kids sledding down the hill. Feel the warmth of a fire as it fills the room. And the smell of cookies baking is never too far away. Somehow everything seems all right.

It's a time when we help each other. Sure, a temper or two flares over a parking space, but still we realize our community is a special place. It's not any one thing that makes it special. It's just the way people here are.

At First Federal Savings Bank, we're proud to be a part of this community and we're committed to taking care of its people. To us, that's about the most important thing.

So from all of us at First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, we wish you and your family the best of holidays and a happy New Year.

GCFT/AFT

Hold Reception
At Pizzeria Uno

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers (GCFT)/American Federation of Teachers (AFT) held their annual legislative reception on December 6 at Pizzeria Uno, Deep Creek Lake, with approximately 65 educators and local legislators in attendance.

Among the highlights of the evening were guest speakers Delegate George C. Edwards, County Commissioner Brenda Butscher, Board of Education President Beverly Murphy, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, and Federation of Maryland Teachers/AFT Representative Betty Pitt.

In her remarks, Pitt stressed that the GCFT/AFT and the Federation of Maryland Teachers/AFT are committed to equity in funding for education.

She added, "Where a child lives should not determine the quality of his/her education. Teachers should be able to earn a fair salary everywhere in the State and be able to move from jurisdiction to jurisdiction and not suffer a loss in salary. Our union is working with other organizations throughout the State to assure that each and every child matters and that they get a fair shake. We cannot settle for less. All of our futures are at stake."

EMS Advisory Council To Address Shortage Of Emergency Technicians

The Region I Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council and local ambulance services will co-sponsor community meetings in Allegany and Garrett counties to assist in recruitment of new emergency medical technicians. Working with the Tri-Towns Ambulance & Rescue Service, Georges Creek Ambulance Service, Frostburg Area Ambulance Service, and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, the EMS Council hopes to alert citizens to the need of new emergency medical technicians.

A recent study conducted by the Council pinpointed areas in Western Allegany County and Northern Garrett County where severe day-time manpower shortages result in delayed ambulance response to emergency situations. Ambulance services in these areas are attempting to provide the best response possible, but with the limited manpower available during the day it is impossible to assure 100% coverage to accidents and sudden illness.

Fran Pope, Council president, stated, "The goal of the community meetings is to give a better understanding of the problems to the citizens in areas experiencing these problems and to recruit interested persons for EMT courses."

The community meetings will consist of a description of the problems associated with day-time EMT coverage, an explanation of the emergency medical technician training, and ways persons can become members of an ambulance service in their town.

The first community meeting to be held will be for the Westport area on December 19 at 7 p.m. in the Westport Senior Citizen Center.

Individuals interested in learning more about this problem should contact the Region I EMS Office at (301) 895-5934.

State Jobless Rate Unchanged, County's Lower

Maryland's unemployment rate remained unchanged in October at 4.5 percent for the fourth consecutive month, according to the statistics released by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

The jobless rate in Garrett County dropped slightly from 8.0 percent in September to 7.8 percent in October. The rate for October of last year was 5.5 percent.

Nationally, the jobless rate fell slightly from 5.5 percent in September to 5.4 percent in October while Maryland's unemployment rate continues to hold steady.

During October, the state labor force declined by 15,373 people in Maryland from 2,545,139 in September to 2,529,766. Employment fell by 15,443 people from 2,431,267 to 2,415,824 while those unemployed increased by 70 from 113,872 in September to 113,942.

A decline in the labor force, not unusual at this time of year, was exaggerated by a larger than expected number of workers leaving the labor force.

Private sector payrolls indicated seasonal layoffs during October, especially in the trade and services industries, and less business activity in construction and real estate.

In both the Baltimore metropolitan area and in Maryland's D.C. suburbs, unemployment rates held steady at 4.9 percent and 3.6 percent, respectively. In Harford County, an additional 185 jobless people increased joblessness from 4.0 percent to 4.2 percent.

In the Washington, D.C. suburban area, unemployment in Charles County rose from 3.0 percent to 3.3 percent as layoffs occurred in the construction industry. In Frederick County, workers leaving the job market reduced unemployment from 4.9 percent to 4.7 percent.

Although Garrett County's rate was lower, unemployment increased slightly in the Western Maryland region, from 6.8 percent in September to 7.0 percent in October.

On the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland, the unemployment rate increased from 5.3 percent to 5.6 percent. Worcester County's jobless rate, most affected by seasonal changes, rose from 4.5 percent in September to 7.4 percent in October.

Locally, unemployment rates in October ranged from a low of 2.9 percent in Queen Anne's and Montgomery counties to a high of 7.8 percent in Garrett and Somerset counties.

GCC Students, Fifth Graders Learn At Camp Hickory

Age differential did not seem to matter when fifth graders and college students participated together in an outdoor education weekend at Camp Hickory early in November.

According to Ann Wellham, coordinator of athletics at Garrett Community College, 36 fifth grade students from Accident and Friendsville Elementary Schools attended the weekend, where they were instructed by college-age counselors — seven from GCC and 10 from Frostburg State University. The students arrived at Camp Hickory late on Friday afternoon, settled into their cabins, and then participated in a variety of evening activities.

These included knot tying, nature and rhythm bands, food chain webbing, and story telling and sing-along. Following breakfast Saturday morning, the students participated in activities that included making survival kits and shoe box constellation views, using maps and compasses, and learning nature identification. That afternoon they learned to build shelters and did arts and crafts.

According to Ms. Wellham, the weekend had four general objectives, with activities planned to accomplish these. The objectives were: to develop self concept and self-perception; to develop a knowledge and awareness of the out of doors; to expand on subject areas the students may have experienced in school, using the out-of-doors and outdoor education concepts; and to provide opportunity for socializing.

"The purpose behind the design of teaching outdoor education at Camp Hickory is twofold: to enable my students to be involved in a direct hands-on teaching experience incorporating outdoor education characteristics and techniques, and to provide a unique learning experience for the fifth graders in Garrett County," Ms. Wellham said. "The weekend was successful in meeting both purposes and enabled both my students and the fifth graders to leave Camp Hickory with a feeling of success and accomplishment. I often heard the comment, 'When can we go back?'"

Arrangements have also been made to assist program participants with the purchase of books to be used in taking classes up to $20.00 per class, depending on income.

A sum of $1,300 has been set aside to assist program participants needing child care and/or transportation assistance while taking training. Income eligibility will be the determining factor in providing this assistance.

Interested persons may contact New Horizons between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., weekdays at 387-0666, ext. 171, for more information or to schedule an appointment, or they may visit the New Horizons office at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room 302, formerly the mining technology building.

presented a gift from the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, Dick Travis, and Judy presented Elizabeth Mullenex with an honorary membership to Oakland Chapter.

A program was presented to all Master Masons after the meeting was closed entitled "Married to a Mason" by Debbie Raynovich and Sharon Perando and a gift presented to each. All Sisters in attendance were presented two poinsettias by Dick and Judy; a red one for her to wear and a white one to present to a non-active Sister and invite her to attend Chapter. A fruit basket or gift will be delivered to shut-in members by Judy, Dick, and any volunteers.

The next meeting will be December 18, the Christmas meeting. In lieu of gift exchanges, each member is asked to bring a monetary gift of $5.00 to pin on the Christmas tree, and then a check will be sent to the trust for Jesse Swartzentruber.

After the meeting, refreshments were served by the committee of Patsy DeWitt, Helen Henline, Elizabeth McComas, and Ethel Jane Deckman. The Worthy Matron closed with "Where there is Love."

GCC Students, Fifth Graders Learn At Camp Hickory

Age differential did not seem to matter when fifth graders and college students participated together in an outdoor education weekend at Camp Hickory early in November. According to Ann Wellham, coordinator of athletics at Garrett Community College, 36 fifth grade students from Accident and Friendsville Elementary Schools attended the weekend, where they were instructed by college-age counselors — seven from GCC and 10 from Frost-

burg State University.

The students arrived at Camp Hickory late on Friday afternoon, settled into their cabins, and then participated in a variety of evening activities. These included knot tying, nature and rhythm bands, food chain webbing, and story telling and sing-along. Following breakfast Saturday morning, the students participated in activities that included making survival kits and shoe box constellation views, using maps and compasses, and learning nature identification. That afternoon they learned to build shelters and did arts and crafts.

According to Ms. Wellham, the weekend had four general objectives, with activities planned to accomplish these. The objectives were: to develop self concept and self-perception; to develop a knowledge and awareness of the out of doors; to expand on subject areas the students may have experienced in school, using the out-of-doors and outdoor education concepts; and to provide opportunity for socializing.

"The purpose behind the design of teaching outdoor education at Camp Hickory is twofold: to enable my students to be involved in a direct hands-on teaching experience incorporating outdoor education characteristics and techniques, and to provide a unique learning experience for the fifth graders in Garrett County," Ms. Wellham said. "The weekend was successful in meeting both purposes and enabled both my students and the fifth graders to leave Camp Hickory with a feeling of success and accomplishment. I often heard the comment, 'When can we go back?'"

Tuition Money For Vocational Training Available

The New Horizons Program, a single parent/homemaker displaced homemaker project sponsored by Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education and Garrett Community College, still has available for the 1990-91 funding year which began July 1, 1990, $6,000 tuition assistance money to be used by eligible program participants in pursuing vocational training in both non-credit and credit areas. Credit tuition assistance is a continuing part of the program again this funding year, along with the non-credit tuition assistance, and the New Horizons staff is ready to make this money available to clients interested in credit classes in the vocational area.

Arrangements have also been made to assist program participants with the purchase of books to be used in taking classes up to $20.00 per class, depending on income.

A sum of $1,200 has been set aside to assist program participants needing child care and/or transportation assistance while taking training. Income eligibility will be the determining factor in providing this assistance.

Interested persons may contact New Horizons between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., weekdays at 387-6666, ext. 171, for more information or to schedule an appointment, or they may visit the New Horizons office at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room 302, formerly the mining technology building.

The Holidays In Western Maryland

Being a part of our community is pretty nice around this time of year. You can hear laughter from kids sledding down the hill. Feel the warmth of a fire as it fills the room. And the smell of cookies baking is never too far away. Somehow everything seems all right.

It's a time when we help each other. Sure, a temper or two flares over a parking space, but still we realize our community is a special place. It's not any one thing that makes it special. It's just the way people here are.

At First Federal Savings Bank, we're proud to be a part of this community and we're committed to taking care of its people. To us, that's about the most important thing.

So from all of us at First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, we wish you and your family the best of holidays and a happy New Year.

GCFT/AFT Hold Reception At Pizzaria Uno

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers (GCFT)/American Federation of Teachers (AFT) held their annual legislative reception on December 6 at Pizzaria Uno, Deep Creek Lake, with approximately 65 educators and local legislators in attendance.

Among the highlights of the evening were guest speakers Delegate George C. Edwards, County Commissioner Brenda Butscher, Board of Education President Beverly Murphy, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, and Federation of Maryland Teachers/AFT Representative Betty Pitt.

In her remarks, Pitt stressed that the GCFT/AFT and the Federation of Maryland Teachers/AFT are committed to equity in funding for education.

She added, "Where a child lives should not determine the quality of his/her education. Teachers should be able to earn a fair salary everywhere in the State and be able to move from jurisdiction to jurisdiction and not suffer a loss in salary. Our union is working with other organizations throughout the State to assure that each and every child matters and that they get a fair shake. We cannot settle for less. All of our futures are at stake."

EMS Advisory Council To Address Shortage Of Emergency Technicians

The Region I Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council and local ambulance services will co-sponsor community meetings in Allegany and Garrett counties to assist in recruitment of new emergency medical technicians. Working with the Tri-Towns Ambulance & Rescue Service, Georges Creek Ambulance Service, Frostburg Area Ambulance Service, and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, the EMS Council hopes to alert citizens to the need of new emergency medical technicians.

A recent study conducted by the Council pinpointed areas in Western Allegany County and Northern Garrett County where severe day-time manpower shortages result in delayed ambulance response to emergency situations. Ambulance services in these areas are attempting to provide the best response possible, but with the limited manpower available during the day it is impossible to assure 100% coverage to accidents and sudden illness.

Fran Pope, Council president, stated, "The goal of the community meetings is to give a better understanding of the problems to the citizens in areas experiencing these problems and to recruit interested persons for EMT courses."

The community meetings will consist of a description of the problems associated with day-time EMT coverage, an explanation of the emergency medical technician training, and ways persons can become members of an ambulance service in their town.

The first community meeting to be held will be for the Westernport area on December 19 at 7 p.m. in the Westernport Senior Citizen Center.

Individuals interested in learning more about this problem should contact the Region I EMS Office at (301) 895-5934.

State Jobless Rate Unchanged, County's Lower

Maryland's unemployment rate remained unchanged in October at 4.5 percent for the fourth consecutive month, according to the statistics released by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

The jobless rate in Garrett County dropped slightly from 8.0 percent in September to 7.8 percent in October. The rate for October of last year was 5.5 percent.

Nationally, the jobless rate fell slightly from 5.5 percent in September to 5.4 percent in October while Maryland's unemployment rate continues to hold steady.

During October, the state labor force declined by 15,373 people in Maryland from 2,545,139 in September to 2,529,766. Employment fell by 15,443 people from 2,431,267 to 2,415,824 while those unemployed increased by 70 from 113,872 in September to 113,942.

A decline in the labor force, not unusual at this time of year, was exaggerated by a larger than expected number of workers leaving the labor force.

Private sector payrolls indicated seasonal layoffs during October, especially in the trade and services industries, and less business activity in construction and real estate.

In both the Baltimore metropolitan area and in Maryland's D.C. suburbs, unemployment rates held steady at 4.9 percent and 3.6 percent, respectively. In Harford County, an additional 185 jobless people increased joblessness from 4.0 percent to 4.2 percent.

In the Washington, D.C. suburban area, unemployment in Charles County rose from 3.0 percent to 3.3 percent as layoffs occurred in the construction industry. In Frederick County, workers leaving the job market reduced unemployment from 4.9 percent to 4.7 percent.

Although Garrett County's rate was lower, unemployment increased slightly in the Western Maryland region, from 6.8 percent in September to 7.0 percent in October.

On the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland, the unemployment rate increased from 5.3 percent to 5.6 percent. Worcester County's jobless rate, most affected by seasonal changes, rose from 4.5 percent in September to 7.4 percent in October.

Locally, unemployment rates in October ranged from a low of 2.9 percent in Queen Anne's and Montgomery counties to a high of 7.8 percent in Garrett and Somerset counties.

BITTINGER-GLADES

CHURCH NEWS

At a congregational meeting after worship services on Sunday morning, new council members were elected and the 1991 budget was adopted. The members of the building committee gave reports on how things are going in regard to the newly planned church building for Emmanuel.

Mrs. Ida Maust reports that members of the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church are planning to go caroling this Sunday evening. She also stated that anyone interested in joining the group is welcome to do so. The group plans to meet at the church at 7 p.m.

On Tuesday at their sewing circle meeting, they plan to wrap Christmas gifts which will go out to needy families in the community.

The annual Community Christmas party was well attended. Linda Buckel and Joyce Brenneman were in charge of the cake walk, which took in all age groups. Martha Giotfely furnished piano music for the walk-arounds. A quilt was on display and chances were sold for it. The winner of the quilt was Wayne Ellis. Santa put in an appearance after the singing of Christmas carols, and distributed gifts to the children.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

The former Patty Miller and her husband, David Doerr, announce the birth of a son, Aaron David, at their home in the Poconos. On Saturday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Miller, daughter, Tammy, Phyllis Miller, and two daughters visited the Doerr family in the Poconos. The new baby weighed 6 lbs., 11 ozs.

HOMEMAKERS' MEET

Mrs. Ralph Buckel was hostess to the Bittering Homemakers' Club at her home last Tuesday, with seven members and one guest present. Ethel presented the topic "Exercise for Everyone," in which most members participated. Ethel and Beulah Moon served refreshments. Others present were Marion Stephens, Nellie Hare, Leona Beitzel, Kathryn Bowser, Fernie Beachy and Connie Beachy, who was a guest.

ZION'S WOMEN MEET

Zion's Women of the ELCA held their monthly meeting at the church on December 4, with an attendance of five.

The program, "Christmas Lights," led by Leota Baker was in the form of worship and reflection. A special section of the program, "The Light Shines in the Darkness," consisted of testimonies, interspersed with Scripture and song.

The litany, "Witnesses to the Light," closed with the hymn "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

The Advent wreath has been made and was ready for lighting.

A "thank you" note was received from Clara Durst and Mrs. Kermit Bittering and a gift offering was also received from Mrs. Herman C. Meyers. Both ladies are former members of Zion's unit.

Plans were made to do sewing projects for the church homes during the winter months.

All cancelled postage stamps that have been saved during the year will be collected for shipment to the National Lutheran Home, Rockville, in January.

Newly-elected officers for the coming year are: president, Ruthella Resh; vice-president, Judy Stanton; secretary, Lucretia Stanton; and treasurer, Leota Baker. Shirley Yommer was appointed as Christmas Service Chairperson.

The Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 held a Christmas party at the Goodwill Nursing Home for all the patients and helpers on Friday evening. There were 15 people participating. Santa Claus appeared and treats were given to each one. A worship service was held and Christmas carols were sung, and some of the patients joined in the program.

LIGHTING SCHEDULED

A committee met at St. John's United Church of Christ to discuss plans for placing 1,000 luminary lights throughout the Grantsville Cemetery. The small candles are placed in a sand-filled paper bag. The meaning of these lighted candles, which comes from Mexico, is "Lighting the Way for Christ."

The lighting will be December 22. All volunteers will meet at the Rescue Squad at 2 p.m. to prepare the bags. Everyone is urged to bring cigarette lighters and small dippers. The bags will be loaded onto pickups and then placed at the Cemetery roadways.

William Grimm, a former teacher at Grantsville High School, expressed his desire to see this done. He and his wife, Ruth, are providing the candles and bags. Many volunteers are needed and all who can are urged to help — lot owners, townspeople, and organizations. Refreshments will be provided after the lighting.

In the event of bad weather, it will be re-scheduled for December 29. Persons should listen to WFRB Radio Station for any change.

The Mars Hill Homemakers met Tuesday, December 11, at the Jennings United Methodist Church for its Christmas turkey dinner. Each member took a covered dish.

Ruth Stanton, president, announced important dates. Christmas Carols were sung by the group and each one gave a Christmas reading.

Santa appeared and recited "Twas the Night Before Christmas." He gave each member a candy cane, an orange, and a gift.

The January meeting will be held Tuesday, January 8, at the Jennings United Methodist Church at noon. Each member is to bring a covered dish. Norma Bowser will be in charge of the games. To My Wife, Tonya

I know I needn't tell you that I love to have you near me,
Or what a comfort it has been to have you there to cheer me.
I know I needn't tell you, you bring purpose to my life,
Or that my joy has been complete since you became my wife.
I know I needn't tell you, but I want to tell you still,
That you mean everything to me, and you always will.

Stacy Dornier earned a master's degree in speech pathology from Indiana University of Pennsylvania and a bachelor's degree in communication disorders from Pennsylvania State University. Professionally, she has worked in Blair and Bedford counties assisting children suffering from speech impediments, and was a student teacher in the area of speech and hearing in the Hollidaysburg Area School District. She is a member of the National Student Speech, Hearing, and Language Association.

While at Pennsylvania State University, Dornier was selected as a member of the Outstanding College Students of America. She was also a member of the university's Student Activities Board.

In her present position, Dornier provides speech evaluations and therapy through the company's hospital and nursing

In her current role, she is director of ARA's nursing home based occupational therapy program. She is also expanding an Occupational Therapy program at Sacred Heart Hospital in the general and psychiatric populations.

A daughter of Douglas Robertson, Kitzmiller, she and her husband, Daniel, reside in Cumberland.

As physical therapy assistant, Marianne Vaughn works with patients in ARA's nursing home and outpatient treatment centers where she assists the physical therapist in evaluating the patient's limitations and future expectations, and helps the patient to develop or restore function and maintain maximum performance.

Vaughn received an associate degree of applied science from Central Ohio Technical College in Newark, Ohio, where she was a member of the Phi Theta Kappa National Honor Society.

She has been clinically affiliated with Licking Rehab Services, Newark, Ohio, and Worthington Physical Therapy and Ohio State University Hospitals in Columbus, Ohio.

Crellin Churches Unite To Present Holiday Cantata

"An Old Fashioned Christmas," a cantata arranged and composed by Don Wyrten, will be presented by the combined choirs of the three Crellin churches (United Methodist, Assembly of God and United Brethren).

The program will be performed this Friday, December 14, and again Sunday, December 16. Both performances will begin at 7 p.m. and be held at the Assembly of God Church.

The cantata is based on the diary of a young girl and her fond memories of Christmas in 1883. The musical contains many well-known holiday songs, as well as recent selections to present the "loving, positive message" of Jesus Christ, according to a church spokesman.

The choir is directed by Mary Giotfelty. The pianist is Elaine Bateman.

Soloists for the cantata include: Jill Anderson, Margaret Fulk, Jim Shaffer, Virginia Snyder, Debbie Zimmerman, and Tim Miller.

The host will be Tom Giotfelty, and Elizabeth, the young girl, will be played by Brittney Decker. The role of Timothy is played by Adam Miller. The Christmas story will be read by the Grandfather, played by Bob DeWitt.

The cantata will conclude with the "Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's "Messiah."

The public is welcome to attend.

Miss Frantz Becomes Bride Of Mr. Friend In September Ceremony

Kimberly Sue Frantz and Dennis Ray Friend were united in marriage September 15, 1990, at the Blooming Rose United Methodist Church, Friendsville. Rev. Ray Perkins performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Barbara S. Frantz, Wadsworth, Ohio, and the late Carol B. Frantz. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Nellie M. Frantz, Friendsville, with whom she resided. The bridegroom is the son of Gary and Leota Friend, Friendsville.

Given in marriage by her family and escorted to the altar by her brother, Gary Bruce Frantz, the bride was attired in a satin gown designed by Alfred Angelo. It featured a traditional high collar heavily trimmed in pearls and appliques. The fitted bodice of satin and illusion was embellished with pearls and sequins. The fitted sleeves featured window panes of illusion and applique. The skirt and semi-cathedral train were enhanced with applique and lace scalloped at the hem. The floral headpiece was made of silk flowers and pearl sprays featuring pout and bridal illusion. The bouquet was white carnations and red roses with baby's breath and greenery attached to a lace fan. She also carried a white bible, a gift given by the Rush Baptist Church. The red roses in the bouquet were in memory of her father.

Sherri Frantz served her cousin as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kimberly Fike, friend of the bride and groom, Cindy Frantz, sister of the groom, and Terry Friend, sister-in-law of the groom. Their tea-length dresses featured white lace over red satin bodice fitted and tapered to a basque waistline, with puffed sleeves and key-hole back accented with a bow. They were made and designed by the groom's mother. They carried a spray of white roses tipped in red.

The flower girls were Amanda Frantz, niece of the groom, and Samantha McCray and Nicole Bates, nieces of the bride.

Jeffrey McClintock served his friend as best man. Groomsmen were Gary E. Friend Jr., brother of the groom, Mark Frantz, brother-in-law of the groom, and David Lowdermilk, cousin of the groom. Gary E. Friend III, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Carole Frantz, aunt of the bride, was the pianist, and David Yoder and Leah Huber were vocalists. Selections included: "One Hand One Heart," "A Love Before The End of Time," "God, A Woman and A Man," "The Vows Go Unbroken" and "Lord's Prayer." Attending the guest book were Rodney and Linda Frazee. Vanessa Fowler and Stephanie Evans distributed the birdseed and Sarah Fowler handed out bulletins. Acolyte was Christopher Sanner.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Mountain Fellowship Center, Markleysburg, Pa. Nancy Arsenberger, aunt of the groom, baked the wedding cake, which featured a fountain and stairways with miniature bridesmaids and groomsmen. The top was a Precious Moments miniature bride and groom. Serving the cake was Thelma Grove, aunt of the bride, and Jeannie Kisner Meyers, friend of the couple. Music was provided by the Hot Mix Band, Friendsville. Joann Meyers, aunt of the groom, supervised the serving of food, made by family members.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of Northern High School and attended Allegany Community College. She is employed by Flushing Shirt Factory, Grantsville.

The groom is a 1985 graduate of Northern High School and is employed by Interstate Lumber Co.

Following a honeymoon at Deep Creek Lake, the new Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ray Friend established residence at Route 2, Box 40A, Friendsville.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was given a surprise bridal shower by her stepmother in Wadsworth, Ohio.

Another surprise shower was given by her attendants at the Rush Baptist Church. The bride was also honored at a bachelorette party at Scampy's II, Clarysville. The groom was the guest of a bachelor party given by his groomsmen at his best man's home. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's family at his home.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Texas.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere THANKS to relatives, co-workers, neighbors, friends, churches, high school and college classmates, doctors, nurses, ambulance attendants, and Ruby Memorial Hospital for all expressions of love during the hospital days and following the death of

KEVIN A. BEERBOWER

We thank his grade school and high school teachers who encouraged his education; the coaches and the teammates of the ball teams he played with; his fellow workers. Thanks to all who made his life so full and complete when he was living. The joy you gave him was a joy for us. We appreciate all the prayers that helped sustain us; the cards, calls, food, visits, flowers, and the donations to the Terra Alta Little League, church, and library in his memory.

Thanks to Rev. William Anderson, Rev. Bruce Hoffman, Rev. James Dempsey, Vivian McConnell, the men's choir of Terra Alta, Wright's Funeral Home, and the women who prepared the meal at Trinity Church for all their effort during the day of burial.

The outpour of love was a healing to our broken spirit. You gave us strength. The Lord gave us comfort and peace. There are no words to express how much each one means to us. Thank you.

Sincerely,
John & Barbara Beerbower

Pesticide Council Seeks Public Input On Issues

Governor William Donald Schaefer's Pesticide Council is seeking public participation and input to its subcommittees.

"We want the public to be part of our decision making process and we encourage people or groups to write the council with specific issues on pesticides," said Dr. Christine Eccles, chairperson of the council.

The council recently formed two subcommittees to focus on specific issues. The Regulatory Subcommittee will address pesticide use, storage, and disposal regulations. The Education Subcommittee will consider pesticide educational programs for farmers, commercial pesticide applicators and the general public. These two subcommittees will review current programs and make recommendations for improving pesticide use procedures. They will begin addressing specific issues in early January.

Governor William Donald Schaefer formed the Governor's Pesticide Council to provide a mechanism by which a variety of people could have input into evaluation and development of state pesticide management plans relating to pesticide use. The council will advise the governor on actions necessary to produce healthy agricultural products and to allow proper pest control while ensuring the health and safety of Maryland citizens and the environment. The council's 14 members represent pesticide manufacturers, regulators, scientists, pesticide users, environmental organizations and the public.

Anyone who wants a subcommittee or the council to address a specific issue should write directly to Dr. Christine Eccles, Chairperson, Governor's Pesticide Council, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S.

Truman Parkway, Room 500, Annapolis, MD 21401.

"While the council is an ongoing committee, it will be helpful to receive comments as soon as possible," Dr. Eccles said.

VMS Students Are Graduates Of Drug Program

One hundred sixty-eight sixth grade students at Northern Middle School graduated from D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education), a 17-week police officer led program that teaches students the skills they need to avoid drugs.

"Our students join more than five million youngsters nationwide who are participating in D.A.R.E. this year," said Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans. "Through D.A.R.E. we believe these students have an opportunity to learn the skills they need to avoid drug use and alcohol abuse."

Established in 1983 in Los Angeles as a joint venture between school and law enforcement officials, the D.A.R.E. program is now the largest and most successful drug education program in the United States.

In Garrett County, D.A.R.E. is being taught by Deputies R.P. Shaffer and R.L. Sines of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

The D.A.R.E. program began in Garrett County in September of 1990 at Northern Middle School and will be continued in the south end of the county this year.

"Through D.A.R.E. young people have strengthened their self-esteem and learned the coping skills so necessary in today's complex environment," said Sheriff Evans. "They don't need to bow to any type of pressure to use drugs."

According to on-going independent research studies, D.A.R.E. graduates nationwide show reduced drug activity, less vandalism and gang involvement, improved study habits and school performance, and more respect for police officers than their non-DARE counterparts.

STUDENTS RAISE FUNDS FOR CARE — The Student Service Alliance of Northern High School recently sponsored a raffle. The $115 in proceeds was donated to CARE, an organization that uses its resources to help fight world hunger. Anniversary Being Celebrated By National Guard

The Maryland National Guard is celebrating the 354th anniversary of the National Guard today, December 13, to commemorate the inception of the National Guard December 13, 1636.

Gov. William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed today "National Guard—354th Anniversary Day" in Maryland in recognition of the Guard's historic role in national defense and service to the state during civil emergencies and natural and manmade disasters.

"Maryland is pleased to join with the Army and the Air National Guard in celebrating a special tribute to those outstanding individuals, hailing from all walks of life, who have committed themselves to leaving their homes, families and civilian occupations to serve this great country and protect all for which it proudly stands," said Gov. Schaefer in the proclamation.

The Maryland National Guard began in the form of the militia of the first European settlement at St. Mary's in 1634, which protected the citizens from Indian raids and civil

In 1774, a Baltimore merchant, Mordecai Gist formed the Baltimore Independent Cadets in preparation for the Revolutionary War.

From those roots grew today's Maryland Army and Air National Guard, a citizen-soldier force of more than 9,300 men and women serving in more than 120 units statewide.

"The Maryland National Guard has a proud heritage," said Maj. Gen. James F. Preterter, the Adjutant General, Maryland National Guard. "Our soldiers and airmen have served honorably in every major conflict, from the American Revolution, through the Korean War."

Most recently the Maryland National Guard answered the call for Operation Desert Shield when the 200th and 290th Military Police Companies, from Salisbury and Towson, respectively, and the 129th Transportation Company from Crisfield were called up to deploy to the Persian Gulf.

"When Operation Desert Shield began, Marylanders responded immediately, first in voluntary support missions, and then as part of the nationwide call-ups," said Preterter. "They have received tremendous support from their families and employers."

Maryland National Guard members serve as part of the total force of the U.S. Army and Air Force. They serve two days each month plus a 15-day summer camp each year.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Army 2nd Lt. Kriss E. Hinebaugh has been deployed to the Middle East with American military forces participating in Operation Desert Shield.

Operation Desert Shield is the largest deployment of U.S. military forces since Vietnam. The operation is in response to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and threat to Saudi Arabia.

"It is the presence of dedicated military people like Lt. Hinebaugh that brings America's principles to life and gives them strength and meaning," President George Bush said.

The lieutenant is a platoon leader at Fort Hood, Texas. Hinebaugh is the son of Ed and Janet Hinebaugh, Route 1, Oakland. He is a 1961 graduate of Southern High School and a 1988 graduate of Frostburg State University.

Results From November 6th Declared Official

So you cast your vote November 6th and watched the election returns, then figured the electoral process was over, right? Not quite. Many Marylanders know about the Electoral College votes required in presidential elections, but few realize that congressional and state office elections must be certified by the Board of State Canvassers.

"The Board of Canvassers was created in 1896," said State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein who served as president of the Board at its December 11 meeting. "The Board must certify the results of Maryland's Congressional elections to the officials of the United States Senate and House of Representatives before our delegation can be seated," Goldstein said.

Under the law, the Board of Canvassers consists of the Secretary of State, Comptroller of the Treasury, Attorney General, State Treasurer, the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and the State Administrator of Election Laws.

At its December 11th meeting, the Board certified the election of William Donald Schaefer and Melvin A. Steinberg as Governor and Lt. Governor, with 664,015 votes; Louis L. Goldstein as State Comptroller, with 770,232 votes; and J. Joseph Curran, Jr. as Attorney General, with 653,087 votes.

For Maryland's representatives to the 102nd Congress, the Board of Canvassers certified returns and declared elected: 1st District, Wayne T. Gilchrist, 88,920; 2nd District, Helen D. Bentley, 115,396; 3rd District, Benjamin L. Cardin, 82,945; 4th District, Thomas McMillan, 85,601; 5th District, Steny H. Hoyer, 84,747; 6th District, Beverly B. Byron, 106,502; 7th District Kweisi Mfume, 56,628; 8th District, Constance A. Morella, 130,059. The Board also certified the official election of 188 members of the General Assembly and the various judges from the Circuit Courts, Court of Special Appeals and Court of Appeals, whose names appeared on the ballot.

A Mother's Story

Editor's Note: The following poem was written by the mother of a soldier now stationed in Saudi Arabia. She chooses to remain anonymous knowing that the words will surely touch the heart of her son and perhaps the hearts of other mothers' sons.

If I could write a story
And make the words all rhyme,
I'd like to write a story
About a son of mine.

I'd tell you about his childhood
And how the time did fly;
Of how he soon became
The apple of my eye.

I'd write of his first Christmas
And the first car that he had.
I'd write of his first hunting trip
With his uncle and his dad.

I'd write of how he grew up
To become a special man;
Of how he joined the Air Force
To work for Uncle Sam.

I'd write of how he worked hard
And of the stripes he wore.
I'd tell how he left the USA
To help defend a distant shore.

But I can't write a story;
The one here in my head.
The words will not be written;
They never will be read.

He'll never read how much I love him
And what he means to me,
Because I cannot write my story
And a poet I'll never be.

But if you should see him
Sometime in the twilight dim,
Just say "I will love him forever
'Til the rivers no longer run.
And I am proud to have him
For my one and only son."

OPERATION DESERT SHIELD

MAIL CALL

As American forces continue their assignment in "Operation Desert Shield" in the Middle East, mail becomes even more important as a morale builder and an expression of public support of their service.

The Republican proudly lists the names and addresses of those local service personnel who are now stationed there, either in Saudi Arabia or other Middle East nations. We hope local residents will take a few moments to drop a line to these young men and women. It is not necessary to be personally acquainted with these local soldiers or with anyone else in the armed services to send him or her a letter. Expressions of upbeat support, humor, and words of good cheer will mean a lot.

Letters to anyone in the Army, Air Force, or Marine Corps, land-based in Saudi Arabia, may be addressed as follows:

Letters to anyone in the Navy, Coast Guard, or Marine Corps at sea may be addressed as follows:

We will publish this list periodically over the next several weeks. Names and addresses of other local service personnel not listed here are welcome and will be added for future publication.

Drunk, Drugged Driving Awareness Week Underway

Maryland State Police and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) have announced Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week in Maryland is now underway (Dec. 9-15).

The annual observance, which is timed to coincide with the holiday season, is designed to heighten public awareness about the dangers of drunk and drugged driving.

"Drunk, drugged or impaired driving is a national disgrace," stated Frank D. Altobelli, Regional Administrator, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service radio broadcast, Altobelli called on motorists to drive sober. "Every 20 minutes someone in this country will die in an alcohol related collision," Altobelli added.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration recorded 45,556 deaths on the nation's highways in 1989, nearly half of which (22,415) were alcohol related. According to NHTSA, only 12.6 percent of the fatally injured intoxicated drivers were wearing safety belts when they crashed.

"Belts and bags (safety belts and air bags) are your best protection against booze (on the highway)," Altobelli said. Nationally, highway safety experts estimate that two of every five Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related police-reported traffic crash in their lifetime.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration is calling on states to consider legislation lowering legal limits for blood alcohol content to .08.

In Maryland, the legal limit is .10. Motorists in Maryland who register 10 or higher or who refuse to submit to a chemical test for alcohol could lose their licenses on the spot. During the holiday season, every trooper in Maryland will have access to field sobriety test equipment for use on traffic stops where drunk driving is suspected. Maryland State Police also plan to conduct the sobriety checkpoint program, using special teams of troopers trained in alcohol detection and drunk driving enforcement.

"Probably the most difficult part of the job of a law enforcement officer is having to knock on a door of a home to inform someone of a senseless death on the highway," stated Henry Rockel of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Also appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, Rockel, a retired lieutenant with Maryland State Police, encouraged holiday travelers to take advantage of the designated driver program.

"Santa has 8 designated drivers. You need just one," Rockel added. The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Portions of this program are also carried on the Maryland State Police Newsline, (301) 653-4275.

GRAND OPENING — Flinn's Family Store staff and county and local officials gathered Friday for a ribbon-cutting ceremony during the grand opening of the new Oakland business on Second Street in the former Artley's location. Store owners, Bob and Marianne Flinn, say they were looking forward to opening a business in Oakland. They also operate a similar store in Petersburg, W. Va. Flinn's Family Store offers clothing for the entire family — from infant sleepers to women's lingerie to work boots for men. They also carry accessories for the "total look." Domestic, including sheets and towels, are also available. Christmas store hours are 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Saturday; and 1-5 p.m. on Sundays. Visa and MasterCard are accepted and layaways and free gift wrapping are available on request. Pictured left to right are Art Naylor, Oakland town council member; Jack Jones, GOBA president; Clint Englander, Oakland town council member; Oakland Mayor Asa McCain; Bob and Marianne Flinn, store owners; Candi Fike, employee; Gene Flinn, son of Bob and Marianne and an employee of the First United National Bank and Trust; Joyce Williams, employee; Mary Lou Stemple, Oakland town council member; Garrett County Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr.; and Bob Frazee, Garrett National Bank representative. Other employees at the store not available when the photo was taken are Carol Johnson and Ann DeBerry. Commissioner Gregg stated, "It's very impressive. I'm glad to see another new business in Oakland." Mayor McCain also voiced his enthusiasm. "With the opening of Flinn's Family Store and other new businesses, it's good to see the downtown area again as active as it was 15 years ago. Hopefully shoppers will appreciate the quaintness of downtown shopping."

or deteriorating conditions before being used. If a home is going to be unoccupied for any length of time, the decorative lights on Christmas trees and throughout the home should be turned off.

The fire marshal also strongly recommends that only decorations that are labeled or otherwise certified as being "flame resistant" be used around the home or in businesses. It should be noted that commercially available fire retardant treatments are not appropriate or very effective for Christmas trees or other Christmas decorations such as wreaths and garlands.

Finally, as for commercial and institutional facilities, the Office of the State Fire Marshal will not allow "live" or "fresh-cut" trees in these facilities. Only trees in a "balled" condition with roots protected by an earthen ball or artificial trees will be permitted in these buildings. For further information on holiday fire safety, citizens should contact the Office of the State Fire Marshal or their local fire prevention bureau. Subscribe to The Republican

Fire Marshal Says, "Don't Make An Ash Of Yourself"

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele is urging Marylanders not to "make an ash of themselves this holiday season." Gabriele, in conjunction with local fire prevention bureaus, is urging Marylanders to practice fire safety during the holiday season to avoid potential fire problems which could lead to serious injuries or deaths.

"Each holiday season, families as well as homes are often destroyed by fire. Improper use of decorations, faulty light wiring, and carelessness can cause these tragic deaths and destruction," stated Gabriele.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal has several recommendations to help Marylanders celebrate a fire-safe holiday season. For example, when selecting a Christmas tree, look for one that is not shedding its needles — a clue that the tree is very dry and could present a fire danger if placed indoors. Additionally, Christmas trees should only be kept indoors for a few weeks, as the trees will dry out rapidly due to the heat and low humidity of a home. If possible, Christmas trees should not be placed near furnace air vents, electric baseboard heaters, or near any other heat source.

When using holiday lights and decorations, use only Underwriter's Laboratory (U.L.) or Factory Mutual (F.M.) labeled lighting on trees or in homes. Also, lights and extension cords should be examined for cracks

MERRY CHRISTMAS

BACH'S CHRISTMAS ORATORIO, one of the most famous classical Christmas works, will be presented this weekend by the Garrett Choral Society, under the direction of Nancy Learey. At presttime, only a few tickets remained for the performances, which are slated for this Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Persons unable to buy tickets may still want to go to the church since there will likely be a few no-shows and some extra seats available.

Tickets are available at Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland and from Choral Society members. Soloists for the concert include Robert Mosley, Thomas Young, Kathryn Sincell, and Lenora Eve. All of New York City. The Society will be accompanied by Sharon McLaughlin, organist; Susan Peterson and Marjorie Clever, flutes; and Scott Clever, tympani. The program is being funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and Maryland State Arts Council.

Sheriff's Dept. Arrests Three On CDS Charges

Three local women were arrested on Dec. 16 by Dep. J. Murphy after the officer discovered them to be in possession of a controlled dangerous substance, according to a report at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Deputies also logged several arrests on the charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI) this week.

Daina R. Stinson, 24, Tracy E. Hartman, 24, both of Mtn. Lake Park, and Beverly R. Davis, 26, Deer Park, were all charged with the possession violation after Murphy stopped the vehicle in which they were riding after he observed the driver, Ms. Stinson, fail to stop at a stop sign. The arrest took place at the intersection of D Street and Rt. 135 at 12:30 a.m.

Stinson was charged with DWI during the arrest. Murphy's search of the vehicle reportedly revealed a small quantity of marijuana also in the possession of Stinson, and apparent CDS paraphernalia.

After the search, Davis was also charged with possession of a CDS, as well as possession of a prescription drug without proper verification. Hartman was also charged with possession of marijuana, according to the report.

Davis and Hartman were released after each posted a $500 bond, according to the report. Stinson posted bond set at $2,500.

In a separate incident, Philip A. Ouellette, 31, Swanton, was arrested on a DWI charge after Dep. Murphy observed the defendant operating his vehicle in an erratic manner on Rt. 219 North in McHenry.

The arrest took place on Dec. 14 at 11 p.m., according to the report. Ouellette was released after posting bond, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesman.

Elmer R. Wilt, 50, Swanton, was charged with DWI on Dec. 16 after Dep. C. Feller found him in his vehicle, which was parked on the side of the North Branch Road, Bloomington, with the motor running and the head-

Approved By County Commissioners Spring Lick Road Grant Funds

The Garrett County Commissioners this week announced their decision to accept grant funds from the U.S. Soil Conservation District for the badly needed repair and reconstruction of Spring Lick Road, located in the Savage River area of the county.

Notice Of Closing It was announced this week that, "by appropriate action," the Garrett County Commissioners have declared that all county offices will be closed Monday, December 24, as well as Tuesday, December 25.

The commissioners previously were unsure about accepting the $75,000 grant, which provided that Garrett County supply 20 percent of the amount, because the grant did not address one of the major problem sites on the road. But this week Commissioner Elwood L.

Ice Patches In Road Cause Two Accidents With Injuries Wednesday

Ice patches on Garrett County roadways were responsible for at least two of the three accidents reported in the county last night, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment.

An Oakland woman and man both remain hospitalized this morning as the result of a 7:55 p.m. accident which occurred on the Old Crellin Road, near the Dille Road intersection.

Sheila Ford, 27, the passenger in a 1990 Chevrolet Cavalier, was transported to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., where she is being treated for extensive head and facial injuries.

The driver of the vehicle, Brian W. King, 18, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he underwent surgery for a fractured femur last night.

According to investigating officer Col. Gary Long, the accident occurred when King's vehicle, upon hitting a patch of ice, slid across the road and struck a utility pole. The pole fell and struck an unoccupied vehicle owned by James E. Matthews Jr.

The injured were transported by the Southern Rescue Squad. MSP Medevac was called, but later cancelled. Also dispatched to the scene by Garrett County Emergency Management was the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Ice in the road also caused a one-vehicle accident on Md. Route 42 near Hoyes last evening.

Peggy S. Mathes, 32, Friendsville, was traveling north on Rt. 42 when she lost control of her vehicle.

Fitzgerald was also charged with assault and battery and malicious destruction of property. He was taken before the the Garrett County District

MSP Charge Grantsville Man With Assault With Intent To Murder

A Grantsville man was arrested Saturday by the Maryland State Police, McHenry Barack, and charged with assault with intent to murder and reckless endangerment.

Charged was Kevin M. Fitzgerald, 34, after he allegedly pointed a loaded shotgun and fired it at Gregory W. McMurray, 34, Grantsville.

The incident occurred on December 9 after the men reportedly had an argument and slashed each other's car tires. After being fired at, McMurray notified police and a warrant was obtained for Fitzgerald's arrest.

Fitzgerald was also charged with assault and battery and malicious destruction of property. He was taken before the the Garrett County District Commissioner and was being held in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

In other State Police crime reports, Tlc. R.J. Resh is seeking information on the reported breaking, entering, and theft at a vacant house trailer owned by Richard D. Siler.

Siler told police that someone entered the trailer some time Saturday night or early Sunday morning and removed a microwave oven, a black and white television, and a citizen's band radio. The investigation is continuing.

Police are also looking for the culprit who stole pine Christmas decorations from the Hoover residence mailbox on the Sand Spring Road and also for the persons responsible for cutting the top off a blue spruce pine tree in the yard of Victor B. Warnick.

The top of the tree was reportedly cut with a saw and then left in the victim's yard. Persons with any information are asked to contact the State Police at McHenry.

REVEREND AUGUSTUS MONU, or "Gus," as he is called, has been delivering the sermons in his two-church charge here in Garrett County since June. He is shown above in the Swanton Methodist Church. The other church, Bethel United Methodist Church, is located in Kittimiller. He and his wife Rebecca feel "blessed" by the kindness and love extended to them by their parishioners, and most especially, by their concern for the Monus' current plight. Gus and Rebecca are separated from their two teenaged daughters, who remain in their native country of Liberia on the southwest coast of West Africa. Because of the recent internal war there, no one is allowed to enter or leave the country. The church has responded by initiating a fund to help the Monus be reunited with their children. See feature on page A-5.

Grantsville Area Fire Guttled By House Saturday

A Grantsville area house was gutted by fire of undetermined origin early Saturday, resulting in an estimated loss of $60,000, according to Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties.

About 40 fire fighters from Grantsville and Bittinger fire departments responded to the 3:30 a.m. blaze, which apparently broke out in the basement of the two-story home occupied by Elizabeth Fitzpatrick. Carola said that the fire gutted the living room area and then traveled up a stairway and into the attic.

Carola said that Mrs. Fitzpatrick and her daughter, Nancy, were not at home at the time. The house, which was built in the 1950s, is owned by Cecil Schaefer.

Placed on stand-by were the Accident and Salisbury, Pa., VFDs, while the county air cascade unit, currently housed at Bittinger VFD, and the Northern Rescue Squad responded to the scene. There were no injuries reported.

Some units remained on the scene until about 8 a.m. The cause of the blaze is still under investigation by Carola.

Accident firemen were summoned Sunday afternoon to the Vernon George residence along

GARRETT GRAPPLERS SHINE - For five minutes in the championship round at the University High Wrestling Tournament, held Saturday at Morgantown, Northern's Randy Delan, facing viewer, went neck and neck with his Uniontown (Pa.) opponent. In the last minute of their contest though, Delan exploded in a flurry of five points to blow the competition wide open and secure the 132-pound class title. For his efforts, Delan was named Outstanding Wrestler of the eight-team tournament, which Northern won for the fourth straight year. However, one of the biggest surprises at this year's tournament came from the Southern High grapplers. Although they didn't field a team last year, they came within 11 points of grabbing the University Tournament runner-up team title, as eight individual Rams, including five freshmen, won place finishes. Controversy Continues Over Billing In Cherry Glade Service Area

The recent decision of the Oakland Sewer Authority to charge additional fees to the residents in the Cherry Glade Run area (which is located on Rt. 219 North, just outside the Oakland town limits, and includes Mitchell Manor) has caused some conflict between the representatives for the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and the Sanitary District, Inc.

The problem concerning the area began in 1985 when additional building in the Mitchell Manor area caused a flow increase, and the Mayor and Town Council of that time asked that the service area be created. At the time of the creation of the system, the Sanitary District was given the authority by the town to charge the capital costs, and to notify users to hook on to the system.

Because of apparent misunderstandings between the town and the Sanitary District, the actual control and responsibility of the Cherry Glade user area became the focal point of a disagreement between the two groups. The Mayor and Town Council requested that the Sanitary District abandon the service area, and the Sanitary District refused to do so. The conflict ultimately ended in a suit filed by the Sanitary District against Oakland. Oakland counter-filed shortly thereafter, and the resolution of the hearing on the matter stated that the basic question to be answered was which group actually had authority over the billing procedure in the service area.

The judge in the case ruled that because Oakland had the system constructed, and had paid for it, the logical authority would be Oakland. Oakland's attorneys in the case were from the firm of Shapiro and Olander of Baltimore, and their legal fees from the case were set at $60,000. That debt will be placed in the capital costs portion of the bill sent out to all Cherry Glade users. The decision to do this came about during a Nov. 19 meeting of the Oakland Sewer Authority, whose members are also the

Notice Of Closing

The Republican office will be closed Tuesday, December 25, in observance of Christmas. Advertising deadline will be 2:00 p.m. on Monday, December 24; news deadline will remain the same.

Free Christmas Eve Dinner To Be Served At The Galleria

The big-hearted owners of The Galleria, in the true spirit of the season, are providing a free Christmas Eve dinner to anyone who will be alone or can't afford a nice holiday meal.

The dinner will be served at 5 p.m. at the restaurant on Second Street in downtown Oakland.

Sandy Parsons, owner, stated, "Since we opened a business in Oakland, we saw a lot of people in need in the area. We welcome anyone who will be alone and can't afford to go out for a nice Christmas dinner."

Mrs. Parsons said she had a great deal of community support in this unselfish endeavor. She said many people have volunteered their time.

Woman Sentenced To Four Years For Manslaughter

A 38-year-old Damascus woman was sentenced to four years in the Maryland Department of Corrections on the charge of manslaughter last week in the Garrett County Circuit Court. Judge Fred A. Thayer presided at the sentencing.

Gloria Crutchfield was accused in Carroll County of fatally shooting her boyfriend, William R. Lawrence, in January 1987. According to the court records, Ms. Crutchfield was the victim of abuse at the hands of Lawrence for several years before the shooting incident, which occurred during an argument and physical fight between the two. Lawrence was reportedly a drug-abuser in the later years of his life.

The recorded testimony stated that Lawrence, who lived with Crutchfield, came home later than the defendant had expected him on January 17, 1987. She had planned to leave for the evening without her boyfriend because he was late. Her plans included going to a nightclub which she described as "rough," so she had placed her own registered handgun in her purse for protection at the bar, which was something she did frequently.

When Lawrence arrived home, and Crutchfield confronted him, asking where he had been, an argument ensued and escalated to physical violence. Crutchfield said Lawrence slapped her, kicked her, and then threatened her with a knife. At that moment, reportedly fearing for her life, Crutchfield reached for the handgun in her purse, cocked the gun, and shot Lawrence. She testified that she had only meant to stop him, and that she had aimed at his arm, but he moved at the last second, and was shot in the head.

Crutchfield was originally charged with first degree murder, second degree murder, and use of a handgun in the commission of a felony. The first trial for the defendant ended in a mistrial, and the case was transferred to the Garrett County Circuit Court in the fall.

At a hearing on September 24, Crutchfield made an Alford plea of guilty to manslaughter to Judge Thayer. An Alford plea is when the defendant pleads guilty because she realizes that the court has enough evidence to convict her. Judge Thayer accepted the plea, and ordered a pre-sentence investigation at that time.

The sentencing hearing took place on Dec. 12, at which time Thayer ordered Crutchfield to four years in prison. The term for manslaughter can range from three to eight years. Thayer noted at the hearing that he realized Crutchfield was indeed a victim of battered wife syndrome, but he could not completely condone the taking of another human life.

Defense for Ms. Crutchfield was Benjamin Lipsitz. The defendant began her prison term on Dec. 12, according to the court document.

In a separate case, Richard B. Pilkerton, 48, was found guilty by Judge Thayer of violation of probation at a Dec. 6 trial. The defendant pleaded not guilty to failure to pay costs, but the judge did not accept the plea. Pilkerton had been originally sentenced on charges of theft and possession of marijuana, which stemmed from an February 1988 incident.

Thayer ordered the re-imposition of the original sentence, which was three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections for the theft charge and thirty days in the Garrett County Jail for the drug violation. Thayer then suspended all but 18 months of the sentence on the condition that Pilkerton make payments of $100 per month on the balance of fines and courts costs, which is currently $1,425, according to the court document.

John R. Toston represented Pilkerton in the case.

42, when her 1990 Ford Bronco II struck an ice patch while the driver was attempting to negotiate a turn. The Bronco struck an embankment and a utility pole before overturning onto the road.

Mathes was transported to the local hospital following the 5:55 p.m. mishap by the Northern Rescue Squad, where she was treated and released.

Details are still sketchy in a 7:19 p.m. mishap that occurred on Md. Route 495 near Jennings last night.

State Police officials said this morning that at least five persons were transported to two hospitals by the Northern Rescue Squad. Two persons were reportedly taken to Meyersdale (Pa.) Community Hospital and three persons were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched Grantsville firefighters to the scene.

Several other accidents this past week resulted in injuries for three local drivers.

Kenneth L. Butler, 27, Oakland, remains listed in "fair" condition, according to a spokesman at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown.

Butler was injured in an 11:35 a.m. mishap Monday when he reportedly fell asleep at the wheel of the 1983 Ford Escort he was operating on U.S. Route 219, just north of the Pysell Road.

The vehicle traveled off the road into a grassy area when it then became airborne and struck an embankment, said Trp. W.E. Dixon, investigating officer.

The Southern Rescue Squad transported Butler to the local hospital where he was treated and then transported to Ruby Memorial.

Following a Friday single-vehicle accident, Mary L. Liller, 31, Deer Park, was taken to the local hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Liller was injured when the 1986 Chrysler Lazer she was operating ran off the Sand Flat Road as she was heading south. The vehicle reportedly traveled down an embankment, rolled over, and came to rest on its wheels.

The driver stated that two deer had run in front of her vehicle and that she swerved to avoid hitting them. Trp. J.E. Foley investigated for State Police.

A two-vehicle accident last Thursday sent a Swanton man to the local hospital where he was treated for minor injuries and released.

William L. Taylor, 52, was operating a 1983 Chevrolet Cavalier east on the Sang Run Road when his vehicle was struck by a 1978 Pontiac LeMans, operated by Linda K. Burch, 44, Accident.

Police stated that Burch was unaware of the newly posted stop sign at the intersection of Deep Creek Drive and the Sang Run Road.

Trp. W.E. Dixon investigated and charged Burch with failure to stop and yield the right of way in the 1:12 p.m. mishap.

DWI ARRESTS

The State Police noted that two persons were arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs this past week.

Gerald A. Miller, 37, no address given, was charged with DWI on Friday.

Eric C. Sines, 19, no address given, was charged with DWI on Wednesday.

Officer Hare made both arrests.

ist that are in need of repair or stabilization. The grant money will go to help stabilize the bank and the road bed and clean up the debris in the river bed (Crabtree Run), "both of which aggravate each other," said Groves.

Groves continued, "Only about 24 homes are located along that road but the road connects two other major arteries — from Savage River to Rt. 495, and from the mountaintop to Westvaco. Although the expense is greater than the normal amount we would spend on a single road, the problem must be addressed so we want to come up with the most efficient and effective way to do it."

Commissioner John G. Braskey stated that several residents of the Spring Lick Road met with the county commissioners this week in regard to their concerns that the road might be closed. "We assured them it wouldn't be," he said.

However, stated Commissioner Brenda S. Butscher, "The road will be closed in the meantime to all through traffic. Only local traffic will be allowed until the repairs are made."

The road will also be marked with safety barriers at the most dangerous points.

It was also noted that the acceptance of the grant is contingent on the county obtaining easement, or right-of-ways, at the various sites.

Heavily damaged by flooding in 1965, the road has since been washing debris into Crabtree Run, a tributary of the Savage River, and the bank below the road is now in a "cavernous state," according to Groves.

Authority Of Sanitary Commission Requested

In other news from the commissioners' office, it was reported that two Garrett County town mayors and town councils, Kitzmiller and Mtn. Lake Park, have requested that the county commissioners seek authority over the autonomous Garrett County Sanitary Commission, which, according to Commissioner Groves, has been "a longstanding request."

Groves explained that the Sanitary Commission is the exception to all the other county agencies in that it "only answers to itself." The county commissioners do not have jurisdiction over the day-to-day operations of the commission, "and we're concerned about that," he said.

The most recent request, said Groves, was spurred, in part, by a bill sent to the town of Kitz-miller as the result of a recent audit of the town. The bill is reported to be in excess of $3,000, which the Sanitary Commission claims is the amount due that was underpaid by the town.

Groves stated, "The bill came without much documentation attached."

Mtn. Lake Park Mayor Dave Turney requested that the commissioners bring the Sanitary Commission under more direct control of the county, stating that "since the county backs their bonds, the commission should be held accountable to the county."

In response, the commissioners are "considering the merits," according to Groves, of that proposal, and will look into proposing legislative action to bring that about. They reportedly intend to meet with District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards and Senator-elect John Hafer to discuss the matter.

Interim Priest Now Assigned To St. Matthew's

The Rev. Peter C. Fulghum has been assigned to St. Matthew's Episcopal Church as interim rector, according to a church spokesman.

He succeeds the Rev. Michael Pumphrey, who was rector for the past few years. The appointment was made by the Rt. Rev. A. Theodore Eastman, bishop of the Diocese of Maryland in Baltimore.

Fulghum is currently serving as missionary to the bishop for interim ministry in the diocese. He comes to St. Matthew's, having served more than a dozen parishes in transition. His tenure here will be for a period of one to two years, which will conclude with a search process for a new permanent rector for the parish.

The interim priest began his duties on November 15. His agreement calls for a 25 hours per week schedule. He will arrive each week from his home near Hagerstown on Saturday evenings. He will be in the parish through Tuesdays at noon and will keep exclusive time in his office on Monday mornings for the business of the church. Other appointments may be made to suit schedules within the "in residence" period.

The interim priest role in the Episcopal Church is a rather new phenomenon. Fulghum said of his ministry, "I enjoy meeting and working with Episcopalians everywhere. This is a wonderful church and I'm proud to serve it. Most of all, I believe in my work. It gives me a great feeling to come to a congregation in transition and the chaos that surrounds a vacancy and then leave it when it has found new direction and leadership."

$2500 Theft In Building Supplies Reported To Police

The owner of a house under construction in the Timbers on the Yough area, on Rt. 39, in conjunction with the builder of the home, has reported the theft of building materials worth over $2,500.

Cathy C. Smith, Gaithersburg, originally reported a theft of materials valued at $488 to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in October. She suspected that the culprits entered the building site sometime between Oct. 25 and 26.

Roger G. Sines, Friendsville, builder on the house-site, reported an additional loss of $2,020 in materials to police on Dec. 12. He stated that he also felt the theft occurred during the Oct. 25 weekend.

Among the items stolen were several switch plates, numerous receptacles, fluorescent lights, insulation, sanders, a jig saw, and pine door casing.

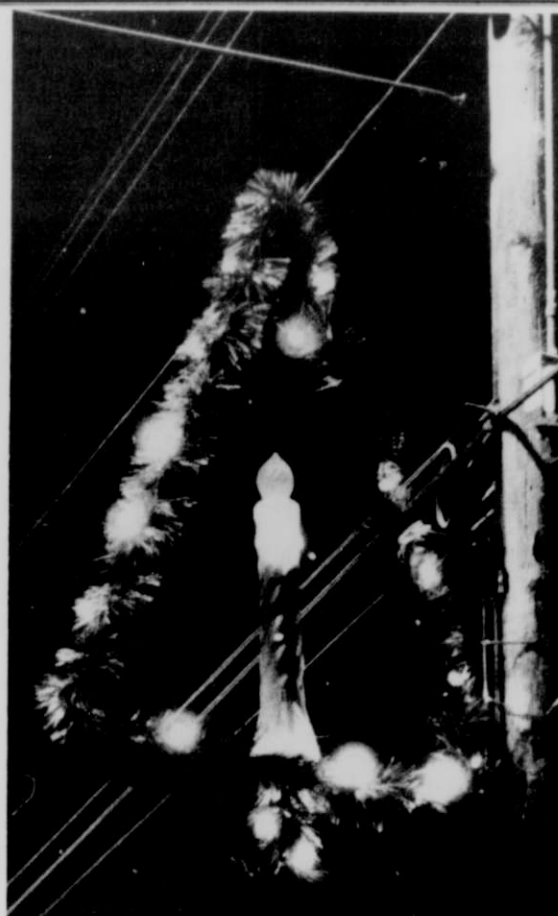

The police found no sign of forced entry. An investigation is continuing, according to the report.

In a separate incident, property damage estimated at $500 was reported to the Sheriff's Office this week.

Ivan L. Fredrick III, Mtn. Lake Park, reported that an unknown person had damaged the passenger door and rear fender of his 1988 Toyota pickup. The damage was apparently incurred late in the evening of Dec. 1, or early morning of Dec. 2. Fredrick said his vehicle had been parked in the lot at Brodak's clubhouse on Rt. 219 North for approximately five hours. He did not notice the damage until the following day.

There are no suspects in the case, according to the report.

Carol J. Nardo, Pittsburgh, Pa., reported to police that a theft had apparently occurred at her second residence on Paradise Acres Road sometime between Dec.

GRANTSVILLE LIONS' DECORATION DRIVE — Last year the Town of Grantsville accomplished a first-year goal of purchasing 15 new, lighted Christmas decorations for the Town. This year, nine artificial Christmas trees were lighted and permanent electrical fixtures were installed, bringing the total to 24. The decorations were installed and lighted the Sunday after Thanksgiving by the Grantsville Lions Club members and will remain in place until New Year's Day. A surplus in donations was received last year and that money helped to pay for this year's improvements. However, this year over $600 was spent by the Lions for the new decorations. Residents and businesses who would like to donate to the decoration fund may do so when they pay their monthly water bill, through any Grantsville Lions member, or by sending contributions to the Grantsville Lions Club, Decoration Fund, P.O. Box 450, Grantsville, Md. 21536. A Christmas Lighting contest, sponsored by the Town, is being held this Friday, Dec. 21, in Grantsville between 6 and 8 p.m. First prize is $25, second prize is $15, and third is $10.

Nardo told police that an unknown person or persons had entered the home and removed a compact disc player, as well as five compact discs. The net worth of the items was placed at $365.

The theft victim told police that the culprits may have located a door key that she had hidden outside the residence, as no evidence of a forced entry was found.

In a separate case, Larry F. Friend of Electronics Unlimited, Mtn. Lake Park, reported that a video cassette recorder (VCR) was stolen from the porch of the business on Dec. 12 between 4 and 5:30 p.m.

Friend told police that the business had received a shipment from a truck, and that he had unloaded the merchandise on to the porch. The Where's The Joy? . . .

Everyone talks about the joy of the Christmas season, but many have trouble finding and experiencing that joy. How can there be joy while children continue to starve to death, while criminals continue to kill and maim, while corruption in government continues to thrive, while entire nations are at war and others are on the verge of war, while horrible disease continues to inflict pain and death, while unwanted children continue to be born and are then subjected to years of abuse, while bigotry continues to spawn hatred among the races, while families continue to be shattered by divorce, while our Mother Earth continues to be polluted with chemicals, and while poverty continues to squelch the human spirit? Where in the world is the joy?

One must first simply accept the fact that human beings are sinful by nature and because of that there will always be the various forms of pain and suffering described above. But the trick is to not be totally blinded by the negatives, because there is also a tremendous amount of good that weaves through and around this jungle of darkness. In fact, for every negative act, one can find an act of kindness, compassion, and generosity, especially during the Christmas season.

The great evils in our world seem so overwhelming, and as individuals we feel totally helpless when we even consider making an effort to change things. But we still cling to the belief that the majority of people are basically good, and that we as individuals can indeed make a difference. Each of us can make that difference by doing our best to be a good person. How does one go about being a good person?

The answer, which is so simple, was provided us by the man whose birth Christians celebrate this season. He told us, simply, to love our neighbors as ourselves. If each of us would put such profound wisdom into action in our own lives, the above-mentioned evils would be no more.

Again, man is sinful by nature and thus he can only strive for, and not attain, such perfection. However, there is still a way out; but that's another story — the Easter story.

Merry Christmas to one and all.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

By this time, most of your readers have received their annual Christmas Seal Campaign letter from the American Lung Association of Maryland (ALAM), the Christmas Seal People.

Although I know that our citizens support this fund-raising appeal every year, I would like to emphasize the importance of continuing that support.

Contributions make it possible for the ALAM to provide free services in our area including smoking prevention programs for school children, educational support groups for adult lung disease patients, programs for children with asthma and their families, and educational programs to prevent lung disease.

As a volunteer for the association, I know how important these services are. Contributions to the Christmas Seal Campaign do make a difference in our community.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

Deja Vu! Congratulations on your courage to defend Dr. Herb Reinhard in last week's editorial. I only wish you would have shared the same insight and vision five years ago. The same with hunt (orchestrated by the same villain) happened at GCC in 1985, "preluded by the actions of a disgruntled, small minority of faculty members and a couple of news reporters who misused the power of the press."

Deja Vu! Very selective in what they decided to print and what they left out of print, information that would have informed the issue in a far more unbiased manner. (The National press, in cahoots with the Federal Government, forced Michael Milken into a plea bargain and successfully destroyed a man, a company, and financial innovation. If you want to see potential excessive abuse of power, look into RICO.)

Deja Vu! Five years ago you asked, "Why? Because I was simply tired of the mistrusts, harassment, innuendos, and negative press." I was trying to get a few faculty with "slow paced, lazy work habits to knuckle down and work if they wanted to remain a part of the organization," but, I also knew five years ago, "that there was no end to the campaign."

And it still goes on. Some grass roots, investigative reporting, would discover that Steve Herman walks on eggs. The pressure campaigns continue. He is a master juggler, but the house of cards is very fragile. Many leaders are misunderstood. We often believe what we read and forget to think for ourselves. Some day I'll show you how the State Government pressured a small business to fold. Power is dangerous.

Thanks for the memories!
Sincerely,
Fred Leary

To the Editor:

The Faculty Senate wishes to express its appreciation to Dr. Reinhard for the significant contributions he has made to Frostburg State University during the four and a half years of his leadership. The controversy that culminated in Dr. Reinhard's decision to resign should not be allowed to cloud recognition of these accomplishments.

Dr. Reinhard chose to resign before the facts of the current situation had been fully ascertained or made public. It was hoped that open discussion of the matters at issue would have

THE CASH VALUE OF AN EDUCATION
by Dr. Stephen Herman
President, Garrett Community College

I don't like to measure the value of an education in dollars and cents because an education is a gift for a lifetime and worth so much more than the income it generates. Nevertheless, education does have a cash value — much higher than many people know.

Recently published statistics on average monthly incomes show that the cash value of an associate degree is growing faster than the cash value associated with any other level of educational achievement. In 1984, the average high school dropout earned approximately $400 a month or under $5,000 a year. In 1987, this figure had risen to about $5,500 annually — an approximate nine percent increase. Since a full time employee working a regular 40 hours per week at minimum wage would have earned over $7,000, I suspect that many high school dropouts are not able to hold uninterrupted full time employment.

During the same three-year period, the average salary of high school graduates rose by 8.6 percent from a little over $800 a month to a little under $900 a month or about $11,000 annually. In other words, a high school graduate can expect to earn about twice the income of a high school dropout.

Students who earned a vocational certificate earned over $1,000 a month in 1987, a 9.9 percent increase over their monthly salary in 1984. So a vocational certificate is worth over $1,000 per year in income above what the average high school graduate earns.

In 1984, the average person graduating from a community college with an associate degree earned nearly $1,200 a month. By 1987, this amount jumped 22.7 percent — the highest increase in educational value — to under $1,500 a month, an annual salary of under $18,000. For every $2 a high school graduate earns, the average community college graduate will earn around $3.

During the same period, the value of a bachelor's degree increased by 18.8 percent, rising from approximately $1,500 a month to nearly $1,800 in monthly salary, or over $21,500 annually.

If you consider that the average working life of a person will last approximately 45 years, the value of a college education becomes a major factor in personal prosperity. During their working lives, community college graduates will earn around a half-million more dollars than a high school dropout and better than a quarter-million more dollars than a high school graduate. Since retirement income often depends on the amount of income earned during one's lifetime, the actual value of the associate degree is usually much higher than estimated here.

But what about the cost? Is a higher education a good investment? Take GCC as an example. GCC's associate degree can be used for vocational preparation or for transfer as a junior into a senior college like Frostburg State University. GCC retains the lowest tuition rate in the state. Since semester tuition remains under $500 for a full time student, a GCC associate degree can still cost under $2,000 in tuition. Balance this investment against the $270,000 payoff in additional income over the high school graduate. The cash value of an education speaks for itself.

provided an opportunity to clarify the concerns of the university community.

The faculty will be substantially involved in the process of choosing a new president, as Chancellor Langerberg has stated, and we are eager to be constructively involved in that process. We look forward to the future with optimism.

FSU Senate

To the Editor:

This is the season people are celebrating the birth of a child. I would like to tell you the story of the birth of another child.

This child was unwanted, born in a family of other unloved children. I can't tell you about the mental, physical, and sexual abuse that happened. The pain is more than I can bear. As a result, two of us tried to commit suicide because of the pain. We all have problems with a depression so black it's like being dead, so sad the tears won't stop.

We have become adults, but the abuse to children of this world continues. Recently a baby was starved to death. Another child is missing and presumed murdered after being returned to a mother who abused it. The list goes on. Where are those who are supposed to protect the children. There are cases where people have reported abuse (I bless them for their courage) and nothing was done.

I still believe in the goodness of most people, so I ask them the following things. If you are a man or woman and don't want children, use birth control. Don't pressure people to have children. They know best if they should be parents or not. If you are expecting a child now and you know you don't want it or can't care for it, have the courage to place it for adoption. To all others, please encourage better laws and enforcement for children to be protected. It is too late for me and the others as our souls have been killed. Please pray for the children now and help stop the hurt.

To the Editor:

My 22-year-old grandson, Wesley George, is in the Navy stationed in Saudi Arabia. Many, like him, receive care packages and caring letters from home through relatives and friends who rally to his support. However, he feels sad to see many in his battalion have not received any packages or letters.

Here is an opportunity to open your hearts this Christmas Season to the men and women serving in the Middle East, to express our concern and gratitude to them through letters and care packages. The package must not arrive until after Christmas, but a late package is always better than no package.

These military personnel are eating government rations, which are not the tastiest. The temperature is cooling somewhat and you can now send chocolates (up until March). Other package requests and ideas are: cookies, hard candies, gum, nuts, beef jerky and shoe string potatoes (comes in cans), playing cards, magazines (Time and Newsweek) are great, oatmeal and peanut granola bars, soft toilet paper — any personal hygiene item — powdered drink mixes like Koolaid, all-white tube socks, disposable cameras, Bibles, paperback books, hand-held videos, suntan lotion.

Mosquitoes are now a problem and Wesley has requested mosquito coils or sticks that you can burn (may be hard to find). Women in the area need face moisturizers and body creams. (The air is very dry and can age your skin quickly if not protected); deodorants, nail kits, yes, sanitary napkins, lipstick and toilet water.

What you can send will be very much appreciated. Some "no-nos" — no magazines or books that show exposed female skin in a revealing manner, no religious articles except the Bible, no aerosol or glass containers.

Send your letters or packages to: ANY SEABEE, or ANY FEMALE SEABEE, NMCE 40, P.O. San Francisco, Calif. 96601-4981.

Thank you for whatever you are able to do or send. Let's hope for peace soon — Merry Christmas!

To the Editor:

In the Spring of 1989, thirteen students, eagerly anticipating their senior year, signed up for Physics/Physics Lab. It had been customary in the past to also sign up for a half-credit computer class to complement the half-credit Physics Lab. This course, which facilitates the use of a word processor, makes the easy completion of lab reports possible. It also provides additional computer experience necessary for today's society, and most definitely college.

We are now being forced to take a class called MPP, or Merit Project Program. This course involves the completion of a year-long research project. We had no knowledge of this new development until the start of the 1990 school year. We realize the possible benefits of MPP. Some of us are excited about it, and would still like to take advantage of the opportunity. The majority of us, however, feel that we have been robbed of the computer course which we desperately need. We feel that the high school environment is not conducive to the completion of a project of this magnitude. Although we are not experts on education, we do know that such demands as these are unreasonable. Our resources are extremely limited, and we do not feel that most high school students have the time or means to seek out appropriate source material.

We have exhausted all other means of negotiation. We have been rejected by both school administration and the Board of Education. Therefore, we believe that this letter is necessary if our opinions and rights as students and citizens are to be recognized. Our only request is that we be free to choose our own elective courses.

We have been accused of having a false sense of priority. We feel that our successes as both students and human beings speak for themselves. Thank you for your consideration.

To the Editor:

When I was a small child I used to think of Christmas as the second Thanksgiving because we had another turkey. As I got older those thoughts became entwined with the idea of getting goodies under "The Tree." With each approaching Christmas the anxiety became worse. The television was pumping out commercials toward the "under 13" set. Pretty soon every kid my age knew every toy available and we wore out Santa's knees. And the real meaning of Christmas faded to a dim glimmer somewhere in the background of everyone's mind.

This year I think I've come full circle. Maybe Christmas is the second Thanksgiving... or it ought to be. It's not wearing out my feet (and my checkbook). And it's not the heavy commercialism of the season. I found it to be a time for giving thanks, again, for all the blessings (and burdens) and for the One Gift that makes life worth living, the real meaning of Christmas... Happy Birthday, Jesus.

To the Editor:

The Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Committee is concerned at adequately meeting the mental health needs of children, adolescents and adults who have, or who are at risk of developing severe and persistent mental and emotional disorders.

We would like to thank Governor William Donald Schaefer for his priority commitment to citizens with mental illness over the past three years and urge him to reinforce that commitment with a new mental health service initiative at a funding level at least equal to that of the three previous years. We understand Maryland's budget deficit but hope that will not touch these most vulnerable citizens, those with mental illness.

Again, thank you Governor Schaefer for your 3-year plan and we encourage and support a continued commitment through a new service expansion

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

Let there be peace on earth.

Peace, joy and good will.

The holiday season surrounds us with opportunities to share these simple, yet abstract, concepts. But even for the most shallow and materialistic among us, they do not seem to come as easily this year as they have, at times, in the past.

Thousands of families are separated while we nervously await the next bit of news from the Persian Gulf. Opposition to the effort by the American public grows daily while concerned groups convene to send small, yet important, tokens of comfort from home to the troops.

Back home, economic troubles plague each of us in varying degrees.

We are paying for past and present Presidential and Congressional assumptions while the national debt continues to grow.

The future is uncertain.

We look to our leaders and see that our uncertainty is founded.

Where are we headed? The direction is as unclear as the various means of travel. Worse, we seem to be waiting for leadership to tell us which way to go when the truth is that we instinctively know the way.

And that realization, my friends, may be the way to achieve peace, joy and good will this holiday season.

Sounds extremely naive and Pollyanna, doesn't it? But we seem to be experiencing a certain amount of disarray about us at present, and what better time is there to look at something more clearly than when it has been broken down, disjointed from its normal configuration? And, indeed, what better time to start anew the rebuilding process when it is already stripped down and laid out before you?

But even before the rebuilding process begins, it is essential to account for all the parts — the basics, if you will. We might refer to Maslow's "hierarchy of needs" to remind ourselves that the primary needs of people must be met before they can successfully move to the next level of achievement.

And so it goes with the American people who would serve themselves well to pause for a few moments during this holiday season, look within and without, and determine whether or not our individual members are really being cared for and respected.

Enough small acts of kindness and love eventually have the power to speak loudly and clearly to a world too full of greed.

Let us, the grass-roots people, lead with our hearts and our souls. And maybe the leaders will follow.

Let there be peace on earth. And let it begin with me.

initative.

We request that members of the public write a personal letter thanking Governor Schaefer (State House, Annapolis, Maryland 21401) for his commitment and to urge him to reinforce that commitment through an initiative at a funding level at least that of previous years. Please show your support of mental health services to our mentally ill.

Messages Of Hope Are Exchanged By Parishioners And Liberian Minister

by Sherry Frantz
They come from Monrovia, Liberia, on the southwest coast of West Africa, Augustus (Gus) and Rebecca, but their light shines from there to the little town of Swanton, as messages of hope and faith inspire all who hear them to bring about a better world understanding and communion.
Pastor Monu serves his congregations, which consist of members of both the Otterbein United Methodist Church in Swanton and the Bethel United Methodist Church in Kitzmiller, and, in return, receives love and concern for his family's tragic separation. He and his wife, Rebecca, are working to be reunited with their two teenaged daughters who are unable to leave their war torn country of Liberia, now involved in civil war.
That love and concern from the parishioners is most visible in the campaign they have instituted to raise money in an effort to remedy this separation. Although they realize it will have any complaints about the color of my skin, I will carry them to God because he made me what I am."

BRIGHT SMILES SHOW HOPE, but hide the pain Rebecca and Gus must feel at the long separation they have undergone from their two daughters, aged 14 and 16, who are unable to leave war-torn Liberia to join their parents in the United States. Reverend Gus Monu is the pastor at the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church, as well as the Kitzmiller Bethel United Methodist Church. The churches are conducting a fund-raising campaign to help the Monus retrieve their daughters from the West African country, now under the siege of rebel soldiers. Interested persons who would like to obtain information about the couple and their plight are asked to call Mary Lou Wilson at 387-6332 or Judy Burrell at 453-3381.

In that case, the people of Garrett County should feel blessed to have among them one of God's premier examples of his handiwork.

According to Swanton parishioner Mary Lou Wilson, "On faith, our church is setting up a fund to provide money to help reunite this family when it becomes possible. We need help with it and ask that our pastor's family be added to your prayer list."

Wilson noted that, if the money is not needed by the Monus, the money collected will be used for other Liberian refugees. Anyone wishing to obtain more information is asked to call Mary Lou Wilson at 387-6332 or Judy Burrell at 453-3381.

take more than money, and that the conflict will first have to be resolved in Liberia, the parishioners see the money as one way to help the Monus obtain information regarding the status of their country and the appropriate means by which they can be reunited with their daughters.

Gus and Rebecca have not connected with their families since June, at which time they were able to get through by telephone. At that time, everyone was reported to be well. But now, they are not certain because of the war.

Rebecca (as any mother would be) is greatly affected in her daily life by the separation from her children, aged 14 and 16. As Gus says, "It really has a toll on her. Sometimes she is so miserable, she doesn't eat."

"Why should I eat, when my children cannot eat?" is her reply.

During that June conversation, the Monus were told not to return — that it was not safe. It was after that they learned they could not return because the airport and one major road had been closed by rebel soldiers. "They have taken over, so there is no way to leave or to enter the country," said Gus.

Gus explained that because the United States enjoys many freedoms, the present government considers anyone who has left Liberia and experienced those freedoms will then be a threat to the native people. "They feel these kinds of ideas influence people to turn against their government."

During that June conversation, a family member told Gus that friends — fellow ministers — had disappeared. "We are afraid to go back," he said.

He explained the history of the conflict in Liberia and the present situation, saying that Liberia (which means liberty) was so named because free slaves from the United States were allowed to leave America and were sent to Liberia in the early 1800's by then U.S. President James Monroe (for which the capital city, Monrovia, is named).

Gus noted that the slaves came to Liberia with the American culture. "English was the only language they knew so they never really liked to speak the native tongue of Liberia. They never identified themselves with the people, calling themselves 'We The People of North America' and wrote their own constitution," he said, "which did not include the indigenous people."

"That's the whole root of the long conflict," he added, "but this particular conflict began last December after a ten-year period of rule by Samuel K. Doe."

Last December, Gus reported, Doe was captured and killed by rebel soldiers under the leadership of the present interim president, Dr. Amos Sawyer.

Gus paused for a moment and stated, "Liberia has been a very good country — even through this whole thing. Liberian people never liked any kind of conflict. We didn't really have a problem with the American/Liberian leadership until these soldiers overthrew the government. Liberians, by nature, are not rebellious people. We believe in peace."

He continued, "When the indigenous people took over ten years ago, it was worse than when the country was run by the independent (freed slaves) government."

When the Monus were asked how they receive any news out of Liberia, Gus replied that, lately, there has been no news because all international communications have been cut off, but before that they did get little bits of news through the British Broadcasting Company, the Voice of America and the "Christian Science Monitor."

The Monus are in contact with U.S. Congresswoman Beverly Byron in hopes of learning more about the current status of their native land and well-being of their families.

Gus then begins to speak of how he came to be in America in the first place, and how, more specifically, he came about Garrett County.

After receiving a degree in education from the Liberian University, he came to America in 1987 where he attended Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C. and received a Master's Degree in Divinity. Before coming to America, he served as a minister in the West Virginia United Methodist Conference in Liberia.

"The seminary gave me four years to study here. When I was finished, I was supposed to go back," he said. Then internal conflict took hold in Liberia and Gus was forced to remain in the United States.

He tells of how he met a Grantsville pastor, Joe Upole, while attending the seminary, and was invited by Rev. Upole to guest preach in the county. Gus was eventually accepted into the West Virginia Annual Conference, which then led to his two-charge ministry in Swanton and Kitzmiller.

"Joe is a wonderful young man. He doesn't see the color of a person — he sees only the person," stated Gus, adding, "He saw me as a child of God."

Gus continued, "Rebecca and I are so fortunate to have come in contact with the people here. These are wonderful people here! I came with a little prejudice thinking I was not going to be accepted — being black, from Africa, and with an accent. So, we were a little bit skeptical. But when we came, they just embraced us. They just loved us!"

Once, when Gus first arrived in Swanton, he did experience some young fellows driving by in a pick-up truck who yelled out the window, "Hi nigger, how are ya?"

Gus's reaction to that comment? "It wasn't anything because that is what I am! If I

Dennett Road Poster Contest Winners Named

Dennett Road Elementary School students demonstrated their enthusiasm for reading recently by preparing entries for the sixth annual Reading is Fundamental (RIF) National Poster Contest. This year's winner at Dennett Road was Lauren Rudy, a third grade student.

The contest, which over the past five years has attracted more than two million entries, is expected to receive extra attention this year as the winning entry will become a highlight of RIF's 25th anniversary celebration in 1991.

Underwritten by the Hallmark Corporate Foundation, the poster contest encourages children to read for pleasure and to share with others their love of books and reading.

Each Dennett Road student designed an original poster during their regular art resource class under the direction of Mrs. Trickett, art instructor. A group of parents served as initial judges by selecting one winning poster from each homeroom. Each winner will be allowed to select two RIF books as prizes.

Miss Rudy, the overall school winner, was selected from all the winners by Mrs. Sypolt, art teacher at Broad Ford Elementary School. Lauren is the daughter of Bob and Amy Rudy, Oakland.

Her entry will now be sent to Washington, D.C. for final competition where the national winner and eight runners-up will be selected. The national winner will receive a number of additional prizes.

Locally, Lauren will receive five RIF books and a savings bond which was donated by the Junior Women's Civic Club.

RIF is a national, non-profit organization that inspires children to read through motivational activities and by allowing children to select books to keep as their own at no cost to them or their families. Over the past 25 years, RIF has brought more than 100 million books to youngsters.

RIF is supported at Dennett Road by the Parent-Teacher Association.

Settlement Reached In Auto Death Case

A case arising from a motor vehicle collision which claimed the life of Eric Clayton Stemple was settled out of court last week. According to the claimant's attorney, Bruce A. Kirkwood, of Sullivan & Sullivan, P.A., the claim of Mrs. Clara Louise Stemple, St. George, W.Va., was settled with Erie Insurance Company for an undisclosed amount.

According to documents filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, on or about December 23, 1989, at approximately 10:15 p.m., Stemple was operating a 1981 Subaru GL northbound on Maryland Route 560 near the White Church/Steier Road in Garrett County. At the same time and place, Mark Roy Fazanbaker was operating a 1981 Dodge Omni, registered in the State of Maryland and owned by Diana Lynn DeWitt, southbound on Maryland Route 560. Fazanbaker crossed the center line of the roadway, resulting in a head-on collision with the Stemple vehicle. Stemple was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Fazanbaker and DeWitt were represented by William M. Rudd of Cumberland.

The Christmas Sermon

Sponsored by the congregation of The Deep Creek Baptist Church.

A recent sermon delivered at The Deep Creek Baptist Church by the pastor of the church,
Rev. Donald M. Wilson

The After Christmas Let-Down

The human condition is not cured by Christmas. After the giving and the receiving are over, we are still restless. Some become mildly depressed and others are merely sad the moment all the gifts are unwrapped. Then there is the let-down of the Credit Card bills that comes as surely as the new year. Wise Solomon said in the book of Ecclesiastes:

"...The eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the ear filled with hearing... (1:8) neither is his eye satisfied with riches... (4:8) He that loves silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loves abundance with increase... when goods increase, they are increased that eat them..." (5:10,11)

On a positive note, the wise king affirmed in Proverbs 14:14 "...a good man shall be satisfied from himself." Modern man mocks the miracle of Christmas and Christianity, and charges God with messing up. Insisting that man, and not God be at the center, man manipulates the message and then is disillusioned, indifferent or antagonistic where God is concerned. Some philosophers say that our world is suffering from a post Christianity let-down. There have been so many wars, so many killed, that Bart Simpson's "Get real, man" seems to be the most appropriate reaction to the proclamation:

"Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Such individuals have either willfully or ignorantly misunderstood the Bible and the Christian philosophy. They choose not to hear Jesus' words in Matthew 10:34

"Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword."

They don't want to hear our Lord's words:

"The kingdom of God is within you."

and

"My kingdom is not of this world."

The prophetic perspective of David in Psalm 2 or the Apostle John in Revelation 19:11-16 is omitted.

"I will declare the decree: the LORD has said unto me, You are my son; this day have I begotten you. Ask of me, and I shall give you the heathen for your inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for your possession. You shall break them with a rod of iron; you shall dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel."

"And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he does judge and make war. ...and his name is called The Word of God. And the armies which were in heaven followed him...and out of his mouth goes a sharp sword, with which he shall smite the nations; and he shall rule them with a rod of iron..."

The prevailing mood cynically says—God doesn't make house calls any more, so planet earth, you're on your own. Mary and Joseph would have called it quits before Jesus ever reached manhood and began his ministry, if they had thought Jesus' arrival would solve the world's problems. The wise men with their gifts and worship had barely vanished over the horizon, when Joseph received a middle of the night wake-up call from an angelic bodyguard.

"Get the baby out of the country. Herod will attempt to assassinate him."

I can hear Joseph now:

"Say what! Run that by me again. I think I missed something."

Because of Christmas, Joseph and Mary had to leave home. Heaven came to their house with the result that they had to hide out for an extended period of time.

And the passage of years did not improve things. They called his name Jesus, Saviour; but sacrifice was his lot and also that of those who followed him. What are we to make of the fact that a local king named Herod tried unsuccessfully to kill Jesus when Jesus was born, and 33 years later, after many sermons, miracles, and a time of popularity, another king named Herod would lend his approval to the accomplishing of the task?

There are some other quotes of Jesus that need to be thought through. What did he mean when he said:

"...I have finished the work which you gave me to do." John 17:4

And then on the cross when he announced:

"It is finished."

and in his parting statement following his resurrection:

"All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth."

In the midst of poverty, persecution, and preparation for war, and several private disappointments it is possible to avoid THE AFTER CHRISTMAS LET-DOWN? I don't think it is entirely. But this does not signify a failure on God's part. The truth of the matter is that not all the Christmas presents have been opened yet. Some really big ones are marked DON'T OPEN UNTIL JESUS RETURNS. The events of Christmas past make possible the prayer:

"Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven."

during our Christmas in the present. We are unable to lessen the let-down by our anticipation of the final, perfect, and permanent Christmas to come. It is prophesied with these words from Revelation 22:1-3

"And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb. In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month; and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him."

On this Christmas, as with all the Christmases of the past, we are invited by God to "embrace the promises, and witnesses to our confidence in them." (Heb. 11:13) It is still true: "The just shall live by faith," and in faith there is an element of incompleteness. I am mindful of a few more Bible verses:

"For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and not delay." Heb. 10:37

"...this is the victory that overcomes the world; even our faith." 1 John 5:4

"For all the promises of God in Jesus are yes, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God by us. Now he which establishes us with you in Christ, and has anointed us in God." II Cor. 1:20,21

Mix your merry Christmas with faith and you will find that the after Christmas let down is tempered with year round gratitude and anticipation.

Over 200 gifts were purchased for the members of 28 local needy families. The employees of Garrett National Bank, coordinated by Rita Savage, customer records supervisor, have assisted with the project for several years. Members of the Mountain Council of the Maryland Chapter of Telephone Pioneers, C&P Telephone Company, donated proceeds from their weekly 50/50 drawing and Christmas auction. Pictured above, kneeling, are Debbie Barnard, left, and Cheryl Iden, parent volunteers. Standing, left to right, are Charles "Buck" Trautwein, representing the Pioneers of C&P; Mrs. Savage, GNB customer records supervisor; Mrs. Thorn, Mrs. Corley, and Principal Fowler.

Also released this week by the DNR is the deer kill recorded by the checking stations for the first segment of the 1990 archery season. Between September 15 and November 17, bowhunters bagged 6,748 deer, slightly more than recorded for the same period last year. Dates for the second and third segments of the archery season are December 3 through December 21 and January 7 through January 31. The 1990 muzzleloader deer season will run from December 22, 1990 through January 5, 1991.

Murphy searched Codington's car, and apparently found a film canister that contained a quantity of suspected marijuana. The defendant was subsequently charged with possession of the illegal drug.

John M. Rexrode, 71, Horseshoe Run, W.Va., was charged with driving an uninsured and unregistered vehicle on Dec. 12. Rexrode was stopped on Weber Road by Dep. R. Sines when the officer noted that the license plate had expired.

After running a check on Rexrode, Sines also discovered that a bench warrant for his arrest had been issued by the Garrett County District Court for failure to appear in court. He was then served the bench warrant by Sines.

Hunters Harvest 31,874 Deer In Regular Season

Maryland's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) this week released its preliminary deer kill count for Maryland's 1990 firearms season. Based on initial tabulations reported from DNR's statewide network of checking stations, hunters harvested 31,874 deer in the year's seven-day gun season which ended December 1. Garrett County's total was 3,385 with 1,729 killed on the first day.

While the deer population has remained high throughout the state, the firearms season deer kill appears to be about 3,000 short of last year's record harvest of 33,855. The shortfall in the harvest began opening day when hunters bagged 15,485 deer, about 2,500 fewer than the first day harvest in 1989. Typically, about half of the firearms deer kill occurs on the opening day of the season.

"Several factors may have contributed to the drop in this year's firearms harvest," said Joshua Sandt, supervisor of the forest game program for DNR's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service. "On opening day last year the ground was snow-covered and hunting conditions were ideal. This year weather conditions were not as favorable. The first day was warm and windy, and the warm weather persisted for the first four days of the season. Neither hunters nor deer move about as much in warm weather," he noted in commenting on the deer kill.

Other factors which Sandt identified as possible contributing to a decrease in the firearms harvest include a reduction in hunting pressure this year and a change in the regula-

Rams Defeat BW Spartans Before Being Whipped By Tucker County

The Southern Rams won their third straight contest in as many starts this past week, defeating host Bishop Walsh Friday night, 45-41, but the unbeaten season came to an end Tuesday evening in Parsons, W. Va., when they were tripped up by Tucker County, 60-46. Southern's Brett Rice, who went into the Bishop Walsh contest with a 35-point average, was held to just 12 points by the Spartans, but teammates Britten Martin and Richard Beckman took advantage of the double-teaming of Rice and were able to pick up the slack in scoring.

Martin finished with 12 points, while 6-4 center Beckman added 10 points and blocked four shots.

The Spartans led by one at the end of the first quarter, 11-10, but Martin scored eight of his points in the second quarter as

OFF TO A STRONG START this season are the Southern High boys' varsity, as the Rams have won three of their first four games, all on the road. The Rams are considered one of the area's top teams, despite the fact they have only one returning starter from last season. Brett Rice, a junior, averaged 20 points per game for Coach Tom Bosley's Rams last season as a sophomore and is currently the leading scorer on the team this year. Richard Beckman was a part-time starter on last year's team, which concluded with a 12-11 record. Bosley has "inherited" a junior varsity team that won 16 games last year. SHS JAYVEES STRUGGLING — The Southern High School boys' junior varsity basketball team is off to a rough start this season, as every starter from last year's squad moved up to varsity this year. First-year sophomores and freshmen compose the squad, unlike many of their opposing teams that have a number of juniors. The Jayvee Rams are being coached this year by Mike Friend, who served as varsity coach at Bishop Walsh for five years and was a junior varsity coach at Northern for one year. Pictured left to right, kneeling, are Gary Upole, Richie Warnick, Brian Reams, Matt Newcomb, James Moon, Larry Hardesty, and Mark Elliott. Standing, same order, are Coach Friend, C.J. Getson, Jason Friend, Doug Copeland, J.D. Beckman, Jeremy DeWitt, Jeremy Sanders, and Mark Dawson.

the Rams moved out to a 27-17 halftime advantage.

Southern stretched the advantage to 12 points by the end of the third stanza, 39-27. Greg Clucas, who led the Spartans with 16 points, led a rally in the fourth period when BW came within four points and had a few Rob Boyle added 13 points to the Spartan total.

The Southern junior varsity was upended by the Spartan Jayvees in the preliminary game.

Against Tucker County, Brett Rice netted 17 points, but the Rams were never really in the contest. The Mountain Lions took control of the game early and never let go, as they held an 18-7 lead at the end of the first period, led 29-18 at halftime, and were on top 43-28 after three quarters.

Not only were the Rams outscored, they were out-rebounded by a two-to-one margin, 36-18.

Fazenbaker Shot Leads Pharmacy Over Westvaco

Mike Fazenbaker's 10-foot jumper with six seconds remaining in the game capped off a furious 13-point last minute rally as Deep Creek Pharmacy nipped Westvaco, 80-79. The Pharmacy, down 77-64 with 2:31 left on the clock, outscored Westvaco, 16-2, as Fazenbaker scored all 10 of his points in the last two minutes. Brian Lattimer paced Deep Creek Pharmacy with 25 points and Jerry Herpel added 18, including 12 in the second half. Donnie Marsh led Westvaco with 18 points.

In other action Thursday night, Video Connection rolled to an impressive 84-75 win over The Miners & Merchants Bank. John Smith scored 32 points and Dean Marsico added 28 to lead Video. The Miners placed five players in double figures with Allan Selders leading the way with 12 points.

Niner Construction/A&A cruised past an out-manned Martin's Auto Glass, 66-52. Greg Shockey paced the Niner attack with 16 points.

At the National Guard Armory, G&H Masonry kept its perfect record intact with a 93-62 crushing of Fairfax Stone. Gary Paugh's 31 points and Bryan Wilt's 21 paced the G&H victory. Tim Sanders scored 21 to lead Fairfax.

CMC Enterprises stayed on the leader's heel by sending

D&C Video reeling with an 89-74 win. Rick Minnick scored a game-high 32 points for CMC and Mel Evans pumped in 22 for D&C.

The National Guard got back on the winning track as they ran around The Curve Tavern, 104-69. Marshall Pike scored 32 for the Guard and Jonathan Cramer added 22 points in the victory. Greg Harvey scored 26 to lead The Curve.

Tuesday night action at The Armory saw G&H Masonry up its record to 6-0 with a 96-74 trouncing of the National Guard. Chad Armstrong's 24 points and Bill Braithwaite's 23 led the G&H Masonry attack. The Guard's Jonathan Cramer led all scorers with 26 points.

Jeff Lipscomb's foul shot with one second on the clock pushed Fairfax Stone to a 79-78 victory over Deep Creek Pharmacy. The Pharmacy, down as many as 17 points in the first half, whittled at the lead until they took it with three minutes left in the game. However, Fairfax, down by five points with under a minute remaining, used a full-court press to create three Deep Creek Pharmacy turnovers to set up Lipscomb's last seconds heroics. Lipscomb and Robert Shahan both scored 20 points to lead Fairfax. Mike Fazenbaker led all scorers with 24 points.

Northern Girls Rip Turkeyfoot, Lose To Campers

The Northern High girls' varsity split a pair of games this past week, rolling over host Turkeyfoot last Thursday night, 45-28, and then falling to Allegany Monday evening in Cumberland, 50-37.

The 2-1 Huskies were slated to play at Salisbury last night, but results of that contest were unavailable at presstime.

SHS Golf Team Honored By GNB

The Garrett National Bank sponsored a dinner at the Oakland Country Club last week to recognize the accomplishments of the 1990 Southern High School golf team.

The Rams, coached by Lin Gonder, captured the Potomac Valley Championship, the Regional Championship, and finished 12th in the Maryland State Tournament. Individual trophies were awarded to Matt Hill for being the low medalist at the Regional Tournament, to Randy Davidson for being low medalist in the PVC Tourney, and to Randy Lewis for being named to the All-Region first team.

Thanks was extended to the following individuals, organizations, and businesses for their support of the Southern program: the Oakland Country Club; Hardwood, Inc.; Davidson's Army-Navy; Oakland Country Club Ladies Golf Association; Elks Lodge 2481;

Browning's Foodland; Jim Kreyenbuhl, OCC pro; and Jerry Meyers.

In attendance at the dinner, besides the team members and their parents, were Coach Gonder and Mrs. Gonder, and Milford Beckman and Luke Stuart, of Garrett National Bank.

A charity tournament sponsored by the GNB pitting the fathers against the team members was planned for the spring of next year. Details will be announced later.

All-American candidate Chuckie Moore continued to lead the Lakers' effort, as he scored 23, 19, and 29 points in the three wins.

Two other Lakers, both from the Cumberland area, played key roles in Thursday's win over Mount Aloysius, as Derek Young finished with 18 points, a dozen rebounds, five blocked shots, five assists, and two steals, while Jesse York added 11 points and 12 rebounds.

the line-up after being sidelined with a knee injury, scored 15 and 10 points, respectively.

Moore probably would have finished with a high total had he not missed half of the game because of foul trouble.

The Lakers wasted no time taking control of the game, jumping out to an 18-point lead at the seven minute mark of the first half and holding a 47-35 advantage at halftime.

Eleven Laker turnovers in the second half allowed Mount Aloysius to stay in the game; however, they never seriously threatened to take over the lead.

Brent Holsapple led the host team with 23 points, while teammate Whitney Simpson was close behind with 21.

The Lakers embarrassed visiting Waynesburg early in Monday's game, as they jumped out to a 29-7 lead with 13:07 left in the first half. They were on top 47-25 at halftime.

Gibson substituted freely throughout the contest and, consequently, Moore spent considerable time on the bench. Chris Greene, back after being sidelined with a knee injury, also netted 19 for the Lakers. Morgan finished with 10 rebounds to go with his eight points and Boldley recorded 10 of the Lakers' 32 assists. Carlos Trotter was credited with four of GCC's 15 steals and Young added three blocked shots. Carlos Williams came off the bench to score nine points.

Leading the Bobcats were Brian Belan and Ray Threet with 12 and 11 points, respectively, while Heath Bailey and Maurice Blackwell each finished with 10.

The win in the Red Devils' Den in Baltimore Tuesday evening was the biggest of the season so far for Coach Gibson and the Lakers. Gibson stated that, in his 11 years at Garrett, he could not remember a GCC win in the Den.

The Devils tried to muscle Moore out of the picture, but he still led the way with 29 points and because they were keying on him, other Lakers were able to contribute heavily.

York finished with 16 points and pulled down nine rebounds, while Greene added 14 points and grabbed eight rebounds. The Lakers out-rebounded the Devils by more than two to one, 43-20.

Boldley also had a strong performance for Garrett, as he finished with 12 points and four steals.

The score remained close throughout most of the first half, until the Lakers broke away late in the half and held a 52-41 advantage at intermission.

The Red Devils came back midway through the second half to cut the Lakers' lead to six points, 61-55, as most of the GCC starting line-up was on the bench. Gibson kept Trotter, Earl Hemby, Williams, Greene, and Morgan on the floor, however, and they built the lead back to 10 points.

The Laker starters then went back in and increased the advantage to 14 points at the nine minute mark and finally to 22 points with 2:14 to play.

Baltimore was paced in scoring by James Price with 28 points and Warren Wright with 24.

The loss dropped the Devils to 2-3 on the season.

Garrett will be off for two weeks and return to action January 6 at home against the Shenandoah junior varsity.

Huskies Nip Mount Savage, 53-52, But Then Fall To East Preston

The Northern Huskies split a pair of games this past week, nipping Mount Savage Friday night at home, 53-52, and then losing to visiting East Preston Tuesday night, 61-45, to make their record 2-3.

A three-point bucket by Aaron Morris with just five seconds left lifted the Huskies over Mount Savage, ending a two-game win streak of the Indians.

The contest was tight all the way, as Mount Savage led 10-8 at the end of the first quarter, the score was tied at 26 apiece at halftime, and Northern held a 41-39 edge after three quarters. It appeared late in the fourth period that the Huskies would lose their third game of the year, as they trailed by six points, 49-43, with less than a minute to go.

Jon Houser started the rally by hitting a three-pointer to narrow the lead to 49-46. After each team hit a two-point bucket, Dave Hinebaugh netted a bucket to cut the Indians' lead to one point, 51-50. The Huskies were forced to foul with just seconds left, but the Savage shooter hit only one of two, making it 52-50 and setting up Morris's winning shot.

Houser and Mike Fike paced the Huskies' scoring with 15 points each, and Fike also pulled down 15 rebounds.

Mount Savage's Nathan Goebel led all scorers as he finished with 19 points, while Randy Rice netted 12 and Brian Brehm contributed 11.

In the preliminary contest, the Northern junior varsity was also victorious, 38-28, behind a 13-point effort by Derek Mason.

Houser had his best game of the season Tuesday evening against East Preston, finishing with 24 points, but it was as if the rest of the Huskies failed to show up.

RAM GRAPPLERS THIRD IN TOURNEY — Pictured are two members of the Southern High School wrestling team enroute to victories in the University High Tournament in Morgantown held Saturday. Above, Brian McCroskey pins his opponent in the 152-pound division to capture a third place trophy. At right, Jason Rush prepares to take down his opponent in the 125-pound class. Rush finished fourth overall in his weight class. As a team, the Rams finished third among the eight squads in contention, while the Northern Huskies successfully defended their tournament title for the third straight year.

Huskies Successfully Defend Title At University; Rams Finish Third

The Northern High wrestling team continued its dominance of the University High Tournament in Morgantown, W.Va., Saturday, easily winning the championship for the fourth straight year.

The Huskies finished with 171 points, well ahead of second place Uniontown with 129 and one-half points.

The Southern Rams finished a somewhat surprising third place in the event with 119 points, followed by Clay-Battelle with 110, Lewis County with 95 and one-half, University with 57, Westmar with 54, and North Marion JV with 46. Two-thirds of the Southern High

Ram Grapplers Topped 42-30 By Central Preston

After capturing third place in the annual eight-team University High Tournament in Morgantown Saturday, the Southern wrestling team dropped a 42-30 decision last night to visiting Central Preston.

Matt Devins, Pete Strawser, Jason Rush, Mike DeWitt, and Brian McCroskey all recorded pins for the Rams, while Bub Funk, Vince Dixon, and Chad Miller won via the pin for the Cavaliers. Central's Anthony Miller and Gary Grippen won by decision.

Had the Rams not been forced to forfeit three matches, they would have won the meet.

Now 1-2, Southern will participate in the Petersburg Tournament on January 5.

The win was the fourth in as many starts for the Huskies this season. Capturing individual titles for Northern were Allen Bittling in the 130-pound class, Tim Thomas at 135, Randy Dolan at 152, and Scott Beitzel in the heavyweight division.

Dolan was named the tournament's outstanding wrestler.

Northern's Richard Weyland (119) and Ron Sines (145) finished with runner-up trophies, as did Southern's Matt Devins, a freshman, in the 102-pound class, freshman Jason Burgess (112), and Sonny Livengood, also a freshman, at 160 pounds.

Earning fourth places were Northern's Dan Sisler (112) and Greg Miller (140), and Southern's Jason Rush (125).

The Huskies are slated to meet Hyndman and Keyser in a triangular meet this evening at Hyndman. The Rams hosted Central Preston last night (see separate story).

The Huskies trailed 12-8, 22-15, and 43-27 at the quarters and were never really into the game. Brian Spiker led the Eagles with a game-high 26 points on 10 field goals and a pair of free throws. Rick Sharpless added 15 points for the winners.

Houser was the only Husky to reach double figures.

The Northern junior varsity won the preliminary game, topping the East Preston jayvees, 41-26, on the strength of a 16-point performance by Billy Younkun. Shawn Metheny paced the Eagles with seven points.

Sines is a 1990 graduate of Northern High School.

Cherry Glade

Users in the Cherry Glade area have expressed frustration at the addition to their bills, while members of the town council expressed their frustration at the continuation of the conflict, and the problem of having no where else to retrieve the debt. Several assertions have been made by Wendell Beitzel, administrator for the Sanitary District, as well as Robert Watson, attorney representing the town. Other points of view were expressed in recent interviews with Attorney Ralph Burnett and Mayor Asa McCain.

Beitzel first pointed out that the legal debt for Oakland's part in the court case ($60,000) was considerably higher than that of the Sanitary District, which was set at $7,076. Watson explained that the attorneys from Shapiro and Olander did extensive research into the case, interviewing numerous witnesses and working long hours.

"This case was vitally important to the town of Oakland, important to our public trust with this system. It was never as important to them (the Sanitary District), and they had no chance of winning to begin with. It was a frivolous suit on their part," Watson said.

"The Sanitary District was never given any authority other than to notify users to hook on to the system, and to collect capital costs. They have never had the right to perform any other function." He also stated that the town did genuine research while the Sanitary District did little.

Beitzel said in a later interview that the District did do extensive research, and that he had been involved in several hours of it himself. He stated that any deposition presented by the town was answered by the representative for the Sanitary District, who was Mike Getty of Hidey, Coyle, Getty & Monteleone of Cumberland.

Another point of conflict concerns the placing of the debt in the capital costs. Some users in the area contend that this is not legal, and a yet another law suit may be pending against the town. Oakland Mayor Asa McCain said that the Sewer Authority did not feel it would be fair to charge all of Oakland for the legal fees, which were incurred after the law suit centering on Cherry Glade. The Oakland Sewer Authority was advised by Watson that the placement would be legal.

"We felt there was no justification whatsoever in charging Oakland residents with the debt. If we (the town council) had brought charges, then yes, we would feel justified in distributing the costs."

The mayor did, however, vote against the addition of the debt in the capital costs. He explained that the only reason he did so was because he wanted to avoid yet another law suit, as he is "tired of them."

"I thought maybe we could figure out another way to recoup the losses, and I just didn't want any more grief from this," McCain also voiced frustration over the fact that he has brought about lower costs to all users in Oakland through numerous trips to Annapolis and Baltimore, all on his own time, he reported, to apply for grants and to get assistance from the Environmental Protection Agency and the Maryland Department of the Environment.

"The debt for that area was originally $5600 per ERU, and we have reduced that to $2300. The cost of the entire system was roughly $2,800,000. I went down-state to help the situation, and brought the cost to $1,500,000. But we get no credit for this, no support. It is very, very frustrating."

According to reports, a letter has been sent to the Mayor and Town Council from the law firm of Burnett, Eiswert, & Jones P.A. stating that the addition of the legal fees in the capital costs of Cherry Glade users' bills in their opinion is "wrongful." The letter requests a meeting with the town to attempt to resolve the conflict.

"We want an amicable settlement," Burnett said. "At the same time, if we can't resolve our differences, there will be litigation."

Watson commented on the letter, stating that the town will be willing to listen to any authority the law firm may have that shows that the town is acting illegally. He explained that the law states the town has the authority to place in capital costs any fees, assessments, or charges they may incur.

AURORA-EGILON NEWS

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS

On Saturday evening, December 22, there will be a Christmas program at the Bethel United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run, at 7:30 p.m., to which the public is invited.

On Sunday evening, December 23, there will be a program by the children and youth, "Nathan and the Neon Night," followed by candlelighting and refreshments at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. Time of the service is 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

The Aurora School held its annual Christmas program last night, December 19. There were two plays: "The Greatest Christmas Gift," directed by Allen Mullins, which told the story of three sisters who, in their search for the perfect gift, found the meaning of Christmas; and "Christmas Coast to Coast," under the direction of Phyllis Mahaffie, was of the "overdone" Christmas. A combined chorus of the five classes was directed by Delores Harsh and Renelda Frazee.

LIONS' TREAT

The Mt. Lions Club will again sponsor a Christmas treat for children of the local communities on Saturday, December 22, from 5-7 p.m. Parents may bring their children, under 12 years of age, to see Santa.

CALENDARS AVAILABLE
For those who wish to have an Aurora Community Birthday Calendar, there are a few yet available at $4.00 each. Persons may contact one of the following: Renee Mullenax at 735-6281, Stacy Fint at 735-5429 or Mary Harsh at 735-6495.

The Aurora PTO again requests that persons save cash register receipts from Thomas's IGA and from West Virginia participating Foodlands — Kingwood and Reedsville — for the purchase of computers for the school. They would also like to remind persons to continue to save Campbell product labels including Swanson and others.

BIRTHS

Patrick and Lori Adams of Horse Shoe Run are announcing the birth of their first child, a son, born December 15, in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Named Phillip Patrick, the baby's birth weight was seven pounds, three and one-half ounces.

Leroy and Margaret McWilliams of Horse Shoe Run are the maternal grandparents, while the paternal grandparents are Jack and Doris Adams of Aurora. Great-grandmothers are Viola McWilliams, Aurora, Jessie Bachtel, Horse Shoe Run, Thelma Adams and Eva Sanders, all Aurora.

A daughter was born December 15 in Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Richard and Marcia Spaid of Aurora. She weighed six pounds, four and one-quarter ounces and has been named Rebekah Joy. Her older sister, Sarah, helped welcome her home.

Grandparents of Rebekah are Wallace and Velma Nye of Fredericksburg, Va., and Joe and Clara Spaid of Eglon.

SANTA TO BE AT MT. GROVE

MINDS IN MOTION AWARD WINNERS — Twenty-one Southern High School students have been designated recipients of the statewide "Minds in Motion" award by the Maryland Public Secondary Schools Athletic Association. This is the first year for the program which is designed to recognize individual participants in MPSSAA activities who also excel in the classroom. To earn the award, a student must maintain at least an 87 percent average during the grading period when they were also involved in their sport. Southern's winners pictured here earned the award for the first reporting period. Pictured above, left to right, seated, are: Brian Reams and Trisha Marple, cross-country; Tatum Shomo, cheerleading; and Robert Burgess, football. Standing, same order, are: Helen Rostovsky, volleyball coach; Tom Woods, football coach; Joshua Woods, football; Crystal Sines, Josephine Coviello, and Keri Krafotil, all volleyball. Pictured at right, first row, same order, are: Amy Rice, Paulette McIntyre, and Heather Upole, cheerleading; and Todd Fearer, cross-country. In the second row, same order, are: Erin Dabney, Susan Umstot, Jessica Gracie, and Christine Browning, cross-country. In the back row, same order are: Bob Quick, cross-country coach; Shawn Ryan, football; Rebecca Few, volleyball; and Jane Williams, cheerleader advisor. Not present for the photos were: Garth Giotfelty, football; Bryan Clickener, cross-country; and Ladonna Wolfe, cheerleading.

vices (EMS).

Dave Ramsey, Region I (Allegany and Garrett counties) EMS administrator, says that faculty members and students are very active in providing help on several levels. He explained that the state is divided into five EMS regions, all coordinated and serviced by the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems (MIEMSS). This portion of MIEMSS is a part of the University of Maryland at Baltimore and is a "control center" of the voluntary network of hospitals, more than 450 ambulances statewide, more than 20,000 trained and certified pre-hospital care providers, a state-of-the-art communications center linking ambulances, helicopters and central alarms, and a med-evac helicopter program operated by the State Police and coordinated with MIEMSS.

Two sociology students, Bill Crawford and Erica Carlson, Oakland, both of whom were previously involved in local EMS activities, interned with the Region I office.

Crawford, himself a cardiac rescue technician (CRT), conducted an extensive study surveying field providers in Region I. His goal was to collect data to aid in addressing the problems of recruitment and retention of EMS personnel: he wanted to know who volunteered to perform EMS duties and why they volunteered.

According to Ramsey, nearly 95% of Region I field providers are volunteers. "The information that the study came up with is extremely valuable," Ramsey said. Parts of the report were "published in the EMS newsletter" and "we've sent it (the study) to five or six states" who requested it.

Crawford has since graduated and has taken a job as manager of a large ambulance service in Pennsylvania.

Ms. Carlson, daughter of Harland and Kaye Carlson, Oakland, was involved in EMS work as an paramedic for the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad before interning. She compiled a directory of all training materials and resource people within Allegany and Garrett counties which, according to Ramsey, was "shared with all the (Region I) ambulance people," allowing them to design their own in-service training programs.

Carlson has graduated and is a crisis counselor at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland. "My main interest is EMS," said Carlson, who hopes to do master's work in sociology at West Virginia University. She is also a peer member of the Region I Critical Incident Stress Debriefing (CISD) team.

Lee Ross, FSU professor of psychology, is the Region I CISD regional coordinator and acting coordinator for Region II, Washington and Frederick counties. According to Lee, this state-wide program of professionals and peers, only the second in the nation, was established in 1986 to help enable field providers to cope with the stressful nature of their EMS work. "They deal with the wreckage in our lives," Lee says of police, firefighters and EMS personnel. Studies show that more than 86% of emergency personnel experience some emotional or physical reaction after responding to a critical incident.

The CISD team is of service "to them when it's hard for them." The objective, according to Lee, is to "take people who have been through a bad situation and get them back on line so they can go back out and do the job they need to do and want to do." According to Ramsey, confidential sessions are set up between the members of the debriefing team and emergency workers to talk about the call and work through their emotions and reactions.

Lee says that after talking about their experiences, emergency workers find themselves much better able to return to their work. During a sabbatical leave from the University, Lee wrote the state's CISD training program. He is also helping establish similar programs in neighboring West Virginia.

To prepare for this work, he went through the same EMT training as field providers and annually rides with an ambulance squad, a fire department and state police.

The Region I CISD team is made up of four mental health care professionals, including Lee, another psychologist, Dr. Bill Southerly of FSU, a social worker and a school counselor and eight specially trained peers, or field providers. Each pledges to participate in at least five debriefings each year.

FSU's Psychology Department is the Region I Center for CISD and maintains records and information.

Dr. Bill Southerly is also a member of the CISD team. A member of FSU's Department of Psychology, he became interested in early research with Viet Nam veterans into post-traumatic stress disorder, which he says is very similar to the problems experienced by EMS workers.

Two master's of business administration (MBA) students, Kristin Lee and Susan Radko, helped the Tri-Towns Ambulance and Rescue Service. As part of the MBA program, students are required to use their business acumen to analyze a real business or part of a business. Often businesses contact the Small Business Development Center at FSU for just this sort of help. This was the case with the Tri-Towns group. Ms. Radko studied the human behavior aspects of the organization and Ms. Lee analyzed the group's finances.

These are a few of the people affiliated with FSU who give their time and energies to volunteer agencies.

A MANGER FOR A KING

Guided by the Star of Bethlehem, the shepherds and wise men alike found themselves standing before a lowly stable. Could this be the birthplace of the prophesied King of Kings? Amidst the animal sounds, there was the unmistakable cry of a newborn infant. They slowly entered, still puzzled by the strange scene before them. There they found the baby Jesus in the arms of Mary. His mother, next to a manger bed filled with straw.

Yet, this infant would grow to be called the Son of God... the Prince of Peace. Jesus would teach forgiveness and love, not retribution and hate.

As you worship this Christmas season, may the words of the angel of the Lord ring in your heart:

"For unto you is born this day... a Savior who is Christ the Lord."

GUESS WHO'S COMING TO DINNER!

December 16, 1990

Background Scripture: Luke 14: 1-24.

Devotional Reading: Luke 14: 25-33.

Messianic expectations ran very high in Jesus' day. One of the most popular symbols of the coming of the Messiah was that of the "messianic banquet." When at last the Messiah would come, all the righteous would sit down with him at a great feast. A banquet was one of the most popular social events in those days, so it is understandable why the coming of the kingdom of God would be likened to a great victory banquet. Even today it is an appropriate symbol.

So, when a man sitting at the table with Jesus said, "Blessed is he who shall eat bread in the kingdom of God!" Jesus responded with a parable about a great banquet. It has been suggested that perhaps Jesus is challenging the sincerity of this statement: Are you sure you want the kingdom of God? Really sure? (Like the old spiritual says: "Everybody talkin' bout Heaven, ain't goin' there...")

EXCUSES, EXCUSES

Lots of people talk about what they really want, but when the opportunity to get it comes their way, they fail to respond. The scribes and Pharisees in Jesus' day talked endlessly about the kingdom of God, but when Jesus came proclaiming it, they passed up their opportunity with excuses. That's what the parable is about. One man protested that he had just bought a field and was preoccupied with it. Another begged off because he had just bought a pair of oxen and he had to go see about them. A third man said he had just been married and had to spend the time with his new bride. They are rea-

Release of new 'Godfather' warrants seeing first two

By Steven Alan McGaw

This really does relate to home video, I promise! Folks, the long-awaited Godfather III premieres in theaters this week (at least it's scheduled to as I write this), so be sure to rent the first two films and immerse yourself again in the dark, violent world of the Corleone clan.

The Godfather (1972) and The Godfather II (1974)

The first film, of course, belongs mostly to Marlon Brando and his masterful portrayal of the crime family patriarch. And remember that great scene in the hospital when Michael is frantically trying to protect his wounded father from another assassination attempt?

How about in Godfather II as we watch the aging Michael become the man he never thought he'd be? (Like the scene in Havana, when he tells Fredo he knows who his betrayer is... wow!)

Francis Coppola made two movie milestones with these works: will the third one measure up? Time will tell. Meanwhile, get back in touch with these two great films.

Also, if you get in the mood for more Brando, pick up One-Eyed Jacks, a dark-hearted western co-starring Karl Malden. Brando also directed this one, and it's a ride you won't forget.

'Masterpiece Theatre' notes 20th year with top shows

By Steven Alan McGaw

This sounds terrific! The week of Jan. 10 marks the 20th anniversary of PBS' prestigious Masterpiece Theatre series. To celebrate this milestone, PBS will air a grand nine weeks of the series' most acclaimed offerings, including episodes from The Flame Trees of Thika, I, Claudius, Elizabeth R and, of course, Upstairs, Downstairs. The party starts on Jan. 13.

Here's a team! George C. Scott and Hector Elizondo will co-star in the upcoming ABC project Mittleman's Hardware. No airdate is announced as yet.

Marilyn Monroe lived with legendary acting coach Lee Strasberg and his family for several years. Now Susan Strasberg is telling that story in her upcoming book, Marilyn, The Method and Me. Should be interesting.

Make plans now to attend a movie on Jan. 5. That way, you can vote in The Movie Awards, an innovative project designed to reward the films and performers that audiences really like. The votes will be tallied and then revealed on Jan. 29 in a two-hour CBS special.

Delta Burke and husband Gerald McRaney will co-star in Love and Curses, a romantic comedy/murder-mystery set in New Orleans. Look for this sometime next year.

Bravo! ABC has ordered additional episodes of Gabriel's Fire, the terrific series starring James Earl Jones. If you haven't seen it yet, do so.

Neil Carter and Trent Cameron star in CBS' new comedy You Take the Kids, Saturdays.

Michael Caine is going to be The Whistle Blower on USA's thriller, airing Thursday.

Richard Thomas and Patricia Neal star in The Homecoming: A Christmas Story, the pilot for CBS' long-running series, The Waltons, rebroadcast Tuesday.

'Waltons' pilot rebroadcast on CBS

Cast members continue to act

By Christy Bergslien

Where were you Christmas 1971? If you were watching the tube, chances are you witnessed a TV landmark, the pilot for CBS' long-running series The Waltons. Titled The Homecoming: A Christmas Story, it rebroadcasts Tuesday, Dec. 25, on the network.

Based on the Earl Hamner Jr. novel of the same name, the drama won a Christopher Award following its original broadcast. Starring in the original story are Patricia Neal, William Windom, Edgar Bergen, Ellen Corby, Andrew Duggan, Josephine Hutchinson, Cleavon Little, Dorothy Stickney and Richard Thomas.

Hamner's memories of growing up during the Depression spawned both the series and special. The Homecoming focuses on the events of one very important day in Hamner's life — Christmas Eve 1933.

Neal, who starred as the mother of the clan, won a Golden Globe Award for the pilot, but Michael Learned played her part in the series. Ralph Waite replaced William Windom as the father, and Will Geer came to play Grandpa.

Richard Thomas, who portrayed Hamner, the eldest of the bunch, continued in his role until 1977. Corby continued as Grandma, as did then-youngsters Jon Walmsley, Judy Norton-Taylor, Mary McDonough, Eric Scott, David Harper and Kami Collier who played the younger Walton kids. Virtually all of the Waltons have continued acting on stage, television and film, with Thomas seeing the most success. Corby and Geer are now deceased. © TV Listing Inc.

You'll never 'Guess Who's Coming for Christmas'

It's spaceman Beau Bridges

By Amy Schmidt

Try this one on for size: An eccentric small-town retiree meets an extraterrestrial developer of outer-space shopping malls. That is the subject of NBC's strange but good-hearted comedy drama, Guess Who's Coming for Christmas, airing Sunday, Dec. 23.

Richard Mulligan (Empty Nest) and Beau Bridges (The Fabulous Baker Boys) star. (Executive producer Beth Polson denied there was any casting connection between Beau Bridges' spaceman role in Guess Who's Coming for Christmas and brother Jeff Bridges' role as an extraterrestrial in Starman.)

While the plot of Guess Who's Coming for Christmas sounds preternatural, the story is purely human. When Bridges' UFO overheats, he pays a visit to Mulligan's hardware store to pick up a part. The two befriend each other when Mulligan offers to lend a hand.

"This movie's about what happens when two people come together as strangers and trust each other," Mulligan said, explaining that when people give each other what they need, life happens and the world is revitalized.

Don't expect fantastic special effects from this film, though. The look of the UFO was neither computer-generated nor achieved via miniaturization. Rather, the spacecraft was specially constructed (including dents) to give it an Earth-like charm. Plus, producer Polson simply couldn't find an extraterrestrial vehicle. "I went to all the used lots and there was no UFO," said Polson. "I mean, I thought, 'Here I am in Hollywood, surely you can rent one.'" © TV Listing Inc.

Beau Bridges (left) plays an extraterrestrial businessman befriended by an eccentric retiree (Richard Mulligan) in NBC's Guess Who's Coming for Christmas, Sunday.

Young Luke Edwards portrays an unlikely video champ in The Video, Tuesday on CBS.

Kirk (Jere Burns) must tell the truth or leave the club on Dear John, Wednesday on NBC.

Kennedy Center honors performing artists

Katharine Hepburn among honorees

By Mary Ann Townsend

President John F. Kennedy had a dream that one day the performing arts would be duly recognized in this country. To that end, he helped establish the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Years ago at a fund-raiser for the center, Kennedy said, "I look forward to an America which will not be afraid of grace or beauty... which will reward achievement in the arts as we reward achievement in business or statecraft."

His dream has become a reality.

For 13 years, the Kennedy Center has been recognizing those who have excelled in the fields of dance, theater, opera, motion pictures and television in the annual Kennedy Center Honors: A Celebration of the Performing Arts. This year's honors show, a GM Mark of Excellence Presentation, airs Friday, Dec. 28, on CBS.

The five honorees are jazz trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie, actress Katharine Hepburn, opera star Rise Stevens, composer Jule Styne and screen writer Billy Wilder.

At The Kennedy Center Honors, taped Dec. 2 at the Kennedy Center Opera House, legendary actress Hepburn was moved to emotion when, for the first time ever, she viewed a clip of her Oscar-winning performance in Guess Who's Coming to Dinner. It was not her performance that moved her, but the fact it was the final film of Spencer Tracy, her co-star in nine films.

Hepburn is known for openly expressing her thoughts and feelings. The second of six children, Hepburn was born Nov. 8, 1907 in Hartford, Conn. to unorthodox parents who encouraged candidness in their family.

Her parents were crusaders. Father Thomas, a distinguished surgeon, pioneered public education about venereal disease; mother Katharine tirelessly pushed for women's rights and birth control. It was at a women's suffrage rally that the then 8-year-old Katharine first performed.

By the time she entered her mother's alma mater, Bryn Mawr College, in 1924, Hepburn had considered following in her father's footsteps, but looked at her prospects realistically. "I knew at that time I wouldn't have gone to a woman surgeon," she reasoned. "I felt, 'Well, I better dump that,' and I said, 'I'd better become an actor.' So I did."

For Hepburn and the entertainment industry, it was a wise move.

For more than five decades, the actress has made an indelible mark on the silver screen. Hepburn's credits include more than 40 feature films (many of which are considered classics), numerous TV movies and more than 30 stage productions. Nominated for 12

Oscars and winner of four, she has obviously achieved quality as well as quantity.

"My career has wavered around, stumbled, fallen, picked itself up, crawled back and jumped," the actress summarized. "If I'm confused about some things, I'm sure about one thing. I'm a professional actress. I'm an amateur painter, an amateur sculptress, but as an actress, I'm a professional."

New State Study Blasts Attorney Involvement In Auto Accident Cases

Auto accident cases involving attorneys take longer to resolve, on average, and provide the injured party with less compensation than those without legal representation, a new study commissioned by the Governor's Commission on Insurance found. The report was presented to the Commission at its last meeting.

"A Study of the Private Passenger Automobile Liability Insurance System" was prepared by Tillinghast, a management consultant and actuarial firm. The Governor's Commission on Insurance was appointed by Governor Schaefer to study ways to bring insurance costs under control in Maryland. According to the study, Maryland has the fifth-highest auto insurance premium in the country.

In addition, in its summary the report states, "Maryland accident victims are more prone to pursue a bodily injury claim compared with other states similar to Maryland." The study also found that more than 65 percent of bodily injury claimants in Maryland were represented by an attorney, one of the highest rates in the country.

"The Tillinghast study

Legal Aid Bureau

Announces January

Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during the month of January in Oakland, on January 8 and January 22nd.

The Bureau representative will now be available from 10 a.m. until noon on the above-mentioned dates at the National Guard Armory in Oakland.

The Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832. Grantsville residents can call 777-7474.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the Outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office.

There will not be a representative available in Oakland if Garrett County schools are cancelled because of bad weather. Persons should always call the Cumberland office at 334-8832 by 10 a.m. each scheduled outreach day to confirm whether the representative will be available.

provides conclusive evidence of what we've been saying all along — that the overwhelmed court system and the outdated liability system are responsible for the escalating costs of auto insurance in Maryland," said Miles Cole, vice president of the Maryland Chamber of Commerce. "One of the ways to address the problem is to pursue a no-fault auto insurance program in the state."

The Maryland Chamber of Commerce and 49 other business and community groups have formed Citizen Choice Coalition, which is backing a choice no-fault auto insurance bill. Under the proposal, drivers would choose whether they would take coverage under the no-fault program or remain in the current liability system. Those opting for the basic no-fault package would see at least a 20 percent reduction in rates, and in case of an accident would receive payment of lost wages and expenses within 30 days. The right to sue for non-economic "pain and suffering" damages is waived.

The Tillinghast study found that attorneys are involved in more than 70 percent of auto accident cases that sustain more than $500 in lost wages or medical expenses; in those cases, the actual net amount the victim receives decreases. Attorney fees as a percent of the total award average 29 percent; for every $1 of economic loss, and injured Maryland claimant represented by an attorney receives $1.82. However, those without legal representation receive $2.27 for every $1 of economic loss.

The report also found that, "Maryland claimants represented by an attorney have to wait 366 days from the date of the accident until the final settlement is received, (while) those not represented by an attorney wait 138 days on average to receive their settlement check" — almost three times as long.

The CCC expects to have a choice no-fault bill addressing these problems introduced in the next session of the General Assembly, which begins January 9, 1991.

"I'd like to open a joint account with someone who has a lot of money."

Citizen Choice coalition is a statewide organization that includes the Maryland Chamber of Commerce; Edgewood Neighborhood Association; Ashburton/East Arlington Neighborhood Association; Maryland Hotel and Motel Association; Poppleton Cooperative, Inc.; Gray Panthers of Prince George's County; and the Bethesda-Chevy Chase, Pocomoke City, Hagerstown, Potomac, Salisbury Area, and West Anne Arundel Chambers of Commerce.

Landowners Can Assist Forest Land In 1991

Private, non-industrial woodland owners who manage their own forest land may apply for financial assistance through the Woodland Incentive Program (WIP). The time period for accepting applications for WIP is Friday, December 14, through Tuesday, April 30. WIP is administered by the Department of Natural Resources-Forest, Park and Wildlife Service (DNR-FPWS).

Landowners with 10 to 500 acres, who agree to maintain the forestry practice for 15 years, are eligible to apply for this cost-share program. WIP can pay up to 50 percent of the costs associated with forest management, not to exceed $5,000 per year. Landowners may not have applied for, received approval for, or be receiving federal cost-share assistance for the same forestry practice for which assistance is sought.

WIP is funded by money generated from transfer taxes on the sale of woodland in Maryland. It is not a new tax but a reallocation of funds already being received by the state. WIP was created by legislation to financially assist forest landowners in continuing to manage their forests. Maximum annual funding for the program is $200,000.

Applications for WIP will be accepted by DNR-FPWS county or regional foresters at regional forestry offices. To apply, a landowner must submit an application, including a forest management plan, to project foresters.

The DNR regional service center that serves Garrett County is located at Naves Crossroads, Cumberland, MD 21502; telephone 301-777-2134.

Buying Firewood: What You Should Know

Faced with dropping temperatures and rising fuel oil prices, many homeowners are looking for alternative methods of heating their homes this winter. One cost-effective option is the safe burning of firewood.

"The heating value of a cord of seasoned hardwood — measured in BTU's (British thermal units) — is equal to about 120 gallons of No. 2 heating fuel and usually costs less," says Jonathan Kays, a regional natural resources specialist with the University of Maryland System Cooperative Extension Service.

"This can mean substantial savings in your winter heating bill. You can save even more by considering all the factors that affect the value of your firewood purchase."

According to Maryland law, firewood must be sold by the standard cord — a pile 4-feet high by 8-feet long by 4-feet wide when cut and stacked. (A face cord is a pile of stacked wood of any width that is 4-feet high and 8 feet long. It usually contains much less wood than a standard cord.)

If you have wood delivered, stack it and make sure you're getting what you pay for. Reputable sellers will back up their claims.

Some people sell firewood by the pickup truck load and may claim it is a portion of a cord.

"Be careful when buying wood this way," Kay cautions. "The amount of wood that will fit in a pickup truck varies from about 1/5 cord to slightly more than 1/2 cord, depending on truck size, stacking method and height of stacking."

Wood is extremely heavy, with a seasoned cord of oak weighing almost 4,000 pounds (two tons). Since most half-ton pickup trucks have a weight limit of 1,000 pounds, you can rarely carry more than 1/4 cord safely without an improved suspension.

Different species of wood provide varying amounts of heat per cord. Species with the best heating value are oak, ash, locust, walnut, apple, beech, and hickory. Red maple, cherry and elm are slightly poorer choices.

Other woods, such as poplar, cedar and pine, have much lower heat values and are more useful as kindling, not firewood.

No matter what species of wood you purchase, make sure it is properly seasoned before burning, Kays advises. Well-seasoned wood not only has better burning qualities, it also is cleaner, lighter to carry, and has fewer insects.

Wood usually takes six to 10 months to season, but the process can be accelerated by splitting the wood, stacking it in the sun and protecting it from the rain.

The most efficient way to burn wood is in an airtight stove or fireplace insert. Make sure the flue hookup and clearances of either are in line with building codes.

Some insurers of residential homes require an inspection of wood stoves by a county inspector to ensure that they have been properly installed. Check with your insurance company.

Clean your chimney before your first fire and at intervals during the winter as needed (2 months is suggested) to prevent the buildup of creosote, a byproduct of wood burning. Creosote buildup is highly flammable and can cause a chimney fire capable of destroying your home.

Cross-Lites says: "You are not honoring God by thinking that your sin is too great for him to forgive."

The Holidays In Western Maryland

Being a part of our community is pretty nice around this time of year. You can hear laughter from kids sledding down the hill. Feel the warmth of a fire as it fills the room. And the smell of cookies baking is never too far away. Somehow everything seems all right.

It's a time when we help each other. Sure, a temper or two flares over a parking space, but still we realize our community is a special place. It's not any one thing that makes it special. It's just the way people here are.

At First Federal Savings Bank, we're proud to be a part of this community and we're committed to taking care of its people. To us, that's about the most important thing.

So from all of us at First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, we wish you and your family the best of holidays and a happy New Year.

Out-Of-County Residents Found Guilty Of Theft In District Court

Three out-of-county residents were found guilty of theft in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Joseph P. Torre, 22, Crofton; Michael E. Kinder, 22, Crofton; and Rachel Y. Carillo, 19, Bowie were all found guilty of theft stemming from a June 17 incident in which they stole household items from Loretta Frazee of McHenry.

The three also reportedly used Frazee's swimming pool and utilities without permission.

Torre was given a stiffer sentence since he was already on probation for an earlier crime. He was handed a six-month suspended jail term, ordered to pay a $100 fine, and placed on one year of supervised probation which is to run concurrently with his present probation. He was also ordered to pay restitution to Frazee.

Kinder was given a 30-day suspended jail term, a $50 fine, and six months of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to pay restitution.

Carillo was given the same sentence as Kinder and ordered to pay restitution as well.

In other District Court reports, Dennis J. Garlitz Sr., 23, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of battery on Betty J. Garlitz. Judge Turney sentenced him to two years in jail and then suspended the sentence. Garlitz was ordered to pay a $50 fine and placed on three years of supervised probation. Two other counts of battery against him were placed on the set docket as the result of a plea agreement. He was also ordered to submit to substance abuse counseling.

Garlitz had been charged with battery on Betty Garlitz on three separate occasions in September.

FOOD FOR THE NEEDY — The Southern Middle School Student Council has been conducting a canned and boxed food drive during this holiday season to collect food items for needy families in the area. The group also purchased roasting turkeys, fresh fruits and vegetables to place in the food collection boxes. Disbursement of the collected items was arranged through Rev. Don Matthews. Pictured above, left to right, are: Carolyn Alvarez, vice president of SMS Student Council; Frank Kratoch, Hillary Garris, 7A-2 homeroom representatives; Kerri Vanderbilt, SMS Student Council president; and Mrs. Shirley Spiker, SMS Student Council sponsor.

Holsopple-McDonald Couple Wed In November Double-Ring Ceremony

Jeannette Dianne Holsopple and David Lynn McDonald were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony that took place November 24 at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, Oakland, with the Rev. Michael J. Fike, Morgantown, W.Va., and Rev. Paul Stauffer, Oak Park, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of C. Harold and Martha Holsopple, Oakland, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Shirley Mulligan, Ridgeley, W.Va., and Charles C. McDonald, Sr., Spring Hill, Fla.

Linda Wengard served as organist, with Brian Holsopple, Waynesburg, Va., performing as soloist on the musical selections, "Wedding Song," "And On This Day," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Follow Me."

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin. Pearled Venise and Cluny lace covered the fitted bodice accented with a Chantilly lace ruffle. The V-shaped yoke of English net was highlighted with pearl bangles, bridal collar and Victorian sleeves with an ornate sheer inset.

A starburst of pearls accented the back yoke. A tiny button closure to the Basque waist held a full satin skirt hemmed with a deep lace ruffle flowing to a Cathedral train. The train held details of garland Cluny lace etched with tiny Chantilly ruffle and cameo of starburst pearls. Her veil was a pearled Venise lace Juliet cap featuring a pearl studded bridal illusion.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of lavender tea roses, pink miniature carnations, baby's breath and lilies-of-the-valley, with lavender and powder blue ribbons.

Serving as maid of honor was Mrs. Beth Colville, Terra Alta, W.Va., friend of the bride. Christina Holsopple, Waynesboro, Va., niece of the bride.

In Memory of Arlington B. (Shorty) Fries Who passed away December 17, 1970

I heard the world cry last night,
And I know why.
One soul left it with a sigh,
For all the years not understood
The lost good days
Run out between the fingers;
Like a memory not quite remembered,
Or a dream not wholly dreamed.
Dear soul, goodnight.
Only God blows out the light.

In Loving Memory

RONNIE WAYNE COLEMAN

November 26, 1960 - January 6, 1987

We want to say Merry Christmas to one we love so dear.
And although you're not with us, we know you'll look down and hear.
The last Christmas when you were here, how little did we know.
That it would only be two short weeks until you had to go.
We know you're happy where you are, in that land up in the sky.
But not a single day goes by that we don't think of you and cry.
Ronnie, this Christmas, when you're not with us, we'll cry and feel so blue.
But you'll always be here in our hearts. Merry Christmas and we love you.

Aunt Milly and Kaye

Season's Greetings

If we could give the world a gift, it would be peace on earth, allowing people everywhere to share the joys of a country Christmas.

Ag Secretary Wayne Cawley Is Reappointed To Four-Year Term

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne Cawley Jr. has been reappointed by Governor William Donald Schaefer to serve the next four years in the governor's second-term cabinet. This was confirmed by Steve Connelly, of the Department of Agriculture, after Cawley and Schaefer held a private meeting on December 11.

As had all the other cabinet secretaries and department heads in the Maryland government, Cawley had submitted his resignation following Schaefer's re-election. It's a political courtesy of long tradition, affording the chief executive the opportunity to rebuild, to restructure his administration if he cares to do so. Connelly stated that after the secretary's reappointment, no major changes are expected from the governor in the Agriculture Department, although Sec. Cawley may make changes if he sees fit.

Early this month, at the annual Maryland Farm Bureau Convention in Ocean City, Cawley said he hadn't the "slightest idea how the governor felt, nor what he'd say (about Cawley's reappointment)." Rumors had been circulating for weeks in Annapolis, listing names of those the governor was said to be considering to replace Cawley.

Cawley, a grain farmer on the Eastern Shore and one of the few cabinet carry-overs from the Harry Hughes administration, has been very popular as ag secretary with Maryland's farmers, especially those on the Eastern Shore and in Western Maryland. One reason for concern over his reappointment was Governor Schaefer's defeat in those two areas of the state in the recent election. Cawley referred to the election at the Farm Bureau Convention when he told the delegates: "I'm sure you're aware the governor isn't happy about what happened (the election results) in Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore. But you're a cussed, independent lot and you voted the way you wanted to vote."

Looking ahead to the future, Cawley says that "keeping agriculture economically strong in the state" will be a challenge, a task which boils down to a key word — profit. "The most important thing we can do to help farmers is to create opportunities for increasing their earnings. To do that, we must continue to create markets for our farm products in Maryland, the nation and around the world."

"This is one area where William Donald Schaefer will not let up. During his first term, he pushed ag marketing as no other governor in Maryland history. And in his view — and mine as well — this effort has paid dividends. But we have only just started."

Secretary Cawley calls for aggressive marketing. He noted, for example, that he'd like to see the produce of Maryland farms and aquacultural enterprises touted by Maryland restaurants. "Our goal must be to put more Maryland-produced food on Maryland menus," he said.

The effort to preserve the state's farmland and the task of encouraging Maryland farmers to adopt environmentally sound — and at the same time efficient and profitable — production practices will be equally challenging in the years ahead, according to Cawley. He is optimistic, though. "I feel confident we can meet these challenges in the 1990s," he said. "We Maryland farmers are a sturdy, independent lot. Working together, we can keep agriculture the mainstay of Maryland's economy."

Jan. Milk Price Is $4.44 Less Than A-Year Ago

Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Rex F. Lothrop has announced a Class I milk price of $13.28 per hundredweight for January 1991. This price is down 23 cents from December and is $4.44 below last January's Class I price.

Lothrop announced a Class II milk price of $10.33 per hundredweight for November 1990 and a butterfat differential of 11.4 cents for the month. The Class II price was down 23 cents from the previous month, while the butterfat differential was unchanged.

The January 1991 Class I price and the November 1990 Class II price are based on the November 1990 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $10.25 per hundredweight at a 3.5 percent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for November was $9.98 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price was $8.72 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

Maryland Increases Agricultural Exports To Trinidad And Tobago

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr. announced agreements to send Maryland agricultural products to Trinidad and Tobago.

"Our international marketing efforts are really paying off and what we've accomplished in the last couple of days is truly outstanding. I think it's the beginning of bigger things," Cawley said.

"In January we will be shipping 40,000 pounds of corn and livestock feed and there is strong potential for these shipments to become monthly. In addition, we are sending Trinidad 300 dairy heifers and 100 units of frozen semen for beef cattle," said Cawley.

The exports to Trinidad are all part of Governor William Donald Schaefer's marketing effort to sell Maryland agricultural products all around the world.

"According to our marketing specialist in Trinidad, business is brisk. The government of Trinidad has just freed up the market so Trinidad imports may import all kinds of products for the first time in 10 years," Cawley said.

Since 1987, with Governor Schaefer's support, the Maryland Department of Agriculture has increased its international marketing efforts in order to open up more opportunities for Maryland agricultural businesses. "What's happening in Trinidad is an example of how our aggressive international marketing effort is really paying off. I expect more success stories in the weeks ahead," said Cawley.

In 1987, world population broke the five-billion mark. In 1990, it is expected to top 5.1 billion — growing at the rate of roughly 242,000 people per day, or 88 million a year.

Wishing You An Orange Christmas

by Bernice Kepple

Is there anything given as a Christmas gift now that is as special as an orange was to our parents and grandparents? A very simple thing, an orange today is a common food item. But many years ago, oranges were a luxury, the special property of only kings and queens.

Originating in the tropical climate of southeast Asia, oranges were carried to Europe by the early traders and planted along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea. It is thought that Columbus had oranges and orange seeds with him when he landed in the West Indies, and wherever Spanish settlers landed in the New World, they planted citrus seeds. This was done after discovering that taking citrus fruit with them on their long sea voyages prevented scurvy.

Orange trees were growing around the first settlement in the United States — St. Augustine, Florida — by 1579. These trees were the beginning of some of the early groves planted along the seacoasts and rivers to be near transportation by water. Eventually, oranges were shipped by boat to New York and other cities on the Atlantic Coast and were a great treat to people in the colder parts of the country. Still, by the early 1900s, oranges were rare and expensive, and many people ate oranges only as a treat on holidays.

Navel oranges, which were still a novelty in the 1950s, were brought into this country from Brazil around 1870 and first grown in California. A fond childhood memory of mine is receiving a very large navel orange each year in Sunday School class just before Christmas. A church member who had died many years before I was born felt that every child should be treated to an orange at Christmas. For many years, a fund set up by his will purchased an orange for each child attending this small town church, and maybe still does today.

This was a rather large church, for it was an industrial town surrounded by farms. The sanctuary fanned out from the pulpit with the floor sloping toward the front to give those seated in the back a better view.

On the last Sunday before Christmas, the children came down stairs from their second floor Sunday School rooms with large oranges clutched in their chubby little hands. Parents met their children at the bottom of the stairs and continued on into the sanctuary for the church service, which on this Sunday always included special holiday music by the choir. Special music, however, was never enough to hold the attention of the young children, who, having just received Christmas oranges, were reminded just how close the special day was.

The children inevitably fidgeted and fussed until oranges started — accidentally — dropping onto the carpeted floor. Because the floor was slightly sloping, each orange would immediately begin to roll toward the front of the church. The older church members, who normally sat near the front, would feel something bumping their feet and look down to see an orange on its journey. Some of those elderly parishioners would snort and sniff at the folly, but others would grin, remembering when they were young. After the service ended, embarrassed parents would converge at the front of the church to claim the runaway oranges for their children, some almost in tears because of their loss.

This memory brings back a time when life was much simpler. Christmas was not as commercial because we didn't have as much money. Our gifts were not hi-tech video games or computers, but we were glad to get what we got. It was a time when we appreciated more, because we had less.

This year, I wish you all an Orange Christmas — a time when we all can capture the simplicity of the past, when something as small as an orange was a very special gift. So to all of you who farm, and to those who are farmers at heart, I wish a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Local Company Sponsoring Float In Rose Parade

A&A Realty, Better Homes and Gardens, will be celebrating New Year's Day 1991 by sponsoring a float in the 102nd Tournament Of Roses Parade in Pasadena, California.

"This is the second year in a row we have joined with the other members of the Better Homes and Gardens network in sponsoring a float in the Rose Parade," said Karen F. Spiker, of A&A Realty, Better Homes and Gardens. "And once again, we feel our float represents the Better Homes & Gardens image very well."

According to Spiker, this year's float entitled "Home for the Holidays" has a distinct Currier and Ives look centered around a Victorian skating party. The float was created by award-winning designer Raul

Rodriguez and is closely tied to the holiday season and the theme of this year's parade which is "Fun and Games."

Special features of this year's float include skating couples in late-19th century clothes, an intricate Victorian gazebo, and trees and lamp posts hung with ice icicles.

Last year the Better Homes and Gardens float received the Governor's Special Trophy for the parade's most whimsical entry.

The Tournament of Roses Parade will be shown on all three major TV networks and the Fox Television Network, the Tribune Network and the Spanish International Network. Viewership is estimated at more than 100 million in the United States and more than 300 million more in the international market.

A&A Realty, Better Homes and Gardens has been a member of Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service since 1986. Better Homes and Gardens was formed in 1978 as an extension of Better Homes and Gardens magazine and is one of the nation's largest real estate networks with more than 690 members, more than 1,400 offices and locations and more than 21,000 sales associates.

Federal Grant For Foster Care Awarded To DHR

Carolyn W. Colvin, Secretary, Maryland Department of Human Resources (DHR) announced this week the receipt of a two-year $162,500 grant from the federal government that will be used to expand foster care services to older handicapped youth.

"We are pleased that the Office of Human Development Services for the Department of Health and Human Services decided to use Maryland's model for this project," Colvin said. "Being chosen through the national competition attests to the quality and leadership of Maryland in developing services to the foster care population."

The grant award is entitled "Specialized Foster Care for Older Handicapped Youth."

Eligible children for this program are in the Department of Social Services' custody and have multiple physical and mental handicaps such as cerebral palsy, mental retardation and severe emotional and behavioral problems.

The project will involve collaboration with the specialized foster care program of the John F. Kennedy Institute for Handicapped Youth. As part of the project, the Kennedy Institute will produce a videotape geared to heighten the public's knowledge of what is involved in the care of older handicapped youth and to assist in the recruitment of foster parents.

"The need for specialized foster care for older handicapped youth is well documented in literature and many children are institutionalized when less restrictive, community based services would be more effective," said Charlotte King, Executive Director of DHR's Social Services Administration.

"This project will allow us to be creative and what we learn can be applied to all foster care programs for older children with special needs," King said.

COLLEGE AND ME — Garrett Community College students and fifth grade students from Grantsville Elementary School worked together recently to build projects for the "College and Me Math Think" class taught by Dr. Nancy Priselac. GCC students Jim Bevan and Tom Naylor, shown above, constructed a math game board. Fifth grade students then built projects to use with the game board. Pictured above right are two of the students who participated in the project: front row, Angela Shunk and Derek Brown, Grantsville Elementary School; and back row, left to right, Ruth Wilhelm, fifth grade teacher; Amy Bowling, GCC student assistant; and Linda Strider, coordinator of the "College and Me" program.

Thank You

HARTSELL-ARNOLD MARRIAGE
Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday, December 8, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, by Traci Dee Hartsell and Nicholas Robert Arnold. Traci is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hartsell of Amboy and Nicholas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Arnold, Aurora.

A reception was held at the Aurora Fire Hall following the 1:00 p.m. ceremony. The bride is a 1990 graduate of East Preston High. The groom is employed by Cherry Creek Enterprises and they will live in the local area.

MOUNTAINEERS CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS
The Activity Committee, Mark and Katie Utterback, Melvin Frantz and Micah Feather, used a Christmas theme for their opening devotion at the December 10 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club. Pledges to the flag and 4-H were led by Rhett Beckman and the music leaders selected "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" for the group to sing.

There was 100 percent attendance at the meeting: Rhett Beckman, Brian and Kevin Corbin, Beth and Melissa Evans, Jeremiah and Micah Feather, Melissa and Melvin Frantz, Grant Harsh, Tim Harsh, Carroll Hartsell, Kelly Kowalski, Emily Lewis, Amy and Lisa Moate, Shawn Rembold, Michelle Shaffer, Regina Shaffer, Rebecca and Sarah Snyder, Aaron and Amanda Teets, Tommy Teets, Mark, Matt, John and Katie Utterback, Elizabeth and Rebecca Wotringer.

A report was given on the County Achievement. Melvin and Melissa Frantz were given member pins and welcomed to the club. The club will go to Cortland Acres for a birthday party on December 27. Members are to meet at the Memorial Building at 1:15 p.m. for the trip. An ice skating party following the trip is tentatively scheduled for Canaan Park. First-year members are asked to come at 12:15 for a workshop to precede the trip.

There will be a Leaders' Meeting on January 21 at the Extension Office in order to meet the new 4-H Agent, Tracy Waugh. Members are encouraged to plan now to participate in the Poster Contest and Photo Contest which will be held in the county in February.

The program of the evening was the making of favors for the Cortland Acres visit. The evening concluded with a pizza and finger-food buffet. Next month the meeting will be on January 14 with "Story Telling" the feature for the evening. Devotions will be the responsibility of the Music Committee and hosts will be the Beckman and Wotringer families.

Area Students Participate In ARC Conference

"Children and Youth and the 21st Century" was the theme of the 25th Anniversary Conference of the Appalachian Regional Commission held recently in Pittsburgh. Teams of high school students from across the 13 states of Appalachia who participated in an ARC-sponsored summer Youth Leadership Program were invited to attend the conference as guests of the Commission. Each team was asked to present a summation of their summer projects in a session attended by the entire conference delegation.

Six students representing Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties attended the ARC youth conference. Anna Custer, a senior at Fort Hill High School; Derek Yoder, a senior at Beall High School; Melissa Miller, a junior at Northern Garrett County High School; Heath Townsend, a senior at Southern Garrett County High School; Brian Jones, a junior at North Hagerstown High School; and Christine Lowery, a junior at Boonsboro High School participated in a multi-media presentation on the Western Maryland Youth Corps project. The six students serve as the Steering Committee to the project and participate in their respective schools as leaders in the Peer Counseling Program.

The Western Maryland Youth Corps Project served to train 53 students in the skills and techniques of peer counseling over the summer of 1990. Upon returning to school in the fall, the trained counselors were assigned to the guidance offices of their respective schools. The students serve as a first point of contact for classmates needing counseling assistance. The peer counselor is a support service provided by and for students.

The Steering Committee also developed the concepts for a follow-up proposal submitted to the Appalachian Regional Commission. That proposal is designed to continue peer counselor training for students over the summer of 1991. Project participants will be provided additional training in a proposed youth leadership academy and planned in-school sessions. Training for the upcoming project is planned for 135 students.

The ARC Youth Conference focused all of its attention on youth and featured a host of activities to recognize and honor the young people in attendance. Governor Robert Casey of Pennsylvania spoke before the group and mingled with the students during an evening dinner dance and cruise on the three rivers of Pittsburgh. The students were hosted at a luncheon and tour of the University of Pittsburgh campus and the nationality classrooms of the Cathedral of Learning. A two-hour shopping tour at Century III Mall with complimentary gift certificates provided by the mall merchants capped a very full second day of events for the students.

W.Va. Senator Jay Rockefeller spoke to the students live via satellite video conference hook-up from his offices in Washington, D.C., as featured speaker at the Youth Conference banquet. Senator Rockefeller recognized the students for their achievements in leadership and encouraged the group to continue their quest to make a meaningful difference in the lives of others. The students were special guests of the University of Pittsburgh after the closing sessions of the conference and took in the Pitt-Louisville football game.

While at the conference, the students participated in numerous workshops and seminars. Inspirational talks by Dr. Victor Herbert and Dr. Hanoch McCarthy highlighted the training sessions.

The three-day conference was rated a "tremendous experience" by the Western Maryland contingent. "The students returned home laden with gifts spirited by a host of new friendships and committed to make a difference in their respective schools," stated a group spokesman.

The Western Maryland Youth Corps Project was developed by the Regional Education Service Agency under the direction of Frank Peto, the Agency's executive director. Peto recently submitted the follow-up proposal, Western Maryland Youth Corps Project 1991-92, to the Appalachian Regional Commission. "We have every hope the Youth Corps Project will continue to be a source of development for the youth of Western Maryland who wish to learn leadership and service skills," Peto stated.

The next level of funding for the project is anticipated in early spring 1991.

M.A.D.D. To Push Designated Driver Program

Mothers Against Drunk Driving (M.A.D.D.) have announced a Designated Driver Program as part of a statewide holiday effort to avoid alcohol related incidents on the highway.

"These are (drunk driving) crashes or collisions," stated George Leyman of M.A.D.D. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service radio broadcast, Leyman said Maryland motorists can make the difference this holiday season. "Drunk driving is no accident. It is very preventable," Leyman added.

The Designated Driver Program announced by M.A.D.D. is co-sponsored by Changing Point, a chain of privately owned and operated drug and alcohol treatment centers.

"There is hardly one family which isn't, in some way, touched by the disease of alcoholism and the abuse of alcohol and other drugs," said Walter McLellan, the chief executive officer of Changing Point. "We are working with the public sector to change attitudes about drunk driving." The health care executive has committed more than $100,000 dollars in funding for several anti-drunk driving programs including a public awareness campaign, "Know When To Say When," at Memorial Stadium in Baltimore.

The Designated Driver Program encourages restaurants and other food and beverage business establishments to provide complimentary non-alcoholic beverages and other incentives to patrons who visit the establishments in groups of two or more persons. The designated driver will be identified by hostesses, waiters, waitresses and bartenders, and will be issued Designated Driver stickers to be worn upon their arrival.

During the holidays, Maryland State Police will deploy special drunk driving enforcement patrols as part of a statewide enforcement program. Every trooper will have access to field sobriety test equipment for use on all traffic stops where drunk driving is suspected. Maryland State Police will confiscate the driver's license of a motorist who refuses to submit to a chemical test for alcohol, or whose test results reveal a blood alcohol content of .10 (the state's legal limit) or higher.

"We want to change the attitude of people who say it can't happen to me," said Leyman.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Crisis Pregnancy Center Has New 800 Number

The Mountain Top Crisis Pregnancy Center recently announced its new 800 telephone number. "This new number will help maintain client confidentiality when a person calls from out of town. In the past those people had to call collect and give their name," explained Nellie Ashby, volunteer co-ordinator.

The new number is 1-800-734-7592. The center's regular and hot line number is 334-1058.

The CPC will be closed during Christmas week, December 24-28. "We will still be able to be reached and help people that week because the hot line will be in service," said Ashby.

The second annual Pastors' Luncheon will be held January 10. Volunteer training is held regularly, and potential volunteers should contact Mrs. Ashby at the center in Mtn. Lake Park.

Shilling Calls For More School Aid As Recommended By Commission

State School Superintendent Joseph Shilling said this week that support for an increase in state school aid and for greater equity in the distribution of the aid has reached a "critical mass" with the release last week of the report of the Maryland Commission on State Taxes and Tax Structure.

The commission, chaired by R. Robert Linowes of Montgomery County, released its report November 28. The report calls for restructuring the state's tax system and increasing state aid to schools in the poorer subdivisions. Dr. Shilling gave his response to the commission in a briefing for reporters last week in Baltimore.

In its report, the commission said, "It is in the interest of every Marylander that every child in our state be given the opportunity for a quality education, and thus the ability to become a productive citizen. This is both a matter of social justice and an element indispensable to the state's economic future."

The commission recommended that revenues received from RETIREE HONORED — An Oakland area resident was the guest of honor recently at a retirement dinner in Cumberland. Don Friend, pictured center, recently retired as vice president and general manager of Tommy's Market, Cumberland. Family members, Tommy's Market employees, friends from the grocery industry, the former H-P Stores (where Friend was employed for many years), and the Ritzchords Barbershop Quartet were all on hand to extend best wishes to Friend. Pictured with him are C.H. "Sonny" Browning, owner of Tommy's Market, pictured left, and William Lawson, of the Wetheran-Pittsburgh Division.

broadening the sales tax be earmarked for improving education, especially in Baltimore City and low-wealth counties.

The issue of school funding, Dr. Shilling said, demands public attention because of the critical long-term role the public schools must play in building a healthy economy.

The Superintendent acknowledged that the current economic downturn has created a poor environment for talking about more school funding. But he urged a long-term view in which education gains importance as "an engine of economic growth."

"The current recession," he told reporters, "only underscores the link between quality schools and a healthy economy and increases the urgency for school improvement. We need to move ahead on our school reforms and funding reforms to make all our public schools throughout Maryland places where young people succeed and become productive citizens."

Dr. Shilling said the State Board of Education recognized the important contribution the Linowes commission had made to the funding issue by endorsing the commission's report shortly after the report was released. Greater equity in the way state aid is distributed and performance accountability for the funds are essential to efforts to improve public education, he said.

The Superintendent praised the commission for recommending that additional state aid be used to support statewide school improvement measures being promoted under the "Schools for Success" banner. He also praised the commission's focus on funding equity as a necessary step to achieve across-the-board improvements in the state's public schools.

Dr. Shilling explained that the driving force behind the "Success" program is an accountability system that holds the state, local school systems, and individual schools accountable for progress toward achieving a set of challenging standards established by the State Board earlier this year. Reports on the performance of local school systems in meeting the standards were issued last month.

Superintendent Shilling said the commission's recommendation that additional aid be linked to performance was in line with the emphasis on accountability in the "Success" program.

"The commission believes that — to quote the report — increased aid will only be acceptable to taxpayers if they are assured their taxes will result in genuine improvements," Shilling said. "The commission believes that additional school aid should be distributed on the condition that the aid will result in measurable improvements."

"Let us assure you," Shilling said, "the State Board and I believe those things, too."

Garrett County Memorial Hospital Honored For Safety Belt Promotion

Garrett County Memorial Hospital received one of 10 special awards from the Maryland Committee For Safety Belt Use, Inc., at a recent awards luncheon recognizing 29 Maryland hospitals for the "special brand of preventive medicine" they practiced as a means to reduce the number of deaths and the severity of injuries in their communities.

The awards ceremony was held Tuesday, December 4, at Loews Hotel, Annapolis, to recognize the innovative educational programs, promotional events and community outreach activities the participating hospitals conducted in order to promote the life-saving, injury-reducing benefits of safety belt and child safety seat use during the "Maryland Hospital Challenge Campaign."

Participating Maryland hospitals branched out from their traditional roles as places where only people with broken and sick bodies go for healing. The safety belt and child safety seat programs and activities which were conducted during this campaign highlighted what an important partner hospitals are in making preventive medicine an integral part of healthy living.

"While hospitals throughout Maryland and across the country have always taken a leadership role in periodically conducting safety belt and child safety seat educational programs, the Maryland Hospital Challenge Campaign was the first safety belt program simu-GARRETT MEMORIAL HONORED — Garrett County Memorial Hospital was one of 10 hospitals in the state that was recently recognized by the Maryland Committee for Safety Belt Use, Inc. taneously conducted by a state wide network of hospitals," said Rick Wade, vice president of communications for the Maryland Hospital Association. "The success of Maryland's prototype campaign has already received interest from a number of neighboring states," he continued.

Among the activities and programs conducted by Garrett Memorial's Wellness Together program during the campaign were: safety belt proper use information, appearances by Larry and Vince the Safety belt dummies at the Garrett County Fair and the Autumn Glory Parade, distribution of infant "Buckle Baby" t-shirts in the Obstetric Department, demonstration of the "Convincer" in the hospital parking lot, employee parking lot compliance surveys and development of a safety belt policy use for employees.

Special Assistant of Medical Affairs for the District of Columbia's Commission on Public Health and Human Services, Dr. Beverly Coleman-Miller, served as the keynote speaker at the awards luncheon.

Honorary "manager" of the Maryland Safety Belt Team, Brooks Robinson, joined representatives from the coalition of sponsoring agencies in presenting the hospitals with trophies and plaques from the Maryland Committee For Safety Belt Use, and certificates of appreciation from the Governor's Office. Sponsoring agencies for the "Campaign" included the MD association of Women Highway Safety Leaders, MD Chiefs of Police Association, MD Child Passenger Safety Association, MD Hospital Public Relations Society, MD State Police, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Region III Office, and Project KISS (Kids In Safety Seats).

G.C. Forestry Board Meets; Notes Citation

The Garrett County Forestry Board met December 12, in the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service Office at Mt. Nebo, where it was announced that the Garrett Forestry Board received a citation from the Governor's Conference on Forests and Trees, held in May, for its contributions to the program.

Mike Kozier, Garrett County Forestry Board member, has been appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners to serve as the coordinator for Governor William Donald Schaefer's tree planting initiative. The governor's tree planting initiative is part of the Chesapeake Bay Clean Up Program.

Forestry Board members discussed the sediment and erosion control standards for forest harvest operations that are now being enforced by the Maryland Department of Environment inspectors. Landowners and forest products operators should be aware of these regulations. Anyone needing more information is asked to contact the Forest, Park & Wildlife Service or the Department of the Environment.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), has a program available to forest products operators and landowners which can be used to defray some of the costs of implementing these sediment and erosion control methods. The operator/landowner should sign up for the cost share assistance at the ASCS office when submitting a sediment and erosion control plan.

The Garrett Forestry Board has received approximately seven requests for participation in the 1991 School Reforestation project. This program is designed to promote conservation education in the schools through the "hands on" establishment of school forests.

Jim Allen, Garrett County Forestry Board representative on the Savage River State Forest Management Plan, Citizen's Participation Group, reported that workshops are currently being planned for sometime in February, 1991. These workshops will be de-

Thorne Completes Waste Management Training Program

Garrett County Recycling Coordinator Lee Thorne was one of 32 Maryland recycling coordinators to recently complete a comprehensive training program designed to provide information to help the coordinators effectively implement their respective jurisdiction's waste minimization and recycling programs.

The three day course, held in Baltimore, was sponsored by the Maryland Department of the Environment and the Maryland Soft Drink Association. The coordinators received certification upon completion of the program.

Thorne explained that one of the major problems in setting up local recycling programs was obtaining the needed funding. He stated that Prince George's County has set aside $8 million for its program but that Garrett County, at present, has no funds for such an effort.

One interim solution, and one that does not require money, Thorne said, is to get local businesses, schools, churches and civic clubs involved in the process, and has suggested that businesses could be useful as drop-off points for recycled material since most recycling markets require a certain amount to warrant a pick-up of the various items. This cooperative effort, he said, would provide residents with the opportunity to begin their participation in a recycling program until official drop-off points are designated by the Garrett County Commissioners.

Thorne termed the training session a "worthwhile program," and noted that other Maryland counties are "in the same boat as Garrett County" in regards to funding and recycling markets.

Thorne concluded by stating, "I need all the help I can get," urging all Garrett County residents, businesses and groups to contact him at 334-3988 to obtain further information or to receive copies of pamphlets dealing with the subject.

Maryland is one of the first states in the nation to implement such a recycling training and certification program for its jurisdictions. The program was funded through a major grant of $50,000 from the Maryland Soft Drink Association, a leading force for recycling education in Maryland, according to an association spokesperson.

RURAL COMMUNITY FIRE PROTECTION MONIES DISTRIBUTED — Seven volunteer fire companies in Garrett County applied for and received funding through the U.S. Department of Agriculture — Forest Service, under the Rural Community Fire Protection Program. Former Oakland Resident Included In Post Story

A former Oakland resident was included in a story in Sunday's issue of the Washington Post Magazine.

Hugh Walthall, son of Rev. Shelby Walthall, Hancock, and Anna Walthall, Mtn. Lake Park, is the assistant librarian in the Federal Bar Library in Washington, D.C. The article was about the fact that both Walthall and the head librarian, Lillian Weber, are both poets, rather than lawyers or legal experts that one might expect to find in charge of the Federal Bar Library.

The article noted that the staff has consisted of poets since 1977, when poet Richard Flynn was hired while a student at George Washington University.

Walthall, the article said, is publisher of Sultan of Swat Books and author of a collection of poems titled Laddish. He joined the library staff in 1985.

In the article, Walthall said that the library atmosphere is conducive to writing poetry "because you're around books, there's paper everywhere, and you can always take a minute to jot things down." He added, "True, this is a law library, so it's more like being in a fish tank than in a lagoon, but it's still my element."

Suspect Sought In Theft Of Items Worth $5,377

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are currently investigating a theft of items worth a total of $5,377 that took place at the Ronald W. O'Brien residence in Swanton.

Glenn O'Brien reported the crime, which occurred on Dec. 20 between 1:30 and 2 p.m., according to the police document. The home, located on Rt. 495, was apparently broken into by two white males who were traveling in a brown passenger car.

The culprits removed approximately 57 items from the home, including six shotguns, a VCR, microwave, two scanners, jewelry, binoculars, a diamond watch, and a Winchester Roy Rogers Gold Stallion Edition rifle. Several of the stolen articles were apparently wrapped as Christmas presents.

The suspects reportedly gained entry by kicking open a rear door of the house, and executed the theft in less than 30 minutes. (See composite drawing of one suspect.)

In a separate case, Ronald W. Smith Sr., Bloomington, reported a breaking and entering crime, as well as attempted robbery. Smith arrived home on Dec. 16 to find an unknown person in his house. Smith's wife (name not given) reportedly went to a neighbor's house to notify the police, and Smith went to the side of the home to get a pick to use as a weapon.

When Smith returned to the front of the house, the culprit, who had been holding the door shut, fled. He apparently crawled through the living room window into the garage, then escaped through a garage window.

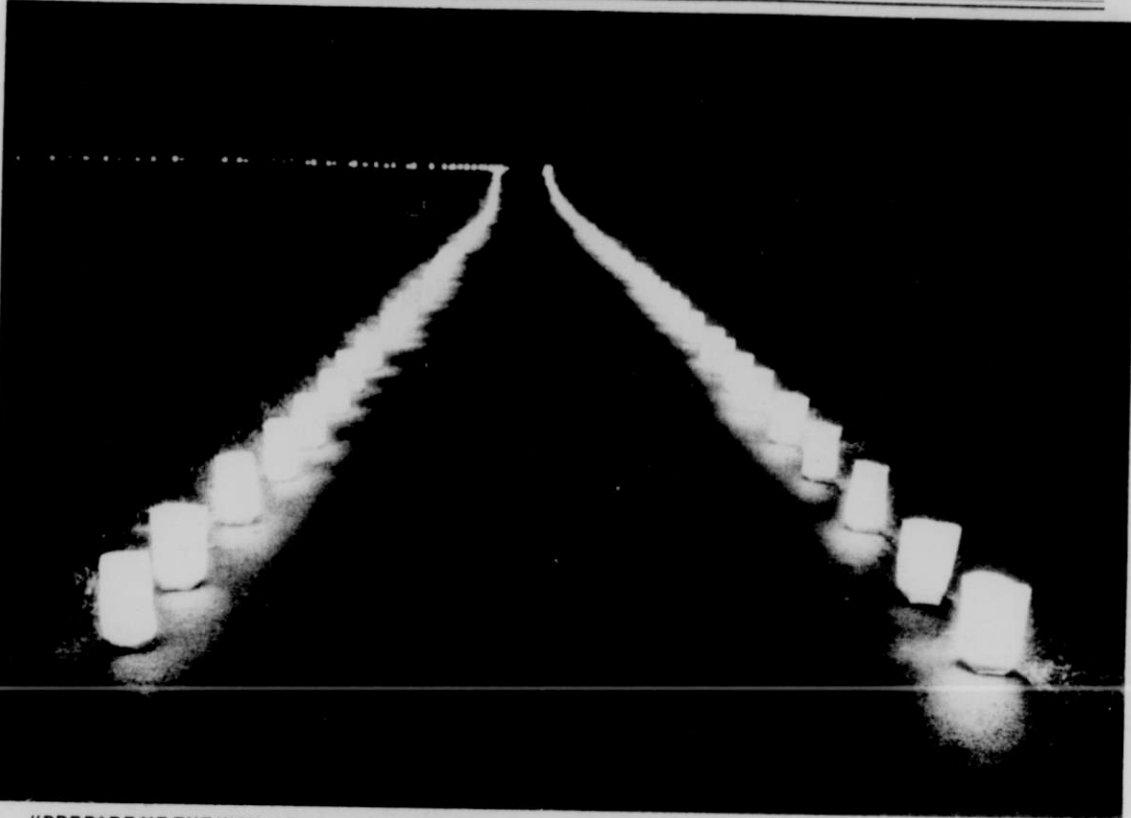

Inside the house, Smith found his two VCR's disconnected and lying on the couch. The gun cabinet had been opened, but nothing had been taken. Dep. C. Feller was able to gather some fingerprints in the house, and an investigation is continuing.

Jerry L. Morgan, Oakland, reported the theft of his mailbox and pole on Hutton Road. The theft apparently took place on the night of Dec. 21.

The value of the stolen pole and mailbox was estimated at $125. There are currently no suspects in the theft, according to police.

THEFT SUSPECT SOUGHT — The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is currently searching for this man as they conduct an extensive investigation into a $5,377 theft that occurred on Dec. 20 between 1:30 and 2 p.m. at the Ronald O'Brien residence in Swanton. A Sheriff's Office spokesperson stated that the suspect's hair is actually somewhat longer than that which is shown in this composite drawing, and that the culprit's height is five feet, nine to ten inches, and his weight is between 165-170 pounds. Any person who recognizes this person, or who sees him, is asked to immediately contact the Sheriff's Office at 334-1911.

"PREPARE YE THE WAY OF THE Lord," proclaimed the Old Testament prophet, Isaiah. And to that end, literally a thousand points of light — a thousand sand-filled paper bags, each containing a small candle — were placed along the mile-long road throughout the Grantsville Cemetery Saturday night, imitating the Mexican custom of "Lighting the Way for Christ." So striking was the luminary display (a small part of which is pictured above), visible for hundreds of yards, that freeway motorists exited U.S. Rt. 48 to investigate. Additional details will appear in next week's Republican. Photo by Craig Speicher.

GCC Board Hears Continuing Education Head At Monthly Meeting

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees met Tuesday, December 18, to discuss a variety of topics and hear a number of reports including a staff presentation by Lowell Bender, director of continuing education at GCC.

Bender reported the status of the Continuing Education Division since it moved its headquarters from Oakland to the McHenry campus a few years ago.

He said a major concern was that the move would deter Oakland citizens from taking non-credit courses and that the college would lose enrollments.

"To the contrary," said Bender, "enrollments have increased."

Continuing Education has opened an office and two classrooms in the old Rolyans building in Oakland and courses are offered in 27 or 28 satellite locations throughout the county.

The director distributed handouts to the board members summarizing statistics gathered on Continuing Education courses and students from FY 86 through FY 90 for the State of Maryland. It showed that Garrett County fared well in the comparative data. The college is average or above average in almost every statistic.

Speaking of pride in his staff,

Bender stated, "One very important statistic shows that 96 percent of GCC's students would recommend our courses. This is the highest percentage in the state."

Bender voiced his concerns about budget cuts and the proposed formula change by the Federal Government to distribute monies to continuing education programs.

He said the government would charge the present $517 per FTE (fulltime equivalency) rate to a flat grant for 70 percent of the funding and $357 per FTE for the remaining 30 percent. This proposed formula would reduce continuing education's contribution to GCC's income.

Bender asked for the full backing of his division by the Board.

REINHARD RESIGNATION
In other GCC board news, GCC President Dr. Stephen Herman commented on the recent resignation of Frostburg State University President Dr. Herb Reinhard.

"I have witnessed from a distance the events at FSU with great dismay and sadness," said Herman. "Dr. Herb Reinhard has been a personal friend and a friend to Garrett Community College. His achievements will long outlast memories of recent events."

PEAKE RESIGNATION
Board Chairman Wayne Hamilton announced that Richard Peake, GCC board member, will be resigning effective January 31, 1991.

Peake has sold his property in Garrett County and plans to move to Cincinnati. Hamilton said he spoke for the Board when he stated that Peake will be "sorely missed."

Hamilton also noted that board member Charles Bender is in the hospital recuperating from corrective surgery on his shoulder.

ACCREDITATION DELAY
Dr. Herman noted that the U.S. Office of Education's National Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility has decided to delay action on the Commission on Higher Education's petition for continued recognition as a regional accrediting body.

The six-month delay has been instituted because USDE disagrees with the Commission's expectations regarding diversity.

Dr. Herman would like to see GCC continue its endeavors to include cultural diversity in strategic planning. He stated, "The world is getting smaller, populations are becoming increasingly mobile, and people are going to interact. We have an obligation to include cultural

Education Bd. Reviews Food Service, SHS Renovation, Student Concerns

The Garrett County Board of Education recently met and discussed several issues, including the Food Service Advisory committee, student concerns, and the progress of the renovation of Southern High School.

Food Advisory
Ann Sherrard, registered dietitian and member of the Food Advisory, attended the meeting and presented the report of the advisory which stated that the group had planned menus for the following weeks, and had used all of the government issued commodities in those plans.

Mrs. Sherrard also stated that the committee would recommend a reconsideration of the board concerning the deletion, or cut back, of fresh fruits and vegetables and wheat bread. Mrs. Sherrard explained that in order for the food service to implement the American Red Cross "Changing Course" program (which the board voted into action several months ago), it would be helpful to have these items back in the menu in order to follow the guidelines of the program.

Board President Beverly Murphy stated that she was tired of hearing about "minute issues such as whole wheat bread and fresh fruit." She said that it is Richard Buckingham's job to decide what the menus will be, and that the board should not have to contend with the issue. (Buckingham is the food service director.)

Mikal Moomau, board member, stated that the advisory committee had been appointed by the board to assist Buckingham when the "Changing Course" program had begun, as he was not a dietitian, and the program's purpose is to upgrade the nutritional value of student meals.

She stated that the work of the committee, which is a volunteer group made up of Mrs. Sherrard, Ms. Moomau, several parents, and school cafeteria people, will basically be a waste of time if their recommendations are to be ignored.

"It is not just a concern of my own," Ms. Moomau said. "It is a national concern that school lunches are not nutritional."

The board members discussed the issue at length, apparently unclear as to who should be accountable for the implementation of the program.

"Business is the first duty of my job," Buckingham said. "The food service is a self-supporting business. Whole wheat bread is probably better for the students, but it has to be cost-efficient, too."

Rodney Durst, board member, stated that he felt decisions concerning the food service should be up to Buckingham, and no one else.

The issue was then tabled, and further discussion on the issue is apparently forthcoming.

Planning Comm. To Review State Growth Limits

Proposed growth limits in Maryland will be the main topic of discussion and review at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Garrett County Planning Commission, to be held Wednesday, January 2, at 1:30 p.m., in Rm. 304, of the old Garrett County Courthouse building.

Scheduled to be in attendance are District 1 Senator-elect John Hafer, District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners and a representative from the Maryland State Planning Office.

The Governor's Commission on Growth recently issued a draft report of its recommendations to limit growth in the state, recommending that "sprawling growth" throughout the state be curtailed. The plan was developed in order to protect the Chesapeake Bay from further pollution.

According to the committee's report, 144,000 acres — an area twice the size of Baltimore — have been developed in the past five years, and an estimated one million people are expected to move into the state in the next 30 years.

Opposition to the recommendations has been voiced by the Garrett County Commissioners, who are concerned that the economic development (whether business or residential in nature) will be significantly hampered if the recommendations successfully pass through the legislative process.

The meeting is open to the public.

GC Health Dept. Confirms 45th Rabies Case

The Garrett County Health Department recently confirmed rabies case number 45 involving a skunk.

Sanitarian Walter Haydel reported that the skunk entered the property of Alva Rexrode in Accident, and may or may not have fought with the family dog.

The diseased animal was then shot, and reported to the health department. The dog had been vaccinated, and received a booster. It will be observed for 90 days, Haydel said.

There was no human exposure to the disease in the incident.

Sanitarian Tina Buckel reported that the unusually warm weather this fall has perpetuated the rabies problem, as the diseased animals

Holiday Blazes Rip Through Oakland, Savage River Area Houses

The Christmas holiday was darkened for two Garrett County families this week as fire roared through their homes and destroyed most of their possessions.

The residence of Ralph and Edith Leighton, located just outside Oakland along Herrington Manor Road, sustained major damage Monday afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Leighton, along with a neighbor, were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Then on Tuesday afternoon, Christmas day, a house located along Savage River Road owned by Marshal Wilt Sr. was destroyed.

Oakland, Deer Park, and Deep Creek volunteer fire fighters were called to the stone, two-story house at 3:30 p.m. and, upon their arrival, found the basement and much of the first floor involved in flames. According to Bob Rudy, chief of the Oakland VFD, Mr. Leighton said he had gone into the basement earlier in the afternoon and opened the bottom door of his furnace to generate more heat. He then went back upstairs and forgot about the open door. So much heat was generated by the furnace that it apparently set fire to the joists above the furnace and around the duct work in the basement.

Rudy said Mr. Leighton attempted to put out the fire and inhaled too much smoke. Mrs. Leighton and Joanne Schrock, a neighbor, were also taken to the hospital and treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen brought the blaze under control in about 40 minutes, but spent just over two hours on the scene. According to Rudy, the flames had spread throughout the space between the basement and first floor, as well as into the walls, and it took considerable time to find all the hot spots.

The Leightons and Ms. Schrock were transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue fire departments were called to the Savage River Road house fire at 11:38 a.m. Christmas day and found the two-story wood-frame home fully involved in flames upon their arrival.

The house was occupied by Joseph Conner, grandson of the Wilt, who reside on the same property. The fire was discovered by Mr. Wilt.

Also responding to the scene were the air cascade vehicle and the Tri-Towns and Northern Garrett County rescue squads. Although there were no injuries as a result of fighting the fire, Mrs. Wilt reportedly fell on ice outside the house and broke her leg. She was transported to Frostburg Community Hospital by Northern Rescue where she was treated and released.

The house was located along Savage River Road, about seven miles north of Bloomington. The cause of the blaze, under investigation by James Martin, deputy fire marshal for Garrett and Allegany counties, was believed to be an improperly installed chimney. The loss was estimated to be $20,000.

Savage River Citizen Survey Shows Wide Diversity Of Expectations

Nearly 200 concerned citizens responded to a questionnaire on long-range planning for the Savage River State Forest in Garrett County. Some 2,500 questionnaires were mailed to citizens, organizations, and government agencies as part of the year-long citizen participation plan of the Department of Natural Resources-Forest, Park and Wildlife Service (DNR-FPWS).

In response to a question asking "What is your highest priority/goal for Savage River State Forest," 187 responses showed: 34.75%, natural preservation; 22.45%, wood products production; 17.1%, multiple use management; 8.02%, wildlife and habitat; 5.8%, recreation; 3.7%, watershed protection; 1.6%, education; and 1.0%, hunting and fishing.

Another question resulted in 136 responses to the question "Should particular areas of Savage River State Forest be exempt from specific uses?" Approximately 50 percent responded yes while 25 percent said no with the remainder saying they didn't know.

Survey respondents did not want the Savage River State Forest developed more than it is now. The majority were adamant about protecting the "natural, aesthetic and wild land/wilderness values." However, the maintenance of the "natural state" did not preclude timbering and wood product production, as some 18 percent cited timber production specifically as their number one management priority. In addition, another 27-30 percent felt multiple use was warranted as long as there was not "a dominant use to the exclusion or detriment of another."

Additional data from the survey is being analyzed and will be released when analysis is complete. The DNR said these results will be blended with other efforts to produce goals for the future of the forest. These goals and program directions will help set the stage for the workshop series in late February.

Citizens are again urged by the DNR to participate and help DNR-Forest, Park and Wildlife Service to identify issues about the forest and to present solutions for these issues. Those interested in the future management of this forest are urged to attend one of the following workshops, all scheduled for 7 p.m.: Thursday, February 21, Grantsville Elementary School; Thursday, February 21, Frostburg State University's Lane Center, Room 142; and Friday, February 22, Broad Ford Elementary School, Oakland.

For more information on participation in the Savage River State Forest planning process, persons may contact James Burtis, DNR-Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, MD 21401, (301) 974-5551.

Oakland Man Jailed For Child Abuse

An Oakland man remains incarcerated at the Garrett County Jail on three counts of assault and battery and one count of child abuse.

Edward R. Friend, 29, was arrested on Dec. 22 after he allegedly assaulted his wife, Gloria J. Friend, and two juveniles. The disturbance took place at the defendant's home.

Friend is being held in lieu of $1,000 cash bond, according to a department spokesperson.

Richard L. Craver, 38, Swanton, was arrested on charges of child abuse and battery. Craver reportedly battered his wife, Margaret I. Craver, on Dec. 10, and then abused her and a juvenile on Dec. 20.

The defendant allegedly beat the juvenile with a leather belt repeatedly when the youngster attempted to break up a fight between Craver and his wife. He was officially charged with one count of child abuse and two counts of battery.

After a bond hearing, Craver was released on his own recognizance. He is under an ex parte order, which means he may not return to the home without being accompanied by a police officer, and only then to retrieve his belongings.

In a separate case, another Oakland man was arrested for battery when he apparently struck his estranged wife with his hand, and then with a coal bucket.

Norman S. Lewis Sr., 53, was arrested on Dec. 25 after he injured Cheryl L. Lewis during an argument concerning the couple's child. He was charged with two counts of battery after the 8 p.m. incident.

After a district court bond hearing Wednesday, Lewis was released on his own recognizance.

Deputy Jeff Murphy made several arrests this week on the charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Concetta M. Burns, 34, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested by Murphy after he stopped her for operating her vehicle in an erratic manner. He then charged her with DWI.

The arrest occurred on Dec. 22 at 11:15 p.m. on South Weber Road. Ms. Burns was released after signing the citation.

Leland E. Matthews, 48, Kitzmiller, was arrested for DWI by Dep. Murphy on Rt. 135 in Deer Park on Dec. 21. Matthews was arrested after Murphy observed him driving erratically.

Marlene A. Kessel, 33, Keyser, W.Va., was charged with DWI on Dec. 22 when Dep. Murphy observed her operating her vehicle at 25 miles per hour in a 50 mph zone.

Ms. Kessel's arrest took place on Rt. 135 in Deer Park at 1:15 a.m.

Robert V. Vanderbilt III, 19, Oakland, was arrested by Dep. Murphy and charged with DWI on Dec. 21. Vanderbilt was stopped on Rt. 560 in Loch Lynn when the officer observed him operating his vehicle in an erratic manner.

SCOUTS PLANT TREES — Webelo Scouts of Oakland Park 70 recently participating in a tree planting exercise at Garrett Community College. The trees were donated to the college by the Westvaco Corporation. Over 160 of the various hardwood trees were planted at the GCC McHenry Campus. Westvaco made similar donations to other area schools and colleges.

In a separate incident, Joseph R. Kisselovich, 36, Oakland, was served an arrest warrant on the charge of disorderly conduct and trespassing.

Kisselovich reportedly entered Erv's Place in Deer Park after the owner, Steven Ervin, had told him not to. He apparently became disorderly and loud when the owner refused to wait on him.

Garrett County Energy Assistance started sending out benefit checks the week of November 1. Although the MEAP staff experienced a 50 percent reduction in staff due to the funding cuts, there is currently no backlog of applications.

Application benefit payments are made to vendors within 10 days after approval.

According to Energy Director Bob Rodeheaver, MEAP is a one-time per year assistance benefit. It will only partially lower heating costs. Clients are urged to continue to make regular payments for utilities and heating to avoid shut-offs and heating crises.

In the event of emergency situations, it is possible to have delivery of the fuel benefit provided within 24 hours. Proper documentation of income must be provided in advance of this emergency delivery. All emergency deliveries will be deducted from the regular benefit.

Individuals with questions or wishing to make an appointment in Garrett County should call 301-334-9431.

the operator to keep chlorine in the water system," Archer said. "Another follow up water sample would need to be obtained to verify that the water is now safe for public consumption."

Swanton Man Injured In One- Vehicle Mishap

A Swanton man was hospitalized last Thursday as the result of injuries he sustained in a one-vehicle accident on the Oakland-Sang Run Road.

Ronald E. Beeghly, 35, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the 8:20 a.m. mishap by the Southern Rescue Squad. He was admitted to the hospital and has since been released, according to a hospital spokesman.

The accident occurred when the 1985 Dodge Ram pickup truck Beeghly was operating skidded on the icy roadway, turned completely around, left the roadway and struck a culvert before overturning, according to a report file by Tfc. R.T. Wilson of the Maryland State Police.

Icy roads caused yet another accident this week when Inez D. Kitzmiller, 59, Oakland, lost control of the 1983 Jeep she was operating on the Herrington Manor Road.

Kitzmiller reportedly lost control when her vehicle struck an icy patch on the road causing the Jeep to leave the roadway and strike an embankment.

She was taken to the local hospital by private vehicle where she was treated for facial injuries and released.

The 8:30 a.m. Christmas Eve mishap was investigated by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

DWI ARRESTS
State Police also noted two DWI arrests in the county this week.

A 16-year-old juvenile was arrested Saturday at 12:47 a.m. and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs by Tpr. S.H. Anderson.

Michael T. Snoberger, 22, was charged with DWI on Sunday at 1:42 a.m. by Tpr. Anderson.

Territorial Auto Insurance Rates Declared Legal

Maryland Insurance Commissioner John A. Donaho announced that the use of territorial ratings for automobile insurance complies with the Annotated Code of Maryland and is a valid element in rate making.

These conclusions were the result of an intensive and comprehensive investigation and study which began the first of the year and included public hearings held throughout the state — involving industry spokesmen, consumer advocacy groups, and private citizens.

More than 500 property and casualty companies writing automobile insurance in the state — at the direction of the Commissioner — were instructed to submit justification for the continued use of their territorial distinctions.

One of the nation's foremost actuarial firms worked in conjunction with the staff of the Insurance Division and the Attorney General's Office in the evaluation of documents and testimony.

Donaho ordered that all insurers who are authorized to underwrite private passenger motor vehicle liability insurance in Maryland shall submit for review... a plan detailing the procedures they will take to market this line of insurance in all areas of Maryland. The specific goal of each plan must be to make insurance available to all accident and violation-free drivers regardless of residency.

Applications For Fuel Assistance Being Accepted

Garrett County Community Action Agency is still accepting applications for the Maryland Energy Assistance Program (MEAP).

MEAP will provide assistance to eligible low-income, elderly, and disabled households in Garrett County.

Renters, roomers, and boarders are also eligible to apply for MEAP. To date, nearly 1,800 applications have been filed.

Applications can be filed at Garrett County Community Action Agency, 360 W. Liberty Street, in Oakland on a walk-in basis. Persons may telephone 301-334-9431 Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to noon, and 1-4:30 p.m.

Individual MEAP benefits are based on the type of fuel used and household income.

For example, the gross income eligibility standards for one is $785 maximum, two persons $1,063 maximum, three persons $1,320 maximum, and four persons $1,588.

The benefit is sent to the heating supplier after certification of the application.

Renters whose heat is included in their rent will receive a letter indicating that a benefit was sent to the landlord. That amount is deducted from rent payments.

Environmental Health Fees Noted By Archer

Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County health officer, has announced that the following Environmental Health Fees will become effective January 1, 1991:

Camp Permit Fee, $50; Mobile Home Park Permit Fee, 2-5 units, $50, 6-10 units, $75, 11+ units, $100; Swimming Pool Permit Fee, $100; Psittacine Bird Permit Fee, $50; Rabies Vaccination, $4; Building Lot Evaluation, $45; Commercial, Institutional, and Multi-Family Soil Evaluation, $35/hr.; Sewage System Final Inspection, $30; Well Permit Fee, $30; Sewage Evaluation for Real Property Transfers, $50; Water Test — Client Collects, $10; Water Test — Health Department Collects, $15; Food Service Permit Fee, $50; Food Service Permit Fee — Temporary, $10; Food Service Permit Fee — Temporary, if water sample required, $15; Septic Tank Pumping Permit (per truck), $50.

The soils evaluation fee for a septic system and well permit fee will remain the same as last year, Archer said.

The food service permit fee has increased. Also fees have been established for swimming pools, mobile home parks, psittacine bird (parakeet) distribution, and septic tank pumping permits.

Dr. Archer also pointed out that for certain types of facilities a new fee has been set for re-inspection because of failure of permittee to maintain minimum standards. This fee is $50 per re-inspection and will be assessed at the next permit renewal period. Archer said this concept should be an incentive for all operators to maintain their facilities in a high level of sanitation. The concept will also be more fair in distributing the costs as a facility that requires more Health Department personnel's time will pay more for that service. "An example of when this fee would be imposed could be a situation where an unsafe water analysis was obtained because of failure of Eat, drink and be wary.

When it comes to alcohol, it's easy to be fooled by appearances. But the fact is, that an "innocent" 12 oz. mug of beer or a "harmless" 5 oz. glass of wine, is as guilty of causing intoxication as a standard 1 1/4 oz. shot of hard liquor.

And, no matter what you're drinking, one drink per hour sets the pace for responsible moderation.

Eating foods that are rich in protein beforehand, is another way to temper the effects of alcohol.

But perhaps the most sobering fact of all, is that you really don't have to drink to have a great time.

This holiday season, be merry but wise. Use good judgement. Don't drink and drive.

FDA Approves Haemophilus b Influenza Vaccine

Haemophilus Influenzae type b (Haemophilus b) is bacterium which can cause serious disease, especially in children under 5 years of age. This bacterium does not cause the "flu" (influenza), Snelson said. In the United States, Haemophilus b causes about 12,000 cases of meningitis (infection of the covering of the brain) each year, mostly in children under 5 years of age. About one child in every 20 with meningitis caused by Haemophilus b dies of it and about one out of every four has permanent brain damage. Haemophilus b can also cause pneumonia and infections of other body systems such as blood, joints, bone, soft tissue, throat, and the covering of the heart.

Ms. Snelson said the Haemophilus b vaccine has been proven to be safe and effective in preventing this life threatening disease. A test of 60,000 infants was conducted where half received the vaccine and half did not. In the half that received the vaccine there were no cases of Haemophilus b disease. In the unvaccinated group 12 cases of Haemophilus Influenza occurred.

Until recently the vaccine was only available for children 18 months of age or older. Now all children can receive protection beginning at 2 months of age. The vaccine is given by injection and follows the same schedule as other childhood immunizations (2 months, 4 months, 6 months, and 15 months).

Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County Health Officer, encourages all parents to have their children receive the Haemophilus b vaccine along with the other childhood vaccines. "The use of this vaccine for children under 18 months of age will prevent hundreds of unnecessary deaths per year. We are very excited about its increased availability," he said.

"If you have any questions about the Haemophilus Influenzae vaccine you can contact your physician or the Garrett County Health Department," Archer added.

Three-Car Mishap In Oakland Sends Five To Hospital

A car accident at the intersection of Third and Center Street in Oakland that sent five people to the Garrett Memorial Hospital resulted in a charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI) for an Oakland man.

The mishap occurred on Dec. 20 when Charles Stinson, 37, reportedly failed to come to a stop behind two vehicles stopped at a red light.

Stinson's vehicle, a 1985 Ford Truck, struck the back of a vehicle driven by Ramona K. Schmidt, which caused her vehicle to collide with the 1990 Pontiac in front of her, driven by Elizabeth A. Teagarden.

Oakland City Police charged Stinson with DWI, as well as driving with a suspended license, and failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

The mishap occurred at 9:10 p.m.

No further details were provided in the police report.

Letters

disappointed and misled we feel now that our impressions have been shattered and we now "see" some members of Oakland in a totally different light.

This letter is directed toward all of the illustrious members of the Oakland Country Club board of directors and other select members of the Country Club who were all instrumental in the firing of the golf professional and our father, James Kreyenbuhl, after 34 years on the job. Not only did he put in 12 to 14 hours per day, 7 days a week, he also catered to all of the members' complaining. Examples: he conducted tournaments which brought in substantial revenue, even though the members did not have a free reign of the course all the time. This money was necessary, however, to assist in the financial affairs after the establishment of that "very successful" clubhouse.

After years and years of idle threats of our dad being fired, our worst nightmare has actually come true; and at what an opportune time the board has chosen to announce their decision!

It is extremely difficult to help send two kids to college when your only source of income has been cut off. The board thinks they may have solved all of their problems by this firing, but they have certainly exacerbated our problems ten thousand times over. Not only is this a financial blow to our family, but it also really makes one wonder if true friends actually exist. Admittedly, our dad has his problems, but one would think that such a supposedly caring group of people would offer their help to a fellow community member in need. However, it is much easier to eradicate a problem rather than facing it one on one.

Thanks to all the members of the board of directors of the Oakland Country Club for being so gracious during this holiday season. Our dad has dedicated his life to the profession of golf and you have taken that away from him. We have removed our rose-colored glasses and now we can see very clearly what a shallow and self-centered group of people whom we once considered friends actually are.

Have a Happy New Year.

Sincerely,

Julie and Jamie Kreyenbuhl

The Big Question . . .

For the first time in many years the state of Maryland is facing a significant budget shortfall. Right now the estimated red figure for the current fiscal year is approximately $450 million and that number seems to be growing almost weekly. While such a sum is staggering when compared to most of our own personal situations, it actually represents only a few days of the cost of operating state government.

The trend, however, is somewhat unnerving, although nearly every state in the union is facing similar shortfalls and deficits. Our neighbor Pennsylvania is looking at a $1 billion shortfall and let's not even talk about West Virginia's financial woes.

Just how much blame for this should be directed at Governor William Donald Schaefer, the "do it now" leader who continues to lock horns with the state legislature on what should and should not be funded? He seems to be taking most of the heat right now for the crisis and, while we believe he is partly responsible, we suspect that this would have occurred with or without Gov. Schaefer in office. The fact of the matter is, retail sales are considerably lower than what were anticipated so far this fiscal year. When such sales decline, obviously retail sales tax figures also drop.

There are many reasons for the present soft economic situation — depressed real estate sales, high cost of petroleum products, continued high interest rates, the trade deficit, the Persian Gulf crisis, and, as we commented on a few weeks ago, media-produced hysteria. These are all things over which Gov. Schaefer has little or no control. However, the governor also has a record of being a big spender. When he sees something he wants, he goes for it, sometimes regardless of the cost. It is this philosophy that has us concerned.

We were pleased to see this week that the governor, if given the proper information and justification, is willing to change his mind on the funding of various programs. He had planned to cut the funding for 22 state-operated youth service bureaus, to fire 1,800 state employees, and to eliminate state-funded kidney dialysis. On all of these, he changed his mind and decided that they should continue.

The big question now, of course, is just where will the budget ultimately be cut and/or how will more funds be generated for the state coffers to make up the shortfall? The handling of this question in the new year and the early part of the new decade will likely determine Wm. Donald Schaefer's fate and legacy as the governor of this state.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter on behalf of Melissa Fazenbaker and her family. Many of you may know about Missy's accident on Route 40 in Grantsville, but some of you may not. The accident took place right above where the White Oaks Inn Bar used to be. This was caused by no fault of Missy's. It was totally out of her control and considered a "freak" accident. This area is what some people are trying to consider a "buffer zone." This means at least 200 ft. of timber along the roads should be left standing to beautify Garrett County.

The people that are proposing this law are backed by the Sierra Club. Most of their members are not native Garrett County residents. They are pushing this to become a law for all state and privately owned land. We know first-hand what this standing "buffer zone" can do to a family.

Missy has been in the hospital since this accident. She received her LPN license during this time because she had taken her test in October. She was on her way to becoming a nurse. She was an A student. Not only did she attend school, she was a nurse at Sacred Heart Hospital and also employed by Curtis' Chimney Service in Grantsville. We are talking about a healthy, active, beautiful young girl. Yes, she has improved a great deal since the accident, but she is not yet the Missy that she was. Our family was not together for Thanksgiving; Missy was not there. Christmas does not hold the happiness it should because our family is not the same. We thank God that she is still here, but something good must come out of this tragedy.

Now, Sierra Club members, you convince our family that buffer zones beautify Garrett County. The tree that fell on Missy's was on privately owned land. It was rotten and partly hollow. It hung approximately three days on the electric lines after the accident before it was removed. True we must conserve, but do we do this at the cost of another person's life? With the price of their future in your hands?

This letter is written to encourage all friends and family and all Garrett Countians to protest this law. Please take the time today to write to any representative or delegate. Are we more concerned with the life of a tree or animal than we are with the life of another human being? This could have been your family member. Think of this and put yourself in this story. There was nothing Missy could do to prevent this, but the tree should not have been standing. Please support this. We can stop this from becoming a law. Write to the delegates.

Thank you,
Trina McKenzie

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

RESOLUTIONS FOR 1991

by Governor William Donald Schaefer

The new year is nearly here, though it's hard to believe that 1990 went by so quickly. It was a busy year, and we got a lot accomplished, but it's time to look ahead to 1991. Like most people, I make resolutions for the new year. I really do try hard to keep them!

Those of us in state government know that 1991 is going to be a year for some hard choices. We know that because we ended up 1990 having to make some tough decisions, some that weren't popular. I am resolved this year to do the best job I can serving Marylanders.

I resolved last year to listen closely to what the people of Maryland are saying, what their concerns are. I am renewing that resolution for 1991. I always tell my staff and Cabinet members to remember the people in the state, to get out and listen to what people are saying, what they think. I spend so much time in my office that I don't get enough chances to talk to Marylanders as much as I'd like, and find out what's important to them.

I resolve to do as much as I can for Maryland with the resources and the money that we'll have available. When I was mayor in Baltimore, there was never much money to work with, but we still managed to get things done, make things happen. If we use some creativity, we can make what we have in 1991 go farther.

It would be easy to use the economy as an excuse to stand still in the state, and not continue our progress. The problem is that we can't afford to do that. I'm always saying that if we stand still, we'll only get left behind. I have another four years as governor, and I'm promising to keep looking for better ways to serve the people of the state.

In 1991, Maryland can't afford to give up any ground in efforts to improve water quality in the Chesapeake Bay. It will be an important year in planning the future of the bay, and how the state keeps growing around it. I resolve to challenge the status quo and change the way we grow in Maryland. In the past, we haven't had a plan for keeping track of the tremendous growth in Maryland, but now we have a chance to put one in place.

Another resolution is to do my part to make sure that we recognize some of Maryland's treasures. So many good things are happening in Maryland, on college campuses, in community groups, and among young people. Sometimes I worry and get depressed about bad news in the economy, or get frustrated because we can't accomplish everything all at once. It helps me when I remember what a great state I live in.

One of the state's "new" treasures is something that's really quite old: it's a project that's going on in St. Mary's City. An archaeological team has found what we think are the graves of Maryland's founding family, the Calverts. We can learn so much about early life in Maryland, and at the same time, enjoy some national attention for what's really a unique find. I visited the site of the discovery myself, and I think once the experts have a chance to study them some more, a lot more people are going to want to visit St. Mary's City.

I have my work cut out for me living up to my 1991 resolutions, but I plan to do my best. If you have some resolutions you would like to share with me, or some suggestions you think I should consider, please write me: Governor William Donald Schaefer, The State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

To the Editor:

I have just returned from the office of my 11-year-old son's elementary school following an embarrassing and humiliating incident in which he was forced to participate because of a school "policy." I am here as a tax-paying and school supporting parent to vehemently protest this "policy."

My son forgot his lunch money on December 20, and was told that he could not have anything to eat that day unless I brought the cash to the school before lunch hour. He was given the choice of sitting in the cafeteria with his classmates while they ate their lunch or sitting in his room — both options included no lunch for him. He has (or I have) forgotten his lunch money several other times this year, and according to the

The Mind Wanders

When Will They Ever Learn?
by Pam Ashby

So many gone. Some have died. So many preparing for deployment. And many more speculate an active draft. Where have all the flowers gone?

A mother cries as she remembers her son or daughter as a child — carefree and full of hope. Devoid of thoughts of war. A young wife waves goodbye and prays for his safe return — yearning to be in his arms once more. Where have all the young girls gone?

A soldier kneels in the desert searching for answers. Another soldier mourns his newfound friend who drowned on a sinking ferry. He is confused. He loves his country, but he also loved his friend. Where have all the young men gone?

A little child cries at night wondering why her father died when the people on the news kept saying, "It's not a war at this point." There have been few casualties thus far as Bush and Hussein square off in a power struggle. Only a few? Small consolation for a crying child. Is it for oil? Is it a matter of principle? Is it man's need to be at the top? Where have all the graveyards gone?

The simplest resolution man could make is to promote peace. True peace would take care of boundary disputes, power struggles, energy shortages, the poor, the hungry, the homeless, the rape of the earth's precious resources. For peaceful people share what they have. Back to flowers everyone. When will we ever learn? When will we ever learn?

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVES by Douglas A. Cohn

The eves of battle

WASHINGTON — What will it be like? How will I do?

It will be terrible. You will do well.

Sometimes they ask and veterans reply; sometimes the new guys ask and reply to themselves. Always it is the same on the eves of war.

All of them know fear will grip them, but veterans know fear is not debilitating. Fear is universal; cowardice is rare.

Just as armed conflict is unique to the human race, the eves of battle have a unique human quality, an anxiety which potential combatants endure whether or not combat ever ensues. They endure many battles in their minds because their minds have time to conjure up many scenarios, many terrors. And so waiting becomes morale's mortal enemy.

Our thoughts run to the men on troop ships awaiting the go-ahead for the Normandy landings; to the men of Robert E. Lee's army who dressed their lines and awaited the order that would launch Pickett's Charge; to the half-frozen, poorly clad men who crossed the Delaware with Washington into the gambled fate of impending battle.

In Vietnam a unit would be placed in reserve, and the men would wait, wait for the sounds of helicopters. And when they could discern the sounds of multiple choppers the men would know for whom the machines of war were coming. Options vanished with such sounds. Having lived in freedom, these men valued the options which are freedom's hallmark. The choppers would land and with their noise override the thoughts in individual minds. Orders and actions would take over.

Today, there are different sounds, but the human emotions are the same as Americans face the prospect of war half a world away. That war may or may not come, but, for them the eve of battle already has. And it is the longest eve in our history. The men and women stationed in the Saudi desert know that war, if it comes, will come suddenly, evaporating their few remaining freedoms in the clouds of combat.

As they read, write, talk, participate in games, pull guard duty and practice for what very few of them have ever experienced, the sounds of war are all around them. Tank engines, helicopter rotors, sonic booms, rifle and machine gun fire, and explosions from a variety of sources play a staccato performance — a performance performed by only the most violent of animals. Yet these veterans of battle's eve have trained ears. Those who have been there for months can explain to those who have been there for days what the sounds mean, or more particularly, what they do not mean.

These veterans have come to know the sounds of routine training, albeit a heightened routine that occurs when combat is imminent. And these veterans begin to wonder if the Iraqis also hear the same sounds in the same way. And if they do, can they not tell the difference between practice and the real thing?

And so they can, and so the American commanders introduce new activities, new sounds to keep the Iraqis off balance. And with each new sound comes new tension, new thoughts.

Ours is an army devoid of desert war experience, so on this eve of battle veterans must merge the combat they have experienced with what they have been taught. And because they know teachings will be altered moments after combat commences, they correctly concentrate on the universal aspects of combat. And always there is gallows humor because the eve of battle is a good time for laughter. There will be time for tears soon enough.

Unlikely Poet Searches For Peace And Love In His World

by Pam Ashby

You may have seen him walking down the street, but you probably wouldn't notice him because he blends evenly into society. Even after you get to know him you would never guess he writes prose and poetry. But then, everyone has an outlet — a relief valve for our pressure-filled lives.

Michael Gene Powell is a native of Baltimore. His late father was a full-blooded Indian. His late mother was a Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He helped to train me when I strayed from writing a few years ago. He taught me a lot. The most important thing he taught me was that "no matter how many times you witness death, you still want to cry. And it's okay to feel that way."

Mike is divorced and seldom sees his three children. He lives alone and at times he is lonely. To help fill some of the void in his life, he joined the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad

As I walk across the hard, dirt floor
To get to the entrance of the teepee.
I reach out my arm and push the flap back
To bright sunlight striking my eyes, not able to see.

Farther forward still I walk
Off in the distance I hear my people talk.
The news is enlightening as I get near
All the sweet laughter is music to my ear.

As I look all about across the blue sky
To the south near the cliff beyond the trees
A hawk so freely does fly, so strong and alone
As he searches the ground for a meal nearby.

I give thanks to Watanoka, the faithful one,
For all that he provides — the trees, the sun,
All the winds that go by — for the birds and creatures
That give us daily food and keep us alive.

Always trust him and honor his name.
To disobey him would bring the tribe great shame.
Follow in his footsteps as he is our guide.
He will keep us in peace and love for which we strive.

saint in Mike's eyes. He was a teenager of the 60's so it's no wonder he feels the need to question society in some form. His way is through his writing — or his occasional bouts of insubordination.

Basically, he's a gentle soul with a kind heart and much of his poetry exposes that side of him. Life has dealt him some lousy hands, but he frequently responds with card tricks.

He seems to thrive on helping others. That is evidenced by his job. He is a nursing assistant at last year. Despite his own problems, he continually feels the need to help others. He subscribes to the old adage, "There's always someone out there who has it worse than I do."

He never dreamed he'd see his poetry published in the hometown newspaper. He would have been too shy to ask. Actually, the thought would have never occurred to him. Few people even knew he wrote. When he finally shared some of his writings with a

Eight years ago on August 7
You silently said goodbye
Without a word or tear
Like the batting of an eye.

I wanted to then
As I do right now
Wanted to tell you
Thanks for everything
And to say goodbye.

I wanted to tell you so much
I so dearly love you
But before I could — this one little thing —
The sad news in my ears forever will ring.

In a way I was glad to hear of this Knowing full well the love I'd miss.
But I would rather hear this now
Knowing of all the pain you had to resist.

Now that you're at peace and rest
In the arms of God who knows what's best.
Please forgive me for not being at your side
I truly regret not being there with you when you died.

handful of his co-workers, they were impressed. One veteran operating room nurse was so impressed that she suggested his poetry be printed in The Republican.

"My life reflects my writing — things I've done . . . things I wish I could have done . . . I wish I could have seen my kids graduate," Mike says wistfully.

He contends that his Indian heritage is responsible for his deep appreciation of nature and his surroundings — of his respect for solid relationships that so often elude him.

Mike discovered Garrett County through Dave Terlizi, who also once lived in Baltimore. Dave is back in Garrett County and also works at the local hospital as head of Central Supply. Dave saw a struggling man and befriended him. Mike hasn't forgotten the man who gave him a chance for a new life.

The unlikely poet is still struggling to find himself in this "crazy, mixed-up world."

His plans? "I live day to day," he declares. "Sometimes I feel I just exist. Plans seem to be useless."

Perhaps his own, now unpolished, but touching words will someday be his solace — his raison d'être.

In days of splendor
Now long gone by
We would run through green fields
And under shade trees would lie.

We would swim in a stream
So warm and serene
As it would only happen
When savoring a dream.

But when you awaken
And find you're alone
Life stares you in the face
Like a cold, hard stone.

That was then. This is now.

In deep loss and sorrow
There is no tomorrow.
All the pain is here to stay
To that last fateful day.

Although we were saddened,
In ways we were gladdened
To see the end of suffering and pain.
True peace and rest is finally gained.

In time all will pass,
But the memory remains.
As long as we keep love in our hearts
We'll have something special that will never part.

My heart feels hollow
I'm always alone
No one to love with
No place to call home.

One needs another
To make life gay
In order to live
Day by day.

One to share with Both night and day
To bring a ray of sunshine
To one's heart to stay.

The joy of togetherness
Both in work and play
Brightens our lives
In so many ways.

THE UNEXPECTED WINTER TIME — HOUSE PEST — CLUSTER FLIES

If you had to open up an unused room or light the fireplace in a large living room to welcome family and other guests to your house for the holidays, there might have been a surprise waiting for you by the windows, in a corner of the ceiling or even inside unused clothing or beds: Cluster Flies — UGH!!!

This article is in response to several recent inquiries about cluster flies. Few are the homes where those flies are not found. The cleanliness of the room has nothing to do with it. You may have noticed that those large, grayish cluster flies (pollenia rudis) do not come to the dinner table. They congregate in "clusters" by the window, in upper rooms, little used rooms and attics, etc., immobile, until the room warms up and they buzz clumsily around and do cause considerable annoyance.

Where do they come from and how do they enter a "closed" room? A fly lays its eggs on the soil outside under leaves. These hatch in one week into a larva. This larva uses certain species of earthworms for its development by boring into the worm's body. By spring the fully grown larva leaves the devoured remnants of the worm and needs about 10 more weeks to complete its development. In the autumn the adult flies may often be seen sunning themselves on walls or stumps. Later they find a sheltered place for hibernation, often in house walls.

They gain access through the smallest cracks or spaces. Older homes invariably have such minute openings, but newer homes are not excluded. Additional outbuildings, stacked boards and old wood provide ideal places for the flies to hibernate.

It does not seem possible to eliminate cluster flies, but the following measures will keep their number at a tolerable level.

Generally, flies feed on fermenting organic matter, with a preference for animal and human waste. Proper sanitation is a must, if only to reduce the spread of disease. Sealing all cracks and spaces in and outside the home is often impossible, but an attempt at closing small openings, installing and repairing screens, will help. Indoors, one can use com-mercially sold sprays, dust and tapes. Please observe all precautions on the label. If using dust or sprays, one should warm the room before application to kill the largest number of insects possible. A twice-daily vacuuming up of flies is also important, but seal the hose opening securely with tape to make sure some bedraggled wanderers do not find their way back out. Pest strips can be laid between windows where they are safe from children and pets. Treat the rooms a few days before company arrives and remember that cluster flies, while obnoxious to have around, are not a sign of poor housekeeping.

Colleges Urged By Aery To Charge Fees To Seniors

Secretary of Higher Education Shaila R. Aery has recommended to Maryland community colleges that they charge a registration fee for continuing education courses taken by senior citizens.

The recommended $20 fee would help defray the cost of offering continuing education courses to seniors, who by law may take courses without paying tuition.

During the 1988-89 academic year, there were over 134,000 senior citizen registrations in Maryland's community college system.

In a memo to community college presidents, Secretary Aery pointed out that demand for community college courses increases during economic slowdowns. Noting that colleges will be forced to find ways to operate with reduced budgets, Aery said that the fee would assist colleges in responding to increased demand.

"Given the current economic situation," Aery said, "senior citizens should assist with some of the expenses associated with these courses."

Fairness to paying students also dictates consideration of the fee, the secretary said.

Student Literacy Writing Contest To Begin Soon

Governor William Donald Schaefer will call on students statewide to use the power of the written word to promote drug prevention and the theme, "Say No To Drugs," when he kicks off the third annual "Maryland You are Beautiful" Student Literacy Writing Competition at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, January 10, at Patuxent Valley Middle School in Howard County.

"Our competition is doubly important this year because it reinforces two themes — literacy and drug abuse prevention," said Governor Schaefer. "All of us want Maryland to be a vital state and that dream can only come true if our students SAY NO TO DRUGS."

"Everyday, students are faced with tough choices," said Gregg Harvey, a recovered addict and the winner of the 1990 "Maryland's Most Beautiful People" Award in Montgomery County. "I know I made the right choice when I finally said no to drugs and I want kids to make that choice too."

Divided into four age groups — grades K-2, 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12 — the competition runs from February 1 to March 1 and is open to over 700,000 public school and participating private school students in Maryland. The top entries will be judged by professional educators.

Every student who enters will receive free discount coupons to Kings Dominion Theme Park. The 12 top finalists will be recognized by Governor Schaefer at an awards ceremony and luncheon in Annapolis. In addition, the four grand prize winners receive a weekend for four in Historic Annapolis, an overnight stay and complimentary passes for Kings Dominion Theme Park.

The "Maryland You are Beautiful" Student Literacy Writing Competition is sponsored by HealthCare Corporation of America, Image Dynamics, Kings Dominion Theme Park, the Governor's

"Maryland You are Beautiful" Program and the Maryland State Department of Education, directed by Dr. Joseph Shilling, State Superintendent. Last year, the competition drew over 50,000 entries statewide.

Nontidal Wetlands Guidance Maps Now Available

Nontidal wetlands guidance maps of Maryland have been completed by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and are being distributed to local government offices throughout the state.

The map are part of Maryland's Nontidal Wetlands Protection Program created by the 1989 General Assembly. Beginning January 1, 1991, DNR's Water Resources Administration (WRA) will require a permit or exemption for activities in nontidal wetlands. The new maps are intended to provide guidance to the public on nontidal wetlands locations.

In announcing distribution of maps, WRA Director Catherine Pieper Steveson, emphasized that the maps are intended to be used for guidance purposes only.

"To locate nontidal wetlands for regulatory purposes, a field review must be done in accordance with the Federal Manual for Identifying and Delineating Jurisdictional Wetlands," Stevenson explained.

Besides county offices, the following state agencies will receive map sets for reference by the public: Maryland Departments of the Environment, Employment and Economic Development, and Agriculture as well as the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and U.S. Soil Conservation Districts.

Any individual map can be obtained by the public for $15 by contacting Joan Reed at Salisbury State University, Blackwell Library, Salisbury, Md. 21801 or call (301) 548-5774 or (301) 548-5998.

For more information on the nontidal wetlands program, persons may call WRA in Annapolis at (301) 974-3841 or 974-2260.

Higher Education Plan Approved, Goals Are Set

The Maryland Higher Education Commission has recommended that Maryland's 34 public colleges and universities improve undergraduate education, develop plans to keep tuition costs down, and find new ways to offer programs in areas of the state that are under-served today.

The commission also recommended that need-based scholarships be expanded and that assessment measures be developed so that parents and students can evaluate college performance.

Those are some of the dozens of proposals contained in a plan for higher education developed by the commission after two years of work. The citizen board approved the final elements of the plan at a meeting at Notre Dame College of Maryland on December 19.

"Governor Schaefer and the legislature asked the commission to work toward a system of higher education that is nationally recognized for its consistent quality and responsiveness to Maryland citizens," said J. Henry Butta, chairman of the commission. "This plan is truly a blueprint to achieve that goal."

Created in 1988 as part of the reorganization of higher education, the commission is responsible for statewide planning and coordination of Maryland's public and independent colleges and universities. It also recommends a higher education budget to the governor and has approval authority for the missions and programs of individual colleges.

Among the proposals

- To urge public institutions to give greater emphasis to undergraduate education — by better defining goals, by encouraging more senior tenured professors to teach undergraduate courses, and by assessing what students learn. Almost 90 percent of all Maryland college students are undergraduates.

- Creation of a "Free State" scholarship program based on need. The program would guarantee financial aid for needy students who successfully complete the appropriate curriculum, stay drug free in high school, and qualify to attend a Maryland institution.

- To ensure the strongest possible liberal arts and sciences education for teacher education majors and to ensure that pedagogical training be based on the real world of the public school classroom. Teacher education reform legislation will be prepared for 1992.

- To develop a more effective and less expensive system of continuing education in Maryland. Part-time students account for more than half of all enrollments in Maryland. The plan also recommends scholarship aid for part-time students. Commission research and a major survey of Maryland employers show that many areas of Maryland are not receiving the programs they need.

- To develop meaningful, focused missions for each college and university and then require them to concentrate their efforts and funding on fulfilling those missions. Mission statements define admissions policies, high priority academic programs, geographical service areas, and whether a campus emphasizes teaching or research.
- To encourage colleges and universities to treat classroom teaching as being as important as research, and reward excellent teachers accordingly.
- To fund colleges and universities on the basis of performance and accountability rather than enrollment alone.
- To continue to work toward achieving pre-eminence at the University of Maryland at College Park, the state's flagship campus.
- To improve state funding of community colleges so that tuitions can be kept down.
- To begin a regular review of college programs. This discipline-by-discipline review, intended to eliminate duplication and encourage improvements, will begin in 1991.

- To improve delivery of education programs to every region of the state.

- To improve efforts to recruit top Maryland high school students to attend Maryland colleges and universities.

- To improve minority recruitment, retention and graduation at Maryland institutions.

The plan approved by the commission includes detailed recommendations in each general area. In February the commission will publish a report and summary of the plan, which will be delivered to Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The plan was introduced in broad outline in July. Committees held more than 100 hours of public hearings on specific initiatives during the summer and fall before the plan was approved.

In Saturday's contest against Jamestown, the Lakers were down 32-26 at halftime and cut the deficit to four points, 34-30, at the eight-minute mark, but they missed a pair of inside shots and could get no closer.

GCC Women Open Campaign; Two Top JUCO Players Return

Tracy Henline

Marcia DeBerry

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team opened its season last week with a Christmas Tournament hosted by Lakeland, Ohio, Community College. The results of the tourney are in a separate story.

The 1990-91 Laker team will be highlighting the return of two top MD JUCO players, Tracy Henline and Marcia DeBerry. Henline, ranked third in the nation last year in rebounding with 16 per game, averaged 14.3 points per game. She also holds a school record for blocked shots with 61.

DeBerry, who was named an All-Tournament MD JUCO selection, averaged eight points per game, and led the team in free throw percentage (75%).

Complementing the Lakers squad are new recruits, Kenyatta Brown, Karen Gurrera, Kim Copeland, and Kim MacKall.

Prince George's All-County Selection and product of Largo High School, Brown averaged 11 points and 10 rebounds per game.

Karen Gurrera, a graduate of Brooke (WV) High School, was named First Team All-State AAA. Gurrera, a 5-6 guard/forward, average 16 points, five rebounds, and three assists.

Six-foot forward and standout at Friendly High School, Copeland, was named Prince George's All-County Selection averaging 14 points and 10 rebounds per game.

All-Calvert County Selection and team Offensive Player of the Year, MacKall averaged 12 points and 10 rebounds per game.

This year's recruiting was enhanced by two local players, both products of Southern High School — Tracie Dawson and Melinda Evick.

Dawson, who was named Southern High's top defensive player, averaged eight points and five rebounds per game. She was third in the area in free throw percentage at 70%.

Southern High's top offensive player and fourth leading career scorer, Melinda Evick, averaged 12 points and seven rebounds per game.

"This team is capable of winning a lot of games," remarked Head Coach Dennis Gibson, "but depth will be a factor. All the girls have good scoring potential and with the return of two top MD JUCO players, Henline and DeBerry, we should have some very exciting games."

Northern Girls Top Southern In First Round Of Snowflake Classic

The Northern High girls' varsity upped its record to 4-1 with a big 36-27 win over cross-county rival Southern last night in an opening round of the Rams' Snowflake Classic, being held at Northern because of the renovation project underway at Southern.

The Huskies came into the contest after defeating Salisbury, 43-25, one week prior at Salisbury.

Audra Speicher paced the Huskies last night against the Rams by netting a game-high 14 points.

The Rams (0-4) took a 10-2 lead in the early moments of the contest, but the Huskies came back with six straight points to cut the gap to 10-8 by the end of the first period. Northern held a one-point advantage at halftime, 17-16, and were on top 24-20 after three periods.

Eight of the Huskies' fourth quarter points came from the foul line.

Melissa Thomas pulled 13 rebounds for the Huskies and Speicher had five assists to go with her 14 points.

Michelle Duling and Chrystie Browning netted 12 and 10 points, respectively, to pace the Rams.

Once again, the Rams had to play without regular starter Kathy Gibson, who is sidelined after sustaining a dislocated thumb.

The Huskies will meet Westmar in the finals of the tournament this evening. The Wildcats rolled over Fort Hill, 62-34, in the other opening game, as Dawn Sloan, the area's leading scorer, netted 24 points for the winners. Southern will play the Sentinels in the consolation game today at 3:15.

In the junior varsity game, Lisa Stephens and Wanda Swartzwelder each recorded nine points as the Huskies nipped Southern, 26-24. Ingrid Carlson scored 15 points for the Rams.

In last week's game against Salisbury, Rebecca Fratz paced the Huskies' offensive effort as she finished with 11 points. Close behind with 10 points each were Laurie Stanton and Cara Wachter, while Thomas was credited with 11 rebounds and Speicher recorded eight assists.

The Huskies were never really threatened by the host team, as they took an 11-4 lead by the end of the first quarter, held their opponents scoreless in the second quarter and led 22-4 at halftime, and were on top 32-10 when the fourth period began.

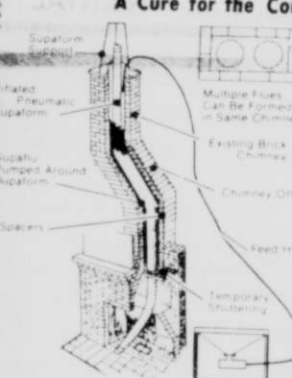

Salisbury was led by Linda Yommer, who had nine points.

Gas Refrigerators

May Be Dangerous

That gas refrigerator you bought 40 or so years ago, and perhaps are now using in a hunting or fishing cabin, may be hazardous to your health. It could even be deadly.

Columbia Gas is informing its customers, through an insert in current gas bill mailings, that Servel refrigerators sold between 1933 and 1957 could be a source of dangerous carbon monoxide emissions.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has issued a warning that anyone who still has one of those appliances, whether fueled with natural gas or propane, should stop using it, Columbia said.

The CPSC warning pointed out that enough carbon monoxide -- which is odorless and colorless -- could accumulate in a single night from the refrigerator to kill occupants of a cabin or house. Sixty-four deaths have been associated with those Servel refrigerators in Canada and the United States over the past 20 years, the commission said.

Columbia said the CPSC has arranged for a $100 payment to anyone turning in one of the old Servel units.

A toll-free telephone hotline has been set up on a 24-hour basis through which owners of the Servel refrigerators can make arrangements for someone to pick up the unit, without cost.

The hotline number is 1-800-782-7342.

WVU Researchers Build Wetlands

To Control Acid Mine Drainage

"We are actually creating an eye-pleasing, natural habitat and solving a mining problem at the same time," says West Virginia University plant sciences associate professor, Alan Sextstone. While nationwide, wetlands are often destroyed to provide space for shopping malls and housing developments, WVU researchers are finding that wetlands can be constructed to help control acid mine drainage. Their research is funded through the National Mine Land Reclamation Center located at WVU.

"The idea of using cattail wetlands to control acid mine drainage is not new. Researchers discovered the filtering properties of wetlands in the 1970's," says Jeff Skousen, plant sciences assistant professor.

"Wetlands are passive and renewable," says Sextstone. "In cases where they are the appropriate treatment, wetlands are cost effective as opposed to using chemicals to control acid mine drainage." However, exactly how the process works is not completely known and this is what Sextstone and the other researchers are trying to determine.

Sextstone and WVU Division of Plant and Soil Sciences researchers, Joe Calabrese, D.K. Bhumbra, John Sencindiver, and Gary Bissonette, have constructed cattail wetlands in troughs in a greenhouse and have been monitoring them for about 15 months. Water collected from a local mine site flows through the troughs and is then analyzed. Researchers are mainly interested in how the wetlands remove acid-producing metals such as iron and manganese from the water.

They know that the cattail plant itself absorbs little of the metals. However, the thick cattail roots help bind together all the soil and peat into a dense mat where the iron attaches itself to the organic matter (such as the peat or roots) in the sediments. "With this process, the wetland's capacity for metal binding eventually becomes saturated and the wetland then fails," Sextstone cautions. He is mainly looking at microbiological ways of removing iron.

The researchers are looking deeper into the sediments where oxygen does not penetrate. Under these anaerobic (oxygen free) conditions, a sulfate-reducing group of bacteria causes the iron to be converted back into its original form, pyrite. As a result of the sulfate reduction, alkalinity is generated and the pH is actually raised. This method is potentially self-sustaining.

"The reality is that several processes are at work within wetlands, but no one method removes all of the iron," Sextstone says. "Depending on how the wetland is built, one method can be favored over another. In the greenhouse, we are experimenting by building longer, deeper wetlands in order to favor the sulfate reduction process."

Sextstone knows that many more factors must be considered when the wetlands are constructed at mine sites. Each site must be evaluated to determine the composition and flow of the acid mine drainage. Wetlands are not appropriate in all cases.

Researchers at the Environmental Technology Division of the U.S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh conduct field work that complements the WVU researchers' project. "We collect samples from wetlands in use now and they analyze them in the lab. This helps us to know what type of wetland works best," says Bob Hedin of the Bureau of Mines. Right now, field constructed wetlands seem to work best at small mining operations that do not produce a heavy flow of acidic water.

Materials used to construct wetlands can vary, depending on what is most readily available in the area. "We generally use a peat moss and soil mixture here," says Sextstone. "The key is to use organically rich materials. This helps the physical exchange process and also makes the wetland more permeable. Permeability is needed to create good flow characteristics and anaerobic sediments where the microbial process can function."

Cattails are the most commonly used plants in the constructed wetlands because they are prolific and are easy to find. They also tolerate the acid conditions well. Sextstone says that researchers are conducting studies to see if plants other than cattails survive well in the wetlands.

Ultimately, Sextstone would like to understand exactly how a wetland removes acid mine drainage so he could make realistic recommendations on what would work best. "I want to be able to look at a situation and tell someone what kind of wetland will work best for their mine operation."

Local Student College Marshal At Penn State

Cynthia Elizabeth Gregg, daughter of Theodore and Lola Marie Gregg, Masontown, W.Va., has been named marshal for the College of Arts and Architecture at Penn State's University Park campus for the January 1991 commencement ceremonies.

The college marshal is the graduating senior with the highest grade point average in the college.

Gregg will receive a bachelor's degree in both art history and finance.

Gregg earned many honors and awards at Penn State, including the President Freshman Award and the Evan Pugh Scholar Award.

She is also listed in Who's Who Among American College Students and is a member of the Golden Key National Honor Society and five other honor societies.

She was also in the University Scholars program, which is an honors program requiring students to take accelerated classes and write a thesis during their senior year.

Gregg's future plans include a financial management position with General Electric Financial Services in Stamford, Conn.

In West Virginia, coal burning power plants produce 2.4 million tons of fly ash in an average year. Finding methods for disposing of the ash is critical. In West Virginia, thousands of acres of surface mined land are barren. Finding methods for reclaiming this land is also critical. Although these statements seem to have nothing in common, researchers at West Virginia University are discovering ways to use fly ash, a coal residue, to help revegetate surface mined land.

At an active mine site near Lenox in Preston County, WVU researchers Robert Keefer, Robindar Singh, and D.K. Bhumbra are mixing fly ash with mine spoil to produce a soil suitable for growing a ground cover. Spoil is the usually acidic rock matter located between the top soil and coal deposit that is left behind after mining takes place.

"Fly ash is a very fine, silt size material," explains James D. Burnell, Ash Consultant with Monongahela Power Company. "It is actually the powdery particles of non-combustible coal which are trapped in the power plant's electrostatic precipitator. When fly ash is completely blended with the coarse or clay-like mine spoil, a material of improved texture results and this substance is conducive to plant growth. We are essentially making soil from spoil."

Singh, plant and soil sciences professor adds, "Fly ash has most of the nutrients needed for plant growth. It also has excellent moisture-retaining properties. These factors make it a good top soil substitute." Top soil is not always available at all reclamation sites.

At the Preston County site, the land owner needed coverage and no top soil was available, so both he and the coal operator were willing to have the researchers use the site to test the fly ash-spoil mixture as a growing medium.

The researchers had been testing fly ash as a top soil substitute since the 1970's, with mixed results. In the late 1980's funding became available from WVU's Energy and Water Research Center, National Mine Land Reclamation Center and the Allegheny Power System (parent company of Monongahela Power) to continue the fly ash experiments.

Fly ash for the current research comes from Allegheny Power's Albright, Fort Martin, and Harrison power plants. Researchers are using ash from the three different sources to determine what characteristics are relevant to successful reclamation over the long term. Fly ash composition varies from plant to plant because the processing method and the type of coal used is unique to each power station.

Plant growth during the first year indicated that plots containing the Albright ash with a pH of 8 (slightly alkaline) performed the best. "The grass was almost waist high," says Keefer, also a plant and soil sciences professor. "It looked great. Plots from the other two ashes didn't look very good at all."

The following season of growth brought about a reversal. The Fort Martin and Harrison ash plots had flourished but the Albright plots had begun to look less healthy. Both Fort Martin and Harrison ashes have a pH of 11, which is highly alkaline. During the third season, the Fort Martin and Harrison ash plots continued to experience healthy growth while the Albright plots did not. "It's a good thing we didn't stop the tests after one year because we now believe that over time, the more alkaline ashes may be the better ones to use on very acidic spoils. Fly ashes like Albright would be more suitable for less acidic sites," says Keefer.

"I think the fly ash has done a good job," says Ron Bolinger, mine operator at the site. (Even over time) "the vegetation is growing well. The researchers have been very good to work with." He thinks that the experiment demonstrates that fly ash can work at sites like this.

Researchers have found that both Fort Martin and Harrison ashes contain significant amounts of boron and alkaline salts. They believe that the increase in growth occurred because after a year, most of the boron leached out of the ash while the higher alkalinity neutralized the acid in the spoil material. Knowing that boron and other elements can leach out of the fly ash means that additional research is needed to examine the quality of water from ash-treated land.

"Not all fly ash has a high boron content," says Bhumbra, a plant and soil sciences research assistant. However, the researchers are not making recommendations for the widespread use of fly ash as a growing medium on surface mined land until questions regarding water quality are carefully examined. "The public wants to know if the water coming through the ash used to treat surface mined areas is contaminated or if it will be safe to drink. We hope that our next phase of our research will answer those questions," says Keefer.

Maryland Realtors To Launch Home Buying Campaign

Michael H. Yerman, president of the Maryland Association of Realtors (MAR), announced last week the January launch of a campaign designed to encourage potential home buyers to "Do It Now — Buy a Maryland Home." All 20 boards of Realtors throughout the state are participating in the campaign which will run throughout January and February 1991. The campaign will be launched on January 3 at a formal proclamation ceremony at the State House during which Governor VOLUNTEERS HONORED — Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., recently held its annual volunteer appreciation luncheon at Will O' the Wisp. Approximately seventy volunteer caregivers, auxiliary, board members, and guests attended the affair. Among those honored for their service were Clint Englander, past president of the Hospice board of directors, and Cathy Chapman, R.N., director of nursing, who was presented with a plaque for over three years of dedication to the terminally ill patients and their family members. Shown above, left to right, are Clint Englander, Ms. Chapman, Janelle Chapman, Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice; Derek Chapman, and Sharon King, director of volunteers. Pictured below right is Nancy Helbig of Gonder's Insurance, who Walker, Buffalo Coal Company, Beitzler Corp., and BOP Elks Lodge each made contributions for an appreciation gift for each volunteer.

William Donald Schaefer will declare January and February "Buy A Maryland Home" months.

The campaign is being coordinated by Herrmann Advertising Design, an Annapolis-based agency, headed by Judi Herrmann.

On February 23-24, a statewide Real Estate Treasure Hunt will be held to encourage potential home buyers to visit homes and become familiar with the realities of this buyers' market. Thousands of simultaneously held open houses will be promoted through a radio and newspaper advertising and promotion campaign. Potential home buyers who visit the open houses and who fill out an official entry form identifying a "treasure" a feature of the home they particularly like will be eligible for prize drawings being held across the state. The Maryland Association of Realtors, located in Annapolis, has 26,000 members in 20 local boards of Realtors across Maryland. Yerman, MAR's president and spokesperson, is CEO of Meredith Real Estate/Better Homes & Gardens, as well as president of MYCOR Development Company. Both are headquartered in Baltimore.

New Horizons Slates Career Planning Classes

The New Horizons Program, providing services for single parents, homemakers, displaced homemakers, and sponsors of The Caring Connection Program, which serves adolescent single parents and pregnant teens, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, continues to sponsor a series of Career Planning classes beginning again in the spring of 1991. The classes are offered in five week increments, meeting twice weekly on Monday and Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. at the McHenry Campus of GCC. The next series of classes for spring 1991 are as follows: Monday, January 7, through Wednesday, February 6; Monday, February 25, through Wednesday, March 27; Monday, April 1, through Wednesday, May 1; and Monday, May 6, through Wednesday, June 5.

This career assessment course is designed for students to identify their training needs and to prepare for employment. Topics to be considered include skills assessment complete with interest testing, career information, resume writing, job applications, job search strategies, and interviewing techniques.

Participants of the New Horizons Program are encouraged to take this class before pursuing other vocational training. Tuition assistance is available to those who qualify for New Horizons. Transportation/child care assistance is also available to income/eligible single parents and homemakers who are part of the New Horizons Program, and child care to adolescent single parents and pregnant teens through The Caring Connection Program.

Interested persons may register for either class through the New Horizons office. Information on eligibility for the program and its services, as well as tuition availability, may be obtained by calling New Horizons at 387-6666, ext. 171, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. New Horizons is located at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education in Room 302.

MSP Gears Up For Long New Year's Weekend

Maryland State Police are gearing up for the long New Year's holiday weekend in search of impaired drivers.

"Special teams of troopers will be deployed during the holiday period in search of motorists who are operating under the influence, intoxicated or otherwise impaired by alcohol or some other drug," said First Sergeant William Tower of the Maryland State Police Chemical Test for Alcohol Unit. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service broadcast, Tower said laws dealing with impaired driving will be strictly and aggressively enforced.

"Every trooper in Maryland will have access to field sobriety test equipment for use on all traffic stops where impaired driving is suspected," added Tower. "We will confiscate the driver's license of a motorist who refuses to submit to a chemical test for alcohol or whose test results register .10, the state's legal limit or higher."

Maryland State Police plan to conduct the sobriety checkpoint program during the holiday with strict drunk driving enforcement along roads which have demonstrated a need for stepped up patrols. Since the beginning of the sobriety checkpoint program in 1982, State Police have checked nearly 60,000 vehicles resulting in approximately 500 drunk driving arrests. Last year, police in Maryland made 36,573 arrests for driving while intoxicated.

During this holiday, State Police will monitor the citizens band emergency channel 9 for motorists reporting drunk drivers.

"We need to know the location, direction of travel, vehicle description and license plate number," said Tower. "Motorists should not attempt any enforcement action, but should merely report suspected drunk driving incidents."

"We will also staff a 24 hour, toll free DWI hotline for the reporting of drunk drivers. The number is 1-800-525-5555. Motorists can report drunk drivers any time of the day," Tower said.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Portions of this program are also carried on the Maryland State Police Newswire, (301) 653-4275.

New Year

Happy

A New Year..

A New Life

Strains of "Auld Lang Syne" fade into the dawn of yet another New Year's Day. As we discard paper hats and streamers, we resolve to discard unwanted habits and negative attitudes.

Ahead of us are 365 opportunities to improve the quality of our body, mind, and spirit. A brand new year is about to begin! Yet, it may be difficult to alter those negative characteristics which have been so long a part of us.

There is one resolution, however, which will surely aid in reaching our desired goals. That is the practice of attending our chosen house of worship each Sabbath.

Through prayer and meditation, God will provide the strength needed to make positive changes in your life. Each week as you worship, your outlook will be refreshed and hope renewed.

V.P. Dan Quayle To Present Keynote Address At AFBF Convention

Vice President Dan Quayle will present the keynote address at the American Farm Bureau Federation's annual meeting Monday morning, January 7, 1991, in Phoenix, Ariz.

An estimated 7,000 Farm Bureau members and guests will attend the organization's 72nd annual meeting, scheduled for the Civic Plaza in downtown Phoenix.

Prior to the vice president's remarks, AFBF President Dean Kleckner will present his annual address. Political commentator Pat Buchanan and cowboy-humorist Baxter Black will address the farm audience on Tuesday morning, January 8.

The Farm Bureau convention will run from January 6 to 10.

Opening-day activities on Sunday, January 6, will include the young farmer and rancher discussion meet, the start of a three-day trade show and a news conference with AFBF President Kleckner.

Thirty-two special interest and commodity conferences are scheduled for Monday (Jan. 7) and Tuesday (Jan. 8) afternoons on topics ranging from assessing rural health care needs to the nation's wetland policies, implementing the 1990 farm bill, preserving private property rights and the future of farm exports.

Three hundred-ten farm delegates representing the 50 states and Puerto Rico will discuss and debate farm policy matters beginning Wednesday morning until the conclusion of the meeting on Thursday. Policy issues up for discussion include farm programs, private property rights, taxes, international trade barriers, wetlands and endangered species regulations. Policy decisions direct the organization's annual work program.

Farm Survey Shows Debt/Asset Ratio Slightly Improved

The financial position of the average farm in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, and New York improved slightly in 1989, according to the latest information from the Farm Costs and Returns Survey (FCRS).

The FCRS was conducted by Agricultural Statistics Service offices throughout the country during February and March 1990. Over 24,000 farmers and ranchers were contacted nationwide. Individuals surveyed were chosen from a list of farm operators supplemented with producers living inside randomly selected geographical areas to ensure representation of all farms which sell or normally sell at least $1,000 of agricultural products.

Estimates of the distribution of farms and other averages of survey data do not represent official USDA estimates, but are results of the survey. Since the FCRS is a probability sample, each respondent represents a number of farms of similar size and type. Thus, sample data can be expanded by appropriate weights to represent the U.S. population of farm operations.

A farm's financial condition was measured by jointly considering the net cash income position (positive or negative) and the amount of debt relative to assets (above or below 0.40). Farms with positive income and low debt are regarded as favorable, while those with negative income and low debt are considered in a marginal income position. Those with positive income and high debt are characterized as marginal solvency and those with both negative income and high debt are vulnerable.

The financial position of the average farm in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, and New York improved slightly in 1989. Forty-four percent of the farms were in a favorable financial position, a one percentage point increase over 1988. Farms in the marginal income category (low debt but negative net cash income) accounted for 47 percent of the farms, the same as in 1988. Net cash farm income was about average of the region, but was partially offset by a larger non-farm income source.

The average farmer in these four states operated 199 acres. The debt/asset ratio averaged 0.09, an improvement over 1988's 0.10, and better than the U.S. average. The increase in those farming and ranching operations in a favorable position and the decline of those in marginal and vulnerable positions placed these states in a better financial position than in previous years.

Farm production expenditures in the northeast totaled $8.4 billion, up 7.2 percent from 1988. In comparison, United States production expenditures were $124.1 billion, an increase of 4.9 percent from a year earlier. Major increases in regional expenses for trucks and autos, feed, and seed were partially offset by lower expenditures for livestock purchases and fertilizer. Expenditures by livestock farms at $5.6 billion were 66 percent of the total regional expenses compared to 67 percent in 1988. Major expense items on livestock farms were feed (33 percent) and farm services (14 percent). A little over 60 percent of the crop farm expenses in the northeast were for labor (27 percent), farm services (20 percent), farm machinery (9 percent), and seeds and plants (6 percent).

Scientific Panel To Advise On Milk Safety Issues

A scientific advisory panel consisting of top authorities from the fields of health, nutrition, toxicology, animal health, pediatrics and food technology has been formed by the Dairy Industry Coalition to advise it on milk safety issues. Panel members will review major materials produced and provided by the coalition to assure their scientific soundness and will participate in educational activities, such as media symposia.

"The Scientific Advisory Panel is an integral part of our milk safety program. Panelists will serve as advisors, reviewing the information that we provide relating to milk safety, enabling the coalition to build a scientifically based program," said James C. Barr, CEO of the National Milk Producers Federation and spokesperson for the coalition. "The panel is composed of top-notch authorities who are knowledgeable on milk safety issues and are concerned about protecting milk integrity."

The distinguished panel includes: David M. Barbano, Ph.D., Cornell University; George F. Cahill Jr., M.D., Dartmouth College; Brian A. Crooker, Ph.D., University of Minnesota; Catherine W. Donnelly, Ph.D., University of Vermont; Johanna T. Dwyer, D.Sc., R.D., New England Medical Center Hospital; Michael W. Pariza, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin; Nevin S. Scrimshaw, M.D., United Nations University; Steve L.

Dairy Promotion and Research Board and the National Milk Producers Federation. The coalition neither endorses nor opposes the use of BST by dairy farmers, should the FDA approve the product for commercial use. The coalition's top goal is to assure continuing consumer access to a safe, wholesome and nutritious milk supply.

The coalition believes that decisions regarding the safety of milk and milk products from BST-treated cows should be based on sound scientific investigation conducted, and thoroughly researched and reviewed, by credible professionals and institutions. Pa. Farm Show To Run Jan. 6-11 At Harrisburg

This year, the Pennsylvania Farm Show will celebrate 75 years as an agricultural showcase with many special features and daily attractions at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, Pa., from January 6 to 11. For the first time ever, a butter sculpture will be presented, co-sponsored by the four dairy promotion agencies operating in Pennsylvania. The sculpture will be hand carved from 800 pounds of butter, and will be donated to local food banks when the show is over. This unique exhibit will be on display throughout the week in the main lobby.

Over 5,000 animals will be exhibited throughout Farm Show week, including over 400 head of dairy cattle representing six major breeds. Dairy cattle judging takes place on Wednesday in the large arena, concluding with the selection of the supreme champion dairy cow.

Showgoers will find plenty to smile about during an all new Monday evening program in the small arena. Co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, the event features an ice cream making contest, a butter churning contest and a celebrity milking contest in recognition of the dairy industry.

Over 200 dairy cows are milked twice daily in a modern milking parlor in the north building. The facility is a miniature version of the milking barn and milk houses found on commercial dairy farms, with the facilities approved by state milk sanitarians for the production and sale of fluid milk. Farm Show visitors have an opportunity to observe these activities, basic to every dairy farm enterprise.

Of course a visit to the Farm Show is not complete until you sample the famous Farm Show food. This year's experience promises to be better than ever because the commodity food booths will be expanded and moved to a new location called the Pennsylvania Food Court. In the east building, traditional favorites like milkshakes, baked potatoes, vegetable soup, chicken corn soup, deep fried mushrooms, potato donuts, apple cider, honey ice cream, pork barbecues, beef and chicken sandwiches and cinnamon rolls will be available.

Wool, Unshorn Lamb Sales Need Filed With ASCS

To avoid late payments, Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee, reminds farmers that wool, unshorn lamb and mohair sales are eligible for price support payments now under the National Wool Act. "Only if the sales are reported to our office," Bachtel said.

He said the quantity sold does not affect the eligibility. However, sales slips should contain the date of shearing (if possible), the month and date of sales, number of head shorn, pounds of wool (grease basis) or mohair sold, and net proceeds. Sales slips for lambs also must show the liveweight and state that the lambs were sold unshorn.

Wool and mohair purchasers are also required to itemize marketing charges on the sales documents, except for sales at a farm, ranch, or local shipping point. "If transportation charges are not shown on the sales receipt, producers will be required to furnish this data when they turn in sales receipts and file for payment." Bachtel said that this is also true if the producer sells through a wool or mohair pool, with or without a manager, or through any other agent. The location for which the net proceeds are computed also must be shown on the sales document.

Shorn wool and mohair payments are based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales. The percentage is the amount required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool and mohair in 1990 up to the support prices of $1.82 per pound for wool and $4.532 a pound for mohair.

Sheep, Lamb Seminar Slated January 12

A sheep and lamb health management seminar, sponsored by the Maryland Extension Service and the Maryland Sheep Breeders, will be held Saturday, Jan. 12, at Maryland State Fairgrounds at Timonium.

The program will run from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Presentations will focus on parasites and foot diseases by Dr. W. Dee Whittier, the regional College of Vet Medicine; and common sheep diseases and treatment by Dr. Ruthie Franczek.

Pre-registration is required by Monday, Jan. 7. Interested persons may call the Garrett County Extension Office at 334-1990 for reservations or information.

ASCS Reminds Foreign Investors Of Reporting Rule

Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County ASCS Committee, reminds foreign investors who have bought or sold agricultural land in Maryland to report the transaction within 90 days to the Garrett County office.

The Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act (AFIDA) requires all foreign owners of U.S. agricultural land to report their holdings, acquisitions, dispositions, leases of 10 years or more, and land-use changes to ASCS. "This law is still in effect, and those who fail to report or who are late in reporting face possible fines," Bachtel said.

Foreign investors have reported owning about 12.9 million acres of land in the United States as of December 31, 1989. In Maryland, foreign-owned agricultural land totaled 51,210 acres for 1989.

For reporting purposes, Bachtel defined agricultural land as any tract of more than 10 acres now in farming, ranching, forestry, or timber production. "This includes land in agricultural use when purchased, as well as land later converted to agricultural use." Foreigners who own or have an interest in 10 acres or less do not need to report unless annual proceeds from the sale of agricultural products grown on these acres exceed $1,000.

Individuals or companies that specialize in land holdings, land transfers, or management services should contact the local Garrett County ASCS office for details on reporting in behalf of foreign clients.

EPA Supports Use Of "High Quality" Sludge

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is reaffirming its support for the use of high quality municipal sludge as a fertilizer source for agriculture. This comes as a result of the agency's 1989 sewage sludge survey.

The survey, released the last week in November, indicates that contaminant levels in sludge are significantly lower than an earlier survey had shown. Concentrations of heavy metals such as lead, cadmium, chromium and nickel are as much as 60 percent lower than the 1979 "40 City Study" of municipal sludge indicated.

The 1989 survey analyzed sludge from more than 180 publicly owned treatment works for more than 400 organics, pesticides, dioxins, PCBs and heavy metals.

Levels of chlorinated pollutants are low, the current survey indicates, and most of the 350 organic components of sludge were not detected. Of about 40 organics found, approximately 30 are non-toxic, naturally occurring biological compounds. The remaining organics are not yet regulated by the EPA.

The agency will use the survey to better prepare its final, first-round sludge regulations of 28 priority pollutants, which should be issued in 1991.

Research Demonstrates Need To Protect Milk Marketplace

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, concerned with attacks on the safety of milk because of the yet-to-be-approved biotechnology product, bovine somatotropin (BST), commissioned a survey to learn the impact of such attacks on consumer confidence in dairy products. Results indicate that after hearing anti-BST food scare messages, two out of five consumers would reduce their milk and dairy product (cheese, yogurt, ice cream) purchases or avoid them completely.

"This research makes it obvious that we need to protect dairy farmers and our products from being used as pawns in the controversy over the use of biotechnology in the food supply," said Lester M. Evans, chairman of the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board.

The 592 survey participants were initially presented with negative food scare messages regarding milk safety and BST. The food scare arguments were a synopsis of materials used by opponents of BST. Participants were then provided with three different positioning statements on BST. One statement included information on BST as a protein hormone, another on a briefing of the FDA approval process, and the third on an overall biotechnology message.

Regardless of the positioning statements put forth, consumers still had negative responses to questions concerning milk safety, with only approximately one-third (29 percent) of the respondents believing that testing has shown that milk from cows treated with BST is completely safe, while 69 percent believed it may be harmful to humans.

The results further indicate that after hearing anti-BST food scare messages, 41 percent of respondents would reduce their milk purchases or avoid them completely. The percentage of respondents indicating potential reductions in purchases of cheese, yogurt and ice cream were 43 percent, 50 percent and 44 percent, respectively.

"This survey strongly reinforces information we have collected from other sources and the results validate the decision of the National Dairy Board and the National Milk Producers Federation (NMPF) to form the Dairy Industry Coalition," Evans said.

The mission of the coalition, established earlier this year, is to protect the wholesome image of milk and milk products while remaining neutral on BST usage.

The survey was conducted prior to recently published articles in the peer-reviewed journal "Science" and the "Journal of the American Medical Association" (JAMA). Both journals reviewed the FDA's safety data and scientific procedures in its study of BST and concur with the FDA's ruling that milk from BST-treated herds poses no health threat to humans.

Swiss Cowbells Disappear From 4-H Dairy Judging Tradition

Add Swiss cowbells and bratzen cookie irons to the list of commonplace paraphernalia which have now become collectors items. Their story provides an example of how changing foreign exchange rates complicate international trade negotiations like the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) talks which concluded at Brussels in early December.

Recently, a Maryland 4-H team came home with vinyl plastic portfolios after placing first in Brown Swiss breed competition during the North American International Dairy Cattle Judging Contest held November 4 at Louisville, Ky. In former years, this accomplishment would have merited Swiss cowbells from the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association, headquartered at Beloit, Wis.

But the Brown Swiss Cattle

Breeders Association can no longer afford this luxury. The organization's supplier, a Wisconsin importer, says that prices of Swiss cowbells have tripled just in the last three years — due in large part to a steadily declining exchange rate for the U.S. dollar, which was worth 4.3 Swiss francs in 1967 but only 1.6 francs in 1989.

Swiss cowbells nowadays sell for $150 or more apiece when they show up in estate auctions, the Wisconsin importer reports. At that price, the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association now awards cowbells only to national collegiate dairy cattle judging champions.

At its five national breed shows around the nation, the association ties Swiss cowbells on the necks of top animals for the traditional parade of champions. But the bells are taken back at the end of each show.

With Maryland's tradition of 25 national champion 4-H dairy cattle judging teams over the past 70 years — far more than any other state — quite a few former members of those Maryland teams probably have Swiss Cowbells lying around on bookshelves. It's apparent that the bells should now be regarded as valuable family heirlooms.

When it comes to safety, we're worth a million. Twice.

We in the Allegheny Power System are proud of our power station employees who have worked an unprecedented two million man-hours without a lost-time injury.

And we're still counting.

Nine of the 23 power stations to achieve this record are operated by Potomac Edison. They are the R. Paul Smith Power Station and the Warren, Millville, Dam #4, Dam #5, Harpers Ferry, Luray, Shenandoah and Newport hydroelectric power stations.

To reach this mark, each employee made a personal commitment to protect not only his or her own safety, but the safety of co-workers as well.

Never before has such a record been established in the Allegheny Power System which also includes Monongahela Power and the West Penn Power Company.

We're proud of our power station employees' safety accomplishment. So proud, we'd like you to know who they are.

Bob Newhart marshals Rose Parade

Bowl game features Iowa, Washington

By Amy Schmidt

Bob Newhart says his clan is a little nervous about this year's Tournament of Roses. "They're not used to being in the spotlight," said Newhart about his family. There was a quiver in Bob's voice, as well, when explained he had been chosen the 1991 grand marshal of the Pasadena, Calif., event.

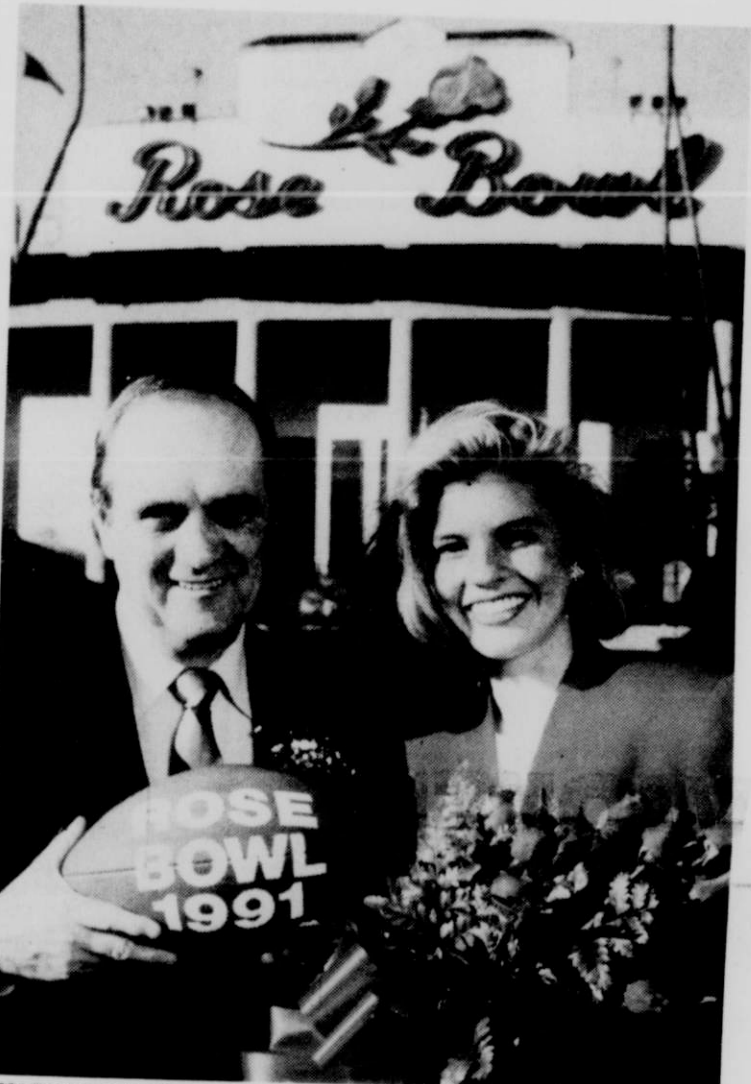

All three networks will cover the 102nd parade. ABC will carry the Rose Bowl, the Pacific 10 vs. Big Ten college football championship.

"It's saluting comedy. It's not so much saluting me," said Newhart modestly of his role, explaining that "Fun 'n' Games" is this year's parade theme.

What does a grand marshal do? "You have your pictures taken with the Rose Queen," said Newhart. "Then there's various teas and dinners for the bands coming in from all over the country — it's quite an operation really — then you greet the two football teams, which will be Iowa and Washington."

"You meet the people who build the floats and the sponsors of the floats," continued Newhart. "Then you have dinner at the Wrigley Mansion in Pasadena New Year's Eve, and then you get up very early in the morning, because there are well over a million people lining the four-mile drive, and then you get in the horse-drawn vehicle and ride from Wrigley Mansion to the Rose Bowl, and there's a lunch. Then there's a game, and you go down and do the coin toss, and then you go up into the booth and watch the Rose Bowl, and then that's about it."

Sound exhausting? "It's one very long day," said Newhart. For Pasadenans, however, the gala affair, which only culminates Jan. 1, has begun long before. City-wide festivities begin as early as September and float building months prior to that. This year's parade will feature 60 floats, 22 musical units and over 275 equestrians. The Queen of the 1991 Tournament of Roses Grand Marshal Bob Newhart and Rose Queen Cara Payton Rullman kick off the 102nd Rose Parade and 77th Rose Bowl. This year's matchup, on ABC, features Washington vs. Iowa. ABC, CBS and NBC will air the parade.

1991 Tournament of Roses is 17-year-old Cara Payton Rullman from San Marino High School. Cara was chosen from a field of over 600 applicants.

Riding at the front of the parade with one of America's favorite funnymen is Newhart's wife of 27 years, Ginnie, his daughters Jennifer and Courtney, and sons Rob and Tim. "Let's see, Rob is 27, Tim is 24, Jennifer is 19, and Courtney just turned 13," said Newhart pausing at each name, trying to think of his kids' ages. "They keep having birthdays, and it keeps changing!" he protested.

Newhart having ended, Bob began and recently finished a 20-city stand-up comedy tour. He and his road manager drive from town to town doing the shows. "It's not exactly an entourage. It's just the two of us," laughed Newhart. "And it isn't all that glamorous." One has to wonder whether or not Bob Newhart can go out in public without being mobbed by autograph seekers. Surprisingly, he can. Rarely is he even encountered. "They look at you, and they're not sure. Every so often you'll get that look about, 'Where the hell do I know you from?'"

David Letterman knew radio or TV was in his future

By Candace Havens

Although his show is aired an hour past most of our bedtimes, David Letterman is one of the nation's most popular entertainers. NBC's Late Night with David Letterman is a combination of sarcasm, irony and one-liners, served up by a good-natured host with a smile that would make the tooth fairy proud.

A native of Indianapolis, Ind., Letterman had wanted to be in television or radio most of his life. He majored in radio/TV at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind., and after graduation he got a job at Indianapolis' WLWI-TV. At different times, he was the host of a Saturday morning children's show, a weatherman, a news anchor and a late-night movie host.

In 1975, after a year of hosting a radio talk show in Indianapolis, he moved to Los Angeles to pursue a career in comedy.

His first network television exposure came on the brief CBS variety series Mary, starring Mary Tyler Moore. Subsequently, he was invited to be a guest on NBC's The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson, and he made his first appearance on that show Nov. 24, 1978. He has made 21 guest appearances on that show and has been guest host 30 times.

In 1980, NBC hired him to host a morning comedy/variety, The David Letterman Show. The program only ran for three months, but it became the prototype for his late-night program.

Rich Hall among comic actors to star in upcoming series

By Steven Alan McGaw

This could be funny: Christine Ebersole, Rosie O'Donnell, Rich Hall and Sam McMurray will star in the new CBS sitcom Stand By Your Man. With that talented quartet, this one is definitely worth a peek. Not for a while yet, though.

Congratulations to NBC's Midnight Caller series for winning the San Francisco American Scene Award. The honor is given annually to productions that work to portray the spectrum of minorities in non-stereotypical ways.

David Bowie and Rosanna Arquette will co-star in The Linguini Incident. F. Murray Abraham will team with Eric Roberts for By the Sword.

If you've never seen Roddy

MacDowall's two wonderful books of photographs, Double Exposure and Double Exposure: Take Two, make an effort to do so. Both books, which feature unusual celebrity photos paired with equally fascinating commentary, have been reissued this year by Morrow.

Here's an ensemble: Ron Silver, Beau Bridges, Stockard Channing, Cybill Shepherd, Mary Stuart Master-son and Robert Sean Leonard (so terrific in Dead Poet's Society) are teamed in the upcoming feature film Married to It. Sounds good to me.

'Vestige of Honor' retells one man's fight for justice

By Mary Ann Townsend

An American businessman tangles with bureaucracy to live up to a promise made during the Vietnam War in the fact-based drama Vestige of Honor, airing Sunday, Dec. 30, on CBS.

Michael Gross stars as American Don Scott, a civil engineer who had made a strong ally of the Montagnard people during the war. As Americans were evacuated from Vietnam in 1975, the Montagnards were told they would either be armed or rescued. They were not, however, and their escape to Thailand was successful for less than 300 of approximately 4,000 tribespeople.

Fifteen years after Vietnam, Scott learned his friends were encamped in Thailand and set about getting the U.S. State Department to help rescue them. Gerald McRaney plays a Special Forces captain who helps Scott in his endeavor. "It was a struggle, mainly, of trying to deal with red tape, and nobody wanted to listen," McRaney said. "He was determined to keep his word to these people."

McRaney, who also serves as co-executive producer, was involved with Vestige of Honor from the beginning, having heard about Scott's story on an edition of West 57th.

"We go around the world making allies who are very loyal to us. If we turn our backs on them," he said, "it goes a long way toward putting some blemishes on our image in the world."

Dick Clark rocks America into brand new year

New Year's bash celebrates 19th year

By Christy Bergslien

For the 19th consecutive year, Dick Clark will rock America into the New Year. Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve, broadcast on ABC, will see the forever-young-at-heart music emcee reporting "live" from Times Square. Meanwhile, Nina Blackwood, the original MTV VJ, and General Hospital heartthrob Jack Wagner will introduce the show's acts from L.A.'s prestigious club Vertigo.

Performers this year include The Beach Boys, The Kentucky Headhunters, The O'Jays, Sweet Sensation, Bell Biv DeVoe, and Nelson. The Beach Boys will sing two of their biggest hits, "Kokomo" and "Good Vibrations." Bell Biv DeVoe will perform "B.B.D." and "Let Me Know Something." The Kentucky Headhunters will be doing "Dumas Walker" and "My Daddy Was a Milkman." Nelson, headed by Matthew and Gunnar Nelson, the twin sons of the late rock 'n' roller Rick Nelson, sing "Love and Affection" and "After the Rain." The O'Jays will premiere their new single, "Don't Let Me Down," and will sing "Love Train," and Sweet Sensation will offer "If Wishes Came True," and the Supremes' classic "Love Child."

While Clark's segments are live, at least on the east coast, Blackwood and Wagner's have already been shot. Just before the show began taping, Blackwood said she felt compelled to call her husband: "I said to him, 'You know, this sounds really silly, but this really feels like New Year's, and I want to wish you a Happy New Year before I wish anybody else.'"

Chuck Connors keeps busy with acting, sports, horses

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I'm writing to find out what ever happened to Chuck Connors of The Rifleman and Clayton Moore and Jay Silverheels of The Lone Ranger. I would love to have some information on them.

—Charles Montagna, Industry, Calif.

A: Chuck Connors is the father of four boys. He lives today in the wilds of the Sierra Mountains foothills near Tehachapi, Calif., and maintains an enthusiastic interest in acting, sports, horses and his fellow man. Last season you may have seen him as a guest star on the CBS series Paradise. Clayton Moore is now 76 years old. He is semi-retired except for occasional personal appearances in Southern California. He was hospitalized briefly last year with an irregular heartbeat, but he is doing fine now. Jay Silverheels, born Harold J. Smith, is a Canadian Mohawk Indian. He portrayed Tonto in all The Lone Ranger episodes. In later years he became a successful horse breeder and racer. I am sorry I haven't more recent information on him for you.

Q: Was Patty Duke ever married to Desi Arnaz Jr.? Did she ever have his son, in or out of marriage? There is a dinner bet riding on this answer. —Leslie Westlund, Tacoma, Wash.

A: Patty Duke has been married four times, but Desi Arnaz Jr. never made it to the altar with Patty. She has two boys, both from her marriage to John Astin. They carry his name. I hope you win your bet.

Q: How many children did Groucho Marx have? And how many times was he married? —Frances Higgins, Anchorage, Alaska

A: Groucho Marx was married and divorced three times. His first wife was Ruth Johnson, whom he married in 1920. A son, Arthur, was born in 1925, and a daughter, Miriam, was born in 1932. In 1942 the couple divorced, and in 1945 Marx married Katherine Marx. Their daughter, Melinda, was born that same year. The marriage ended in 1951. Three years later, Groucho married his third wife, Eden Hartford. They divorced in 1970. Marx died in 1977.

Q: Edward James Olmos is my favorite actor. What is he doing now that Miami Vice is over? —Stephen Nardie, Village of Oak Creek, Ariz.

A: Edward James Olmos is still a very busy actor. He is involved in television, movies and live theater, producing as well as acting. He is very involved in youth causes, visiting prisons and making public appearances designed to bolster Chicano pride, fight drugs and urge juveniles to stay in school.

TIME OUT

Football will bowl viewers over

By Steve Paschal
 It happens every year. The battle lines are drawn over who is No. 1 in college football.
 However, the controversy over which college football team should be anointed the finest in the land rages particularly strong in this season that has seen five different pretenders toppled from the heady heights of No. 1. So, when the college bowl games have all been played and the results are in, the real winners in this national debate should be the three major networks, which are expecting big ratings.

Someday in the foreseeable future, the traditional college bowls will be scrapped in favor of a playoff system. But until that time, the mythical national champion will continue to be crowned by a fickle combination of coaches and sportswriters.
 With bowl invitations being unofficially extended earlier and earlier each year, several of 10 bowls being aired by the three major networks ended up shooting themselves in the foot. However, despite the fact the No. 1 vs. No. 2 match-up the bowls pray for won't happen, at least three bowls with national championship implications should garner big numbers in the ratings game.
 NBC has the big winner in the New Year's Day prime-time Orange Bowl game between top-ranked Colorado and Notre Dame, ranked fifth after two trips to the top of the polls. If the Irish beat the Buffaloes, the winner of the CBS Cotton Bowl clash between No. 3 Texas and No. 4 Miami will have a legitimate claim to No. 1. A win by second-ranked Georgia Tech over Nebraska in the Citrus Bowl on ABC could further cloud the No. 1 debate.

Tyne Daly to portray woman suffering empty nest syndrome

Principal photography has been completed in Los Angeles for The Last to Go, a motion picture-for-television starring Tyne Daly. The film takes a poignant look at a young married woman who blossoms as a wife and mother and then experiences her world change as her family grows up and leaves the family home. The film will air on ABC during the 1990-91 season.

Tyne Daly

Lauren Lane has been cast as Sgt. Chris Novak on the NBC series Hunter. A special two-part episode, "Critical Mass," airing Wednesday, Jan. 2, marks Lane's television debut. Lane was originally signed to appear as a guest star. Impressed with her talents and the chemistry between her character and Fred Dwyer's Rick Hunter, producers immediately offered to expand her role into a regular character.

CBS Entertainment Productions, in an agreement with Granada Television, will join forces with Great Britain's longest-established independent television company to develop and produce up to six motion pictures-for-television over the next three years. It was announced recently by Howard Stringer, president, CBS/Broadcast Group.

ABC Entertainment has entered into a long-range agreement with Roseanne Barr and her husband, Tom Arnold, to produce a new half-hour series, a special and a television movie. The agreement includes commitments for a new half-hour comedy series, not intended to star Barr, which could commence production any time after the current 1990-91 broadcast season.

Fred the cockatoo, star of television's Baretta, has been performing in shows at the San Diego Wild Animal Park for the last six years. The 30-year-old cockatoo, worth $15,000, was thought kidnapped when he recently disappeared from the park. He was spotted two days later waddling in the middle of a road less than a mile from the park, by two men who had just heard a radio report of his theft while driving to work. As they approached Fred, he jumped on one man's arm as though looking for a perch.

Singer Jerry Vale and comedian Don Novello, best known for his character Father Guido Sarducci on NBC's Saturday Night Live, will guest-star in an upcoming episode of Midnight Caller, to air later this winter on NBC.

The Statler Brothers, the most awarded act in country music, will star in their own weekly variety series on TNN. The Nashville Network in 1991. The one-hour program will debut in October. Taping will begin on Monday, March 18.

EVANS FAMILY EXHIBIT — Allegany Community College's Hazen Gallery is featuring paintings by the Charles Evans family of Oakland. The exhibition includes works in various media, such as oil, acrylic, watercolor, and content from self-portraits to local architecture and landscape subjects. Recently, Mr. Evans, pictured above, was one of the winners of the Allegany County Chamber of Commerce Art Show. The contest was open to local artists dealing with themes of positive aspects of business life, past or present, in Allegany County. Other members of the Evans family are Alison Geroski, Jennifer Evans, and Rebecca McClive. Both Alison and Rebecca, along with their father, studied under Dr. Jose Rodeiro at Frostburg State University last year. Alison is also a former art instructor with the Department of Continuing Education at Garrett Community College. Jennifer recently studied art at the Maryland Art Institute of Baltimore. The show, scheduled through Jan. 31, will open for public viewing on Jan. 7. It can be seen from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and by special appointment by calling 301-724-7700, extension 289. The coordinator of the show is Robyn Price, ACC art instructor and area artist.

To Hold Program

On Yough River

The Friend Family Association of America will sponsor an informational program regarding the Maryland "wild and scenic" portions of the Youghiogheny River on Monday, Jan. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Friendsville Elementary School Auditorium. Representatives of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources will speak about the past, the present, and the future of these sections of the river.

The Youghiogheny River, perhaps better known as the "Yough," begins on Backbone Mountain near the Maryland-West Virginia border at an elevation of about 2,700 feet above sea level. It flows 132 miles northwest where it joins the Monongahela River at McKeesport, about 16 miles south of Pittsburgh, at an elevation of 719 feet.

The Maryland "wild and scenic" portions of the river lie between Friendsville and Oakland.

The public is invited to the program.

Deadline For Summer Centers Program Noted

The State Department of Education has set a Jan. 25 deadline for student applications for the 1991 Maryland Summer Centers for Gifted and Talented Students.

The centers offer opportunities for 2,600 students to engage in intensive, advanced-level learning at 12 sites. Students entering grades 4-12 in the fall of 1991 will be selected on the basis of outstanding academic, intellectual, or leadership ability or talent in the visual or performing arts.

Center programs include studies in mathematics and computers, writing and the humanities, visual and performing arts, space science technology, environmental studies, science and social sciences, leadership development, economics and government, and international studies. There are also internships in business, government, and public service.

Brochures containing applications and course information are available in every public and private school across the state. Students must submit completed applications to the schools by the Jan. 25 deadline.

The application includes teacher recommendations and a student essay. For applicants to the academic centers, test scores are required; for applicants in music, dance, theater, and visual arts, an audition or interview is required. Applicants need not be enrolled in gifted and talented programs in their school.

Selection committees try to achieve representation for each of the 24 local school systems based on a proportional distribution system.

Ten of the 12 sites are residential. Each center charges an instructional fee of $55. Room and board fees for residential centers range from $165 to $275 for two weeks. Financial aid is available to qualified applicants. Minority students and those with handicapping conditions are urged to apply.

For information on the centers, including financial aid, students should contact their school principals, guidance counselors, or gifted and talented program coordinators. Information is also available from the State Department of Education in Baltimore by calling (301) 333-1910 or 333-2353.
